By the France, arrived this morning, notwithstanding the easterly winds which prevailed, we have advices to the lat instant, announcing the arrival at New Orleans of the Sales, from our advices there appears to be 25 or 30 vessels loading in the United States, which will carry 400,000 bales, and may arrive in the course of next month. Those heavy imports will have a bad effect on our prices, and in the mean time, hardly any thing is done, except a few sales from second hands, at 1.374, of part of the cargo of the Jupiter, expected from Charleston, and contracted for about two weeks ago at 1.276, although among the sales of Saturday at a higher price, we do not believe that the first sales of Louisiana, of any importance, will be above 1451 to 1471; for good.

By the last advices from the interior we understand that Acapulce under the auspices of Brave and Alvarez has raised the standard of Liberty, and pronounced in favor of the Federal form of government, the precise terms are yet unknown, but the report I believe entitled to credit it it is true the present dynasty of military and theoretical despoism will not last long and the severigin people will again assume the direction of their affairs. It appears that the cold climate of the north is not very congenist to the feelings of the omnipatent chief or his array; the latter it is said are suffering severly from some epidemic disease in consequence of want of clothing and bad food.

Bussiness is very dull here at present and the Government has suspended for the present all orders on the Custom House. It is however believed that their fiscal concerns are in such a wretched state that they will be obliged to make a new issay very shortly.

There is an emulous contest between the promoters of the New Orleans and Nashville railroad, and of the Cincinnati and Charleston. The charter of the latter company has been passed by the states of South Carolina and Georgia; and is how pending in the Kentucky legislature. On the 4th inst, it had passed the house by a vote of 71 to 26—having however been branch to Louisville and another to Maysville, From Lexington it will pass thro Georgetown and take the Dryridge route to Cincinnati—being 550 miles of railwithin Kentucky, estimated at about 10 mil

That railroad with its present and future dependen cies will give Charleston a manifest superiority ove New Orleans, unless the road hence to Nashville b properly encouraged by the citizens of Louisiana-particularly as Mobile will have her railroads through Tennessee and Mississippi; against which inland na-vigation alone cannot contend successfully. When we reflect that in 1890 there were but 4 miles of railroad in the United States, and that now there are about 15,000—when we know the energy and resources of American citizens, the rapid strides in geometrical ratio made in internal improvements in a parts of the U States during the past lew years—when daily sales sinces have been about is estimated at 500 bales. The senand has been almost exclusively from Delers and Consumers; about 500 bales have been taken on speculation to-day. The transactions in Sot Island have been at rather higher prices than the last public sale.

The import of cotton has been nearly suspended for a week past, owing to easterly winds, and the stock in this port is now reduced to about 185,000 bales are a week past, owing to easterly winds, and the stock of American estimated at 100,000 pear, the stock of The Tobacco market remains without change: Remissed in finir demand at full prices, but scarcely a remained in finir demand at full prices, but scarcely are highly doing in leaf.

Washington, Feb. 6.
The cause of the profered mediation of the British government has occasioned a good deal of speculation among the politicians here. By some it is attributed to the prohable expense (20 or 20 millions) which a war between France and the United States would occasion Great Britain—by rendering it necessary to increase creat Bittain—by rendering it necessary to increase her naval armament to protect her commerce, and suppress the numerous piracies to which it would inevitably lead. Others are of opinion, but this opinion is quite extravagant, that the British ministry, believing that General Jackson would never consent to yield the point in dispute, the U S would therefore be placed in wrong; and that, by a union of the two powers, the American republic might be entirely overthrown But the most natural cause may be traced to the recent de-velopements of Russian policy. To the President and members of the city council. Gendemen, I am obliged to return the resolution of the 12th inst by which you conclude, under certain conditions it is a state of the schurch wasdens of St. Louis Churci. In such a resolution, I think you should have fixed the time, at the expiration of which, the conditions being not fulfilled, the donation should be null and void, and to provide that after having enlarged the church, should the church wardens attempt to dispose otherwise of said square, it should return to the corporation. Besides there are other objections which well appreciated, will convince you that it no longer depends on the corporation to alter the destination of said square. In the contract passed 11th March 1831, with the church congregation for that part of the square situated on the N E side, which was nithorised by the resolution of December 39 1830, it was stipulated that the part of the ground so sold, shall be employed to enlarge the square in the rear of the church, and that the corporation shall be bound to have the ban-
