WHIG CENTRAL COMMITTEE. A meeting will be held at the Log Cabin this

J. B. WALTON, W. H. WHITE. Jame 93, 1840 a. THE MRETING

Last evening was all that the most ardent friends of HARRISON and REFORM could have wished—through transion and REFORM could nave wanted—inronged, as it was, by the usands of enthusiastic Whigs. The recordings were of the most animated character, several gentlemen delivered highly eloquent and efective addresses. The resolutions, which we shall publish to-morrow, breath the spirit of genuine re-aled. Its doom is defeat. POLITICAL TACTICS. It cannot have escaped observation that the system of party warfare carried on by the federal locofocus in nirely diffensive. It is an essential portion of their history of the state of t man at the ballot box; and thence to the arts and and watch his conduct to the present moment, and it will be impossible to detect even a lurking sentiment of patriotism, a mere scintillation of genuine republi-can feeling in the whole of his cold, calculating

All this is as well known to the partizans of Mr

Van Buren's administration, as to its opponents.— Hence the studied reserve with which they avoid all mention of the merits of their candidate, and the eager merits of ours. The reader may hunt through the files of every loco-foco paper in the Union, withou lighting on any labored effort at commendation of Mr.

Van Buren. The articles of the loco-foco journals re generally confined to tirades and diatribes against he whigs. They cannot proise the politician of Kin-the whigs. They cannot proise the politician of Kin-erhook—his life is too sterile in subjects of eulogy, and too fruitful in topics for consure, to warrant an a southern editor, who would seriously undertake an elaborate panegyric on Mr. Van Buren, would exhib

TORY KNAVERY.

The Louisville Journal assetts most positively, that Cornelius Van Buskirk, one of the committee of spies, who recently went to General Hannson's residence or the purpose of eliciting from him some expression in the approaching election, has repeatedly declared to divers gentlemen of Louisville, that when the letter was handed to General H., asking his opinion upon he slavery question, he referred them to his Vincenne speech, as containing a full expose of his views upor subject. And further, that when the committe told General Harrison that they did not know when roduced one or more copies, and plucing them in thei ands, informed them emphatically that all the opinion herein expressed were still entertained by him. And yet this same Cornelius Van Buskirk, in a let er to the locofoco central committee of Kentucky, de clared that General Harrison, after reading the not addressed to him, replied that nothing could induce him to answer the questions, coming from either friend or foe. What a commentary upon the recklessness of party does this transaction furnish! The Vincennes

Speech of General Hannison abounds in witherin

On Tuesday night last, one of the Indians made his escape, owing to the sentinel going to sleep. One of the guard saw him running and fired at him which alarmed the whole camp—the other sentinel's also fired. Capt Mason was sho there—it is supposed the latter was the case. He was seen running after the Indian, and it is impossible to ascertain who killed him! confidence and affection of General Jacason, and

Capt. Mason, here mentioned, was a very respectinhabitant of Duval county, and was a member of the House of Representatives in the last Council. He as distinguished himself in the late were, and shared zen and an active officer.

We learn further, that Col. Harney was to have left Fort King for Fert Melon, on the 10th.

Capt. Bonneville had gene on a scout of twenty days, and taken Indian Tom with him. Tom was to be sent out to bring in the Indians, but doubts are expressed whether he ever returns.

We see from the above, that something is doing in the interior. Keep up constant scouts and success will follow. Successful Indian fighting is an employment of unremitting activity, watchfulness and peril.

GREAT HARRISON MEETING AT ALEX ANDRIA, D. C. There has been another of those time ous gath erings of the people, which have become a prominen feature of the times, and which inspire the belief tha the sturdy and independent veomancy of the country are about to take the business of president making i to their own hands. In Alexandria, the friends o Harrison and Reform—the people, met in thousands upon thousands upon the 18th instant, to "reason and ommune" together upon the state of nublic affairs. and encourage each other in the great struggle of lib erty against the usurpations and corruptions of power. The neighboring States of Virginia and Maryland poured forth their log cabin hosts, until the streets of Alexandria were a moving mass of men. Several dis DANIEL WEBSTER, Mr. CRITTENDEN, Mr. PRESTON and Mr. Phenes of the Senate, and Mesers. Graves, Thompson and Winz of the House of Representatives. Subjoined is a sketch of Mr. WEBSTER's speech upo copy of that speech could be obtained, he actually Thourson and Wisz of the House of Representatives. Subjoined is a sketch of Mr. Westera's speech upon the occasion:

"He said, he had never before the happiness of addressing any considerable number of his fellow-citizens South of the Potomac river, and he would not deny that he embraced the occasion with the greatest pleasure. The particular object of the meeting was one in which all his feelings entered most warmly, to commemorate the brilliant achievement of the Opposition party of Virginia at the spring election, and to do honor to those who, in that contest, upheld the cause of the Constitution and our Republican liberty. The Virginia spring election wrought a great change, and was productive of the most beneficial consequences—Before that struggle, doubts were entertained with regard to the manner in which the South would act.—Before that time, how much acver of feeling and interest in behalf of the Opposition, there was not any certainty that the feeling and interest were general, or that the South would make a firm, united stand geinst the men in power. That question, se important to their great cause—was solved at the spring elections. It was then made manifest that union and harmony exist among the free and independent citizens of every section: and whether we succeed or fail, our fate is identified with the most distinguished and illustrious men from every quarter of our country.

In this connection,
Mr. Westerm said that, as a member of the National Legislature, he could not forbear giving his testimony to the conduct of the Opposition members from Virginia—to their shifty, their seat, their devotedness to their duties. He knew them well—and no man could more highly appreciate their character and services. He them repeated the expression of his high satisfaction at being enabled to address, directly, a Southern audience, on topics in which the North and South have a common interest. He knew he was littened to by Virginians—full of the feelings of Southern members of the section at being enabled to t sickens at the recital of such infamy. Few men, we hope, of the administration party, would be base enough to enter the house of a venerable soldier, and aged pa-to the old Bay State! But our ensuring shall not separate the Whigs of the old Bay State from the Whigs of the Old Day State from the Whigs of the Old Dominion!

[Here he was again interrupted by three loud cheers.

LOOK UPONTHIS PICTURE AND UPON rows desperate. Finding the argument sgainst then ind being totally unable to sestain the pretensions o VAN BUREN by any process of reasoning convinc feither his statesmanship or his political integrity of entirer him materialization or his pointed integrity, the supporters of the administration are raking up from the gutters to which they were consigned, the slanand malice, folled in its labor to pick a flaw in his character, have invented against Gen. HARRISON.— These calumnies are concocted to suit different lati-tude. In the South, abolition is charged against him As this charge will be reiterated until the close of the elections, we have thought proper to publish the re-corded acts of both Mr. Van Buren and Gen. Har RISON in respect to this subject, and teave the decision to the enlightened judgment of the people, as to which of the two candidates is amenable to the impr ation of negrophilism.
