THE REPORTED ARRIVAL OF BRAGG'S

SEAURGOARD'S TROOFS AT CULPERFEE.

It is stated that the whole of Gen Bragg's army left Shelbyville some days ago, passed through Eastern Tennesses, and are low in Virginia, moving towards Lynchburg, Goldonsville and Unlpepper. Indeed, it is stated that they have already begun to arrive at the latter place, slithingh it is known that some of Bragg's brigades have not yet left Chathangoga.

The rebel forces thas destined to operate in Virginia are said to amount to fifty thousand troops. It is stated also that there are no rebel troops at all now at Charleston; that part of them have been sent to Richmond, where they are to remain at present, but that the greater part of them passed through Richmond some time ago, and were being bassed at Chipepper and between that point and Gordonsville. This part of Beauregard's forces are said to amount to thirty thousand troops. If these twe-buppers are correct, and I have every reason to believe them to be no, it tsevident that these twe-bodies of troops, originally so far apart, have been brought longether as Culpepper in personace of some design not yet developed. In the light of other faces, however, the not difficult to indieate that design.

It is now clear that the manneaverse of Gen. ESCAPS FOR THE HOSSIDES THE RUCKADE SERVICE.

Off Charteston, June 17, 1863.

A blockade runner is said to have run in night before last. This is close work, for ninetees of our vessels are in sight of each other by daylight. The night was dark, and at 10 o'clock a gun from the Unadilla aroused all hands to quarters. When this was fired a string of rockets went up from rebel signal stations along above. Nothing more was reon; and next morning the Unadilla's captain reported that a general run to the Household, who went over to see Captain Taylor, of the Household, who went over to see Captain Taylor, of the Household, exports that a steamer did run in. This morning a better y, supposed to be yery formidable, has some entedie of Fort Sourier, and anchored in the shancel. It is said they have three rame, about the size of ting-boats, plated over that the Irocaldes. The rebels are buly at work. They have bents ensetantly running to and from the bettery anchored between Forte Hauster and Monkers. Therpedoes, runs had tanteries will not provide the provided before a general sheet and consensation of ferce shall drive them bark.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

A TEDERAL FORCE ON THE RESEL FLANK.

A Harriaburg dispatch mays:
A large force of troops from Peansylvania, New York and New Jersey is moving on the rebel flank. Their escape is almost impossible.
Evely thing indicates that they are terribly out up. They cannot keep the prisoners they have taken from us: one thousand arrived here to-day, having been paroled; two thousand more have arrived within General Smith's lines, and fifteeth hundred more are expected. These men all understand that their parole is not binding, their cases being covered by General Order No. 2001, published on Saturday. By far as information has been received here, our loss in prisoners was four thousand five hundred.

The micoutains are filled with rebel deserters, who are hourly arriving within our lines.
No estimate can be made of their nambers. It is vary large.

General Couch's troops, under the command of Geherals Smith and Pierod, are moving to the front; and are efficiently co-operating with General Meade.

PORTIFICATIONS FOR THE DEFENCE OF PRILLADALPHIA

The Press of to-day says:

Work has been in progress for several days under this superistendence of Professor Bache, making surveys and saying out fortifications for the defecte of Politadelphia. Mr. Meade Bache, of the United States coast survey, (later moharge of construction of fortification at St. Loues) seristed by Captain Uliumu and Gibson, selected a site for a battery below the Pennsylvania Railrodo bridge on the seast side of the Bebuylkill, between the river and the Gray's Ferry road. The work is nearly finished, and will have accumand of the railroad bridge, the river, and the heights beyond, above and below for some distance; being one of the inner line of works, it will be a formidable one.

On Saturday the same gentlemms selected a site for a triangular basticored fort on the creat of the kill opposite to the Gray's Ferry bridge. The states work is some progress. This fort will have a commanding position, tadd is of immense value. The entire chain of forts and defensive works will be extendive, and will regained works will be extended as the formal of the creation of the creation. The survey works will be extended to the result of the line, though the work is not to far advanced to the creation of the creation o
