GENERAL HARRISON AND HIS CALUM NIATORS.

Abolition.- Upon Gen. Harrison's return to Ohio after defeating Mr. Van Bunen's scheme of excluding Missouri from the Union, and converting the South into a mere vassal of the North, he was reviled by the and a mere vassal of the North, he was revited by the abolitionists with uncommon rancor, and decried as a base bender of the knee to slavery. Firm in the hon-est convictions of his great mind, and reckless of per-secution when reason, patgiotism and the constitution its justice and necessity on constitutional grounds.-

the vindication of Southern interests, Mr. Van Buren sas aiming repeated blows at the South. As a mem ter of the New York Convention to alter the Con stitution, which assembled in 1821, he voted to give FREE BLACKS THE RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE. The "Northern man with Southern principles," wish-African, whose innerfect intellect alone should forest ever disqualify him from the enjoyment of a preroga-tive so inestimable, the most important privilege tha amater is held up to the South as the model of all tha

The successful stand made by HARRISON and CLA gainst the encre achments of the fanatics, and the ad-nission of Misso ari in spice of Mr Van Burkn's stransus exertions to exclude her, stilled the clamors of th was made to revive this exciting topic. In 1833, when the subject was again stirred, General Harsison was invited to de-liver a Fourth of July Address at Cheviot, Ohio. He was privately requested to omit any men-tion of Abolition in his address, and half promised t lo so; but woon ascertaining the opinions of the major part of the community, he found them so deeply tine selp bequisit in honesty to express his views in regard to stavery and emancipation, in language that could not be misuralerstood. We submit an extract or two from this masterly production, and ask if it be possible for a ntinged agitation of the abolitionists would lead to a dissolution of the Union, he says:

"If there is "any principle of the Constitution of the United States" less disputable than any other, it is, that the slave pape ulation is under the exclusive control of the states which possess them. If there is any measure likely for rivet the chains, and blast the prospects of the negree is for emancipation, it is the interference of unauthor ized persons. Can any one who is acquainted with the operations of the bussan mind doubt this? We have seen how restive our southern brethren have elven from a supproced violation of their positival right, with the units the the consequence of an acknowledged violation of these rights, (for every man is maked; ag interference with their stome-stic concerns?). And again:

Gen. Hannuon's Vincennes speech, which show that after he had been taken up as a candidate for the HARRISON went boldly up to the subject, and assaulted sholition in its fortresses. He went among those who were takated with the hereny and argued with them and implered them to pause in their career. His at-tacks were directed to the point where they were effi-tive. man. What! a man to be accused of a "leaning to abolition" who considers the very DESCURSION of the subject UNCONSTITUTIONAL. Bah!

The way the locofocos issue public addresses is The way the locotocos issue punic accretes is somewhat singular. The address of the Van Buren convention to the people of Virginia, contained some of the foulest calumnies against Gen'l Harrison, which party malignity had ever invented. It was indignantly denounced by the whigs, and the president of the convention was called 1 pon to state whether he endorsed such atrocious falseboods. BALTIMORE, May 18.—Fire.—Yesterday morning the large flouring mill, the property of Mr. Nathan Tyson, situated about three miles from the city on the Falls Road, was completely destroyed by fire. We learn that the fire was communicated from one of the kins by accident, and before the service of our city firemen, who went out with their appearatus, could be made offectual, the building was consumed, and but little of its contents saved.

Fatal Remonite.—We learn from a letter received in town yesterday, that a remonitre took place on Wednesday last at New Market, Kent county, between Robert Swartkey and James Woodal of that county, which resulted in the death of the latter, from a blow given him on the head with a stick by the former. There are no further particulars received.— Balt. Transcript, 18th inst.

I remain a gain:

"I': I am correct in the principles here advanced, I report my assertion, that the DISCUSSION on the subject of emancipation in the non-slaving states, is qualty injuriant to the slaves and their masters, and was no sonction in the principles of the Constitution."

Mark, brethren of the South, the strength of the expression. General Harstoon does not simply say, that the abolition of slavery is unconstitutional, but that even the discussion of the subject, is virtually a tion in that sacred instrument. It is impossible to be more fronk and explicit, and more ultra on the subject series of the constitutions. If the owner of a hundred slaves had been applied to for an expression of the Constitutional guarantee of the South, be could not have employed stronger language. And Soul tern journals taunt the author of such sentiments as ar a sholitionist. What a melancholy comment on the dindness and unthinking fury of exclusive partizans high.

This speech of Gen. Harstoon was delivered three yes re before he became a candidate for the presidency, and what is more, was addressed to a population of thy ich three-fourths were abolitionists. The moral in tregidity and usahaken honesty of a man who, fortify day nought save the inspiration of truth, and having to gain and much to lose by the declaration, would not truckle to expediency, or even avoid a subject which he was not required to discuss, cannot be sufficiently admired.

We shall present to morrow a few extracts from Oren Hassuon's Vincennes speech, which show that after he had here taken up as a candidate for the presidency. NORFOLK, May 18.— The Frigate Potomac.—
This beautiful ship, under the command of Captain Kearney, left our waters on Wednesday last for the Brazil station; and it has been the general remark of all who have had an opportunity of informing themselves of the fact, that no ship ever went to sea better equipped, in finer order, and with a more gallant or better disciplined crew. The very best order is main-ained on hoard, without any necessity for a resort to the harsh measure of corporal punishment—a fact highly creditable to the judgment as it is to the humanity of the officers of the ship. Capt. K. himself is a strict disciplinarian of the modera school, and his example no doubt has a moral influence throughout the ship, far more potent than the cat and the cat.—
