The anomalous state of things is seen in the third while the American and the Recommendation in sees are at dagger's point in New York. Meascachasetta, and some other Northern States, the representatives from those States, Americans in Republicans, are voting together, not cordially, but at least without the acrimony which characterizes their respective organs at home.

The Lines, which is now to be conducted as it is owned, jointly by Nicholson and Forney, having hoon repudiated by the Democratic members of the House, at least in appearance, now seeks the printing of the Senite, the reby coming in competition with the Senited, a rival anti-American paper; the consequence of this is a foul between the woo organs of the party, which is quite selected for the public printing of the Senited to the Whigh in this body and a portion of the Democratis but seen after the election of Mr. Tucker as printer to the Senate, the Senited undertook to dragoon the whole body into the support of the Nebraska bill, and denounced in advance all who should oppose it as recreant and unparticitic. The old dome of the Capitol has been taken down, preparatory to the erection of a new one after a very graceful and beautiful model. It will rise one hundred and thirty feet above the old one, and be surmounted by a statue of laberty with her pole and cap. Themew dome is to be composed of iron, and will far exceed, in gracefulness of ont-line, even that of St. Peters of Rome. The two wings of the Capitol are rapidly progressing, and are so far advanced that they for will soon commence to law the cornice pre-Histor The Irish in America John to the Second Franch Briggs and Branch I'm second Mortality. Our Washington Correspondence.

The balleting for Speaker of the House of Representatives are still progressing, with very intie prospect of an immediate election; and yet there is no excitement, no ill-feeling, no accribity among members or spectators. It is a state of things wholly unprecedented, and arises from the fact that the old parties are so broken into fragments that no one has a majority, or strength enough of itself to organize the livuse, and has not as yet been a ble to secure allies sufficient to enable it to do so. Another cause for the present state if fullings in the Capitol may be found in the fact that as a considerable portion of the members were elected more than a year ago, and as important political changes have since that the lowes do not tarily represent the country, at the livuse in the Capitol may be found in the state of New York, whose delegation in Constant of New York Our Washington Corresp
