Having already given all the information which we cur-scless received from Lisbon by the last packets, and fasting found in our Lisbon correspondence no positive intimation that any prepotitions for a capitulation had been made on the part of the Usurper, we are not prepared to place much reliance on the reports which have reached as through sev-eral of the West of England papers, that negotiations had actually commenced between the two conflicting brothers. actually commenced between the two conflicting brothers. But though we have no evidence that any proposels of specommodation have been actually made, or that any neighborization had been solicited, with the hopes of a speedy adjustment, we stay add that, in our opinion, a termination of the present desolating struggle by pacific overtures on the pre of Don Miguel, is by no means improbable, as it would certainly be actionable position.
