Dear Freddy:
Don't mind the handwriting as I'm out of practice, and it will take several weeks to get in shape, so if you can decipher the first one the rest should be easy.

You should thank your lucky stars you're not a would be athlete. Between the weather, the coaches and my own wretched condition, the afternoons are long the hours for sleep way too short.

I suppose you are getting all set for school on Monday. Well don't study too hard or too long, it might ruin your temperament, and even affect your good books. Tom claims East is deppant, he would not having the scholarly traits of his older brother, but for a good student like yourself it all should be a pipe.

Herb Everhardus and myself just had a couple of bottles of beer a piece, and did they ever taste good after drinking milk (and that's all) at the training table. After abstaining for a couple of days, it was really very refreshing.

Even though it is Sat. night, it is just about my bed time, as we have practice tomorrow (Sun) and besides I can't afford to miss breakfast at 8:30, so I'd better cease my pen pushing for the evening.

Give my regards to whom you may, but keep some for yourself, and during your spare moments drop a line or two.

is ever
Jerry
