LOUISIANA LEGISLATURE.

Thursday, Feb. 13, 1852.

Mr. Sandidge moved that there be no session to-day, which was carried.

Mr. Bell introduced a resolution to prohibit the introduction of any more bills before the House, which was laid over.

Mr. Sandidge moved that the House do now adjourn.

Mr. Bell hoped the gentleman would withdraw his motion, as he had a few remarks to make, which he desired to submit to the House.

Mr. Sandidge withdrew his motion.

Mr. Bell, in rising to address the House, remarked that he was about to give for the first time an explanation of his vote on the resolution of Lafayette to the Legislature.

He said the latter, in part, that the Representative District of New Orleans was included between Canal and St. Louis streets, and that portion of the First Municipality included between Canal and St. Louis streets, adopted by the Convention that framed the Constitution of 1845. The Representative District of New Orleans, from that Municipality, respectively, was entitled to the number of Representatives that the Constitution assigned to it, and that Municipality, respectively, was entitled to the number of Senators that the Constitution assigned to it. He found, on inspecting the Census, that the number of inhabitants in the
