

The National Proletarian Doctrine

This is National Proletarianism's version of a copyright. This file is intended to provide a template that may be copied and used by the public. This file may also be used as a reference for legal purposes, if any legal matters should arise that concern our doctrine on intellectual property. Any italicized phrase in the text below is a variable, such as the author's name or the date. Any bolded phrase in the text below should not be included when the license is copied, as these phrases are simply labeling different sections of the license.

Document Title

Copyright © Year by Author Name

Some rights reserved.

This document is published under the National Proletarian Doctrine. This document may be reproduced and distributed, provided that the following condition is met:

All reproductions of this document must retain the above copyright notice, as well as this condition, and the information below.

Modification of this document, in any form, is strictly forbidden without written consent from the author.

Furthermore, this document may not be sold or traded under any circumstances. This document must be distributed free of charge. No profit may be made in the reproduction, distribution, or use of this document.

Definitions:

For our purposes, "a reproduction" will be defined as "any paper or digital copy of the document (to which this doctrine is applying) that was printed or copied by a third party entity other than the author."