PENMANSHIP.
Practical and Ornamental Taught at
DOLBEAR & BROTHERS' Writing Academy, No 9 Charles street.—The extensive patronage which the method of Writing have received in various parts of the United States, and the increasing application for instructions in the science, as well as the practice of Writing, has induced them to establish permanent academies in New York, New Orleans and Mobile, and at their attention to afford greater facilities for the acquisition of Penmanship, than are afforded by any other institution in the country. Persons entering one of them has the privilege of attending at either of the others without extra charge. The Ladies and gentlemen are respectively invited to call. Specimens of rapid improvement given by persons from five to fifty years of age, who have received lessons in this city may be seen at any hour of the day. Ladies are taught a delicate and rapid epistolary style; also, various styles of ornamental writing, suited to Albums, Notes of Consolement, &c. Gentlemen are taught a free and expeditious hand writing calculated for the facilitation of business transactions, by dispensing with the literal reversal of most of the letters, and imparting to the whole a style at once rapid and elegant. Persons visiting this city for only a few days will receive special attention.
The number of Lessons is not limited, but every person who enters is desired to continue till he is sufficiently well for any kind of business. The time required of both teacher and pupil.
Ladies who prefer it can receive lessons at their own residences. Ornamental writing executed with elegance.
N. B. Dolbear's "Science of Penmanship" particularly designed for private learners and schools, and calculated for persons of all ages, imparting an ease and freedom not attained by any other method Also, Dolbear's new copy book for female accomplishment and a supplement to the science of Penmanship, for sale here. ap 5

NOTICE.—The subscriber informs his friends and the public in general that having given up his RESTAURAT in Chartres square to his predecessor, he will attend exclusively to the former Hotel ELKIN, at Bayou St John, where he has taken on lease.
He will still continue to accommodate those persons who have hitherto honored him with their patronage, and will furnish repasts to order, or private dinners as usual.
This hotel being situated in the healthiest and finest part of the environs, and having a fine prospect upon Lake Pontchartrain, is calculated to accommodate several families by the week or by the month, who may enjoy the various games and amusements which the establishment possesses. The proprietor has neglected nothing to render this hotel agreeable in every respect.
