The cause of this outrage is supposed to be the performance of a racted duty by the President, who had ordered the name of Randolph to be struck from the rolls of the vary for a pecuniary defalcation and for other misconduct.

POR THE BEE.

Mr. Editor:-There are many banks already established in this city, and several others that will shortly go into operation—and really, it is matter of surprise, that our ment distinguished Nutices, should be oforlogized, as suitable persons to preside over some of them. The French population feel warmly attached to their American breth-ren, and are willing to divide the power with them—but they cannot view, with approbation, all power passing daily from the hands of the former, into those of the latter. Almost every monted institution in the city is in the hands of the American population. The United States Branch Bank, the Bank of Louisiana, the Canal Bank and the Bank of Orleans, have American presidents, and American eashiers. The Union Bank, and the City Bank of New-Orleans, have American presidents and French cashiers, it is true, but there are but five French directors. The Mechanics Bank, about to be established, will have an Ameriour president and American cashier: and the Communicial Bank, unless the French population are true to themselves, will also have an descrices president and American cashier. Creoles! this limit as it should be. Shall we not throw off that lethergy, which is said to characterize us, and assume our rights at the "ballot box," when directors are cleeted! I trust we shall.

If the French population had as much control over our monied institution, as is enjoyed by the Americans, I should be the first to advecate the election of an American presi-Cent in the Commercial Bank But the contrary being the case, I deem it a fit occasion to urge it on the attention of all who have influence among us, to come forward and advocate what every liberal minded American will say is about to be established, the first thing we look is to see, what Americans are saitable to preside over it. I have looked with astonishment, at the enthusiasm with which we enter into an electionsering contest, and Scar San Antonio, Mrenas, Havana, how we suffer ourselves to be excelled by American candister, without ever looking among ourselvs to find suitable Scar San Antonio, Mrenas, Havana, A Baron Assan without ever looking among ourselvs to find suitable Scarmout Nashville, Minor, Nashville, M& J Dick & co persons to ful the same offices. During the canvass for the presidency of the Commercial Bank, we find the friends of the aspirants for the office, coming down from the maxbourgs, arging the claims of the different condidates.

Dennis Prieur? I think you will say no. Why then should we not unite on a man, in whom we all have -one who has done so much for the city, and one whose constitution has been enfeebled by constant application to our best interests.

As a creele, I protest against a monopoly of our monied institutions, by our American brethren. I respect them, and admire their enterprise—but I think they ought to be satisfied with their share of power. This I know to be the fealing of hundreds, and it is to be hoped we shall act in concert.

New Your Blay C. From England.—The London packet ship Commbia, capt. Delano, for this port, has arrived off Block Island, but at the hour of our going to press had not reached our har-lor. She can hardly bring any thing late than we have previously received, for she left Pertamouth on the left of April, and we published on Saturder copious extracts from the Landon papers of that date. Capt. Delano writes to his swners by a passenger who left the Columbia at Block Island, that a big arrived at Portsmouth on the day she sailed, from Lisbon, stating that a report precailed there that Don Pe to had surrendered to the forces of his brother, and that Sartorius had sailed for Brest to sell the vessels under his command to reimburse hunself and to pay the most their screens.

It is barely possible that this rumor is true. If the brig touched at Oporto, on her way from Lishon to Portsmouth, which is very unlikely, there way be some chance of its correctores—otherwise it must have grown out of the accounts already published, and which reached down to the 25th of March at Opport, at which time there was nothing as desperate in the affairs of Don Pedra, as to make an immediate surrender necessary. On the whole we place no reliance on the range,—Evening Post.
