THE BEE.
PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY J. BAYON,
PRINTER FOR THE STATE, GENERAL COUNCIL, AND FOR THE FIRST MUNICIPALITY.
NEW ORLEANS:
FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 3, 1836.

FOR GOVERNOR,
A. B. ROMAN.

Extract from the Journal of the Senate of the 6th Feb. 1835.

Resolved, That the Senate of the State of Louisiana, to approve of the general course of the administration of the late executive, A. B. Roman; and that he carries with him to his retirement from office the grateful remembrance of the members of this senate.

Resolved, That the President of the Senate be requested to send a copy of this resolution to Mr. Roman.

Extract from the Journal of the House, of the 3d Feb. 1835.

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the state of Louisiana, that the administration of the government of the state by the late governor, A. B. Roman, has been marked by wisdom, firmness, and a judicious and unwearied zeal for the public service; and in the execution of the laws, he has exhibited fidelity, and in the numerous and important appointments it has fallen to his lot to make, he has manifested impartiality, and a single regard to the true interests of the state; and that he retires with the full and entire approbation of this House for his official conduct, and with their personal esteem and regard.

Resolved, That the Speaker of this House transmit to the late Governor Roman a copy of these resolutions.

Representative, 1st District, to Congress,
JOHN SLIDELL.
FOR THE SENATE OF LOUISIANA,
ALBERT ROA.

M. TEXIER DUPATY was elected yesterday, Alderman of the 2d ward of the first Municipality, in place of M. G. Wiltz who had resigned.

Battle of Waterloo.

This beautiful panoramic representation of various events in the military career of the great conqueror of Europe, is now exhibited every evening at the Ball Room near the Camp Street Theatre. The battle of Waterloo, the murderer of Napoleon in St. Helena, and other scenes and events in the life of this wonderful man, are vividly and accurately delineated. It is much worthy public attention.

Plough's Museum.

We have great pleasure in stating that the unwearied exertions of our fellow citizen, Dr. Plough, to establish a Museum in New Orleans, worthy of a large and enterprising city, will prove entirely successful. The Doctor has obtained an extensive and choice collection of specimens of both art and nature, and has arranged them scientifically, in the lower and upper rooms of the spacious hall selected by him. The first of which contains general curiosities, illustrations of natural history &c. will be thrown open on the 16th inst. The gallery of fine arts, which is dedicated to specimens of painting, sculpture, and the chef d'œuvre of skill and genius in sparring, a somewhat longer time for preparation, will not be opened until the 23d inst.

The subscriptions to Dr. Plough's museum have been most liberal, and he requests us, through its columns to return his grateful thanks to his friends and patrons of science in general for the generous encouragement, personally and otherwise, which is much to further the views of his object. He also certainly engages in providing and enlarging his collection, and we are assured that he will spare no pains to render it one of the most valuable and useful establishments in the U. S.

Mr Prieur's Panegyrists.

Should our contemporaries continue to elaborate arguments to prove that Mr Prieur's services, at the attempted invasion of New Orleans by the British, constitute the most unstrategable claims to the gratitude of the community, Another discovery, that the municipal administration of Mr Prieur was characterized by an unusually natural wisdom and soundness of views, will fully atone for the scarcity of the imputation of such a virtue. Now, it is really entertaining that the first assertion of this candidate should offer such slender reasons for the laudatory comments of his panegyrists. They are compelled, in their efforts at eulogy, to fall around the same narrow and contracted circle of passages, like a blind horse in a corn mill, over the same unmanished and stereotyped track. The civil and military achievements of Mr Prieur are the monotonous theme of their unmeaning Poesna, and as the universal eye of reason can find nothing very wonderful, or uncommon in either, they make amends for the paucity of facts by which they are accompanied, by the gorgeous exuberance of fancy. To hear them, one would imagine that Mr Prieur in martial fame was at least an Alexander, and in civic excellences a rare equal to a Cincinnatus.

For our part, we are entirely willing to acknowledge the estimable qualities of Mr Prieur, both as a warrior and statesman, as far as truth will enable us to go. Prieur, we are perfectly disposed to admit, that Mr Prieur served under General Jackson, on the 23d December, 1814, and was made prisoner by the British. We have not the smallest doubt of his bravery or his patriotism, but do the possession of these attributes entitle him to the highest office in the state? He is endowed with them in no greater proportion than the humblest of the hardy and gallant troops, who under the Hero of New Orleans, annihilated the flower of British chivalry. He is valiant and loves his country as we hope we all are; we consider him as in this community to which we are equally valiant and equally patriotic. And unless the paramount pretensions of Mr Prieur to the gubernatorial dignity—pretensions which he partakes in common with the meanest soldier that carried a musket on that memorable day? Must he be elected because he is brave and because he protected Louisiana during the late war? We cannot easily believe that the author of the articles in question, could seriously put forth so absurd a proposition. For other than martial reasons is needed in the chief magistrate of our state, and though Mr Prieur was a brave hero of New Orleans in 1814 and ed one of the commissaries does not arrogate to call him le heros de 1814—15) and though when called upon to surrender by the British, he had cried like Napoleon's famous company "the Guards die, but never surrender," he would still be wholly unfit for the elevated station which he seeks, unless he were further qualified by the possession of great intellectual ability, approved judgment, rife experience and a sound and discriminating judgment. We cannot for a moment accede to the numerous proofs by the latter of his investigation, arrived at conclusions which entirely overthrow all our preconceived ideas of Mr Prieur's mental powers, he states, "are far superior to Mr. Roman. He has more sense and natural abilities and is a better judge of men." Now, though we place the most implicit reliance upon the sagacity and decisions of this renowned writer, yet as they are few controvertible, self sufficient voters in this city, who have formed opinions quite the reverse of those ascribed, and will not credit the most potent authority unless sustained by some show of proof, we would counsel the journalist, just for the sake of satisfying these obstinate creatures who persevere in thinking Mr. Roman to be superior to Mr. Prieur, to advance a few arguments in support of his opposition, to analyze the ruling motive of his love, and exhibit those latent evidences of the capability of the one, and the superior human capacity of the other, which doubtless he possesses, and thus astonish the incredulous into conviction, and establish triumphantly the validity of his proposition.

We question not, but that M. Preur will be exalted by the praises of his adherents, that he begin to think himself a marvellous popular man, and to indulge in complacent visions of future grandeur and glory.—Indeed, if the various eulogies pronounced upon his character and conduct, since he was first proposed as a candidate, were accumulated, a mass of panegyric would be obtained, establishing conclusively his claims to the highest honor within the gift of the people of this republic. There is but a single thing wanting to effect all the purposes of his friends—the good citizens of Louisiana, (why, we cannot understand,) will not be convinced of the truth of all the commendation. If they would be, there would be no difficulty whatever in securing his success. But THERE'S THE RUB!

CONGRESS, May 30th.

Messrs. Prentiss and Wood sworn, were qualified and took their seats in the House. Mr Prentiss declaring that he and his colleague consientiously believed that the election of April last was illegal, and that they were qualified under the election held in November.

On motion of Mr Bean, Mr Webster's resolution from the Senate was taken up, after suspension of rules, and was ordered to a first, second and third reading, the votes on the third reading standing 151 ayes to 21 noes. The resolution was finally passed by a vote of 154 ayes to 54 noes. The Treasury circular, "as there is no doubt that the act will be sanctioned by the President, the specie circular and all orders to the same effect, may be considered as repealed and prohibited." The House then went into committee on the Indian Hostilities Bill. The speech ...es was dull and heavy, and nothing is yet decided upon.

In the Senate the following resolution was offered by Mr Webster and laid over till the next day:

"Resolved, That the Committee of Finance be instructed to take into consideration the act of June 23 1836, entitled "An Act to regulate the deposites of the Public Money,"—to enquire whether according to the provisions of that act, it is now competent for the Secretary to employ any bank which he has not before been selected as a Public Depository and which since the passage of that act, has suspended specie payments; and also to inquire into the expediency of repealing or modifying those provisions of the said act which prohibit the reception in payment of debts due to the United States, of the bills of all Banks which issue bills of a less denomination than five dollars, and report their opinion on the same."

MAY DAY. In the Senate Mr Clay presented a number of of memorials in favor of a National Bank. After some debate they were laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

Mr Webster's resolution which was offered on the 27th, was called up and adopted.

In the House, Mr Worthington from the Committee on Commerce, presented a bill to extend the limits of the port of New Orleans. It was read twice and referred to the committee of the whole.

The House then received and read a committee of the whole on the Indian Appropriation Bill, and the discussion still continued when the report of the Sabine Academy, from which we make up this summary, ceased.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.—The Maryland State Convention for nominating a candidate for Governor assembled in Baltimore on the 21st inst. WILLIAM GRASON, Esq. was unanimously chosen candidate of the Democratic party.

THEATRICAL.—Burton the inimitable low comedian is playing in Baltimore. Caradon Allan is in New York, where a new opera, called the Eternal Love is to be brought out for her at the Park. Her engagement hitherto has been rather unsuccessful. Mr and Mrs Wood are daily expected in New York and will appear at the Park immediately.

RECTOR RETRIED.—The New York Gazette says "Rector, under the sentence of death for a homicide at Albany, and who escaped from prison in that city some days since, has been retaken and was safely lodged in Bridewell at about six o'clock last evening. It seems that he left the city on Saturday, went to Yonkers, in the neighborhood of which he stole a horse and was taken at Poughkeepsie for the theft of two young men of that place, and being afterwards recognised as Rector, he was taken to that city in a steamboat and again locked up—without much chance, probably, of again beholding a turnkey."

A daring and systematic attempt was made a few days since to fire the city of Charleston, by placing combustible matter inside the weather boarding and under the window sills of a wooden tenement situated on the west side of King street, a few doors south of Calhoun, about a square's distance from the spot where the great fire commenced. Happily, the effort was abortive, and the materials burnt out without communicating to any part of the building. The affair is under examination before the proper authorities, but no information in regard to the author, has, as yet, transpired.

FIRE IN CHARLESTON.—The Cabinet Maker's shop of Mr. May in Queen street was destroyed by fire on the 1st inst, together with a large quantity of valuable mahogany. An adjoining building was blown up to prevent the progress of the flames.

ARRIVAL OF A VESSEL OF FIRE.—The new and beautiful schooner Rebecca from Baltimore to Charleston, arrived at Norfolk on the 31st inst. fire. The Engineers having repaired to the wharf and nearly filled her with water, proceeded to subdue the fire. The hull is not greatly injured, but the entire cargo is damaged by the quantity of water forced into her by the Engines.

BY THE EXPRESS MAIL

Subjoined is the communication of the European intelligence brought by the ship Orpheus, from Liverpool to New York, a part of which was published yesterday.

London, May 1—We have Paris papers of 29th—The Nereide frigate had arrived at Brest from Port au Prince at the passage of 36 days, bringing the finds of Admiral Dupetit Thouars in the Pacific. The squadron agreed upon in the treaty of the 12th of February last.

Accounts from Tunis, brought by the Diligence, were received at Toulon on the 23d ult. Admiral Lalande was said to be closely watching the movements of the Turkish fleet, which that government would, when expected, send to the coast of Syria or that of Barbary.

General Latre arrived in Madrid on the 19th, and took possession of the War Office, and also of the Treasury.

According to advices from Requena of the 16th, the whole of the province of Valencia continued to be overrun by Carlist bands, who, however, never waited to engage with the Queen's troops, but hastened the country which they traversed, and thereby rendered great marches inevitable. The chefs Viscarro and Forcadell, at the head of 1000 infantry and 600 cavalry, moved on the 11th, from Villar to Cirlva, whence they caused a proclamation, on the 13th, ordering all the young men of the district, under penalty of death, to join his standard. Next day, they, after having attempted to retreat by the bridge of Gestalgar to Lous and Sinarco to Chelva. Carers had a hand quarters at Benicarlo, and another Cristino corps of City Espinosa, 1000 infantry and 340 cavalry was within three leagues of Cirlva, endeavoring to intercept the communications of the Carlists, of which the arrival of the latter in the former city of the 17th had array d in Madrid, announcing that Gen Oran was then at Chiva, but flying the approach of the rebels. The Carlists were building pontoon Mora on the Ebro, for the purpose, it was said, of making an attack on Tortosa.

The Paris journals of Thursday contain the act of accusation against Hebert, the would-be regicide, who, it seems, is a young Alsacian tanner. With him are indicted L. Lepage, a supplementary judge of the circuit of Versailles, aged 27; and Miss Grouvelle, a lady sophisticated in most of the sciences, and a poetess of five or ten names on the list of accusation, but they were to have played a very secondary part. The recent marriage of Madame Hebert's daughter, Caroline, on the 8 of last December, at Boulogne, and an account at what it contained, being a false passport, a dress of the Queen, a list of Legitimist officers and members and names written in G-reek. The chief documents discovered were, however, the letter to Lepage, and a sketch drawing of a machine like Fieschi's, except that there were two rows of muskets. This last was found in Hubert's hat. It is evident at once from the report, that Miss Laura Grouville was the evening star and the sole of the plot, the other subordinate instruments, either through vanity, folly, attachment, or pecuniary reasons

We take from the Austrian national the subjoined letter from Vienna:—"The three Sovereigns of Austria, Prussia and Russia, will meet on the 20th July at Prague; the Kings of Hanover, Bavaria and Wurtemberg will be admitted into the Congress, but it is true to exclude the Italian princes, whom she regards as dependents of the empire, while Prussia refuses admission to the princes of that country. The guarantee of the Z st and that of Spain, which are very important questions, and the question of the West, will form the sole business of the Congress. The King of Prussia reserves for himself all the religious questions, and he consumes that the Czar shall receive all explanations relative to Poland. The marriage of Mlle Duchesse Sophie Louise Elizabeth of Liechtenberg is a great source of occupation to Prince Metternich, who, joining the Bourbons of the elder branch to a quasi-Napoleonian family, expects to unite apprehensions of the French dynasty."

So much jealousy exists in Russia upon political matters, that upon young ladies, governesses in families residing in South Russia, having been found corresponding with their friends in England and France, were peremptorily sent out of the kingdom; to one of these, Count Woronzoff had the opportunity of showing, by his conduct in this transaction, that the English blood of the Pembrokes is stronger in him than that of his paternal Cossacks. Hampden-like a strong, and if possible, a death-blow is to be struck this summer in Circassia, for the preparations making in Russia on both sides of that devoted country, were such as no undisciplined and dismantled mountaineers could long withstand, whatever may be their patriotism or their devotion to their country's freedom.

(From the New York Daily Express)

THE CHASE OR PIRACY IN THE CASE OF THE FRENCH SHIP ALEXANDRE NOW AT NEWPORT.—The French Consul for the State of Rhode Island, has arrived in the city, with this ship's purser, from which it appears, that under the command of Second Lieut. de Debois, who ranked as a Lieutenant of the French Navy, she regularly cleared from Bordeaux for Samarang—Benoit Marland, belonging to the Maritime service at Bordeaux as Quarter-Master, acting 2d Captain.

It appears that a few days after leaving Samarang, the captain, Bouny, the lieutenant, Morgean Jean the master, Pouquet Constantin, Blare Jean Pelade, Antoine Bernard, (painter,) Gerding Bastard, (sailor,) Desgrand Jean Philippe (marine,) Lemoyne Louis Pons (fireman,) one more, (private in marines,) were missing, and a search for them having been waited on board, by a party of the officers, that had been sent on shore for the purpose, to find them, the ship was got under way with the following list viz.
