

Congressman William Sulzer, whose marriage to a nurse, which became known recently, was the result of a hospital romance, is a Democratic congressman from New York. According to the Congressional Record he was born March 18, 1863, but the place of his birth is unknown. He is an able lawyer and has been a Tammany leader for many years.

RECOVER MONEY.

Laborer Returns to Kansas City from Lynn, N. M., Exhausted and Swears Out a Warrant for Employment Firm.

in Lynn, N. M., refused to pay the on the south. scale of wages represented by the city ordinances regarding the conduct new-found city. of such institutions. Nogga admits, the action against the concern. reached the city attorney's office. His ancient city was found. Two months shoes, which 17 days ago were heavy ago the deserted city was located by and brand new, were worn through an Indian guide.

job and left here at 2 p. m.

"When we arrived there at 6 o'clock | tecs and the Aztecs. the next evening the boss informed us that he was paying only $1.75 a day for men. He said we could get that if we went to work right then, but if we waited a day longer he would give Man Takes Care of the House and aus only $1.25 a day"

Nogga says he was also informed that he would have to pay $5 a week hoard in the boarding car, that he must take two blankets at $2 each, wife got tired of doing the houseand have 75 cents a week deducted work. from his pay for hospital fees. He remained at the camp over night and Julia?" asked John. announced his intention of leaving. "choice" food, he would have to work | way." one day anyway, or get both of his Mrs. Whitcomb was familiar with hands of a stern boss.

with him, his savings of months, after too many slivers; but he fell down he had paid $3 for his job. Nogga on the cooking. The new arrangestarted home on foot, passing through ment has been operation a week now, Trinidad, Lajunta and Caddoa, Colo., and both are well satisfied. a mountainous country. He slept out | "I've got all the best of it one way," of doors at Lamar, Colo., January 17. said Joe. "I handle the money. Be-He walked the tracks by day and built fore I only carried it away from the a fire at night, often suffering from shop to her lap. Now she forks over the cold and hunger. He was saving every penny to me. You'll have to a small sum of money to take him excuse me. I think them biskits is back to Kansas City, when he felt burnin'." that he could walk no further. That time came when he reached Emporia. Kan, after enduring great hardship. He had $2.90 left, and $2.70 of that Now He is Sued for Damaging Tenhe paid for a ticket to Kansas City. arriving 17 days after his departure. He waiked 14 of the 17 days.

Choctaws to Go to Mexico. acres of land in Mexico. The tract | the family out. is located in the states of Pueblo and Oaxaca and combines mountain and upon range from one to five dollars an $10,000 damages. BETP.

The Choctaws have been dissatisfied with their lands in the territory, and ered the five he says Schumanski ennegotiations for lands in Mexico have tered charges against him of malicious been pending for two years. They mischief. At the end of the two will go to Mexico as soon as they are weeks the family was almost frozen able to dispose of their territory and dependent on the neighbors for lands. There is now $600,000 in the any cooked food that came to their tribal funds.

DISCOVERY SOLVES MYSTERY.

Remains of Prehistoric Race Connect Mound Builders and Mayas.

El Paso, Tex.-Prof. A. H. Blakis AUSTRIAN TRAMPS 800 MILES TO ton, archaeologist and possessor of the largest private collection of Mexican antiquities in the Smithsonian institution in Washington, has returned to this city after what he announces is the most important of his discoveries in Mexico. He says he has discovered remains of people of prehistoric America and that these people complete the link between the mound Kansas City -- Because a contractor | builders of the north and the Mayas

Prof. Blakiston brings some of the employment firm of Mucci & Downs. most valuable acquisitions to ancient whose offices are on Union avenue, American relics, among them the Kansas City, Vincent Nogga, an Aus- largest stone ax ever found and stalks trian laborer, has walked back 800 of maze and tornillo brush 300 years miles and swore out a warrant for old, found in a perfect state of presertheir arrest, charging violation of the vation buried in the adobe walls of the

The site of the discovery is across however, that the seventeen-day jour- the continental divide from the sceen ney, fourteen of which were consumed of the Casas Grandian ruins, which in training was more for the object have been the source of most extenof demanding the $3 which he paid sive studies by archaeologists in Mexthe employment bureau than bringing ico in the last decade. In an almost impassable wilderness 30 miles west Nogga...was a dilapidated-looking of Dos Cabezos, in a land never before specimen of humanity when he trod by the foot of a white man, the to the feet and the heels completely. The village was found situated an a precipitous bluff, in part surrounded "On January 14," said Nogga, "my-by a large natural cave, 1,500 feet self and seven other men were above the Bayispe river, which flows shipped out by this employment in the deep valley below. Here were agency to Lynn, N. M. The firm had discovered the ruins of hundreds of an advertisement on the blackboard adobe houses, all but a few in a saying that men were wanted there at good state of preservation. The qual-$2 a day. We paid $3 each for the ity of pottery found in these houses is superior to that made by the Tol-

> HUSBAND AND WIFE SWAP JOBS. Woman Goes to the Factory.

Winsted, Conn.-Joe Whitcomb got tired of his job in the factory; his

"What d'ye say to swapping jobs,

"Suits me up and down," answered Then he was informed that as he had Julia. "I can do your work and you enjoyed the hospitality of the camp can make a good bluff at keeping for a night and had partaken of the house. We'll try it for awhile, any-legs broken with a pick handle in the her husband's work and had little trouble making good. Joe did the wash-The Austrian said he had the sense ing, swept the floors and saw that the to leave "under cover." He had $8.50 baby, who was creeping, didn't pick up

LANDLORD SMOKED 'EM OUT.

ant's Household Goods.

Pittsburg.-Because Frederick Jankovicz refused to move from his home on Brereton avenue he declares that Tushkahoma, I. T.—A commission his landlord, Wincenty Schumanski, of chiefs has closed a deal for the placed a board on top of his chim-Choctaw indians for about 100,000 ney and tried for two weeks to smoke

Jankovicz says his children all became sick and his household goods stream and prairie as an immense were completely ruined by smoke, and hunting reservation. The prices agreed he began suit against the landlord for

When Jankovicz mounted to the roof and removed the board that covtable, the plaintiff declares.

AGREED WITH LATE EMPLOYER

For a Time, at Least, Boy Would Not Smoke "Twist,"

Mr J M. Barrie, the popular now elist and playwright, has glorified to bacco more than once, but on a certain occasion he tried to induce # smoker to desist. It happened thus: Mr. Barrie returned to his rooms one day and discovered his page boy puffing hard at a dirty clay pipe.

"My boy," said the novelist, "it is very bad for you to smoke that coarse black twist. You will make yoursell old before your time." And so he went on till he had delivered a long and what he believed to be a telling lecture. A day or two later the youth left without giving no tice, and shortly afterward Mr. Barrie brought some friends to his fiat Promising them a special treat, he went to a cabinet where he kept a store of very choice cigars. You can imagine his chagrin when he discovered that the cigars had vanished, and in their place was the page boy's clay pipe and the following note:

Dear Sir: I agree with you that it is bad for a boy to smoke twist. I will not smoke any more twist till 1 have finished your cigars."

MANY USES FOR THE HAIRPIN Little Instrument May Be Said to Be invaluable.

. It is an excellent substitute for a paper cutter. It will pierce a cigar or clean a pipe. As a buttonhook, either for boots or gloves, it is invaluable In lieu of its sharper sister, the pin, seaside trippers have been known to find it convenient for extracting the winkle from its shell. In extremities it has served as a toothpick, horrible as this may seem, while, if a sufficient number are used, it supplies the place of a hatpin.

There is another popular service also that it performs, says the London Chromiele. Recently at a smart hotel in London a young lady took up a novel, saying to the man who was carrying it round: "How far have you got with this story?" As she spoke she opened the book with that quick movement which inevitably betrays the book marker, then putting it down with a laugh added: "Oh. I was looking for the hairpin which marked the place you had reached, but, of course, you don't use hairpins."

What Was Lacking. A man who had served two terms in congress was making a campaign for a third term. In the course of a speech in the town hall at Broomcorn Junction, a village near the further boundary of his district, he said:

"It is true, fellow citizens, that I have not always been able to do as much as I should like to do in the matter of internal improvements in this district, but I have never lost sight of your interests for a single moment. You have no idea of the obstacles that lie in the way of a congressman who tries to secure appropriations for public buildings, the improvement of navigable streams and the like for the benefit of his constituents, but I have labored constantly in your behalf to the very best of my

"We know it!" shouted an old farmer in the audience. "That's why we want an abler man."-Youth's Com-

What the Heart Does.

This so-called most delicate of organs, the most vital, may be God's principal handiwork. There are scientists to-day who can make a man, but they cannot cause his heart to beat: The human heart is about 5 by 31/2 by 21/2 inches in size. It weighs from 8 to 12 ounces, and its capacity is from 4 to 6 ounces in each ventricle. It is a hollow muscular organ, through which passes 22 1/2 pounds of blood every minute. Gaze on these figures and wonder! Sixteen tons of blood pass through it every 24 hours! Do some more thinking. It beats about 72 times a minute in a healthy adult man. Now, think still harder—in one year 11,680,000 pounds of bleed pass through the heart. Such figures stagger humanity.

When "Drammers" Come Easy. At the Players' club in New York one evening there was a guest from out of town, a playwright well known for his extraordinary facility in turning out the alleged "drammers" that do the "ten-twenty-thirt," circuits. It is no uncommon thing for this producer to grind out five or six of his plays annually.

Some one innocently asked the playwright if it was rather difficult to find new ideas for his plays "Really, I don't know," was the frank answer of the man who has made thousands of dollars from his "drammers;" "I have never tried it." ---Sunday Magazine.

Certainly. Visitor-How do you do, Tommy! I've come to stay at your house a week, and I'm sure you can't even guess who I am." Tommy-I'll bet you one thing." Visitor-What? Tommy-I'll bet you're no relation of father's.—Harper's Weekly.

.. Consolation.

"Steward, how long will it be before we get into the harbor?" 'About an hour and a half, ma'am."

"Oh, dear, I shall die before then." "Very likely, ma'am. But you'll be all right again when you've been on, shore ten minutes."-Marine Journal, TOOK MOSELLE AS STIMULANT Prince Bismarck Kept Waiters Busy During His Speeches.

Speaking of the different liquids fawored by great orators for refresh ment during their speeches, Griffith Boscawen, in his book, "Fourteen Years in Parliament," credits Bismarck with having carried an army bill with the aid of eight lemon squashes. Never was a man and his drink so incongruous. All history protests against the idea of Bismarck even knowing what lemon squash is, for it was Bismarck who boasted to Sir William Richmond that in his young days six bottles of strong wine had no effect on him. And it was Bismarck who lamented: "Ah! English politics has suffered since statesmen have no longer strong heads for wine. They are too cautious, never make a bold stroke." It was a mixture of Moselle and seltzer that Bismarck used in the reichstag to keep his hoarseness down and his spirits up. The supply used to be maintained by a relay of waiters running between the chancellor's bench and the kitchen. At the zenith of his fame, ministers, secretaries of state and privy councilors were alone worthy to concoct the mixture, and when Bismarck was making his last great speeches in the reichstag they were kept busy behind him with wine bottle and seltzer siphon in composing his drink, for Bismarck required eighteen or two dosen glasses of Moselle and water during a speech.

NO DOUBT ABOUT OWNERSHIP.

Foxy Trick That Would Have Done Credit to Dave Harum.

In one of the small villages south of Cleveland is an old man who has all the David Harum gifts when it comes to trading, except that he runs to ocws instead of to horses. Not long ago he had a cow that looked like a first-rate sort of an animal, and it was except for the fact that it didn't give any milk. With that exception the cow was all right. The owner desired to sell the cow. One day a possible buyer said that he would come over and look at it. For the sake of putting the cow in a more favorable light the owner went out and bought a young calf, which he turned into the stail with it.

He was getting along nicely with the possible buyer, when a meddlesome neighbor across the way dropped in. "John," says he, "that calf don't belong to this cow, does it?" The owner was furious at the thought of having his game spoiled. "Of course it belongs to her!" he burst forth, hotly. "I brought it in and gave it to her myself not an hour ago!"-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

How Enola Got Its Name. Enola, the famous Pennsylvania railroad yard on the west branch of the Susquehanna, got its name in a

A telegraph operator who spent the lonely hours in the little watch box, with no more than half a dozen trains a day to disturb him or break the monotony, before the big yard was built, cailed up the Baltimore office and asked to be relieved from such a lonesome place. In sending the message he signed "operator in charge of the tower all alone." There was some trouble on the wire and the last word could not be understoon. He was asked to repeat and then to spell it backward. This he did, first "alone," then "Enola." In this way the town, which was built to order in a little more than two years, got its name.

The Dread Waterspout.

What it means to encounter a waterspout in the South seas is described by Beatrice Grimshaw: "First of all, a black trunk, like an elephant's, began to feel blindly about in midair, hanging from a cloud. It came nearer and nearer with uncanny speed, drawing up to itself as it came a colossal cone of turbulent sea, until the two joined together in an enormous black pillar some quarter of a mile broad at the base and probably a good thousand feet high, uniting as it did the clouds and the sea below. Across the darkening sea, against the threatening copper-crimson sunset came this gigantic horror, waitzing over troughs of torn-up water in a veritable dance of death, trying to find and shatter our fragile little ship."

Dangerous Enough. Rear Admiral Mason, chief of the government's bureau of ordnance. talked of martial inventions at a recent dinner in Washington.

"Many of these inventors," he said. with their automatic torpedoes, their new explosives and what not, fail to take into account the danger to the users of their inventions. They are like the farmer and the bull.

"A farmer was driving a bull along a fairly busy country road. "'That's a dangerous-looking bull you have there, friend,' a milkman said "'Oh, no.' said the farmer; 'he's just as civil as a sheep. He wouldn't hurt anybody, unless, maybe, women and children and such like."

Then Appeal. "I must tell you frankly," said a lawyer to his client, "that I do not see the slightest chance of your winning the case." "Why?" "Because the law on the point is against you.

"Is that all?" remarked the client. "Then go ahead. The judges are not always right.

Edition arbiemaistes SE.CO.

TOO MUCH FOR MAID'S NERVES.

New Girl Felt Herself Unequal to Elaborate Ceremony.

The young wife was perhaps the most punctitious housekeeper in the greater city. She fairly lived for the annihilation of dust particles, and her three maids knew a degree of discipline more rigid than that of Gen. Blucher. One day her waltress departed, an exceedingly common occurrence in even a flawless establishment. A new maid came to take her place. After an elaborate inquisition, the new servant was engaged on probation. The young wife explained: "Come to the dining room with me. You will have a rehearsal. I want to see you spread the table for a dinner for four. Now go into the pantry, where you will find my table china on indexed shelves. My forks are all habeled and I shall sit here. Now you serve me-of course with blank plates. I am having oyster cocktails, soup, fish, an entree, a roast, salad, ices and coffee."

The new maid groped through the weird ceremony, and the foodless feast proceeded amid silence. Finally the maid whimpered: "I guess I am going. I couldn't do this every night." She fled.

HAD TO MAKE THE SACRIFICE.

Question of Job or Mustache and the Latter Went.

A man whose chief claim to good looks was a luxurious brown mustache not long ago applied for a place in a wholesale dry goods house. He came well recommended and the manager was willing to employ him.

"Before settling the matter, however," said the manager, "I wish to speak a few words on a very personal subject. I refer to your mustache. If you accept this position you will haveto keep that shaved off. One of your chief duties will be to dictate letters. Our stenographers claim that a heavy mustache like yours prevents clear speech and that the difficulty in understanding is responsible for their making many mistakes. Once before a man with a mustache like yours held this job. Upon the united request of the stenographers he had to cut it off. I must ask you to do the same thing."

The man eyed his crowning glory regretfully, but as he needed the job worse than he did the mustache he began work the next day with a smooth

Wife as a Companion. A distinguished author says that a woman who cannot read or write, but who makes her home and husband comfortable, is a far better wife than a girl who can speak six languages and does not know how to cook a dinner and keep a house clean, says writer linless a bride's brains are turned to domestic account they are of very little practical use to a husband. The fact that she is a brilliant musician and a mistress of French and Italian is poor consolation for burnt chops and muddy coffee. Talent, like charity, should begin at home, and no woman can be called clever who does not use her wits first toward achieving home comfort and skilled housekeeping. At the same time I know many a bride who is ignorant of "book learning," shaky in her spelling and a shocking housewife, too! After all, to be clever and to cultivate one's mind-without neglecting cookery and the domestic artsmakes a wife a more charming companion to her husband.

Shoemaker-Poets.

In Constantinople the shoemakers are all poets. While a customer is having a heel repaired or a shoe relaced, the attendant recites extemporized or memorized verses to him; as the language is Arabic or Turkish, the listener rarely knows whether he is hearing a good or bad verse. On the Muski, the Broadway of old Calro, one can buy the red leather, sharp-toed slippers, universally worn in a land where there is rarely any rain, for about 60 cents. They are not worth more, being very fitmsy articles in construction. They are not representative of the expert English or American hand-made shoe which is a thing of beauty, of comfort and of enduring

Neat Comparison. On each of the 84 times that he has crossed the Atlantic, Lord Dunmore has been the center of a group of travelers who enjoyed his ready wit. During his last trip he and voyagers were amused by the conspicuous and odd figure of the ship's surgeon-especially by the latter's ample feet, rendered striking by white tennis shoes and by the very wide angle they formed at the heels.

"Do you know," asked his lordship as the surgeon passed his group one day, "what the doctor's feet make me think of?" "What?" inquired the chorus.

"Of a quarter to three."

Outspoken. A French marquise whose country house is crowded with guests during the hunting season hit upon the original idea of placing a register at the disposal of her visitors, in which to record their desires and criticisms. The pages of the richly-bound book seen began to be covered with notes such sa:

"Count de R-still owes 25 leuis; he knows to whom." "The green peas yesterday were burned. "Baroness M--- firts; unfortunately, not with me." The marquise has withdrawn the register.—Cri de Paris.

POINT ON SECOND MARRIAGES.

Sexus Differ When It Comes to Choice of Future Mate.

"There's a curious thing," said a minister "that I've noticed about second marriages. It is this: Widowers rarely marry women whom they knew either before or during their first period of married life, while with widows the case, as a rule, is just re-

"How do I explain this? Well, I don't; I just mention the fact. But I suppose my guess is as good as another's. Of course, to begin with, a man has more freedom of choice; that is, his activities are apt to give him a larger circle of acquaintances than a woman.

"A woman, if her first marriage has been happy, longs for a continuation of that happiness; if it has not been wholly so, she is still searching for a satisfaction of ideals. She is more likely to regard with favor a auttor whom she has known for some time than a recent acquaintance. Women, you remember, are naturally more conservative than men, and a woman is much more disposed to be careful about a second marriage than

"Of course, these are only theories that I'm indulging in. But the facts regarding the tendencies in second marriages are as I have stated Any one can confirm them by running over the second marriages of his or her friends."

JUST WANTED TO SEE MONEY.

And the Little Old Lady Had Her Confidence Restored.

She was a little old lady, so little and so old that with considerate friends she would never, never have been allowed_alone in the hurriedthrong on the busy streets. She was such an old little lady that she had only just learned that there had been trouble in the banks, and she had made such haste as she could to be sure that her money-all the money she had saved-was safe.

"Have you got my money?" she asked tremulously when she finally reached the teller's window. "How much did you have?" asked the teller kindly. No one could help being kind to such a little old lady. "Twenty-five dollars," she answered.

"Two tens and a five. I didn't wish to take it out," she continued apologetically, "but I should feel better if you could just let me see it." So they showed her carefully "two tens and a five." Her faded eyes brightened, and with a grateful "Thank you," she left, every line of her bent little figure showing happy contentment and confidence, for she had seen her money.

American in Canada.

The American farmer is a practical man, there is no cleverer-headed citizen in the world, and moreover he is frankly honest. When he finds in Canada a system of jurisprudence under which law is everywhere respected, when he learns that Canada has never seen a lynching, that Canadian history tells of no Indian wars, he is very willing to acknowledge that there is little here he would wish to change. The fact is that in his general views and attitude toward life no one is more like a Canadian than an American. The fact that they are subjected to similar environment and to the same broad sweeping continental forces readily explains how by merely crossing north or south an imaginary boundary line Canadian and American alike pass from one citizenship to another with far less friction than an Englishman can be transplanted to either American or Canadian soil.—Atlantic Monthly.

Poetry Won Bandit's Heart. Prof. Bliss Perry tells a story to iflustrate the advantages of literary wisdom. A friend, he says, was traveling in French mountains when on a lonely road he was stopped by highwaymen, his life threatened, and his valuables demanded. His literary instincts were to the fore, even in his extremity, and half unconsciously he burst forth with an appropriate couplet, quoted from some obscure French

"Hold!" cried the leader of the highwaymen. "My comrades, this gentleman is acquainted with the works of our friend, M. So-and-So! He is, then. our prother."

The purse was returned, courtesies extended, and the traveler and three bandits adjourned to an inn near by and spent a pleasant evening.-Boston Herald.

Edison to Mark Twain.

Thomas A. Edison paid a very pretty compliment to Mark Twain at a dinner of the Engineers' club to Andrew Carnegie. Using his place card as a memorandum page, and writing with lead pencil in the small round letters characteristic of his hand, Mr. Edison inscribed a sentiment and handed the card idly over to his neighbor, L. A. Martin. It read:

"An American loves his family. If he has any love left over for some other person he generally selects Mark Twain."-Syracuse Herald.

Has Good Opinion of Women. "Men have no organization in the world that is doing as much for the world at the present time and for civilization as the National Federation of Women's Clubs," said Prof. Zeublin of Chicago in an audress at Minneapolis. He said that woman is not only stronger mentally, but she is superior to man physically, and the day of her equality with man is at an end as she is in every respect his superior.

L'ABEILLE DE LA NOUVELLE-ORLÉANS (. 1') desadas in Legislase si taux tous les Bists in Bude. Er publishe aftre idens lau commerce des avantages exceptionnels. Erix de Palementes in Panel 1 Editi vi Oustidionne 232.