THURSDAY MORNING SEPT., 26, 1844.

WHIGS ATTENTION!
MASS MEETING.

☞ A MASS MEETING of the WHIGS of New Orleans will be held on SATURDAY, the 28th instant at 7 o'clock, at the St. CHARLES THEATRE. Accommodations are made for the LADIES and the first tier of boxes reserved especially for them. Several POPULAR ORATORS have volunteered their services.

JAMES K. POLK.

It is a remarkable fact throughout the present canvass, that the Locofoco presses have as little as possible to say of their Presidential candidate. We turn over a vast number of Locofoco journals every day, and with the exception of Mr. POLK's name at the head of their column, we absolutely find that he is passed over sub silentio. They do not even dub their political gatherings with his patronymic. Who ever heard of a "Polk Club!" No indeed! They steal Old Hickory's armor and putting it per force on the feeble body of their present champion, strive to gull the multitude into the belief that it is really a scion of the noble old tree—a Young Hickory that stands before them. Why is this? Why does not Locofocoism chaunt the praises of its hero, its darling, its newly found pet? Is it because there is really nothing about Mr. POLK that can excite admiration? The silliest points that extort admiration—no time honored associations—no memories—nothing save a tabula rasa—utter and blank insignificance! We take it that if Locofocoism could discover the smallest symptom of vitality about its beatling, the world would be apt to know it soon enough.

The idea of the Locofoco nominating a candidate for the Presidency whose name they are almost ashamed to utter is funny enough. Last hour a Locofoco buzzing in the street. He doesn't say—Vote for Polk! But "Hurrah for POLK and DALLAS" laying an emphasis on the last name and gliding rapidly over POLK; or "Hurrah for POLK, DALLAS and TEXAS." The Whigs are a different set of fellows entirely. They have a candidate of whom they are justly proud, whose name alone stirs the blood and thrills through the veins of every lover of his country. Let a man go any where in the United States—we don't care if it be in Edgecombe county, North Carolina, and shout for HENRY CLAY, and he will be assuredly greeted with a hearty response. We think that before the Locofocos begin to talk about enthusiasm, they had better see if there be any of the elements of that sort of feeling in the character or conduct of their favorite. Enthusiasm about JAMES K. POLK forsooth! Enthusiasm in a cold buckwheat cake.

☞ We are glad to find that we have driven the Republican to denouncing the Tariff. The moment the locofoco papers in Louisiana show their true colors on the subject of protective duties, we have no fear of the result. Heretofore they have been imitating the duplicity practised in Pennsylvania, and either maintaining a discreet silence in regard to the Tariff, or laboring to identify the locofoco party with the advocacy of the American System. Locofocoism in Louisiana now stands the self confessed champion of Free Trade. The party unite with JAMES K. POLK in preferring British pauper labor to that of their own countrymen—and doubtless they agree with their Presidential candidate in considering the protection to sugar afforded by the Tariff as a most odious monopoly, and the sugar Planters themselves as set of wealthy NABOBS.

We shall proceed to undertake to follow the Republican through its liberal concessions to the cause of free trade—Monday. The fact that protection CHEAPENS the products of manufacturing industry, which our contemporary seems to regard with almost ludicrous amazement, is one which as a general rule, is thoroughly ascertained. Not that we mean to deny that Jones self considered, all things being the same both before and after the imposition of such duties, tend to raise prices. Such a case, however, it has been well observed, can hardly exist. The very imposition of the duty will effect a change. Importations would be checked by it; the foreign manufacturer rather than incur the danger of a surplus in his own market, would be induced to reduce his prices. The duty, by guaranteeing our citizens from oppressive foreign competition, would enable them to go into the manufactures; and this new competition would have a further tendency to bring down prices. This is the manner in which protective duties operate in cheapening articles of domestic manufacture. We have on more than one occasion published elaborate lists comprising an immense number of articles of home manufacture, with the difference before and since the passage of the present Tariff, demonstrating conclusively that such articles were cheaper now under heavy duties, than when they were allowed to enter the country comparatively free.

We are not, however, arguing the principle of protection. Our sole object is to direct the attention of the people of Louisiana, of whom a vast majority have been the steady advocates of the Tariff, to the fact that locofocoism in this city is identified with the theory of Free Trade, and that either openly or insidiously that party are attempting to subvert the present glorious Tariff, the solitary whig measure of 1842 which escaped Mr. TYLER's veto, and under which the country has already exhibited the most gratifying symptoms of returning prosperity. Let the people of Louisiana therefore, be warned in time.

To the Editors of the Bee:
GENTLEMEN—

I have seen nothing for many years more gratifying to my feelings than the article in your journal of yesterday, headed "The Locofoco Mask Off." There is not a Republican of former times—a real Democrat—who would not recognize in it the words of truth. It is only by the fraudulent use of the name of "Democracy," that the Locofoco party has for many years managed to lead astray thousands of voters who were either too busy or too careless to examine for themselves. I, therefore, rejoice that you have drawn aside the garment under which the cloven foot of Federalism was concealed, and exposed the deformity to the gaze of the multitude who had been duped by the masked imposter. I hope every good whig will subscribe to your paper will preserve his copy of yesterday's number, and invite his locofoco associates to read the article referred to. If that does not serve to open the eyes of hundreds of them, I shall conclude that their mental vision is of little value.

If WASHINGTON, JEFFERSON, MADISON and MONROE were Democrats, the Locofoco party are not Democrats. This I can abundantly prove by the writings of these gentlemen, and if either of the Locofoco journals of this city will simply deny the truth of this assertion, I will hand you the quotations without loss of time.

I recollect reading in the "Republican" a few days since, the suggestion that the Locofoco press must take a rule to attack the Whig party at all points, with a view to keeping it constantly on the defensive. The object of this suggestion is now explained by the inability of the Locofoco press to defend its party against the charge of Federal and anti-American principles. When a party is reduced to such an extremity, its notoriousness cannot be much longer concealed from its dupes.—Persons who are conscious of their own rectitude are careless of attack from any quarter, while those who know that they merit the scorn and contempt of all good men, seek to divert attention from themselves by slandering the virtuous.

Fortunately, the Whig party recognise principles which can nowise suffer from the attacks of unprincipled demagogues, or their hirelings. Calumny and falsehood are imposent when displayed as weapons against the principles taught by WASHINGTON and his Republican associates. The Locofoco Federal party will speedily be overthrown by the irresistible influence of

TRUTH.

SIGNS.

Samuel Betts, of Hagerstown, Md., directs his name to be struiken from the Hickory Club of that place, declaring that he will vote for Clay in November.

Henry Pinkot and Solomon J. Fague of Rogerstown, receive a report that they would vote for Polk, &c., and declare that it is not true, and that they will certainly vote for Clay. Mr. Fague was claimed as "a convert from Whiggery." He asks why should he "desert the Whig party (even we have such men as Clay and Frelinghuysen for our leaders?" Mr Pinkot announces his utter abandonment of "Locofoco principles."

Reuben Hagerty, Esq., of Newton county, Georgia, abandons Polk and Dallas, and gives his reasons in a well considered and sensible letter.

Jos. O. Norris and Richard Hawkins of Thomasville, Ga., announce 1 locofocofor Clay. Mr Hawkins adds 20 more, and 2 more their neighbors, Messrs Hall and Allen.

We could wish that every locofoco in the land would read the following convincing exposition of the designed interference of the British Government, in the protective policy of this country. It is to the interest of Great Britain to break down this policy, and flood us with the products of her pauper labor, and she will do it most assuredly, if the true friends of protection—the whigs, should not succeed at the coming Presidential contest.

BRITISH GOLD AND THE LOCOFOCOS.
(From the N. Y. Courier and Enquirer.)

The great aim of the locofocos in the coming election is to destroy the policy of protecting American labor against foreign labor. This is the simple point at issue. The whigs are in favor of such protection, the locofocos are against it. Of course foreign nations side with the locofocos, since it is for their interest to do the work of the American people. If the Protective policy prevails we shall do our own labor; if not foreigners will do it for us. Great Britain has long made it the great object of her ambition to be the great work-shop of the world. She desires to manufacture all the goods which the rest of the world requires. In that way the rest of the world will pour its wealth into her coffers, and will thus become tributary to her greatness. In order to effect this result she will spare no effort. We have already seen some of the methods which she adopts—the 'duosity' which she pays on exports of her goods—the 'loans' which she makes to her manufacturers, &c., all of which are intended to enable her people to undersell American manufacturers in the American market. Another method to which she resorts is the dissemination among our people of Free Trade documents. A late number of the London Times has the following paragraph with reference to the matter:—

"A subscription was recently opened to raise funds to circulate Free Trade Tracts in Foreign Countries.—About four hundred and forty thousand were subscribed. Some of these tracts are to be printed in New York, FOR CIRCULATION IN THE UNITED STATES."

Here is proof positive, that the locofocos are assisted in the crusade against Protection by British gold. Every manufacturer in Great Britain is directly interested in the success of the locofocos. If J. K. Polk is elected, protection will be abandoned: American manufactures will be destroyed:—American people must then depend on foreigners for their needed goods; and thus prices (in addition to the salient points that extort admiration—no time honored associations—no memories—nothing save a tabula rasa—utter and blank insignificance! We take it that if Locofocoism could discover the smallest symptom of vitality about its beatling, the world would be apt to know it soon enough.

The idea of the Locofoco nominating a candidate for the Presidency whose name they are almost ashamed to utter is funny enough. Last hour a Locofoco buzzing in the street. He doesn't say—Vote for Polk! But "Hurrah for POLK and DALLAS" laying an emphasis on the last name and gliding rapidly over POLK; or "Hurrah for POLK, DALLAS and TEXAS." The Whigs are a different set of fellows entirely. They have a candidate of whom they are justly proud, whose name alone stirs the blood and thrills through the veins of every lover of his country. Let a man go any where in the United States—we don't care if it be in Edgecombe county, North Carolina, and shout for HENRY CLAY, and he will be assuredly greeted with a hearty response. We think that before the Locofocos begin to talk about enthusiasm, they had better see if there be any of the elements of that sort of feeling in the character or conduct of their favorite. Enthusiasm about JAMES K. POLK forsooth! Enthusiasm in a cold buckwheat cake.

☞ We are glad to find that we have driven the Republican to denouncing the Tariff. The moment the locofoco papers in Louisiana show their true colors on the subject of protective duties, we have no fear of the result. Heretofore they have been imitating the duplicity practised in Pennsylvania, and either maintaining a discreet silence in regard to the Tariff, or laboring to identify the locofoco party with the advocacy of the American System. Locofocoism in Louisiana now stands the self confessed champion of Free Trade. The party unite with JAMES K. POLK in preferring British pauper labor to that of their own countrymen—and doubtless they agree with their Presidential candidate in considering the protection to sugar afforded by the Tariff as a most odious monopoly, and the sugar Planters themselves as set of wealthy NABOBS.

We shall proceed to undertake to follow the Republican through its liberal concessions to the cause of free trade—Monday. The fact that protection CHEAPENS the products of manufacturing industry, which our contemporary seems to regard with almost ludicrous amazement, is one which as a general rule, is thoroughly ascertained. Not that we mean to deny that Jones self considered, all things being the same both before and after the imposition of such duties, tend to raise prices. Such a case, however, it has been well observed, can hardly exist. The very imposition of the duty will effect a change. Importations would be checked by it; the foreign manufacturer rather than incur the danger of a surplus in his own market, would be induced to reduce his prices. The duty, by guaranteeing our citizens from oppressive foreign competition, would enable them to go into the manufactures; and this new competition would have a further tendency to bring down prices. This is the manner in which protective duties operate in cheapening articles of domestic manufacture. We have on more than one occasion published elaborate lists comprising an immense number of articles of home manufacture, with the difference before and since the passage of the present Tariff, demonstrating conclusively that such articles were cheaper now under heavy duties, than when they were allowed to enter the country comparatively free.

We are not, however, arguing the principle of protection. Our sole object is to direct the attention of the people of Louisiana, of whom a vast majority have been the steady advocates of the Tariff, to the fact that locofocoism in this city is identified with the theory of Free Trade, and that either openly or insidiously that party are attempting to subvert the present glorious Tariff, the solitary whig measure of 1842 which escaped Mr. TYLER's veto, and under which the country has already exhibited the most gratifying symptoms of returning prosperity. Let the people of Louisiana therefore, be warned in time.

To the Editors of the Bee:
GENTLEMEN—

I have seen nothing for many years more gratifying to my feelings than the article in your journal of yesterday, headed "The Locofoco Mask Off." There is not a Republican of former times—a real Democrat—who would not recognize in it the words of truth. It is only by the fraudulent use of the name of "Democracy," that the Locofoco party has for many years managed to lead astray thousands of voters who were either too busy or too careless to examine for themselves. I, therefore, rejoice that you have drawn aside the garment under which the cloven foot of Federalism was concealed, and exposed the deformity to the gaze of the multitude who had been duped by the masked imposter. I hope every good whig will subscribe to your paper will preserve his copy of yesterday's number, and invite his locofoco associates to read the article referred to. If that does not serve to open the eyes of hundreds of them, I shall conclude that their mental vision is of little value.

If WASHINGTON, JEFFERSON, MADISON and MONROE were Democrats, the Locofoco party are not Democrats. This I can abundantly prove by the writings of these gentlemen, and if either of the Locofoco journals of this city will simply deny the truth of this assertion, I will hand you the quotations without loss of time.

I recollect reading in the "Republican" a few days since, the suggestion that the Locofoco press must take a rule to attack the Whig party at all points, with a view to keeping it constantly on the defensive. The object of this suggestion is now explained by the inability of the Locofoco press to defend its party against the charge of Federal and anti-American principles. When a party is reduced to such an extremity, its notoriousness cannot be much longer concealed from its dupes.—Persons who are conscious of their own rectitude are careless of attack from any quarter, while those who know that they merit the scorn and contempt of all good men, seek to divert attention from themselves by slandering the virtuous.

Fortunately, the Whig party recognise principles which can nowise suffer from the attacks of unprincipled demagogues, or their hirelings. Calumny and falsehood are imposent when displayed as weapons against the principles taught by WASHINGTON and his Republican associates. The Locofoco Federal party will speedily be overthrown by the irresistible influence of

TRUTH.

Mr. STRATTON, the whig candidate for Governor of New Jersey, was born and lives on Coon Creek. How could such a man be any thing else but a whig. He belongs to the family of "that same Old Coon!"

NEW YORK.—Reverdy Johnson, Esqr., of Baltimore made a speech a few days ago, to a whig meeting in that city. He stated that he had just returned from New York, and that the Empire State was just as certain to cast her vote for HENRY CLAY at the coming election, as it was certain that Maryland was a whig State.
