Gentlemen,

In year valuable paper of Friday morating, July 10, I see that you urge the claims of Mr. Alexandrew Barrow to represent the people of Louisiana in the Senate of the United States; he being the man that you would recommend the whigs of Louisiana to rally around and support for that high effice. While I agree with you as to Mr. Barrow's "known integrity, his talents and his populasity," and particularly his conduct in all his private relations as a friend and seighbour. Yet, gentlemen, I must, with deference to your opinions, beg leave to differ with you as to Mr. Barrow being the man upon whem the whigh of this state should unite, when there are others "whose claims are so far superior. You urge as a reason for the whige of Louisians to unit upon Mr. Barrow his withdrawal from the gubernatorial canvas, prompted as it was by a desire to consolidate the party, was at once a merifice of self to principle, and a proof of his fidelity and trustworthiness." I grant it; but, gentlemen, I would ask of you, if there is a man in this state who has scriffeed self to principle more than Tmonas Grazz Mencaw: I stere a man that has given stronger or more numerous proofs of his fidelity and trustworthines than he has I is there a man that enjoys more deservedly that high and entornal suffrage. The Sun you will agree with me when I say, that there is not one.

One of the evidences of his seal in the whig cause (if any are necessary) is to be found in his acceptance of the nomination of the whig convention, convened in the town of Baton Rouge, an the 23d of April, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress, at least three menths; and if I am not mistaken, it was near four months after the locofoco candidate had taken the field, and that too in a district which in 1836, gave a locofoco majerify of near 700, immediately on the receipt of Judge Chinn's letter declining a reelection, Judge Morgan was urged by the whige in every part of this district to accept the nomination. He at first modestly declined the profered honor, telling them that there were others that were equally, if not more, deserving than he was, who would run ways, as the qualification of an elector. Judge SFEN-CER proposed, as an amendment, that a freehold estate worth $250, should be required. Mr. Van Burgs, we ing them that there were others that were equally, it not more, deserving than he was, who would run with equal success; but he was still urged to accept the nomination both verbally and by letter, the writer of which told him that he was the only man that could run against Judge Dawson. He finally consente contrary to his interest, and consequently to his inclinations, to run, if nomination Accordingly the Canvention met on the 23d of April, and he was unanimously nominated, which nomination he ac clinations, to rus, if nominated. Accordingly the Canvention met on the 23d of April, and he was unanimously nominated, which nomination he accepted in a speech address to the convention, such as I have but seldom heard. Did he then stop I—No; he buckled on the whig armor—truth and virtue—and solly did he contend for the principles which he supported in days gone by, and which he and all true democratic principles; but he was defeated by a majority of thriteen, for which the loco may thank the whigs, of which fact we will convince them in Normorber next: nor has this seal abated in the least, though prostrate on a bed of nickness, with defeat staving him in the face, I believe that I may with safety say, that as soon as his bealth will permit, he will again take the field, and he found contending for the principle; that he has always supported. I have had the pleasure of seeing him since the section, and I am constrained to helieve (if such a thing be) that he is more sealous than before; his defeat has only had a tendency to rekindle the fire that before so brilliantly burnt in his patriotic breast; his acknowledged purity as a pariod, his ability as attassman, his knowledge as a profound constitutional lawyer, and his interests being identified with those of the state, pre-eminently quality him for that high office, and are the surrest guarantees to the people of this state, that the will be well and faithfully repre-

The Hudson (N. Y.) Republican giving an account of the Whig celebration in Columbia county, on the 4th, has the following reminiscence of Mr. Van Buren, which we have never during this canvas, seen published, but the main facts of which are, as we have gathered from other respectable sources, sticitly true. The inscriptions on the Copake banner and badges were very appropriate. On the first were the words, "Old Columbia, may she desert her favorite son, as ho did his friends in time of trouble." On the latter, "The Lords of the Maner will soon expel their Tenant." The dustant reader, to appreciate these his, should understand that Copake is one of the Maner-towns in which a cost of Heldsburg war was enacted, when Mr. Van Buren was practising law in this city. He inspired the tenents to rebel, told them thair lands were held by feudal tenures, and that they had a better right to the soil they enlivated than the pretendance of the country of the country of the sufficiently drained their pockes, the day of trial grived—but lot that "defit of decile" as they afterwed the tenure was deadenly taken iil, and appearable the same was addenly taken iil, and appearable the same was hand again the court bouse with a bandage around his head, protable same hand such has such a severe headache, that he could see the same hand such has such a severe headache.
