THE DOLBEAR COLLEGE.—This institution remains open during the summer for ladies, for gentlemen and for lads. Professor Dolbear is assisted by a corps of instructors of competent qualifications. Those who desire to fit themselves for good business situations should lose no time in availing themselves of its benefits. The college is at the corner of Camp and Common streets.

The rumor current in this city that Santa Anna was shot, soon after his reputed capture by the Mexicans, would seem to be borne out by the fact of the execution of Maximilian, as the one was doubtless as criminal as the other in the eyes of the Mexican authorities.

The Baton Rouge Advocate notices the arrival at that place of fifty barrels of flour, contributed by merchants of Cincinnati to the suffering poor of that section, on whose behalf we take pleasure in making the acknowledgment.

It is stated that at the Paris Exposition the Empress Eugenie evidently expected the Sultan of Turkey to take her by the arm, but he did not.

The New York Herald thinks that if Juarez had pardoned Maximilian, it would have produced another revolution in Mexico.

MEXICO.

THE FOREIGN LEGION AT MOBILE—REPORTED MURDER OF FOREIGN MINISTERS IN THE CAPITAL.

[From the Mobile Evening News, July 5th.]

The Mexican steamship Tabasco, Capt. Andres Sotelo, arrived at the port yesterday, from Vera Cruz, having on board nearly five hundred of Maximilian's troops, who left that city on the 27th ult. They constitute the Foreign Legion, commanded by Col Soudrie.

We had the pleasure this morning of meeting Major Barbot Cordier, a French staff officer, who politely furnished us with a list of the officers who came over on the Tabasco, together with the particulars of the surrender of Vera Cruz, etc.

The General Commissioner surrendered the town to the Foreign Councils on the 26th of June. Colonel Soudrie, commanding the Foreign Legion, was required to leave the city, but he objected to doing so, as he saw no grounds whatever for the movement. He was satisfied that he could hold the place for six months, having an ample supply of ammunition, the batteries of artillery, numbering nine, with the batteries of artillery, numbering ten, in all about seventy guns. He, however, consented to embark his troops on condition that they should leave the town with all the military honors, and that each member of the Legion should receive a certain amount of money "as an amount," in the words of Major Cordier, "to use long with which to die, but hardly to live long enough." These terms were accepted by the Consuls, and accordingly the troops embarked on the 27th, with all their arms, accoutrements, etc., leaving in the city the rest of the garrison, consisting of about thirteen hundred Mexican troops.

The Foreign Legion represents perhaps a dozen different nations. Of Mexicans there are about 50 men; Spaniards officers and 60 men; Austrians officers and 90 men—all belonging to the artillery. Of the Polish Count Wyke's Regiment are 60 infantry, 36 artillery, and 130 cavalry, of which 34 belonged to the Governor's Guard. The following list of officers is furnished us:

La Cot Soudrie, commander; Capt. Bonchard, 2d commander; Cavalry; Capt. Martin, Infantry; Capt. Kasking, Aujutan Major; Capt. Hospital, Artillery; Lt. Souparis, Cavalry; Lt. Bruoy, Infantry, (staff officer); Lt. Bonnet, Infantry, Governor's Guard; Lt. Mondye, Infantry, Governor's Guard; Lt. Bouilles, Governor's Guard; Paymaster; Sub Lt. LeCanchois; Sub Lt. Guerin, Cavalry; Sub Lt. Lecanchois; Sub Lt. Redonnet, Artillery; Sub Lt. Leye, (their Barbot Cordier, staff officer; Capt Leye, (their Barbot Cordier, staff officer; Capt Leye, (their Barbot Cordier, staff officer; Capt
