NEW-ORLEANS:
MONDAY MORNING JULY 22, 1844.

THAT BET.

The Courier calls upon us to correct what it is pleased to term the false statement of the Washington Standard, in regard to the wager proffered by the Sentinel editor of the Globe. We shall be happy to rectify error whenever it is proved to exist. To us the authority of the Whig Standard is immeasurably superior to that of the Globe. The editor of the Standard is a gentleman and a man of honor, and his pointed and unequivocal statement that the Editor of the Globe had backed out from his bet would not have been made, had not facts justified it. The Globe declares that the Whigs backed out, while the Standard of the next day repeats its assertion that the "Fiscal Editor of the Globe" was the party that endeavored to "shy." The Standard says—

"By the-bye, the Globe editor, after crawling in his hole on that bet mentioned yesterday, was compelled, by a gentleman who would not be put off, to nail the pup to to plank the cash on a certain day. It is true that, this compelling a man to 'crawl in' and then draw him out again; but the way of the transgressor is hard. Try it again Mr. 'Fiscality.'"—Wash. Union.

In addition to this "back out," we learn from the same source that Mr. Patmer, of Prince George, whose "brag" we noticed a few days ago, has likewise been backed out, and that he had gone to the Globe office on the 12th to have his advertisement taken out. We learn, says the Standard, that he gave as a reason for proposing the bet, that his sporits were up-raised, probably, like those of the Landlady of France and her lover, by pouring sporits down. Our informant tell us that he was also backed out in Virginia.

The Courier concludes its article by bidding us tell truth and shame the devil. Neighbor Courier, upon this text we might preach to you many a homily, albeit they might prove profitless. Why do you not acknowledge that the long list of conversions to locofocoism from Alleghany county, paraded in four columns but a day or two since, were to Birney and Abolition, not to POLK and DALLAS? Why do you not correct the statement that Louis McLane had turned locofoco, when it has been contradicted on his own authority?

☞ In respect to the doings of the Parish Judge of Calcasieu, concerning which the Courier seems exceedingly indignant, our information does not countenance the slightest idea of fraud either contemplated or effected. The Judge, in making the returns of the election omitted to state for what offices the different candidates were running, and simply certified that Morse had received such a number of votes, Harrison so many, Polk such a number, &c. This neglect to comply with the provisions of the law, induced the Parish Judge of St. Landry, to whom the returns are forwarded, in order that the votes of the two parishes may be returned together, to throw out the Calcasieu vote for informality. These are the facts as we have learned them.

But since the Courier is so feelingly alive to injustice when supposed to be perpetrated by a whig Judge, why sleep the thunders of its wrath at the atrocious conduct of one of the locofoco Judges of Franklin who, in a parish which has a good whig majority, absolutely returned from having a single polled. Most damnation be fulminated upon the Judge of Calcasieu, and on Franklin be spared, because he is one of Gen Morton's pet appointments! Or is locofoco justice always color blind in regard to the delinquencies of its own friends, however clearsighted it may be in other respects?

If Mr Dallas was sincerely instructed to support a bank law (a) "indirectly," for he never was instructed totidem verbis) he himself declared that he was "willing agent," and his speech against the Bank made upon his return to Philadelphia, showed—1st, his gross inconsistency. 2d, the pit of sycophancy to Gen'l Jackson, and 3d, The plastic facility with which he accommodated his opinions to the capricious nose-wipe of his party. Mr. Dallas was an instructed agent in Pennsylvania against the Bank Treasury. He did so but he espoused the bill as a measure of his own. If Mr. Dallas could be supposed to be Bank-mad, he would have given a silent vote, at most, events he would not have sustained the bill timely and ardently at every stage of its progress.

"THE CRY IS STILL THEY COME."

We have for the last day or two been getting out of our exchange papers, accounts of the conversion from locofocoism to staggery now going on throughout the country, but they have really accumulated so largely on our hands, that we can devote more than publish a portion of them, reserving the remainder as a forced hanche for locofocoism to swallow, whenever it takes to regaling too extravagantly.

The following from the Newark Advertiser, shows the spirit which pervades New Jersey.

PLAINFIELD, June 25th, 1844.

In regard to the changes in Plainfield, (foretold as spoken of in your paper,) but only a quarter, your readers that there are changes in favor of Clay and Frelinghuysen, but that I will give to any person who dare dispute it, an opportunity of investigating the facts as follows:—

"If I cannot point out to him real changes in Plainfield in favor of the whig candidates I will give him fifty cents, and if I can I only ask the other hand gave me twenty five dollars, should I show him a person who still openly confess they have changed. Any person wishing to accept the above, will make it known by forwarding a note addressed to Mr. S. S. Plainfield. For truthful it is the democrats are dismayed—thus their attempts at brow beat, and you may rest assured that the whigs of New Jersey are now with a perfect unity of feeling and purpose. Township for 100 majority as ever. will positively give that.

A WHIG."

More Renunciations.—Three men named William McKelly, Jacob Wagner and Henry Good, of Germantown, Ohio, have renounced locofocoism and joined the whig party. R. D. Evans, of Miamisburg, Ohio, also renounces the office of Sheriff of the County and its emoluments, and publishes that he wishes his name stricken from the Nottingham list."

Ten More changes.—The Easton, Pa. Whig says: "Among the many instances of change of opinion on the great question which is now agitating this country, the following, related to us the other day, seems to be as thorough as any we have yet heard. A man from a neighboring county, conversing with a good whig upon the state of politics here, remarked, that he was the Young of a family of nine sons, who, together with the father, had in 1840 voted for Van Buren, but now they were all going for Clay and the Tariff."

We copy the following from the Painesville, Ohio, Telegraph:—

"Come out from among the Foul Party."—We heard one of our citizens, who was once a foreigner, but who has been naturalized two or three years, say that he had always voted with the democrats ever since he had become a voter, but hereby declared that Benton, Brown and Rainey's speeches, he said he would do no more. If the democrats had no better arguments to support them than to call opposing democratic names, accuse them of all sorts of crime and mischief, almost strongning to substantiate a single charge against them, he would not stay in the party. He is a man that may be depended upon, and will not lose his vote.

JAMES NORBERRY, of Liberty, Logan county, Ohio, writes to the editor of the Gazette, that he is satisfied with the principles of locofocoism, and will hereafter support HENRY CLAY and whig principles.

Another.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from New Brunswick, N. J., June 22, says:—

Another Hickory Raising came off in the upper part of the city on Thursday evening, amid the usual rattling of drum and fife, and all the ap, endages of Yankee rum, and the never-tapped abuse of Henry Clay and Whig principles.

A young lawyer of this city, well known as in no wise tenacious of the truth, was in the procession, and engaging in willifying the character of Mr. Clay and falsifying the creed of the whig party. Much of this was condemned by many of the party present, and two of them instance rejected the locofoco ticket. The young lawyer asserted that James K. Polk was a Tariff man, advocating a duty sufficient to protect American Industry. (This falsehood appears now to be used by the party in the Northern States.)

Mr. Deming Kelly, from Erie county, New York, being in the city and present at the gathering, informed a whig friend that he should be strided to have an opportunity in his plain way to reply to the assertions of his young lawyer. Accordingly it was noised about town that a plain Farmer was to chase up the young blackstone in the evening at the Club Room At eight o'clock the appointed room was filled to overflowing, and locofocoism was a section to Polk & Co.

Mr. Kelly informed the meeting that only nine months had passed since he was an out and out locofoco; that he had at last become satisfied that their policy was destructive to the best interests of the country, and at every honest man seeking a livelihood for his family, and

Mr. Kelly resumed the origin of the great National question, dividing the whig and locofoco parties, in a plain and forcible manner, and the consistency of the party was admirably portrayed.

Sixteen more of Them.—A gentleman from Wayne, informs us, that sixteen mechanics have joined the Clay Club at Parkenburg.—Cincinnati Gazette.

COMING OUT FROM THE FOUL PARTY BY WHOLESALE.—A large and respectable meeting of those Democrats, who went for Jackson and Van Buren, but have unwillingly to go for Polk, was held in Somerset, Perry County, Ohio, on the 13th ult. The call was issued only a few hours before the meeting was held, yet a very large number of persons was present. Col. Isaac Thorn acted as President, and Edward Egbert as Vice-President. Several able speeches were made, and a preamble and series of resolutions were unanimously adopted, setting forth the strongest and best reasons for the abandonment of the Locofoco party—one of the resolutions is as follows:

Resolved, That we will vote for no candidate for office brought up by a miserable packed caucus concoction—that we will vote for the men who will fearlessly carry out the best measures for the interest of the country, regardless of the threatenings and denunciations of leading editors, or the false slang promulgated by a set of political itinerants who are scouring the country, and perverting in distinct and opposite kinds the minds of the people by getting up false issues on the eve of the election.

CHANGES IN PENNSYLVANIA.

The Lancaster Union says—"Last week an intelligent gentleman of Columbia sent us the names of 7 men who have recently deserted the Anti-American, Texas locofoco party, and are now openly and avowedly friends of Clay, Frelinghuysen and Markle. Since then we have seen him, and he assures us that he knows thirty in that borough who have had their eyes opened to the destructive doctrines of locofoco. This is the way it is every where. The honest, reflecting portion of that party are determined no longer to war against the best interests of the country merely to promote the selfish schemes of their unprincipled leaders.

CHANGES IN OHIO.
Still they Come!

To the Editors of the O. S. Journal:—

DEAR SIR:—I have been, and am still a Democrat, and I have voted for Martin Van Buren; but since the party in Ohio is to advocate the annexation of Texas to the Union, and make that a reason why Mr. Polk should be elected President, I, for one, cannot go with him, nor will I support him, or any other man who is in favor of bringing the Northern States in subjection to the slave holding interests of the South; and although Henry Clay is a slave holder, yet he has the manhood to say that he knows he is wrong in this matter, and acknowledges that he knows to be the principles and advanced and supported by Washington, Madison, Jefferson, and all true republicans of the Union.

Yours, respectfully,
WILLIAM P. LINVILL.

A meeting will be held at the Court House in London on Saturday, the 13th inst. at 4 o'clock, P M by those who have formerly supported the Democratic party, and who are now favorable to the election of Henry Clay for the Presidency, for the purpose of forming unanimity in the County to promote the principles of the Whig party—which have proved to be the principles advanced and supported by Washington, Madison, Jefferson, and all true republicans of the Union.

London, July 6, 1844.

Charles Borchard, of Hamilton, Madison county, has left the locofocos and come out heartily for Henry Clay. His letter nearly fills three columns of the Hamilton Palladium, and is able and cogent.

"The cry is still they come."

A friend of ours, who has just returned from the upper country, informs us that in raising up one of the monuments of Nelson he came in sight of a Log Cabin, from under its roof ascended a very high pole and attached to it was a piece of cotton cloth. Owing to the distance which he was from the cabin, and his knowing no one in the neighborhood, he was unable to discover the exact reason upon its rise, but readily concluded, judging from the general complexion of the surrounding country, that it was a "Hickory Pole" with the name of Polk and Dallas. Therefore his surprise when, upon approaching the house, he discovered a number of banners in bold letters upon the flag—HENRY CLAY." Upon asking the occupant what the standard upon his house meant, he replied:—"Hay, stranger, I've belonged to the Democratic Party all my life—I've voted at the verse of my songs, and no determined at the next to refuse to give my vote for HENRY CLAY!"

A LOCOFOCO EDITOR COMING OUT FROM THE FOUL PENS.—The editor of the Lafayette (In.) Standard cannot stand Polk and Dallas. He abandons the party, assigning his reasons for this course, as follows:

"To the PRINCIPLES of true Democracy we are greatly and unchangeably attached as any one can be, but when we see the Democratic Party endeavoring to drive from those divine principles under the weight of a measure whose enormity of injustice cannot be exceeded, we cease to give our support to a party of Democracy rather than to abandon so sacred and good cause."

POLITICAL CHANGE.—David Brown nominated for Treasurer by the locofocos of Spencer county, Ia., comes out and says:

"It was at the solicitation of the Democratic party that I became a candidate, and, as I do not feel disposed, under existing circumstances, to support the nomination of the Democratic party for Governor, I feel it my duty to decline immediately, so that they may bring forward their candidate and be fairly represented."

RIGHT WHERE!—Another hussie, for the glorious cause of Whiggery.—We take the following from the Port Gibson Herald.

Attention Democrats!"—We have the permission of Capt. Elijah Candler of Grand Gulf, to state that he has changed and will not vote for Polk and Dallas! He says he is still, as he always has been, a democrat, but believes that these men are totally unfit for the high station to which they aspire. He believes that the party by nominating them, have defeated themselves: as, in his opinion, the American people have too much good sense to select such nonentities and insignificant men to occupy the destines of our proud Republic.

ANOTHER.—Henry W De Pur, former editor and publisher of the Orleans Republican, at Albion, but lately of the Wabash Standard, Lafayette, Indiana, well known to many of our citizens, we see by the last number of the latter paper, has renounced locofocoism, and declares boldly against the annexation of Texas to the Union.—Buffalo Commercial.

AND MORE OF THEM!

At a late meeting of the New Brunswick, N. J., Clay Club, Mr Dunning Kelly, hitherto a Locofoco, came out a strong Whig, and made a speech replete with sound argument. The correspondent of the Tribune says:—

It was a rich treat to hear a plain farmer talk about the theories of Free Trade. He gave sample, but effective illustrations upon the working of the Protective Policy, and used the Loudoun party without gloves in maintaining an open an undisguised foe to the Tariff of 1842, merely to pander to the passions of Nullification."

Two other farmers who had formerly acted with the locos, took ground for Clay and Protection at the same time.

The Hon. John Sandford, two years since member of Congress from Montgomery county, N. Y, and one of their strongest men, has abandoned Mr Polk and his party. He says that he never voted for the Tariff, and that Polk, Calhoun, &c. will crush it if they come into power.

The following letter, published in the Oxford Times, is of the same tenor with scores we have already published:—

PRESTON, N. J., June 22, 1844.

I wish to announce to the public through the medium of your paper, that I have and do now renounce Locofocoism, and I publicly declare that if I live I shall vote for Henry Clay for next President. I have heretofore been a democrat, but hereby declare that the democratic party, but I cannot and will not vote for James K. Polk for President, because he is opposed to a Protective Tariff, and in favor of the annexation of Texas. I am a poor man, and have not as much influence as rich men; but I am afraid to tell my opinions, and you have them in this letter. I have been threatened by some locofocos in case I refused to vote for Polk, and in particular by the last defeated candidate for Supervisor in Preston. But threats are in vain. I shall go for "Clay and Frelinghuysen" any how.

EPHRAIM SKINNER.

The Boston Atlas says:—

The Hon. James Fowler, of Westfield, who was for several years the candidate of the Loco party in Connecticut, for Lieutenant Governor, and has ever since stood high in its confidence has signified his determination not to vote for Polk and Dallas.

These, it must be remembered, are all in addition to the many instances of conversion from Locofocoism to the whig harvestore publicised. They indicate beyond all doubt, that in every section of the country, the cause of the Hero, the Tariff and Henry Clay is destined to triumph over that of FREE TRADE and J. K. POLK!

Since noticing the above changes, the National Intelligencer of the 12th comes to us freighted with several columns of renunciations, but we have no space for them, and must content ourselves with what we have given as a fair sample of the rest. In view of these conversions, have not the whigs good ground for their confident anticipations of the triumph next November of HARRY OF THE WEST by an overwhelming vote, and no we not borne by indisputable facts in exclaiming again and again,

"The cry is still they come."
