CLAY CLUB.
A REGULAR meeting will be held in the Club Room, corner of Bourbon Place and St. Louis street, on Tuesday evening, the 6th inst. at half past 8 o'clock. The Club, at its last meeting having passed a resolution, declaring the meetings to be open, all Whigs desirous to enter the Club are requested to attend the meeting and sign the Constitution.

Officers are to be elected and other business of much importance transacted. GEO. C. LAWRASON, } Secs.
N. DELAPLAINE, }

CLAY CLUB.
In future, ALL WHIGS are invited to attend the regular meetings of the Club, whether they are members or not. We hope to see the Club-room filled at every meeting between this and the election.

The northern press has been industriously denouncing the gerrish of Mr. WEBSTER'S Baltimore speech. With the whig party we believe that Mr. WEBSTER'S views of commercial treaties can scarcely find favor. If we comprehend aright the main proposition of his speech, it is to hand over the legislation upon imposts, &c. to the executive and senate. The navigation laws, and duties and auxiliary regulations are to be established in future without the concurrence of the popular branch of the national legislature. We do not for a moment believe that the house of representatives would submit to any such treatment. Questions have heretofore arisen in the course of our foreign policy upon propositions to carry out the provisions of treaty, which caused no little excitement in that branch of congress. In such cases, the house has agreed to pass the necessary laws, without coming to any decision upon the mooted constitutional point. A clear instance in respect to the Ashburton treaty, the house of representatives agreed to the appropriations necessary to keep a squadron upon the coast of Africa as has been stipulated in that treaty, but who can suppose that they would have agreed to any such measure had they been told that the treaty had been agreed upon to prevent them from having any voice in matters the were formerly submitted to their judgment and decision?

Amongst other things stated in the Addenda to Mr. Webster's speech, it is said that goods exported and imported from other country to the other should pay a duty, during a series of years, would the House of Representatives consent to such a thing? Would the "free trade" agreed to it but the duty be a protective one? Would they, by taking a dose of Prussic acid and then cutting his throat?

A NUMBER of counterfeit $20 Indiana notes are circulating in the West. The following is a description of them is from the Cincinnati Gazette:—

The plate is the same as the one generally used by the State, the figure 2 over the Indiana State House in the centre, and the figure 20 in the corners; but the lighter shade of the green, and the ink is of a darker color. The signatures can be detected with a little care. The genuine are signed [illegible] H. Bass; S. P. Morris, Cashier; S. Merrill, President, engravers imprint good.—Cin.

Col. WARFIELD—The St. Charles (Mo.) Advocate, of the 27th ult. has the following paragraph:

It is pretty well settled now that Warfield does not concur in the support of Clinton, the present administration paper. We have been told by those who say that he spent some time there with Warfield at his office, or took up the Missouri river with him, that Warfield has a number of [illegible] which he intended to the Legislature of Texas, to be presented to the Congress of Texas, to be considered as a single application from New Mexico. He has propounded to the members of war that the Mexicans are ready to rise and join Texas if they will only go to their assistance. Whether this proposition will be entertained or not, has yet to be learned. It is said that Col. Warfield has been in Santa Fe more than once, and knows the country well. Whatever may be the result of the application, it is certain that the Texians will not be troubled for some time to come with the Mexicans, as they have enough to do to settle their own internal affairs. Many of the best men in Texas are opposed to the measures of Houston, and the latter has not the confidence of the people as he had formerly. Texas is rapidly settling up with a population of the best character, and will soon be able to take care of herself.
