JOHN TYLER,

Subject to the decision of the National Convention.

NEW-ORLEANS:

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 23, 1839.

THE AUGUST ELECTIONS.

In the latest Keene papers (the 13th) give no additional information on the subject of the elections in that state, except to confirm the election of Underwood (whig) in the Bowling Green district. Of the thirteen delegates three hundred and ten whigs are elected——Two districts yet remain uncertain—one lately represented by a Van Buren man, in which, it is said the whig has now succeeded. The chances are that the legislature have not increased the strength in Kentucky. They have probably gained upon the last election, but only did not gained upon the [illegible] districts and in the proportion [illegible] Administration men [illegible] same as in [illegible] The next mail will clear [illegible] legislature's, of course, whig by [illegible] majorities.

The returns are squally enough. The [illegible] have assumedly carried five districts in the [illegible] having beaten Ewing, the St. Clair speech[illegible] Graham, the fourth defeating Dunn, the [illegible] ousting Herriod and the 7th, Howard [illegible] Evans. In the first district the Louisville [illegible] feature in that Prolific has beaten Robert Daw[illegible] Owen, for which, we are sufficiently grateful——not solely on account of the success of a whig, but because a rabid fanatic and dangerous member of society, whose high claims are prostituted to the support of [illegible] worst of doctrines, has been prevented from [illegible] seat in the [illegible] of congress. In the 5th district [illegible] (whig) is probably elected over [illegible] genstein. The result is not yet definitively ascertained, but the returns thus far are favorable to the election of [illegible] The congressional delegation will [illegible] whigs, [illegible] locofocos to be [illegible] locofocos to be [illegible] the legislature [illegible] The whigs have the majority in the congressional delegation [illegible]

Over these [illegible] results the locofocos [illegible] course, chuckle. [illegible] A gain of seven [illegible] congress in three months [illegible] is an [illegible] of inconceivable [illegible] It will serve to [illegible] some measure the [illegible] and miserable [illegible] which they had been placed by the [illegible] northern and southern states. They will be enabled to make something like [illegible] position to the triumphant whig majority in the [illegible] congress. They will not be utterly overwhelmed by a majority of 50 whig votes in the house of representatives——They will have to contend against preponderance of only 10 or 15 votes. They have passed through the depths of despair to the pinnacle of exultation, and hence their shouts of victorious rejoicing are sounds in the extreme. Let them glut over their partial victories. They will find at the opening of the next congress, how ineffectual and abortive are such triumphs.

For ourselves, while we regret the defeat of the whigs in Indiana and Tennessee, we must confess we find little cause for [illegible] that the whig majority in congress will [illegible] sufficient for all necessary purposes, that our party will have a majority and it is better that their ascendancy over their adversaries should be such. Knowing this, we bargain the next congress to do their duty faithfully——being aware that at all times they must [illegible] the spot in full numbers in order to counteract [illegible] efforts of the locofocos, they will shake off indolence and apathy and prepare for the strife in good earnest. A larger majority would have [illegible] self-confidence, and as a consequence [illegible] ness. Their self-opponents might [illegible] to an object of [illegible] eroded by throwing them off their [illegible] tune cannot now occur. The [illegible] coming congress with a small, but [illegible] majority and they will [illegible] apparent on all questions of party [illegible] gain in the west was anticipated, perhaps not to the extent which has occurred. But there the triumphs of locofocoism cease. They have nothing to gain in Mississippi, Maryland and Rhode Island from the dissention of the whigs as they have occurred in Indiana——or from the [illegible] opposition to Van Buren candidate in the state [illegible] ces against Mr Clay [illegible] have raised them in Tennessee. Let the whigs [illegible] next congress do their duty [illegible]

NORTH CAROLINA.

The elections in this state come on slowly. Rayner's whig majority is 800——a whig gain, and a gain of 200 votes since the last contest. Debnery (whig) is re elected by a largely increased majority in the seventh district. In the eighth, Montgomery (whig) is re elected——majority, 503. In the ninth district, A H Shepherd (whig) is [illegible] to elected. Guilford county gives him 1700 majority. In 1837 the same county gave him but 1400. The race is considered [illegible] tant, and the locofocos were [illegible] From the tenth district [illegible] ceived. The election [illegible] Henderson, [illegible] 1837 unanimous, and Conrad doubtless. The following is the classic state of the [illegible] elect:

Whig.	Van Buren.
Edward Stanly	Charles Shepherd
Kenneth Rayner	James McKay.
Lewis Williams	Jesse A Bynum
Edmund Deberry	Henry W [illegible]
A H Shepherd	M T Hawkins
James Graham	Wm Montgomery

The Wilmington Courier [illegible] that Saul Fisher has [illegible] in the lead [illegible] Brittain was rumored that Hall was [illegible] Scarborough [illegible] by forty votes. [illegible]

☞ The Bermuda Gazette of the 13th says: The [illegible] has been time with our cotton planters. The cotton bolls have opened rapidly within the last few days. The season, so far, has been favorable to planters, with the exception of several days of wet weather, which has occasioned the rust in an unusual manner to make its appearance among the cotton. Where now visited with disagreeable, windy weather, and rain at intervals——such weather as this reminds us of what frequently happens previous to storms in the fall of each year——and which has proved destructive to the cotton crops.

The [illegible] Baltimore Chronicle [illegible] officers of the general government, [illegible] collectors and disbursements of the revenue of the custom houses are opposed to the sub treasury project. The collector of this port, although a thorough partizan, is known to be utterly adverse to the sub treasury plan.

☞ We may begin to look out for news by the Liverpool. She left England on the 1st and probably arrived in New York on the 15th. Saturday's mail will, it is likely bring us other European intelligence.

Loss of Nine Colored [illegible] The Cornelia of New York bound to Amsterdam, [illegible] with a cargo of sugar ran a foul of a wreck about 300 miles east of Nantucket, which stove in her bows and she sunk. The crew took to their boats and have arrived at Boston.

A new corporation. The corporation of the city New York owns real estate to the amount of $15,581,912 20, at which only $1,517,512 20, is productive of any interest. The income derived from that part amounts to $106,182 34.

The title of most of the property to the corporation is for public use only, therefore they can give no title to such part of it.

☞ On board the Washington, which arrived at Alexandria a few days since from New Orleans there were several cases of yellow fever. Two persons in a packet were Mexicans, one of them died on the passage up. They were the owners of the greater part of the cargo.

NEW-YORK, August 13.

A LITTLE LATER FROM ENGLAND.

The Liverpool may be looked for to-morrow, expected on Thursday, and wandered at if she does not arrive on Friday. In the meantime an arrival at Boston furnishes a few items of news, a day or two later than we had by the British Queen.

By the British Queen our advices in relation to the Liverpool cotton market were to the 10th of July. By the arrival they are to the 12th, two days later. On the 11th, there was a considerable demand, and holders having an opportunity to sell in large lots, submitted to a decline in many instances of one penny a pound. On the 12th there was less cotton in the market, and there being a general demand, prices advanced 1-8 to 1-4d per pound on the extreme low rates of the day before. The decline in prices for the week ending the 12th instant was 3-4d per pound.

The crops are represented to be extremely good——and never looked better or gave greater promise of a plentiful supply.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.——The elegant new ship Oneco, captain Drew, arrived below, on Saturday, but did not come up until yesterday. She left Liverpool on the 13th July, to which date she brings papers from that port containing London dates to the 11th.

Birmingham had recovered from its riot fever, and was quite tranquil. The chartists were at rest——Their great petition for reform was to have precedence in the house of commons on the 12th.

In the house, on the 11th, there was a debate on sir William Molesworth's motion, "That it [illegible] opinion of this house that every considerable [illegible] nity, justice and policy demands that [illegible] seriously apply itself without [illegible] for the permanent government [illegible] proving of Upper and Lower Canada."

In relation to the [illegible] there [illegible] news. Lord Ellenborough [illegible] Lord Brougham [illegible] had asked [illegible] Sultan [illegible]

Two females were instantly killed on the Birmingham railway. Their attention was directed another way, to a train that was approaching them, and were not aware of the one approaching them in an opposite direction.

Letters from Bagdad announce an overflow of the Tigris, which had laid the whole city nearly under water. It was stated that already more than 10,000 houses had been destroyed.

A public dinner was to be given to Mr Macready, in testimony of the sense entertained of the zeal, taste, genius and liberality that he has devoted to the drama of his country, eminently shown in his revival of Shakspeare's plays. The Duke of Sussex in the chair.

The Paris papers are principally occupied in endeavors to induce the government to forego the execution of any of the insurgents of the 12th of May, who may be capitally condemned by the court of peers.

In Switzerland the Swiss Diet, in its sitting of the 4th instant, adopted the resolution of nominating a general commission to enquire into the causes of the dispute between the High and Low Valais. The proposition of dividing the Canton into two states was almost universally repulsed by the deputies.

The German papers bring advices from the frontiers of Servia, which leave no doubt as to Russia being at the bottom of the late revolution in that province
