New-Orleans:
TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 13, 1844.

"THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE."

We have of late heard James K. Polk several times dubbed the "People's Candidate." A utter misnomer was never perpetrated. Fished upon the self-stylyed Democratic party by sheer accident; nominated after innumerable ballots during two months or which he never received a single vote, was what part or party could he called the "People's Candidate?" In what primary assembly of the nation, by what authoritative expression of the public mind was Mr Polk ever put forth as a candidate for the Presidency? What State ever instructed her delegates to sustain his nomination? The People's Candidate forsooth! Bah rather the clique or caucus candidate—the offshoot of a desperate and discordant faction, which after three days of fruitless jarring, compromised their dissentions by starting as an aspirant for the highest honors in the nation's gift, a man who had never been recommended for the office even by his own immediate friends and neighbors.

Locofocism, however, tells us that great principles are involved in this contest—that men are secondary and subservient to the vital differences between the two great political parties of the day, and that Mr Polk is the representative and embodiment of pure democracy. Ay, indeed! What was Mr Van Buren? What principles of democracy does Mr Polk support which Mr Van Buren abandoned? Did not the latter come up in all respects to the genuine locofoco standard? Did he blench from the test when asked for his opinions on the present Tariff, a National Currency, Distribution, the Veto Power and Sub-Treasury? It would seem not, for 16 States, comprising a large majority of the Convention, instructed their delegates to vote for him. Why was the veteran of the democracy ruthlessly cast off, to make room for this mere political fledgling, whose plumage was stripped from him at two successive conventions in his own State by a youthful scion of Chivalry? For what possible reason have that locofoco sun thought it had started, in the Texas question, a new one which the whigs refused to recognize, and which it was loudly hoped would never be agitated? Conclusions, and bear triumphantly into power the party which embraced it. Mr Van Buren was outraged because for the first time in his life he had manliness and honesty enough to speak like a statesman and patriot. Democracy feared that with him as the candidate, the full sense of the Texas question would be understood, and the nomination of James K. Polk, a mere thoughtless ignoramus, was the result of this miserable intrigue. Mr Van Buren was discarded that a nihil nec pejor nec bonus might take his place, while the tools and dupes of the latter was lured upon the support of the overwhelming power of an issue nearly forced upon President Tyler. The locofocos not to shed Captain Tyler of his political ai capital and seek to conciliate his friends, by the trick of the two-thirds rule, cheated the regular candidate out of the nomination.

Oh! but consistency, pshaw, is the stunning slogan of locofocoism. Polk is a genuine pure slaveholder, and therefore admirably fitted to be voted for, regardless of the party. In times? Which of the principles of locofocism was Polk ever known to support unflinchingly consistently? The Sub Treasury? Why, in 1838, when the party of the Independent Treasury was laid before Congress in open session, Mr. Polk made an able speech against it, and helped by his vote to defeat the measure. The land bill was destroyed. Mr. Polk was a most vital supporter of the Pet Bank System, and in his speech against the Sub-Treasury, insisted that the Banks were safe repositories of the public moneys. But Polk declared in Mr. Polk, up to his nomination, out and out that the deadly heresy to the Farm, and upon an incident occurring in his Free Trade heresies, as South Carolina herself could have desired. But no sooner does he perceive the necessity of truckling for Nullifier votes, than he unblushing audacity, he repudiates his Free Trade sentiments, and writes letter to Pennsylvania, in which he announces himself an opponent of the principles of which distinguished men. He has even engaged in not publishing the Free Trade letter of a long date. In short he professes sooner to be an anything to secure the suffrages of the timeserving tribe. He endeavors to accommodate public opinion in every latitude, and to make his professions square with the sentiments of the majority in every section of the Union. Such is the candidate who has been forced upon the "Democracy" by Southern nullifiers and Texas speculators. Such is the representation of locofoco principles. Such, in short, is the miserable "People's Candidate."

STAND FROM UNDER.

The last Charleston Mercury has a rousing article on Mr. Polk's treachery to Calhoun. That journal's estimable opinion of the deceptive man read by "Young Hickory" on side the South. It asks if the South is content to be thus duped and cajoled. It declares that Mr. Polk "(even before he is strengthened to betray by the secure possession of power, but has the prospect speedily within two little months from his nomination, which we accepted as that of a free trade man, declared his entire opposition upon the very ground of the Syracuse Resolution, for which we denounced Mr. Van Buren, and is vaunt ingly proclaimed by the Albany Argus, and a Democratic press, as occupying alone the lofty if not ideal ground with Henry Clay!!"

Is the South to come to the North to vote for its own defence, and emphatically disclaim all hope of relief founded upon speculations for the Presidency.

The Mercury denounces Mr. P. in the following terms, and not hopes that South Carolina will vote for him. Truly such consistency is just worthy the Palmetto State

He has not waited to feel might before he began to rend the air about the grave of coy delay, abandon us to the fate which he knows must follow the fusion of the waste into the corrupt embraces of oppression. If such things are done in the green tree, for the mere temptation of a share in the offices, what desperance and profligate in sul-version to the plunderers' majority, may not he looks for it he succeeds in the canvass, and becomes surrounded by the yet stronger temptations, to smooth the course of his administration and maintain the ascendancy of his party by a dactile and oily facility! And what prospect is there that the mass of his supporters will present to their Southern leader any less flexible or more uncompromising candidate for re-election in four years hence! None, whatever. While this is the full support Mr. Polk's election it will not be because pledged to it.

CORRECT YOUR FIGURES.

The Republican, Herald and Bulletin, all publish the North Carolina elections taken from the Charleston Mercury, without taking the trouble to verify the footing up. The Mercury, whether wilfully or not, has made an error in the whig column of 414, making the whig majorities 2,969, instead of 3,014, and in the democratic column gives the locos 17 votes more than they are entitled to. We suppose an appeal to the Republican and Herald to do for the North Carolina Whigs justice and correct their returns, will be in vain. But the Bulletin is an impartial journal, and will doubtless receive an unintentional error.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Yesterday's mail brought us returns from five more counties, viz:—Perquimans, Chowan, Franklin, Robeson and Cumberland. We subjoin them:

	1842		1844
	W.	L. F.	W.	L. F.
5 Counties	0 0	720 0	0 0	600
Chowan	343	321	382	901
Franklin	333	644	990	199
Perquimans	5 0	54	865	317
Cumberland	4 0	766	60	1 70
Robeson	0 0	857	0 0	000
	2641	6661	1967	6770
	0 0	2741	0 0	0 0
		6563		89 3
				6461
			Loco gain	340

It is therefore seen that in 23 counties the locofoco gain is 340 votes since 1842, when Morehead's (w) majority was 4745. A similar gain throughout the State—which we do not expect would reduce Graham's majority about 900 votes.

It is proper to observe that yesterday we gave the locofocos 700 majority in Warren, upon the faith of the Charleston papers. The Petersburg Republican, of the 9th, (a locofoco print) makes the vote stand, Graham, 1,127—Hoke, 716 or 389 majority—111 less than that given. This, if correct, makes the locofoco gain in 23 counties 229. If, the mail should come through to day, we shall probably obtain several of the western counties and ascertain definitely what the whig majority is, and whether we have carried the Legislature.

☞ We received nothing Tuesday from Alabama by yesterday's mail.

PENNSYLVANIA.

The Miltonian, published at Milton, in Northumberland county, says that the prospects of the Whigs in Northumberland, Lycoming, Union, and Columbia counties are truly cheering, and assures its friends at a distance that the counties above named will give one thousand votes more for Mr. CLAY than they gave for the lamented HARRISON in 1840.

The Clinton County Whig states, in reference to the increasing popularity of Whig principles to the heretofore Northern locofoco counties of the State, that, so far as its knowledge extends, the Whigs are evidently gaining ground, and will give a larger vote for CLAY, FRELINGHUYSEN, and MARKLE than has been cast in favor of Whig candidates at any previous election.

NORTHERN OHIO.

A friend now from the Reserve assures us (says the Cincinnati Chronicle), that never since the name of Whig designated the party has the Lake country been so thoroughly awake and doing. From 1824 to 1844 Henry CLAY has been their hearty choice; and now though at a late hour, the moment approaches when they will testify their attachment by majorities such as were never before recorded. The farmers of Medina county, to the number of about fifty, have changed their votes from free trade to home protection.

FOR PENSACOLA.—The fine steamer Creole, Captain Heiss, leaves this morning for Pensacola, touching at all the watering places, on the arrival of the half past 9 o'clock cars, returning again on Saturday morning next. We do not know of a more pleasant excursion at this season of the year, and would recommend it to those who can appreciate invigorating sea breezes, fine fishes and capital sea bathing, besides the no less agreeable accompaniments of a good boat, an obliging captain and the most popular and attentive clerk on the Lake.

☞ A sad accident occurred in a German family in Newark N. J. on the 24 inst, from the improper use of fire arms. A young man presented a gun to his sister, a young lady of 20, exclaiming playfully "I'll shoot you," and pulled the trigger. The charge entered her lower jaw and went through into the left shoulder. She is shockingly wounded, but it is hoped, will recover.—The brother, who did not know the gun, was loaded, is quite frantic.

RECEIPTS AT THE NEW YORK CUSTOMHOUSE.—The amount of revenue for the month of July, received at the New York Customhouse, was $1,914,859. The amount received for the single week ending at 3 o'clock on the 31st ult., was $500,000—a larger amount, we believe, than was ever received in any one week before.

☞ The Rochester Democrat says that Major Van Campen, whose renunciation of the Texas and anti-Tariff party we published a few days since, was the locofoco Elector in 1840 for the Livingston District.—The Democrat adds that Major Van Campen's brother, who resides in Annual, Ala gany county, with his several sons, all at whom voted for Mr. Van Buren in 1840, will, all, if they live, vote for HENRY CLAY in November.

ANECDOTE OF HENRY CLAY.—Mr. E. S. Cornelius, of Piscataway, N. J. who has hitherto voted with the Locofocos but has concluded to go the other way this time, was yesterday in our office, and casually stated to us one of the reasons of his change, which seem to us worthy of record; so we jot it down below.

He said he had been first induced to discard his old political associates from disgust at their atrocious veto of the bank charter, and that he had lived many years in Kentucky, and had often seen Mr. Clay there, and he knew that both parties held him in the highest respect, not only as a Statesman but as a man of unspotted personal character. An incident recalled to his mind was as follows:

While he lived in Louisville, in 1836 or 7, the then Lieut Governor of Indiana came to that city, and had been invited to dine at the meetings above and was present at the dinner. There was a room on board used for the purpose, and that was all. A crowd was attracted to the vessel, and among them was Henry Clay, then living on the Gait House. He instantly asked, 'Have you not lost every thing? Will you not need aid?' They answered that they were nearly destitute, having but a few dollars in their pockets and being far from friends. "Well," said Mr. Clay, "Here is $50 to begin with: others will doubtless contribute." They did so; so much as the suffrers would take was raised on the spot, and they went their way with lighter hearts.

This is but an incident—one among a thousand such—but it marks the man.—Tribune.

THE GUNS.—As honorable man would be ashamed to take gift s on the principle that the Lords are deserving to obtain it for Mr. POLK. After approaching the "Black Whig Tariff," as they have called it, and denouncing its ripeal, they are now pledged to vote for Polk as a warmer protection than then HENRY CLAY and Mr. Muhlenberg Polk will not vote for ever. Consistency requires the State of New York, a party to vote for the people to be written from Americus.
For a Locofoco not a meeting at Pittsburg (Pa) to address the people to be written from Americus.
For a Locofoco not a meeting at Pittsburg (Pa) to address the people to be written from Americus.
Locofocos! Will you not support James K. Polk, unless they wash that act in gold.—North American.

[COMMUNICATED]
FIGURES NEVER LIE.

The adage must have existed before the birth of the first arithmetician, that in computing by numbers figures can and does prove any thing or nothing. For example, in the election in 16 counties of North Carolina, reported since the 5th inst., of precisely those from the Charleston Mercury, we footed up 7,699 for the locofocos and 7,600 for the whig candidate, when by the simple rule of addition any person will find that the aggregate of the former is 99 and that of the latter 100. Under the new or reformed arithmetic the locofoco gain in these 16 counties since 1842 appears to be 7,79 while the 8g ines shew a considerable loss
