THE DAILY BEE

Monday Morning, August 7, 1894.

FACTS FOR CONSIDERATION.

One of the leading notions which have entered the masses of the American people is that a party in opposition to the government is necessary to the preservation of the Republic. In the opinion of the writer, however, such a party is not only unnecessary, but it is also dangerous. The strength of the nation is not in the number of parties, but in the unity of the people. The Republic is not a party system, but a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. The only party that should exist is the party of the people, and that party should be united and unopposed. Any party that is in opposition to the government is a party of the few, and not of the many. It is a party that is interested in the interests of a few individuals, and not in the interests of the whole people.
