Spanish Rough and Ready Club.

It will be seen by a notice in another part of our paper, that the Patriotic Spaniards of our City, have formed a Rough and Ready Club, and hold their first meeting on Monday evening next, at the St. Philip Ball Room. We understand they number three-fourth of all the citizens of Spanish origin in New Orleans, and are ardent and enthusiastic in the good cause.

Rough & Ready Meeting in Gretna.

The friends of Gen. Taylor and Millard Fillmore are requested to assemble at the Gretna Hotel, on Thursday evening next, at a Grand Mass Meeting of the Taylor men of that town. The Taylor Clubs of New Orleans, and the Fillmore Rangers, are respectfully invited to attend. A steamboat will be provided at the foot of Canal street, to leave at 7 o'clock, and transport the citizens of New Orleans to the place of meeting.

Selling Poor White Men.

A friend in the country asks us if we have ever published the law approved by Gen. Cass, when Governor of Michigan, for whipping poor white men and selling their services. At an early period of the canvass we laid this memorable act before the public, but as it appears to have escaped the recollection of our country correspondent, we take this opportunity of re-publishing it. Here is the law.

"An act for the punishment of idle and disorderly persons.

"SECTION 1. And be it enacted by the Governor and Judges of the Territory of Michigan, That any Justice of the Peace, on conviction, may sentence any vagrant, lewd, idle or disorderly person, stubborn servants, common drunkards, common night walkers, pilferers, or any persons wanton, or licentious in speech, indecent behavior, common railers or brawlers, such as neglect their calling or employment, misspent what they earn, and do not provide for themselves or families, to be WHIPPED not exceeding ten stripes—to be delivered over to any Constable, to be employed in labor not exceeding three months; in such Constable to be HIRED OUT FOR THE BEST WAGES that can be procured, the proceeds of which to be applied to the use of the poor of the country.

"Made, adopted and published at Detroit, the 27th day of July, 1818.

LEWIS CASS, Governor.
A. B. WOODWARD, Presiding Judge
J. WITHERALL, } Judges of the Terri-
JOHN GRIFFIN, } tory.

In 1840, when it was shown that Gen. Harrison, when Governor of the North-West Territory, had signed and approved a law somewhat similar to the above, but far more limited in its application and lenient in its provisions, Locofoco wrath and fury knew no bonds. From one extremity of this broad Union to the other, Gen. Harrison was vilified and denounced, and the entire working classes, all who gain their daily bread by daily toil, were involved to rise in mass, and array themselves against a candidate who was so cruel and heartless as to approve of the "selling poor white men for debt." Now, however, that it is clearly established that Gen. Cass signed and approved an act infinitely more severe and degrading—an act that literally makes poverty a crime, and punishes a poor man with stripes and bondage, because he can obtain no employment—we do not perceive the smallest symptom of disapprobation on the part of these tender-hearted Locofocos. When HARRISON sanctioned such a law, Locofocoism was absolutely raving with indignation, but when Cass sanctions one a thousand times more ruthless, its anger is silenced, and it carefully conceals from the party that evidence of its candidate's excessive love for the poor.

The law we have published, furnishes another proof of General Cass's disinterested philanthropy and overflowing kindness of heart. This meek and gentle ruler was not content that the unfortunate being who could procure no employment, should starve, or solicit alms to keep famine from consuming him. To be poor, in Gen Cass's estimation—himself being a millionnaire who had waxed wealthy on extras)—was a most heinous and unpardonable offence, only to be partially expiated by the lash of the brutal executioner, by a sale of a free white man into servitude and bondage. The law in question would be deemed odious if applied to the miserable and degraded serfs of Russia. By what epithet should such statute be qualified when enacted for the special benefit of the independent citizens of the United States.

Just think of it an instant any person who suspends what he earns, and does not provide for himself or his family, to be whipped and hired out by the constable for the best wages that can be procured. A poor fellow happens to go into Michigan and cannot get work. He is consequently unable to provide for himself or his family. Forthwith he is arrested, and on the strength of Gen Cass' law, WHIPPED and SOLD INTO BONDAGE. His poverty condemns. He is treated as a felon because he is moneyless. A more infamous and merciless act was never promulgated by NICHOLAS of Russia.

Another Change.

A letter was read at the last meeting of the Central Rough and Ready Club, from ROBERT E. WEBB, Esq., of South Lowell Mills, Orange County, asking to have his name enrolled among its members. Mr. W. was a Lieutenant in the North Carolina Regiment of Volunteers, and went to Mexico a firm and decided Democrat, but after witnessing the enormities of the Administration towards the soldiers, and the management of the war in general, as well as the base injustice and ingratitude manifested towards the two great heroes of that war, he has come out from among the foul party, and entered the lists of the friends of Gen Taylor. Lt Webb is said, by those who know him, to be a young man of excellent sense, and of unblemished character; we welcome him to our ranks. Make room! there are more coming.—Raleigh Register.

FROM TAMPICO.—An arrival from Tampico brings intelligence of an outbreak in that town against the troops stationed there by the Government. It seems that the National Guards suspected the military of being in favor of Santa Anna and determined they should leave the City. After a good deal of brag and bluster, this was effected and things settled down peacefully.

☞ The Hon. Charles M. Conrad, of Louisiana, addressed the Rough and Ready Club of this place on Friday last, in one of the most able and effective speeches of the campaign. He was preceded by a high reputation as an orator, to sustain which required no ordinary success. Yet we venture to say, that of his crowded auditory, not a Whig or Democrat felt the slightest disappointment.—Frederick (Va.) Herald.

The Monster Meeting at the Mechanics' Louis Ball Room.

Another of those prodigious gatherings that have marked the canvass in this city, was held last evening at the St. Louis Ball Room. It was one of the most brilliant and splendid assemblages we have ever witnessed. The galleries were thronged with the beauty and fashion of our city, while the dancing area of the Ball Room was packed to its utmost capacity. Thousands on thousands were unable to find an inch of vacant room, and were compelled to organize another tremendous meeting in the Exchange below.

Col. McALPIN, President of the Fillmore Rangers, presided over the principal meeting, assisted by a number of Vice-Presidents, and a very numerous body of the surviving veterans of 1814-15. We shall publish the names of the officers to-morrow.

After a few happy introductory remarks by the Chairman, the "War Cry of the Rangers" was sung with great spirit and effect by the Glee Club, and the chorus was responded to by thousands of voices.

WM. H. HUNT, Esq., a Ranger, then addressed the meeting. He adverted to the necessity of reform, to the contempt of the popular will displayed by the Locofoco party, to the despotic exercise of the veto power by the Locofoco President. He alluded to the Chicago Convention, to the double-dealing of General Cass, and bore briefly but forcibly on other topics connected with the contest—presenting a striking and beautiful contrast between the several candidates before the people. His eulogy on Louisiana was exceedingly lavish and eloquent.

CYPRIEN DUPOCK followed in French. His speech, which was animated, earnest, and full of happy inspiration, was chiefly devoted to a refutation of the calumnies heaped upon Louisiana by Wm. O. Butler.

At the termination of Mr. Dufour's speech, a magnificent banner was presented, in the name of the ladies of New Orleans, by Sam'l. Flower, Esq., to the Union Rough and Ready Club of the Second Municipality. The banner was received, on behalf of the Club, by Mr. Bagley, who spoke impressively and eloquently.

S. S. PRENTISS then, in obedience to the almost frantic cries of the throng, came forward and spoke for about one hour. After an exordium of unrivalled felicity in which an exquisitely conceived compliment was paid to the ladies who graced the meeting with their presence, Mr. Prentiss referred to the deep interest attached to the vote of Louisiana on the present occasion, and contended in a masterly argument that Louisiana owed every thing to Gen. Taylor, that he had added immeasurably to her reputation, that he had tested her patriotism and found that it came triumphantly from the ordeal. He then examined the various objections to Gen. Taylor started by Locofocoism, and swept them away like cobwebs. He dwelt with immense power on many of these pretended efforts, passing a magnificent eulogy on both Gen. Taylor and Millard Fillmore. In this felicitous and fervid strain he continued, pouring forth sparkling thoughts and brilliant conceptions, and profound truths, and bearing along with him his delighted and enthusiastic audience.

When Mr. Prentiss closed, a procession was formed which marched through the principal streets, brimful of glee and making the air vocal with their songs.

Auxiliary meetings were held at the Bar room beneath the Ball room, and in several of the adjacent public buildings at which speeches were made by Messrs. Sever, Hackett, Henry Ogden, &c.

☞ The Delta learns that a despatch from Memphis was received here on Tuesday, announcing Weller's election in Ohio by 1,500 majority. We learn that a despatch was likewise received here on the same day, and from the same place, which claimed Ford's election by 9,000. We believe just as much of one as we do of the other.

The canvass is very warm in New Orleans—warmer, indeed, than in any other Southern locality. Our papers are filled with accounts of the daily and nightly meetings of both parties; but, if we judge rightly, the Democrats seem somewhat dispirited, and their demonstrations are not attended with that enthusiasm which characterizes those of the Whigs! Is it not so, Mr. Bee?—Vicksburg Whig.

Nothing shorter.

SUGAR GRINDING.—The Baton Rouge Gazette says: Several of our planters have commenced grinding. We understand that the cane does not yield well, is suffering for want of rain. Everything is parched up, and travelling is rendered very uncomfortable on account of the dust. No favor from Providence would be more thankfully received in this neighborhood at this time than a few refreshing showers.

Correspondence of the Picayune.

GRAND COTEAU, Va. Lopeze Co., Oct. 6th, 1848.

MESSRS. JOHNSON: The universal rejoicing in our village will no doubt be manifested in every part of the country that day by the citizens to storm the Democratic fortress in the sanctuary of the Muses. We have determined to have the grand exhibition of the great battalion of modern Democracy, and hear the eloquent appeals they make on this occasion. Their dismayed and frightened troops, who fly flying in disorder and in every direction, before the gallant Commander who never surrenders. From some unknown cause, they failed to make their appearance at the appointed time. I am greatly inclined to the opinion that they displayed more wisdom in giving us the go-by, than all the light they might have shed upon their dark and benighted cause in this portion. I have just learned that they have set sail for the town of Opelousas, hoping to find a climate more congenial to Locofocoism. In this they will find themselves greatly mistaken. I know those people well. The great Republican tide of Taylorism has swept away Locofocoism, and in so high, that it has inundated even the old land marks of Democracy; they may just as well abandon these parts at once, for we will bury Cass, Polk and Van Buren all in one grave upon the 7th of November, so deep, that they will never awake until the day after the great political resurrection.

Mr. James H. Adams, from your sister City, arrived in our village yesterday evening; he was received with a hearty welcome; a meeting of our citizens and neighborhood was announced for 11 o'clock, this morning. They assembled in goodly numbers, and were addressed by Mr. A. fully two hours. His remarks are plain and unaffected; his argument sound and his proofs well arranged. After a short exordium, he enspancelled his audience into a jury. He defined the position of General Taylor, and the great Republican party that he gave a brief history of Millard Fillmore's private character and public services, showed him to be one of the most powerful Statesmen of the age; he refuted the foul and odorous charges of abolitionism alledged by democrapuses, and came down on the Preston pamphlet like an avalanche.

Mr. A. then arraigned Gen. Cass and Wm. O. Butler; he brought two indictments against the former, and one against the latter. First, he charged Gen. Cass with receiving $64,418 14-100 extra allowances, whilst Gov. of the Territory of Michigan, in addition to his account against the Government, one year after he ceased to be Governor, and collecting $35,075, alledging that it was money he had advanced for the Government, as far back as 10 or 12 years. Mr. A sustained these charges by undeniable documentary evidence, carrying conviction to the minds of every impartial hearer. Mr. A. then charged Wm. O. Butler with defaming the sovereign people of Louisiana, in a speech made by him on the 11th of July, 1843, in the Congress of the United States. There, Mr. A. read an extract from the speech, which shocked his whole audience, and elicited every one that has one drop of French blood in his veins.

He then read Gen. Jackson's letter to Giraud bearing date the 27th Jan. 1815, which he said was sufficient proof to mantle this defaimer's cheek with the blush of shame. The Creoles and French population in other sections of this State may submit to this unpardonable offence, but they will not do it here. Mr. A. closed his remarks by recommending these offenders of justice to mercy, charging his audience to render their verdict on the 7th day of November, at the ballot box. I venture to predict we will poll 90 votes at this place, 60 of which will be cast against Cass and Butler.

H.
Grand Coteau, Oct. 6th, 1848.

FRIGHTFUL DESTITUTION.—We have been favored by the following narrative from a young friend who left New Orleans a few weeks ago for New York. The letter is dated October 4, 1848, on board the United States store-ship Electra, which vessel sailed from Pensacola on the 18th September, Lieut. Brent commanding:

"We were abreast of Havana, after being seven days out, last Saturday, as we were enjoying a glass of wine after dinner, the man on the look-out reported a wreck eight miles off. The Captain immediately ordered the ship about, and to steer for it, and in about an hour we came up to it, when what a melancholy sight presented itself—there were five human beings, all of whom had nearly lost their reason from hunger and exposure, and were drinking salt water. The Captain ordered out the life-boat, and in less than no time the men assisted the sufferers on board, when it was found, by asking the only one who could speak, that their vessel was the Ocean Bride, from Lagnea, Honduras, (Yucatan,) bound to London, with logwood and Mahogany. Having on Monday night encountered a gale, she was dismasted, and the Captain and five more of the crew swept overboard by a sea breaking over her, which also swept all their water and everything on deck away. There were six men still left on board, with no food nor water, as in a short time the sea broke over her so furiously that the hold was filled.

On Wednesday last they lost the last mate, one of the six that were not washed away, and on great I was their hunger, (horrid to narrate) that on Thursday, they cut him off and ate it.

I have now given you a full description, as it was told me by the 2d mate, of the Ocean Bride. Now for the survivors. The Captain had been put to bed and their wounds dressed, as they had a great many severe cuts about them, and most of them had their hands and feet swollen to an immense size; he then had them some nourishment most cooked. The first night three of them were delirious, and in the morning their carvings for water was most pitiful. On Monday, 25th inst., we lost one—the others are all recovering fast, and I hope will soon be out of danger."

BARNBURNERS IN WISCONSIN.—More than seven hundred citizens of Waukesha Co., Wisconsin, put forth a call in the Milwaukie Barnburner of the 19th ult., for a county meeting on the following day to ratify the nomination of Van Buren and Adams. We presume the seven hundred signers of the call are a large majority of the voters of the county. The Barnburners of Wisconsin, it is well known, are chiefly Locofocos, and there is very little doubt that Cass will be defeated in that State. There is every reason to believe that it will go for Taylor.

BARBACUE IN ST. MARY.—The Planters' Banner states that the barbacue at Jeanerette's on the 10th instant, was an enthusiastic affair. The attendance was very large. Our Elector J. P. BENJAMIN, was there, and spoke with his customary ability and effect. The Banner says:

He scattered to the winds the false doctrines and sophistry of the cunning Scald, and would have let loose upon Col. Preston, if he had considered him a mark big enough to fire at. Mr. Benjamin's frankness and honesty were marked in his countenance, and proved in every sentence he uttered. Like a silver dollar fresh from the mint, there was no mistaking his native ore. His positions were lofty, plain and positive. His countenance and actions showed that he scorned that doubled dealing so common among the politians of the day. He condemned Cass from Democratic documents in high repute with the party, declaring that "out of their own mouth would he condemn them." He carried the war into the enemy's camp, as Gen. Taylor did into the heart of Mexico, and established his posts as firmly.

Mr. DUCLOUT spoke in French, and was followed by the Hon. John Moore, Messrs. Baker Richardson and Bethel. The gathering was one of the finest ever had in the parish.

LOSS OF THE BARK T. W. HOXIE.—Captain Preble, of bark T. W. Hoxie, arrived at New York on the evening of the 9th inst., in the French brig Two Brothers, and reports—Sailed from Savannah on the 16th ult., with a load of timber, bound to Portsmouth, N. H., and that on 23d, lat. 28, lon. 70 30, while under close reefed topsails, was knocked down on her beam ends, in a sudden change of wind from NNE. to NW., but after cutting away the lanyards of the rigging fore and aft, the masts went by the board, and she righted full of water). The inside of the cabin was all washed away, and also all the fresh water. On the 23d, the schr. Brutal, Brandy, from New York for Rio, fell in with the wreck, and took off the crew. On the 25th, lat. 25 20, lon. 69, the Brutal spoke Br. ship Dublin, Shoolfield, from Mobile for Liverpool, who took Capt. Preble and two men from her, who were transferred to the Two Brothers, on the 30th, in lat. 26, lon. 83 30. Wm. Porter, boy, belonging to bark T. W. Hoxie, died on board the Brutal, 24th ult., of bilious fever.

DARING ATTEMPT AT INCENDIARISM.—An attempt was made to fire the dwelling house of Mr. Carroll M. Vinton, last Monday night at about one o'clock. One of Mr. J. Vinson's negroes, at the quarters, discovered the fire, and calling for another boy, they proceeded to examine the cause. They immediately discovered a man, standing in a chair in the back gallery, deliberately applying a torch to the roof above him. The alarm was instantly given, and with much difficulty the fire was extinguished, the roof receiving considerable damage. Tracks of men's feet were traced to the bayou. Mr. Vinson has his suspicions in relation to the perpetrators of this crime. It is hoped that justice may overtake them, and their villainy meet with its just reward.—Franklin Banner, 14th.

STEAMER MOUND SURE.—We regret to learn that the fine St. Louis packet Magnet, Captain Downing, went ashore on Monday morning, a short distance below Clarksport. It is rumored that she struck a log. Her bottom was almost entirely torn out. Her machinery and cabin furniture will all be saved as the water was only over part of her lower deck. She left here on Saturday, for St. Louis, and had but one trip's load of freight. The Magnet was insured in this city, for $10,000, and her principal owner was Captain Downing. Her passengers were transferred to the Bank. Taylor.—Louisville Journal, 14.

City Intelligence.

ROBBERY.—The case of Henry Somers, Pik. Renny, Michel Finnen, Alice Finnen and Maria Leonard, arrested on Monday on a charge of robbery, came up for examination yesterday, before Recorder Baldwin. J. W. Hutchinson, the complainant, gave evidence that on Monday, at 2 o'clock in the day, he and left the Orleans House, after drinking three or four glasses, to proceed to the Pontchartrain Railroad, with the intention of leaving town, but that he could not have gone further than Canal street before he became completely unconscious, and remained in that condition until about 7 o'clock in the evening. When he awoke he found himself lying on a bed in the house of Finnen, in Fourcher street, in which it was alleged the robbery was committed. Mrs. Finnen was in the room, and witness asked her where he was, to which she replied that he was in her house. He asked how long he had been there, and her answer was that she did not know, having just come in—He then asked for his hat and boots, which were pointed out to him, and he immediately got up and put them on. On searching his pockets he discovered that he had been robbed, and asked for a light, as it was quite dark at the time. She told him to clear out of the house, which he refused to do until his property was restored to him. The woman then ran into the street and called for assistance, and in a minute or two afterwards Somers came into the room and took him by the vest, so as to pull him out. Witness resisted, struck Somers and knocked him off; then returned to the room and held his foot against the door to keep it closed. He soon found, however, that there was more force outside than he could resist, pushing against the door, and withdrawing his foot concealed himself behind one wing of the door, shut the sweet out in the street under the window. He proceeded to the next corner, where he met Finnen with a stick in his hand, and supposing him to be a police officer, he pointed out the house to him and said he had been robbed. Finnen said him he was a robber himself, and raised his stick with the intention of striking him, on which witness turned and Finnen passed on. He then went in search of the police, who, on coming to the spot, arrested all the parties present. An attempt was made to prove an alibi for Somers, but it proved unavailing. The Recorder sent Mrs. Finnen before the First District Court, on a charge of larceny and assault, and Somers and Finnen for an assault on the highway. Patrick Renny and Maria Leonard were discharged.

A WHOLESALE DISCHARGE.—Judge McHenry discharged, yesterday, twenty women, convicts from the parish prison, who had been sent before the First District Court for being incorrigible vagabonds.

BIGAMY.—An interesting German young lady, by the name of Wilhelmina Grandman, who only entered into the bonds of matrimony about two weeks since, made an affidavit yesterday before Recorder Canonge, that she was lawfully married, on the 4th September, by Rudolphus Kornderfroe, a duly authorized Pastor of the Protestant Church, to one Philip Kripp, whom she now discovers to have been previously married, having received information within a day or two, that he has a wife and children living in Galveston, Texas. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the incontinent again.

SEXT DOWN.—Xavier Rambach, who was accused some days since of wantonly ill-treating and maiming a horse belonging to Labin Daraide, f. m. c., was sent yesterday by Recorder Genois before the First District Court.

MAGAZINES AND REVIEWS.—Our thanks are due Messrs. Weld & Co., No. 72 Camp street, for Blackwood's Magazine, Nos. 394 and 395. Copies for subscribers are ready for delivery.

We have likewise received Holden's Dollar Magazine for September and October. It is an excellent publication, admirably got up, and cheaper far than any periodical of its size and value hitherto published.

SUGAR MAKING.—The Franklin (St. Mary) Banner says: The planters in all directions in the parish are making active preparations to commence sugar making immediately. Some have already commenced. The sugar that has thus far been made is said to be of an excellent quality. It is generally believed that the sugar made this season in this section of the country will be a good article, which will in a great measure make up for the shortness of the crop.

☞ We see by the Buffalo Advertiser, says Prentice, that twenty-two Cass men in one of the western villages of New York have come out for Gen. Taylor. Taylor seems to be treating Cass on the eve of the Presidential battle very much as the Government treated Taylor on the eve of the battle of Buena Vista—he is stripping him of his regulars. But the result will be very different.

OHIO.—We find, in the Cincinnati papers of the 6th inst., a statement by the Whig Central Committee of Ohio, to the effect that the most authentic information had been received of a bargain between certain leaders of the Free Soil and of the Locofoco parties, by which the Free Soil vote was to be given for the Free Soil candidates for the Legislature in certain districts in the State. This information may help to explain the somewhat unexpected loss of Representatives elected by Ford. The bargain was doubtless consummated, and instead of Ford, it was Weller who got the Free Soil votes. It is almost unquestionable, that some such coalition must have existed, as the Locofocos themselves, however boastful of the result in November, expected fully to be beaten in October; while the Whigs entertained the utmost confidence of the election of Ford by a large majority. The closeness of the vote now has surprised both parties, and can only be accounted for by unexpected political combinations.

☞ We copy the following from the Maysville Eagle of the 7th inst.:

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—The main building and office of the large hemp establishment of Messrs. T. J. Crook & Co., at the upper end of Rectortown, and about one mile above this city, were destroyed by fire about half past 3 o'clock this morning. The fire was communicated to the building by an incendiary.

The extensive rope-walk was saved, and hemp in the rick sufficient to make about fifty tons.

The total actual loss probably exceeds $8,000, but Dr. Leavitt, the active partner of the concern, thinks it can be replaced by $7500. Of this amount, we regret to learn that only $1500 is insured—the remaining part of the insurance being upon the property saved—about $800 worth of bale rope, awaiting shipment, and all the valuable machinery and fixtures for hemp-breaking. The extent of the damage to the engine is not yet ascertained. The books and papers, and everything else of value in the office, were saved.
