Two extraordinary things happened in New York which illustrate with startling emphasis that smoking is fast getting to be a habit with American women. One of them was the putting away in a madhouse of young Marie Vanderbilt-Allen Wilmerding, a hopeless paretic from excessive cigarette amoking. The other was a petition sent to the president of the Metropolitan Traction company of this city by Mrs. Annie Chambers-Ketchum asking for exclusive smoking cars for women on the surface roads of New York. In her letter to president Vreeland Mrs. Ketchum says in part:

The custom of smoking, so common with women of all classes in the orient and in the Latin countries of Europe and America, is becoming fixed also in the United States. The women who work as the men do with brain and hand, at the same driving pace, feel that the pipe is as necessary for them as for their brothers.

"Our own lovely, distinguished grandmothers used pipes a hundred years ago. We are not, therefore, going astray, but returning to an established custom. We trust, then, that you will have the friendliness to listen to us and the generosity to grant our re-

Discussing the evil effects of cigarette smoking among women, Dr. Egbert quite feeble. Guernsey, one of the best and most fashionable physicians in the city, says: "The cigarette is injurious to men. The cigarette is deadly to women. It is the first easy step to paresis. The fastincreasing cigarette habit among women is to be greatly condemned from every standpoint-physical, mental and moral. The cigarette in the hands of a woman, whether she is a society belleor the overworked business woman, means imminent danger.

"I believe there is more danger to society from excessive cigarette smoking than from the indiscriminate use of alcohol. The stimulant gained from cigarette smoke is not so violent at the time, but it keeps up a steady action on the brain until by and by the brain becomes exhausted and dreaded paresis follows. Excessive cigarette smoking changes the character of a woman's thoughts. In time it produces a morbid condition of the brain. The woman addicted to excessive cigarette smoking is apt to bear children whose morals are perverted or who are imbeciles from

St. Louis Doctors Say Careless Barbers Are the Principal Cause of Baldness.

A movement is on foot at St. Louis to sicians hold the view that an indiscrimiis responsible for much of the cranial baldness prevailing. The plan proposed is to insure thorough cleanliness of the tonsorial tools and to enforce a penalty on those barbers who fail to comply with prescribed sanitary regulations. Dr. I. N. Love insists that the scattering of germs through the medium of comb and brush is the real cause of baldness. Drs. C. H. Hughes and A. H. Ohmann-Dusmenil, a prominent dermatologist, agree with Dr. Love that the contemplated legislation would be well advised. Dr. Love also proposes that every barber should be forced thoroughly to cleanse his hands in an antiseptic preparation before shaving a customer.

A Bill Is Introduced in the Canadian Parliament to Restrict Immigration.

McInnes, member of the dominion parliament from Vancouver, has introduced into the house of commons a bill to amend the Chinese immigration act so as to extend its application to Japanese. The bill also provides for a more equitable distribution of revenue derived from such immigration. The bill contemplates the imposition of a for the uniforms, so that in a few days $500 entrance fee upon Japanese. Mr. McInnes asserts the Japanese immigrants who come to Canada are of the lowest class. They are practically slaves, against whom the white laborer cannot compete.

A Prize Gobbler. The largest turkey ever shipped from New Florence, and probably the largest ever seen in that section of the country, was sold to Johnstown parties by David Cunningham, a farmer living near that place, says the Greensburg, Pa., Press. The bird weighed 41 pounds just before it was loaded into the train. The old residents of that place say it is the largest gobbler they ever saw. Mr. Cunningham received ten dollars for the turkey.

Enduring a Short Period of Solitade.

Jacob Burkhart, the retired engineer at St. Louis, who told his daughters With the Rapidly Increasing Indul- they must leave home because they were not married, has become lonesome and has extended the olive branch to them.

The action on his part was one of the most unique parental orders ever recorded. There were four girls, one of them a widow. They were young and pretty and had many admirers, but manifested no disposition to marry. The father, last November, told them that if they were not married by Christmas they would have to leave his house and support themselves.

This notice was published in the papers, and hundreds of offers were received from young men in all parts of the country, but were refused. The girls did not marry, and on Christmas day they moved into a pretty flat which they had rented at No. 2102 Ober avenue. Two of the girls secured positions with a chemist, another as a housekeeper, and the other looked after the flat.

Their father has lived alone, in his big house, at No. 4511 North Twentieth street. He said the other day that he was very lonesome and wanted his daughters to come back and live with him again, married or unmarried. The girls told a reporter that they were not yet prepared for a reconciliation and that they were living in perfect peace and no four young women in the country were happier than they. They could see no reason to make a change and return to the parental roof. They say, however, that it may all come about that they may return to their father, as he is nearly 70 years old and is

ROSES STARTED A COURTSHIP.

How a Wealthy Alleghany Widow Came to Marry a Detroit Jeweler's Clerk.

A box of roses played an important part in beginning the second courtship of Mrs. William Semple, a rich widow of Alleghany, Pa., who was married a few the time of his death three years ago days ago to George W. Mrs. Semple's first husband died eight years ago. Since then she has traveled much, and frequently has visited a married daughter, Mrs. J. C. Spiegel, of Detroit. Last spring, as she was about to return east, Mrs. Semple went with her daughter to a jewelry store to have a watch repaired. As she was going to take a train that day, Stevens, who waited upon her, promised to send the watch to the train. He did so, and because he was a little behindhand he sent also to the widow a box of magnificent American beauty roses. Mrs. Semple, on reaching her Alleghany home, acknowledged the receipt of the roses, and Mr. Stevens acknowledged the receipt of the receipt. Thus sprang up a correspondence.

The society girls of the fashionable west end of St. Louis are not to be outdone in the matter of organizing regiments, for they have organized one, and, while it is not for war, it may result in sending others to the front in the event of hostilities.

Male Friends.

The girls have decided that by forming a regiment and wearing a military dress they will instill patriotism in the hearts of the society young men. The dress will consist of a neat coat, with heavy braid across the breast, and with it will be worn a jaunty military cap, while a small sword will be in a scabbard worn at the side.

There was a meeting of the young women and a score or more affixed their names to the paper when it was circulated around the room. It is understood that orders will be placed at once the military girl will be a familiar sight. The young women are greatly interested in the war preparations and it is alleged that the young men do not seem to take the interest in the prospects for war that others do, and therefore the girls are desirous of enthusing them. The name of the regiment has not yet been decided upon, but it will be at a meeting to be held soon by the young women. Among those who will wear the natty new uniform are some of the best known society women in the west

Queen Regent Gives $8,000,000 of Private Funds.

Mystery as to Source of the Funds for War Purposes Is at Last Cleared Up—She Is a Liberal Ruler.

The mystery as to the source of the funds which the Spanish government has recently acquired has been ascertained. It turns out that it is the queen regent who has placed at the disposal of the treasury at Madrid a sum in ready money of 40,000,000 pesetas, or about $8,000,000. True, she has received in return treasury bonds, but these, in view of the deplorable financial situasion at Madrid, are a very risky collateral at the very best. Some time ago a decree was issued authorizing the issue of 200,000,000 pesetas, or about $40,000,000, in treasury bonds. In consequence, however, of the unpropitious state of the money market and the apprehensions of the foreign money markets with regard to Spanish finances the bonds in question remained unsold, the foreign shipbuilders and manufacturers of war supplies manifesting an invincible objection to accepting them in lieu of cash.

It was then that the queen regent came to the rescue of her adopted country in the patriotic manner indicated and thus enabled the government to pay in ready money for its purchases abroad. It may be remembered that the source of this sudden acquisition of funds by the treasury was ascribed first to the Rothschilds, then to French financiers and finally to the emperor of Austria. The last guess was nearest the truth, for it is from the fortune which she enjoys not as queen of Spain but as an Austrian archduchess that she has tendered assistance to the government.

The queen regent is very rich in her own right, having inherited a large share of the colossal fortune of her uncle, the old Archduke Albert, genera alissimo of the Austrian army, who at was justly reputed the most wealthy

Mrs. Harry Whiteraft, of 638 Benson street, Camden, N. J., has been lying in her home for a full month in a semiconscious condition. Although she seems to suffer terrible pain, which is probably the cause of her comatose state, her attending physician expresses hope of her ultimate recovery, and claims that the long stage of insensibility is in her favor. About the middle of January Mrs. Whiteraft complained of shooting pains in her head. On January 18 the family physician was called in and he diagnosed her ailment as an abscess at the base of the brain. She was compelled to go to bed on that day, so great was her suffering, and on the following day she lapsed into a state of coma from which she has not been aroused at any time sufficiently to know what was going on about her. In her delirium she exhibits indications that she believes ing to end her life.
