WASHINGTON, July 2. It is removed that some of the original friends of Gen. Jackson, who still cherish an affectionate regard for him on account of his military services, but who cannot reconcile it to the sense of the duty they owe to thier country to vote for his re-election, are about to unite in a request to him, that he will withdraw himself from before the people as a candidate, and not unnecessarily invite the martification of defeat.

William Dwyer, the busband of the woman who was murdered in the cellar, near the cornor of Frankfort and Chatham streets on Tuesday last, was apprehended yesterday morning in Bergen, New Jersey, by Mr. Benjamin J Hays and Mr. Leonard Baum, clerk in the market, and committed to Bridewell last evening by Mr. Justice Hopson. Nineteen sovereigns were found in his possession. The accused was found asleep under a tree near the village, in a state of complete intoxication, in which condition it appears he has remained ever since the bloody deed was committed.—Jour. of Com.

The Richmond Enquirer now announces that, according to verbal accounts from London, Mr. Randolph's health was not improved, and that there was some reason to fear he would not be able to sail for St. Petersburgh. Every one who saw and heard Mr. Randolph, whether at St. Petersburgh; or London, was sure that he would not return to Russia. As for his health it has been, generally, what it was when he sailed from Norfolk. No expectation could be entertained, of its amendment. It ought, therefore, to be excluded from the consideration of his case or received as evidence of his unfitness for the mission to Russia. This question will be again handled in Congress, with additional topics.
