NEW ORLEANS Female Collegiate Institute, —OR— BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES,

Under the Superintendence of Madame ED. LOUQUINE,
No. 262 Camp Street,
BETWEEN ERATO AND ST. JOSEPH STREETS.

THIS establishment, founded by Dr. and Mrs. Hu. Mann, will commence the seventeenth session on MONDAY, the 16th of September next.

Madame ED. LOUQUINE, assisted by her sister, Mme. FRANÇOIS LOUQUINE, will see that no care or exertion be wanting to merit the confidence of the parents, to whom she begs leave to refer.

Professors of the highest talent are employed in all the branches of a sound and accomplished education.

The French language, the native tongue of these ladies, and the conversation to which it gives birth, are made the principal study in the Institution. Young ladies will therefore acquire in their companionship with them the purest accent and elegant manners, so much admired in the French character.

The establishment, always so commodious and well ventilated, has recently been entirely renovated, with the view of rendering it more worthy than ever of the confidence of the public.

Mme. LOUQUINE would be happy that parents and friends, who call and visit the establishment, should be pleased with all other information which may be required.

Letters of inquiry will be promptly attended to by the Principal.

ACADEMY

Canal street, No. 136, between Dauphin and Bienville streets.

THIS Academy, founded by Mr. S. Sever, is about to resume, with the assistance of Mr. C. Lapeyre, graduate of the University of France, the 20th session of its establishment, which has always been under the superintendence of the undersigned. The course of instruction, will be conducted on a much more extensive plan in all the branches now taught, the existence of the Academy. A classical and commercial education will be imparted to the pupils, including the study of the ancient and modern languages, to those persons who may desire it. To secure this object, the Academy has been enlarged by the addition of the adjoining building, and the study of the ancient languages will be entrusted to Mr. Lapeyre, or Mr. Sever, assisted by competent teachers. The pupils will be enabled to use the instruments necessary for the study of Geometry and Surveying.

Mr. Lapeyre will attend to a regular course, from 1 to 3 o'clock, P. M. A separate room will be built for the classes now in the 1st of October.

PRESERVATION of the Sight.

M. C. DURAMEL, optician, of Chartres street, has just received a fresh invoice of pebble Crystalline lens, of the most approved quality, for the preservation of the sight. Persons who have failed in other stores will find it advantageous to call at his store in New Orleans. The cure is sure, and the price moderate. They are delivered with a guarantee.

The most brilliant optimism here made a report declaring that the above articles are unquestionably the best for the preservation and improvement of the sight. Mr. Duramel respectfully over all others presented to the public, being equally divided over the whole surface, instead of being in the centre only, as in the case with spectacles made in the common way. The superposition of the two crystalline disks makes the objects more distinct, and consequently, much clearer than the others.

Nearsighted persons will find a great improvement in these glasses.

A pamphlet, showing the advantages of these new glasses, will be exhibited and explained on application to Mr. Duramel, all those who may be desirous of further information on the subject.
