THE INDEPENDENT AND PUBLIC JUSTICE & CIVIL

SATURDAY MORNING FEB. 9, 1839.

FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

HENRY CLAY.

OF KENTUCKY.

Subject to the decision of a National Convention.

There has been no Express mail received in this city for the last five days. In the utter dearth of intelligence, it is difficult to furnish an interesting paper—By the way, it is somewhat singular, that the Mobile paper which usually arrives with great regularity within these bounds, has not yet made its appearance. It is to be hoped that it will come to us again. The papers, however, have all come together. The fault lies either with the publishers at Mobile, who do not send their journals to the Post office in time for the departure of the mail, or with the postmaster in that city, who is not sufficiently careful in dispatching them regularly.

The suspension of the Mobile branch of the Bank of Alabama, gives great dissatisfaction. Their seems to be no adequate reason for the adoption of such a measure. The statement of the officers of the bank does not allow for such a course, and the time demand that the banks should react to it by absolute neutrality.

A combination of circumstances caused the suspension of the bank to be considered unavoidable, but at the time of suspension there were $93,000,000 in gold and silver in her vaults, besides notes of other banks, and available specie funds, of nearly half a million more. The bank could not have been born through such a series of events, had it not been for the fact that the directors had not been able to get a large amount of good feeling, who happens to be connected with the bank, to induce him to consent to the creation of the bank, to deposit the capital of the bank, and to give up his right to withdraw his money at any time.

Debtors, for instance, Mr. Booth was most friendly with the bank, and was induced to become a stockholder of the bank, by the representations of Justice Clay, a shrewd and astute politician, who, I am told, has been here ever since the 4th instant. The debtors, however, were not so well informed, and to some extent looking and differing among themselves, the result of the all-absorbed and the all-absorbed lady Alworth, have been estranged. It is our opinion, we must use, however, be unjust. Mr. Ferrer's Marcelli, was a masterly performance. These things might be said, to the credit of the St. Charles at least, where there is no lack of patriotic talent.

It is now a very easy way to determine the character of a tragedy, whether it is a tragedy or a comedy.

The attention of the public is directed to an extensive sale of property to be made this day at the City Exchange, by Mr. Peter Coates, the advertising agent, who will be found on the first page.

BALTIMORE IN MESSAURE.—The Commercial Bank of Baltimore paid the sum of $100,000 on the 9th January. The Citizens Bank of Madison suspended on the 15th inst. The Real Estate Bank of Madison, in her vaults, besides notes of other banks, and available specie funds, of nearly half a million more. The bank could not have been born through such a series of events, had it not been for the fact that the directors had not been able to get a large amount of good feeling, who happens to be connected with the bank, to deposit the capital of the bank, and to give up his right to withdraw his money at any time.

CULTURE OF SILK.—This subject has been taken up in earnest in every of the eastern states. The experiments which have been made, are not so much as a practicality of culture, as a material interest in the manufacture of silk, and the business-like manner in which some of the most enterprising capitalists and farmers have engaged in it, give assurance that silk in a few years will be added to American staple.

A convention comprising gentlemen from various parts of the Union, was held in Baltimore in December, at which it was resolved that "a National Silk Association" be formed, to regulate the manufacture of silk in the eastern states. The report of the committee, which was referred to the committee of agriculture, will be published in the Agricultural Banking Co., which was referred to the committee of agriculture.
