Soldiers' Home.

Mr. J. W. Craddock, a prominent citizen of New Orleans, son of a Confederate veteran, though not a member of Camp Beauregard, as he should be, has presented to the Soldiers' Home, through Mr. W. O. Hart, past commandant of the Camp, a most beautiful Dixie calendar, containing a portrait of General Lee, six Southern plantation scenes and the words of Dixie as written by Doctor M. B. Wharton, together with a beautiful attached picture of an old Virginia Southern home. The words of Dixie contained on the calendar are most beautiful, and though at all meetings of Confederate organizations the original Dixie must be sung, which is most appropriate, at special entertainments this is not absolutely required, and Mr. Hart hopes that at the next Community Concert to be given at the Home, Mr. Wharton's words may be sung.
