The Red Book

The Iowa Official Register (or Red Book as it is frequently called because of its familiar red cover) has been an official publication of the state of Iowa since 1892. In that year, the 24th General Assembly authorized the Iowa Official Register as an expense of the state and 10,000 copies were published under the direction of the secretary of state, then W.M. McFarland.

Earlier versions of the Iowa Official Register date back as far as 1860, when a seven-page directory of the Iowa Legislature entitled The Eighth General Assembly was published. In 1864, Secretary of State James Wright printed a list of county and state officials on a small card, a few copies of which were used for general distribution.

In 1873, the title Iowa Official Register was first used for a 19-page booklet listing executive and judicial officers and trustees of state institutions. In 1879 and 1881, similar volumes appeared. The 1881 publication was accurately subtitled Executive and Judicial Officers of the State of Iowa, Also Trustees of State Institutions. The Red Book was also known for a time as the Iowa Official and Statistical Table. In 1886, the Iowa Official Register was the title chosen for material compiled by C.S. Byrkit, then deputy secretary of state, and the title has remained the same ever since.

The Iowa Official Register of 1892 carried an introduction by Secretary of State McFarland promising to "further serve the convenience of the public by added improvements to this valuable work, as they are from time to time suggested," and vowing to, "make the Official Register a perfect storehouse of information."

Information included in the early publications of the Red Book was extensive. The 1907-08 Iowa Official Register, for example, numbered more than 800 pages. The edition included copies of the Ordinance of 1787, The Organic Laws of Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan, information on the Prohibition Party and Socialist Party platforms, a list of publications in the state and a table of weights and measures used at the time.

There were also biographies of state officials with salaries listed. [The governor's salary in 1908 was $5,000, state legislators received $550 per session of the General Assembly and a 5 cent per mile travel allowance.]

The Iowa Official Register slimmed down slightly in the next few years. By 1920, it had been cut to about 650 pages. More photographs were added to these later editions. Not only were the governor and executive council pictured in the 1920 Red Book, but Iowa's congressional delegation, state representatives and senators, members of various boards and departments were also included, along with pictures of Camp Dodge and a detailed history of Iowa's involvement in World War I.

A trimmer Red Book appeared in the 1930s and '40s. The 1945-46 Iowa Official Register, for example, numbered only about 400 pages. This 41st edition, compiled by editor Lou Gardner, no longer carried a listing of every post office in the state, nor every Iowa library and librarian. Also dropped from the Red Book by this time were the table of weights and measures, acreage statistics by townships and the listing of election expenses by counties.

Election results for 1944 were reported, however, and Iowa maintained its Republican tradition, with Dewey and Bricker defeating Roosevelt and Truman in Iowa by nearly 50,000 votes.

Early volumes of the Iowa Official Register, as well as the documents which preceded it, can be found in the state Department of History and Archives.

Today, authority for the publication of the Iowa Official Register is still vested in the secretary of state, but responsibility for having it written, edited, printed and distributed rests with the state superintendent of printing.

Chapter 16, Volume I, of the 1966 Code of Iowa states that, "The superintendent of printing shall...in odd-numbered years, compile for publication the Iowa Official Register which shall contain certain historical, political and other statistics of general value, but nothing of a partisan character."

For more than 80 years, the Iowa Official Register has served the citizens of this state as a priceless source of Iowa political, historical and statistical information.

Executive Branch

Elective Officers

The Iowa Constitution makes provisions for a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state and attorney general, who are elected for terms of four years at the regular general elections in even-numbered years, starting in 1974. In addition, the General Assembly has made provision for a secretary of agriculture, also elected for four years, starting in 1974. A board of commerce commissioners, consisting of three members, formerly elective, became appointive by the governor in 1963. A superintendent of public instruction is chosen by the state board of public instruction. Members of this board are appointed by the governor from the state at large.

Governor

The supreme executive power of the state is vested in the governor. It is the governor's duty to see that the laws are enforced, to supervise the official business of the state, to make recommendations to the General Assembly and to appoint various officers and board members. Most major appointments are subject to confirmation by the Senate. The governor has the power to call special sessions of the legislature and veto acts passed by the General Assembly, but a majority of two-thirds of each House may pass a bill over the veto. To qualify as governor, a person must have been a citizen of the United States and a resident of the state for at least two years, and must be 30 years of age or older at the date of election.

Lieutenant Governor

The lieutenant governor, who must possess the same qualifications as the governor, succeeds the governor in case of death, resignation or disability. The lieutenant governor's chief function is to act as president of the Senate.

Appointive Officers

In addition to the elected executive officers mentioned, there are a number of appointive officers, including the comptroller, the superintendent of banking, the insurance commissioner, the labor commissioner, the adjutant general, the commissioner of public health, the industrial commissioner and commissioner of public safety, all appointed by the governor, usually with the approval of the Senate. The governor also appoints the members of a number of administrative boards, including the Commerce Commission, the State Board of Regents, the Board of Control of State Institutions, the State Tax Commission, the Board of Parole, the State Conservation Commission, the Liquor Control Commission, the Department of Transportation, the Unemployment Compensation Commission, the State Board of Health and Board of Social Services.

Executive Council

The Executive Council is an ex officio board made up of the governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and secretary of agriculture.

The supreme executive power of the state is vested in the governor, whose term of office is four years.

No person is eligible for the governorship who has not been a citizen of the United States and resident of this state two years preceding the next election, and attained the age of 30 years at the time of said election.

The governor appoints all principal officers of the state not elected by the people, and certain officers connected with the state government, by and with the consent of the Senate. When any office, from any cause, becomes vacant, and no mode is provided by the constitution and laws for filling such vacancy, the governor has power to fill such vacancy.

The chief executive is also responsible for taking final action on all laws enacted by the General Assembly. The governor may approve, by signing, a bill passed by both houses or disapprove, by veto, or the governor may allow a bill to become law without signature.

The governor may also call an extra session of the General Assembly when there is necessity of action; may order adjournment of the Legislature if the members cannot reach agreement when to adjourn; and must report to the Legislature the financial condition of the state and a recommendation for any appropriate action concerning the financial status.

The governor has the task of granting or denying executive clemency in the form of restoration of voting rights, commutation of sentences, pardons and remissions of fines and forfeitures.

The specific duties also include being commander-in-chief of the military forces of state, chairman of the Executive Council, issuing notary public commissions, issuing land patents and granting or denying extradition whenever there is a request for a fugitive from justice.

The governor has many obligations as the chief executive to the people of Iowa in addition to the specific statutory duties. These include meeting different groups or individuals to discuss problems which in some way affect government; conferring with Iowa's congressional delegation to discuss national issues which affect Iowa; promoting Iowa and its manufactured and agricultural products; answering correspondence from the electorate and endeavoring to meet visitors who wish to come and visit the Capitol and the governor's office. In summary, the governor is the chief administrator of the state government and is held responsible by the citizenry for the effective and efficient administration of the various departments and agencies.

TERRY E. BRANSTAD

Governor of Iowa

On Nov. 2, a record number of Iowans cast their ballots for a new governor. On Jan. 14, 1983, Terry E. Branstad took the oath of office and became Iowa's 39th governor.

Branstad took over as chief executive during a time when Iowa faces many challenges. Tough decisions must be made to maintain the state's fiscal solvency and regenerate the Iowa economy.

Branstad's top priority is to improve the state's economic picture. He is committed to improving Iowa's agriculturally based economy and diversifying Iowa's economic base.

At 36 years, he is the youngest governor in Iowa history, and is presently the youngest governor in the United States. Branstad has a decade of experience in public office. During the past four years, he has served as Iowa's lieutenant governor. In this capacity, Branstad was both a member of the executive branch and the president of the Iowa Senate. In 1982, he was instrumental in helping Gov. Ray pass 47 of his 56 legislative priorities.

Prior to 1979, Branstad served six years as a state representative from District 8, which included Winnebago County and parts of Kossuth, Emmet and Hancock counties.

Branstad established a solid record as representative of his district and Iowans. He initiated legislation to reform Iowa's inheritance tax laws and unemployment insurance system. He was instrumental in the passage of the personal property tax phase-out, the bottle bill, handicapped parking and property tax relief for older Iowans. Branstad has long stood for maintaining Iowa's quality education system. In his first 10 years of office, state aid to Iowa schools increased by 200 percent.

The son of Rita and Edward Branstad, he grew up on the family farm near Leland in Winnebago County and graduated from Forest City High School in 1965. He received his B.A. in political science from the University of Iowa in 1969. Following two years in the U.S. Army where he received the Army Commendation Medal, Branstad entered Drake University Law School.

He was elected to the Iowa House of Representatives in Nov. of 1972, while in his junior year of law school. He completed his legal education by going to school at night and during the summer and fall between legislative sessions.

Branstad passed the Iowa bar examination in June 1974, with nine hours of law courses left, completed law school in the summer of 1974, and graduated in August. He opened a law practice in Lake Mills where he was senior partner in the firm of Branstad and Schwarm before terminating his relationship with the firm in December 1982.

Branstad has been active in a variety of civic organizations including the American Legion, Farm Bureau, Lions Club, Jaycees, county and state bar associations, Sons of Norway and Knights of Columbus. He was named one of the U.S. Jaycees Outstanding Young Men of America in 1979, and was included in Who's Who in America and Who's Who in American Politics.

As lieutenant governor, Branstad served on the National Conference of Lieutenant Governors, the Council of State Governments Liaison Committee to President Reagan and on the board of directors of the American Legislative Exchange Council.

As governor, Branstad serves on the National Governor's Association committees on Transportation and Agriculture. His first act as chief executive was to initiate HELPER, a voluntary, weatherization program to provide low-income and elderly Iowans with energy relief. Proceeds from the inaugural banquet formed the nest egg to start this program.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Office located back of Senate Chamber

Robert T. Anderson, Newton

Term expires January 1987

Jim R. Riordan, administrative assistant, Boone

Julie Stone, administrative secretary, Des Moines

The office of lieutenant governor is provided for in Article IV, Section 3 of the Iowa Constitution.

The lieutenant governor is a member of the executive branch of Iowa government, and stands ready to succeed the governor in case of the latter's death, impeachment or resignation.

The lieutenant governor is also directed by the constitution to be president of the Iowa Senate, presiding over that body whenever it is in session. The lieutenant governor may cast a vote when the Senate is divided equally, but only when final passage of legislation is not at issue.

While a member of the executive branch, the lieutenant governor works closely with the legislative branch of state government. The lieutenant governor often is able to help resolve differences that arise between the two branches.

Beyond constitutional prerogatives, the lieutenant governor has certain statutory authority to appoint members to many and varied committees, commissions and councils, including: the Administrative Rules Review Committee, the Commission on Compensation and the Legislative Council. According to Senate rules, the lieutenant governor selects members of the standing committees and members of the conference committees, committee chairpersons and also assigns bills to committees.

The lieutenant governor serves full time during the sessions of the General Assembly and part time between the sessions. A full-time office is maintained for the lieutenant governor behind the Senate chamber in the state Capitol.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNORROBERT T. ANDERSON*Newton, Iowa*Democrat

When he was sworn in on January 14, 1983, Robert T. Anderson became the first Democrat in Iowa history to be inaugurated lieutenant governor with a Republican governor.

Lt. Gov. Anderson was elected to the Iowa House of Representatives in 1974. Two years later he was elected assistant majority leader by his colleagues and was elected a member of the Democratic leadership each succeeding term. In eight years, Anderson served on two-thirds of the standing committees in the House. During the 1980-82 session he was ranking Democrat on the Appropriations Committee, and served on the Legislative Council as well as the Education, State Government and Transportation committees.

Born in Marshalltown on March 8, 1945, Anderson graduated from LDF High School in LeGrand. He received B.A. and M.A. degrees in journalism from the University of Iowa. For ten years he taught high school in several Iowa towns, including Bennett, Washington, Fort Dodge and Newton. Lt. Gov. Anderson is currently a sales associate with a real estate firm in Newton, chairman of the Council of Ministries at St. Luke United Methodist Church and is a member of the Sons of Norway.

His wife, the former Elsie Ulland of Lake Mills, is a special education teacher in Newton. Married in 1967, the Anderson's have a son, Robbie.

Secretary of State

Office located on main floor of Capitol Building
Corporations and Uniform Commercial Code offices, second floor of Hoover Building
MARY JANE ODELL, Des Moines
Term Expires January 1987

Karol Larsen, administrative secretary
Michael Triggs, administrative assistant
Michael Burdette, director, corporate division
Harry Davis, director, Uniform Commercial Code division
Louise Whitcome, director of elections
Nancy Miller, clerk, land office and notaries public divisions

Several chapters of the Iowa Code which implement Article VIII of the constitution set forth the secretary of state's duties relating to corporations. In general, these involve examining, approving, processing and filing a wide variety of profit, non-profit, foreign and domestic corporation instruments, limited partnerships and issuing certificates to reflect the instruments filed. Roughly 40,000 corporation certificates are processed by the secretary of state each year, and about 65,000 annual corporation reports are audited, approved and indexed for public inspection. The secretary accepts service of nearly 3,000 original notices each year on non-resident defendants and foreign corporation defendants. Trademarks, labels and forms of advertising are filed in the office of secretary of state for protective registration.

The secretary of state is the principal filing officer under the Uniform Commercial Code Act. This type of filing is intended to create a security interest in personal property or fixtures in Iowa and covers sales of accounts, contract rights and chattel paper. More than 800,000 active filings are presently on record in the U.C.C. office on the second floor, Hoover State Office Building.

The secretary of state is election commissioner for the state of Iowa. This imposes a broad range of responsibilities in coordinating election matters with county commissioners of elections. The state commissioner conducts statewide schools of instruction, promulgates rules and regulations for the conduct of elections, prescribes forms, responds to innumerable telephone and letter inquiries, publishes the canvass of the primary and general elections vote, maintains the record of the canvass of the vote by the Iowa Executive Council and prepares certificates of election. The office performs a multitude of other election duties which includes retaining for public inspection reports of campaign receipts and expenditures submitted by candidates for federal office.

There are approximately 37,000 notaries public in the state of Iowa. Each notary public must procure a commission from the secretary of state. A record is kept of all commissions and attested copies and furnished upon request.

The state land office maintains a record of thousands of parcels of land formerly and presently owned by the state of Iowa. There is a continuing turnover as land is acquired through purchase, gift, condemnation or disposed of through sale or other procedures. The land office prepares and records all patents which convey title of state lands to others. Patents are signed by the governor and are countersigned by the secretary of state.

The general office preserves for public inspection many original and official documents of the state, including the constitution, the original statutes of Iowa, authenticated journals of the General Assembly, election records, bonds of various elective and appointive officials and a record of incorporated cities and towns.

The secretary of state is chair of the State Records Commission, member of the Iowa Executive Council, the Employment Agency License Commission and Insurance Committee.

The state constitution provides that all grants and commissions shall be in the name and by authority of the people of the state of Iowa, sealed with the Great Seal of the State, signed by the governor and countersigned by the secretary of state.

The office is entirely self-supporting through fees collected for services provided to the public.

Treasurer of State

Office located on main floor of Capitol Building
MICHAEL L. FITZGERALD, Des Moines, Polk County
Steven F. Miller, Des Moines, deputy treasurer
Michael L. Tramontina, Des Moines, deputy treasurer
Roger Barnett, Des Moines, deputy treasurer

A constitutionally elected official, the treasurer serves a four-year term as Iowa's monetary officer. The treasurer is charged with the investment and custody of idle funds of a current average of $350 million daily. Aside from investment of temporarily idle funds, the treasurer invests funds of the Iowa Public Employment System, the Iowa Centennial Memorial Foundation, the Public Safety Peace Officers Retirement System and the William Hawks Memorial.

Total investment transactions of the treasurer's office — bank transfers, investment purchases and investment sales — equal approximately $14 billion per year.

The treasurer is a member of the State Appeal Board, Peace Officer's Retirement Board, the State Records Management Commission, Iowa Family Farm Development Authority Board and the Iowa Centennial Memorial Foundation.

The treasurer of state approves all Iowa banks as depositories of state funds and approves increases in deposit limits for all public funds throughout Iowa, following initial approval by the executive body of each Iowa political subdivision.

Once each month, the treasurer, in cooperation with the state superintendent of banking and the state insurance commissioner, sets the interest rate that may be paid on public funds deposited in Iowa banks, and rates and guidelines for various debt obligations of public bodies in Iowa.

As custodian of the State Sinking Fund, the treasurer makes appropriate assessments against depositories holding public funds, such funds to be used to recover losses in the event of a depository's failure or change in ownership and financial status.

Further, the treasurer is responsible for investment and custody of monies and property falling to the state under Iowa's Unclaimed Property Act, enacted by the 62nd General Assembly.

Accountable for all receipts and disbursements of funds, the state treasury balance is audited daily. All monies due the state of Iowa are received and deposited by the treasurer of state. All disbursements of state monies are made by the treasurer, either directly or by redemption of all proper warrants issued. The treasurer submits a complete report, as required by law, to the governor of Iowa at the end of each biennium, accounting for all receipts and disbursements since the last report.

As a member of the Executive Council, Iowa's administrative governing body, the treasurer of state — in cooperation with the governor, secretary of state, auditor of state and secretary of agriculture — participates in fiscal and other governmental decisions on a day-to-day basis.

Thatcher Johnson, Madrid, deputy secretary of agriculture

The Iowa Department of Agriculture was established by the 40th General Assembly in 1923, consolidating several state divisions into one department. The object of the department is to encourage, promote and advance the interests of agriculture — including horticulture, livestock industry, dairying, cheese-making, poultry-raising, bee-keeping, production of wool, production of domesticated fur-bearing animals and other kindred and allied industries; to promote and devise methods of conducting said industries with a view to increase production and facilitate an adequate distribution of the same at the least cost to the producer and consumer; and to administer efficiently and impartially the inspection service of the state which is now or may be hereafter placed under its supervision.

In January 1973, Secretary Lounsberry restructured the department by establishing three operational units within the department. These units are the administrative, regulatory and laboratory divisions, and each unit is headed by an administrator directly responsible to the secretary.

The Administrative Division is supervised by Administrative Assistant James D. Meimann. He supervises the directors of the following subdivisions: personnel, information, marketing, licensing, sheep, apiary, horticulture, weather, accounting, dairy trade practices, agriculture statistics, market news, audit, rural consumer consultant, central supply and mail.

The Regulatory Division is supervised by Administrative Assistant Bette Duncan. This division consists of the following subdivisions: legal, food products control, dairy products control, meat and poultry, animal industry and weights and measures.

The Laboratory Division is headed by Administrative Assistant J.D. Hook. Its subdivisions are feed, pesticides, fertilizer, entomology and seed, medicated feed, also the dairy laboratory, pesticide residue laboratory, seed and entomology laboratory, feed and fertilizer laboratory, food, meat and poultry laboratory, pesticide formulation laboratory and the vitamin and antibiotic laboratory.

Iowa is the foodbasket of the world, producing 26 percent of the nation's pork supply and 12 percent of the nation's cattle. Each Iowa farmer annually produces enough beef to feed 214 persons, enough pork for 691 persons, enough milk products for 151 persons, enough cheese for 45 persons, enough lamb for 160 persons, enough turkey for 124 persons and enough eggs for 53 persons.

Local Government

County Officials

The state of Iowa is divided into 99 counties, the boundaries of which may not be changed unless the change is approved by the voters of each county concerned. A board of supervisors consisting of three or five members is the chief administrative agency in the county. It appoints a county engineer, county home steward, medical examiner, county welfare director and other administrative officials. In addition, an auditor, who is clerk of the board of supervisors; a sheriff; county attorney; recorder; treasurer and clerk of the District Court are elected by the voters, with terms of four years. The supervisors are also authorized to create the office of public defender to represent accused persons unable to pay for their own attorneys.

Local Functions

The Iowa county is a quasi-political corporation which collects municipal, school, county and state taxes, enforces state laws, has charge of poor relief and certain other welfare activities, and shares with the Department of Transportation on the management of roads and bridges in the county.

Townships, which in earlier days were effective units of local government within the counties, have lost almost all of their functions, except for operation of fire departments and cemeteries.

City Government

The laws of Iowa also authorize the incorporation of cities. These municipalities derive their powers from the constitution in local matters, except for the power to tax, which is granted by the General Assembly. Four cities are governed by special charters granted before the adoption of the present constitution which forbids such acts of incorporation. One city has the commission form of government, seven have adopted the city manager plan by popular election, three have home rule charters, two of which provide for a city manager and one has the mayor appoint a professionally trained administrative assistant. Twenty-one others have city managers by ordinance, and 38 have city administrators. The commissioners are elected by the voters under the commission form and constitute the mayor and council. The city manager or city administrator is appointed by the council. In 867 other municipalities, the government is by the mayor-council system, in which the mayor and members of the council are elected by the voters for two-year or four-year terms.

City Councils

The council is the policy-making body in municipal government and it is also the chief administrative agency in the mayor-council cities. The mayor presides over the council, although not a member, and has the power to veto acts of the council subject to a two-thirds majority vote over the veto. The mayor supervises municipal activities and appoints certain officers, including the marshal or chief of police, mayor pro tem or other officials that the council may direct the mayor to appoint. The city attorney and clerk, and in some cases the engineer and members of the zoning board of adjustment, are chosen by the council, though state law only specifies that the council appoint the city clerk. Some cities have the strong mayor form providing that the mayor choose most other officers, usually with approval of the council.

County Officials of Iowa for 1983-1984

Term of County Officers

The county auditor, clerk of court, sheriff and treasurer are elected for four-year terms. Through a constitutional amendment ratified in the 1970 general election, the term of the county attorney was changed from two to four years, effective in the 1974 general election. The area education agency administrator is appointed by the area education board. The county engineer is appointed by the board of supervisors for a period not to exceed three years. County assessors (and city assessors in larger cities) are appointed by conference boards, representing the taxing bodies, for six-year terms. The medical examiner is appointed for two years by the board of supervisors.

Legislative Branch

The constitution places the legislative authority of Iowa government in a General Assembly made up of a Senate and a House of Representatives, and limits the membership to no more than 50 senators and 100 representatives, which is the present size.

The General Assembly is the lawmaking body of state government. A constitutional provision that no money can be spent from the state's treasury unless the General Assembly writes a law to do so, is the basis of the legislature's power of the purse. The assembly also has the power to call itself into special session upon written request made to the presiding officers of both houses by two-thirds of the members of both. The sole power of impeachment is vested in the House of Representatives, with the power to try impeachments vested in the Senate.

A state representative must be at least 21 years of age, and a state senator at least 25 years of age at the time he or she takes office. The other qualifications for the office of legislator are U.S. citizenship, Iowa residency for at least one year and district residency at least 60 days prior to election.

Representatives are elected to two-year terms; senators are elected to four-year terms. Presently, half of the 50 senators' terms expire every two years.

The presiding officer of the House of Representatives is the speaker of the House, a state representative who is elected to the position by House members. The Senate's presiding officer is the lieutenant governor who is the president of the Senate.

General Assembly members are administered an oath of office on the second Monday in January of the year following their elections. The constitution requires the General Assembly to convene yearly on the second Monday in January.

Iowa's general assemblies have been numbered chronologically from statehood in 1846 to distinguish each new session, its membership and its laws from all other sessions. The 70th General Assembly, meeting in 1983 and 1984, marks the 70th time a legislative session has been held in Iowa; its bills signed by the governor will become identifiable parts of the state's book of laws called the Code of Iowa.

During the two years of each General Assembly's existence, the legislature can be expected to send more than 500 bills to the governor to be signed into law. Frequently, more than one-fourth of these are money bills (appropriations and budget) to finance state government. As many as four to five times the number of bills that actually become laws will have been introduced for legislative consideration during the two years.

The constitution stipulates that bills may originate in either chamber of the General Assembly, and empowers each chamber to determine its own rules of procedure, except each is prohibited from adjourning for more than three days without the consent of the other.

Presently each chamber adopts its own rules; joint rules are also adopted to govern legislative procedures that affect the orderly flow of bills between the two houses.

The General Assembly functions year round, although its legislative sessions last slightly less than half of each year. The periods between the lawmaking sessions are called legislative interim periods and are devoted to legislative studies by the members who work in committees to prepare bills for consideration in up-coming sessions.

The constitution mandates that each chamber "shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the General Assembly of a free and independent state." And with those powers, the constitution mandates legislative accountability to the citizens of Iowa by requiring publication of all the General Assembly's proceedings in a journal.

Another constitutional requirement that the doors of each House shall be open, "except on such occasions as, in the opinion the House, may require secrecy." This has evolved through rules and laws to the present policy which is that all official legislative business, including committee meetings, floor debate and interim meetings are open to firsthand public view.

Code Editor

Appointed by the Legislative Council

The Code editor is required by law to prepare the manuscript copy of all laws, acts and joint resolutions passed at each session of the General Assembly and to arrange the same in chapters with comprehensive index. The editor is also required to submit such recommendations as are deemed proper to each General Assembly for the purpose of amending, revising and codifying such portions of the law as may be conflicting, redundant or ambiguous.

The Code of Iowa contains all the general and permanent laws in the state. The first Code was published in 1851 and the Codes have been continuously kept up-to-date since then. Until 1924, each new Code was separately authorized by the General Assembly and a new editor appointed for each. In 1924, the position was made permanent and the law changed to provide publication each four years. Presently, the director of the Legislative Service Bureau is the acting Code editor. The statute was amended in 1970 to provide for the Code to be published each two years.

The Code editor must examine and apply each act of the General Assembly to the body of existing law — eliminating all special and private acts and the parts of the general acts that may be temporary in nature. The editor must determine the location of new legislation and assign chapter and section numbers as well as supply section headings, historical references and cross-references to enable the searcher in the law to trace the sources and origins of the ideas contained therein. Volumes of Tables of Corresponding Sections of Session Laws and Codes are also published. A comprehensive and detailed index to the Code must also be prepared and published each two years. The Code editor is also required to publish, in loose-leaf form with amendments as effective, the Rules of Civil Procedure, Rules of Criminal Procedure, Rules of Appellate Procedure and Supreme Court rules. The editor shall, immediately after the issuance of the new Code, prepare copy for the ensuing Code or a supplement, and at all times keep the same revised to date in the files of the office.

The Code editor also publishes the administrative rules of all the various state governmental departments in the Iowa Administrative Code. Biweekly supplements to these rules are also published along with a biweekly bulletin of proposed rules, executive orders and proclamations. Judicial Branch

The judicial branch of the state of Iowa is comprised of a Supreme Court, a Court of Appeals and a District Court. Within the District Court are three types of judicial officers: district judges, district associate judges and part-time magistrates.

Supreme Court

The Supreme Court consists of nine justices. A vacancy is filled by gubernatorial appointment from a list of three nominees provided by the State Judicial Nominating Commission. A year after appointment and every eight years thereafter, the justice stands for retention in office at a general election. Justices select one of their number as chief justice; the chief justice serves in that capacity until the expiration of his or her term.

Court of Appeals

Commencing Jan. 1977, a five-member Court of Appeals began hearing appellate cases diverted to them by the Supreme Court. The Court of Appeals is in the statehouse and uses the courtroom of the Supreme Court. The Court of Appeals has subject matter jurisdiction to review civil actions and special civil proceedings whether at law or in equity, criminal actions, post-conviction remedy proceedings and small claims actions.

Attorney General

The constitution also provides for an attorney general elected at the regular election for a term of four years. The attorney general represents the state in legal matters, gives advice to state officers, and has, in addition, certain administrative functions.

Judicial Districts

The state of Iowa is divided into eight judicial districts; each district is comprised of five to 22 counties and six to 20 judges of general jurisdiction. For purposes of nomination and appointment of district judges, five of the eight districts are divided into sub-districts for a total of 13 judicial election districts. In each district, a chief judge is appointed by the Supreme Court to supervise the work of all trial judges and magistrates. A district judge is appointed by the governor from a list of two nominees selected by the judicial election district nominating commission. Retention in office is subject to popular vote one year after appointment and every six years thereafter.

The jurisdiction of district associate judges is limited to civil actions for money judgments in which the amount in controversy does not exceed $3,000, criminal offenses less than a felony and juvenile matters. District associate judges serve four-year terms and must be admitted to the bar. Associate judges are appointed by the District Court judges within the judicial election district from a list of three nominees submitted by the county Judicial Magistrate Appointing Commission. They stand for retention in office at the general election within the judicial election district.

Part-time judicial magistrates are appointed directly by the county magistrate appointing commissions; they are not required to be attorneys. All 99 counties have at least one part-time magistrate. In counties allotted three or more part-time magistrates, a majority of the District Court judges in the judicial election district may vote to substitute and appoint one district associate judge in lieu of three part-time magistrates. Part-time magistrates are authorized to handle preliminary hearings, non-indictable or simple misdemeanors, search warrant proceedings, small claims, emergency hospitalization hearings and various miscellaneous actions in which punishment does not exceed 50 days in jail or a $100 fine. Small claims include civil actions for: (1) money judgments where the amount in controversy is $1,000 or less, exclusive of interest and costs and (2) forcible entry and detainer where no question of title to property is involved.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the 8th Circuit

The 8th Circuit encompasses the states of Arkansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota. The jurisdiction of the Court of Appeals extends to all appeals from the District Courts, and limited appeals from the bankruptcy courts within the circuit unless specially directed otherwise by statute. The Court also has jurisdiction to review determinations of a variety of federal administrative agencies as well as the United States Tax Court.

The Court holds one general term annually beginning the second Monday of September. Sessions are held at such times and places as the court directs, however, most sessions are held in St. Louis, Mo. and St. Paul, Minn.

The Iowa District Court

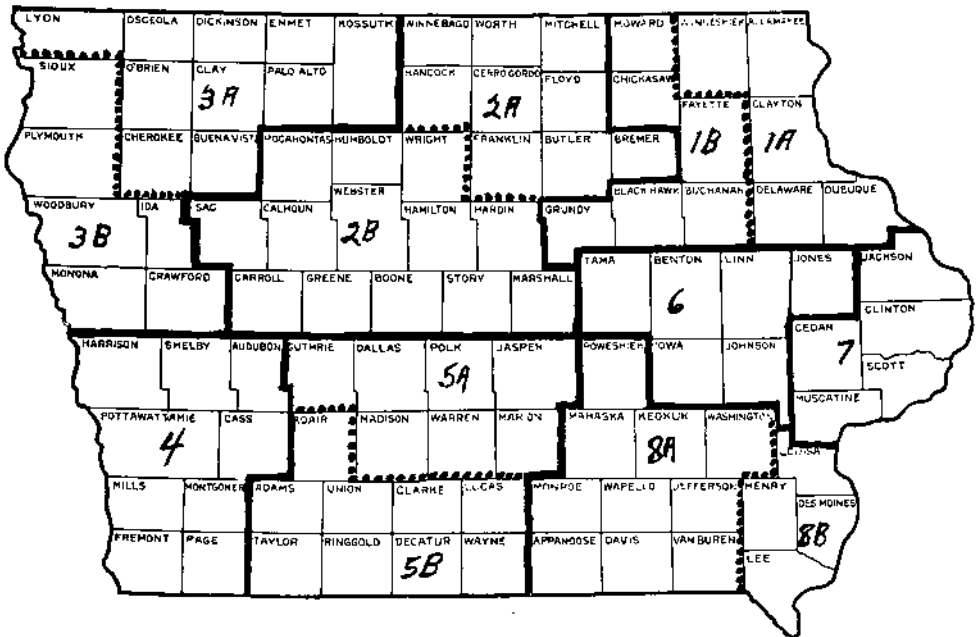

The Unified Trial Court Act of 1972 abolished all trial courts below the District Court of Iowa and established the "Iowa District Court" as a unified trial court, effective July 1, 1973. It has general jurisdiction of all civil, criminal and juvenile cases and probate matters in the state.

For purposes of administration and ordinary judicial functions, the state is divided into eight judicial districts as shown on the map below and into 13 judicial election districts.

The unified trial court operates through 166 part-time judicial magistrates, 39 district associate judges and 95 District Court judges. The judicial magistrates are appointed by a commission in each county. District associate judges are nominated by a commission and appointed by the district judges within the judicial election district. The number of District Court judges authorized in each judicial election district is determined by population and a statutory judgeship formula based on combined civil and criminal case filings in that district. However, application of the formula has been frozen and the number of district judges has been limited to 95.

The regular term of office for a District Court judge is six years. A vacancy is filled through appointment by the governor from a list of nominees submitted by the District Nominating Commission. The appointee must stand for retention for a full term at the first judicial election held after serving at least one year. District Court judges may stand for retention at the general election which next precedes the expiration of the regular term they are serving.

Board of Examiners for Court Shorthand Reporters

Office location: call clerk of Supreme Court

HARRIET E. NIELSEN, Ida Grove; term expires 1983.
DONALD L. SETHER, Ottumwa; term expires 1984.
WILLIAM L. FAIRBANK, Des Moines; term expires 1985.
NORMAN KOOL, Cedar Rapids; term expires 1985.

The Board of Examiners for Court Shorthand Reporters was authorized by the 38th General Assembly and its rules were amended by the 65th General Assembly. The examiners are appointed by the governor with the approval of 2/3 of the members of the Senate. Under law, three of the members must be certified shorthand reporters and two members represent the general public. A certified member shall be actively engaged in the practice of certified shorthand reporting and shall have been so engaged for five years preceding the appointment, the last two of which shall have been in Iowa. The board conducts examinations of those seeking to become certified shorthand reporters.

Judicial Nominating Commissions

Under a constitutional amendment adopted in 1962, and the provisions of Chapter 46, Iowa Code, 1973, there is a State Judicial Nominating Commission and a District Judicial Nominating Commission in each of the 13 judicial election districts.

The state commission submits nominees for a vacancy on the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals. The commission is comprised of 15 members, seven elected by the bar, seven appointed by the governor and the senior member of the Supreme Court other than the chief justice. The Supreme Court member is the chairman of this commission.

The district commissions submit nominees for a vacancy on the District Court bench in their respective judicial election districts. The district commissions have 11 members, five elected by the bar, five appointed by the governor and the senior judge in the judicial election district who is the chairman of the commission.

Judicial Magistrate Appointing Commissions

Each county in the state has such a commission. Its duty is to appoint the number of judicial magistrates allotted to their county by the state court administrator. Each commission is comprised of a District Court judge designated by the chief judge of the judicial district, two attorneys elected by the bar of the county and three members appointed by the board of supervisors of the county.

Commission on Judicial Qualifications

Under a 1972 amendment to the Iowa Constitution and the provisions of Chapter 605 of the Code, there is a Commission on Judicial Qualifications which receives and investigates complaints about the qualifications of Supreme Court justices, Court of Appeals judges, District Court judges and district associate judges. The commission can apply to the Supreme Court to retire, discipline or remove a judge.

The commission has seven members, four are appointed by the governor and are subject to Senate confirmation, and three, including a District Court judge, are appointed by the chief justice.

Herbert Hoover's birthplace, West Branch

Four hundred thousand visitors annually pass through the humble two-room cottage where the 31st President of the United States was born. This is one of several buildings in the Downey Street neighborhood which have been carefully restored by the National Park Services. The cottage is furnished with many of the original pieces which belonged to Hoover's parents, Jesse and Hulda, who built the home about 1870.

Election of State Officials

Each four years in Iowa, beginning in 1974, the people elect their governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, secretary of agriculture and attorney general.

Justices of the Supreme Court, judges of the Court of Appeals and judges of the District Court are appointed by the governor from lists of nominees presented by judicial nominating commissions. This system of appointing judges was provided by an amendment to the state constitution approved by the people at an election in 1962.¹

Members of the Senate are elected for four years; House members for two years.

Terms of County Officers

*Elected county officers are the clerk of court, auditor and sheriff, elected in 1980 for four-year terms; the treasurer, county attorney and recorder, elected in 1982 for four-year terms; and the county supervisors, elected for four years which overlap. Elections are held in even-numbered years.

Election of Federal Officials

Federal elections occur every two years on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in even-numbered years. The constitution provides that the only elected federal officials are the president, vice president, U.S. senators and U.S. representatives. All other officers are appointed — practically all by the president. U.S. senators serve a term of six years; House members serve terms of two years. Elections are in even-numbered years.

¹All judges are subsequently retained or not retained in office by the voters at the general election.

*Elected in each county at the general election in 1976 for four-year terms; the clerk of court, auditor and sheriff, elected in 1974 for four-year terms; the treasurer, recorder and county attorney.

Iowa Veterans Organizations

The American Legion in Iowa

The American Legion was started in Paris on March 15, 1919. It was launched formally in St. Louis on May 8, 1919, by world war veterans from nearly every state in the union. They were selected by temporary secretaries named at the request of Theodore Roosevelt Jr., acting under instructions from the Paris caucus.

The first Iowa state convention was held in Des Moines on Sept. 4, 1919. The first national convention of delegates from the newly organized state departments was held in Minneapolis on Armistice Day, 1919.

The American Legion Auxiliary, mothers, wives, sisters, granddaughters and daughters of Legionnaires, was organized in 1921.

Hanford MacNider established the Iowa Legionnaire with Frank Miles as editor on March 4, 1921. He was succeeded as editor on April 1, 1946, by A. F. Faber, who served until Jan. 3, 1965. Glenn M. Dugger served until July 1, 1970, and upon retirement was succeeded by Marion P. Johnson until Nov. 1, 1976. Larry Scarpino was replaced on Sept. 30, 1979, by the current editor, Jim Quinlan.

The Iowa headquarters is located at 720 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa, 50316. There are nine districts in Iowa with 651 local posts and an approximate annual membership of 88,000.

Iowa has been in the national American Legion's Big Ten Department since 1934.

The Iowa department stresses a national program of Americanism, national security, child welfare and rehabilitation, in addition to many youth programs to develop good citizenship.

Iowa has contributed leadership to the national organization with three national commanders: Gen. Hanford MacNider of Mason City, J. Ray Murphy, formerly of Ida Grove and Donald E. Johnson of West Branch.

The Iowa department has provided four national chaplains for the American Legion: Monsignor Edward Smith, Sioux City; Monsignor Pat N. McDermott, Atlantic; the Rev. Albert J. Hoffman, Dubuque and the Rev. Lawrence P. Fitzpatrick, Coin.

Two Iowans have served as national vice commanders. They are G. M. Brown, Whiting, and V. J. Maxheim, Clinton.

American Veterans of World War II, Korea and Vietnam

The American Veterans of World War II, commonly known as the AMVETS, were organized nationally in September of 1944 at Kansas City, Mo. The AMVETS were granted a national charter by an act of Congress, and President Truman signed the measure on July 28, 1947. AMVETS is the only nationally chartered World War II veterans organization.

AMVETS got its start in Iowa at Atlantic in 1944, and was incorporated as the Iowa Department of AMVETS on May 1, 1945. The first state convention was held in Des Moines in 1947. AMVETS was recognized as a nationally chartered World War II veterans organization by the Iowa Legislature in March 1949, and entered as such in the Iowa Code.

The AMVETS principles are (1) to promote world peace, (2) to perpetuate the American way of life and (3) to help the veteran help himself.

The AMVETS have a national and state auxiliary comprised of the wives, mothers and sisters of World War II veterans.

The Iowa department headquarters is located at 406 E. Fourth St., Ankeny, with Robert O. Steben as executive director and national service officer. Currently, the Iowa department has 70 AMVET posts covering all parts of the state, and is the sixth largest AMVET department in the nation.

Iowa AMVETS assemble at conventions each year to elect new officers. The fiscal year begins in July and ends June 30. Any person who served actively in the armed forces any length of time between Sept. 16, 1940, and May 8, 1975, is eligible to become a member.

Iowa State Association Rainbow Division Veterans

While the 42nd Division was serving as a part of the army of occupation along the Rhine River in Germany, a universal desire arose to perpetuate in civil life the bond of wartime comradeship by forming an organization of all Rainbow veterans. During March 1919, the call for a convention went out to all units of the Rainbow Division and as a result, representatives from each of the divisional units met in the city of Bad Neuenahr, Germany. There, the Rainbow Division Veterans was formed.

The 168th Iowa Infantry, commanded first by Col. E. R. Bennett, then by Col. Mathew A. Tinley, was a unit in the Rainbow Division, and upon return of the regiment to its home state of Iowa, immediate plans were formulated to establish Rainbow Veterans chapters. The first and principal chapter was formed in Des Moines, followed by Sioux City, Council Bluffs, Creston and Waterloo. As the years passed, and a greater interest developed among veterans of the Rainbow Division, the Iowa State Association Rainbow Division Veterans was formed in Des Moines in March of 1936. The Des Moines chapter became the Col. E. R. Bennett Chapter; Council Bluffs, Mathew A. Tinley Chapter; Sioux City, Northwest Iowa Chapter; Waterloo, Cedar Valley Chapter; while the Creston Chapter continued under that name. Other chapters were formed in Ottumwa, Cedar Rapids, Mason City — the North Iowa Chapter; Oskaloosa and the Douglas MacArthur Chapter in Red Oak. In 1981, the various chapters combined into one state unit operating under the name Iowa State Chapter, Rainbow Division Veterans. The Iowa association is a member of the National Association Rainbow Division which has its national headquarters in Roanoke, Va. Tinley of Council Bluffs, Homer W. Gardner of Des Moines, Theodore Johnson and Ralph Heasty, both of Cedar Rapids, have each served as president of the national association.

The national association holds its annual reunion July 12 - 14 each year. The reason for the national reunion being held annually at that time is to commemorate the Battle of Champagne which occurred July 14, 1918. The Iowa state association meets annually in April. It was originally held March 5 & 6 to commemorate the first engagement of the regiment with the enemy in the trenches in Lorraine. This date was later changed to April because of adverse weather conditions in March. The Rainbow Division was reactivated at Camp Gruber, Okla. in July of 1943, and those who served with the division in World War II are also eligible for membership. Iowa contributed 3,800 National Guardsmen to the division in World War I and 750 in World War II. The organization is the most closely knit of any American division that served in both World War I and World War II. It has chapters in 36 states with a total paid membership of 7,000 and a full-time national secretary. It fosters Rainbow comradeship in civil life, a most fitting memorial to the Rainbow dead and a rich heritage to its descendants. The Iowa Rainbow Auxiliary is active in community services, visitation to Veterans Administration hospitals and has the largest membership in the national association. Ethel Gardner and Helen Davidson have served as national auxiliary presidents.

The state secretary of the Iowa association is Howard Parker, 727 37th St. N.E., Cedar Rapids 52402.

American Legion Boys State and Girls State

The American Legion Boys State is held in June at Camp Dodge, Iowa. Local American Legion posts choose 832 high school juniors to attend this one-week program on the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship.

Likewise, 304 girls completing their junior or third year of senior high school, in June, attend American Legion Girls State on the campus of the University of Northern Iowa, Cedar Falls. This activity is sponsored by Iowa's American Legion Auxiliary.

The entire program is non-partisan and non-military. It is a school in statesmanship, an operating, mythical, 51st state where the boys and girls elect city, county and state officials and carry out all functions of government.

Upon registration, the boys are assigned to mythical cities in mythical counties. They become members of either the Federalist or Nationalist party. Political caucuses are held, party platforms adopted, and, in a manner as approximate to Iowa law as possible under the circumstances, candidates for all offices are nominated and elected. The legislature passes laws, the courts try cases, bureaus function, city councils pass ordinances, all under the guidance of experienced counselors. Boys State originated in 1938.

The girls also are taught, by participation, the fundamental principles of Iowa government. They follow the process from the establishment of city government, through the filing of nomination papers and campaigning for office, to the election and installation of the governor and other state officials. During the week the auxiliary requests city, county and state officials to talk on their particular duties and responsibilities.

Two girls are selected to attend Girls Nation in Washington, D.C., where they are taught some of the federal government's functions.

Two boys states are selected each year to attend Boys Nation, which is held at American University, Washington, D.C. Here, young men are exposed to the functions of federal government.

Grand Army of the Republic

The Grand Army of the Republic was a patriotic and fraternal organization for Civil War survivors of Union military and naval forces serving between April 12, 1861, and April 9, 1865.

Iowa was one of the first states in the Union to attempt organization of the Grand Army of the Republic, receiving, as a department, its first charter on July 12, 1866. Its permanent organization dates from Jan. 23, 1879.

There were more than 519 posts chartered in Iowa. Membership was at its peak in 1890 when 52,013 veterans were members.

Six veterans of the Civil War served as governors of Iowa. Col. William M. Stone of Knoxville, 1864-68; Col. Samuel Merrill of McGregor, 1868-72; Col. Cyrus C. Carpenter of Fort Dodge, 1872-76; Capt. Joshua G. Newbold of Mount Pleasant, 1877-78; Capt. Buren R. Sherman of Vinton, 1882-86; Lt. Col. Francis M. Drake of Centerville, 1896-98.

The Grand Army of the Republic is credited for instituting Memorial Day, and for keeping alive, in history and story, the brave deeds performed on the battlefields. The average age of the soldiers was 19.

Nate E. Kendall, former governor of Iowa, was principal speaker at the dedication of the Iowa monument on the battlefield of Shiloh. He eulogized veterans of the conflict when he said, "No soldier ever entered a field with such noble purpose, and none ever emerged with a record of such glorious accomplishment. When our beloved flag was insulted, when our territorial integrity was threatened, when our national life was imperiled, they promptly responded to the appeal of President Lincoln, and cheerfully embraced self-immolation to secure the perpetuity of the government of the people, by the people and for the people, and to render positive the certainty that the government, after being baptized in the sacred blood of the Revolutionary fathers, should not disappear from the earth, but that it, under God, should have everlasting life.

And over the graves of the fallen dead the spring has cast its tender violets, the summer its gorgeous field of flowers, the autumn its golden withered leaves, the winter its blanket of snow. All is forgiven, all is forgotten except the glorious results of the combat in which our soldiers were engaged.

The United States of America! The immortal principles of justice and equity which underlie it! The incomparable benefits which it secures to its citizenship. The inestimable sacrifices which have been suffered to maintain it! It is our home, our country, our beloved government, bequeathed to us forever by the venerated fathers, the most invaluable inheritance ever bestowed upon the sons of men.

The Iowa department lost its last member on Sept. 20, 1949, when James P. Martin of Sutherland, died.

The 55th General Assembly dismantled the G.A.R. room in the Capitol and stored the records in the history and archives department.

Iowa Veterans of Foreign Wars

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Iowa, was granted its charter by the national organization on May 26, 1921. Its objectives, fraternal, patriotic, historical and educational, are: to preserve and strengthen comradeship among its members and to assist comrades; to perpetuate the memory and history of its dead and to assist their widows and orphans; to maintain allegiance to the government of the United States and fidelity to its Constitution and laws; to foster patriotism, to maintain and extend institutions of American freedom and to preserve and defend the United States from its enemies. V.F.W. is comprised of American men and women who served honorably in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force or Coast Guard of the United States in hostile waters or on foreign soil during any foreign war, insurrection or expedition.

Veterans of Foreign Wars has a ladies auxiliary of mothers, wives, sisters and daughters and a fraternal order of the Military Order of Cooties of V.F.W. members.

The Iowa department, consisting of 208 posts, is headquartered at 3601 Beaver Ave., Des Moines 50310.

The Marine Corps League in Iowa

The Marine Corps League began its formal existence at the first session of the 75th Congress of the United States, Jan. 5, 1937, by an act of that Congress. The purposes of this organization were spelled out in eight major resolutions in the original charter. They were:

1. To preserve the traditions of the U.S. Marine Corps.
2. To bind together in fellowship those who currently serve the Marine Corps to those members who have been honorably discharged from its ranks.
3. To fit its members for the duties of citizenship and to encourage them to serve as ably as citizens as they have served their country under arms.
4. To hold sacred the memory of Marines who have given their lives for this nation.
5. To foster love for the principles which they have supported by blood and valor since the founding of our republic.
6. To maintain true allegiance to American institutions.
7. To aid and render assistance to all Marines and former Marines as well as to their widows and orphans.
8. To perpetuate the history of the Marine Corps and, by fitting acts, to observe the anniversaries of historical occasions of particular interest to Marines.

There are seven detachments with a membership of almost 500. The membership embraces men and women and is open to all active, reserve, retired and former Marines of all ranks.

Iowa Marine Corps League detachments are located in Sioux City, Boone, Cedar Rapids, Davenport, Des Moines, Dubuque and Washington.

The Marine Corps League also has an honor society, the Military Order of Devil Dogs, an auxiliary composed of wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of Marines, and a youth oriented organization called the Young Marines.

Jack Lamphere, a World War II veteran, was the 1980-81 commandant. In June of 1982, Earling Larson of Boone was elected state commandant.

China-Burma-India Veterans Association

The Carl F. Moershel Basha of Iowa was organized in Des Moines in November 1952, and is for veterans of World War II who served in the China-Burma-India Theater. The late Moershel, of Homestead, served in India as a lieutenant colonel with the 10th Air Force and was one of the 14 Iowans who started the Iowa Basha. (Basha is an Indian word for house or hut.)

The national headquarters is at the War Memorial Center in Milwaukee, Wis. National reunions are held each year and Iowa has been host three times — at Cedar Rapids in 1960 and 1981, and Des Moines in 1968.

Iowa meetings are held twice a year in different cities. The national charter for the Iowa Basha is on display at the Ox Yoke Inn at Amana, as the owner of the restaurant is a CBI veteran.

Darwin Carlile of Perry was the first state commander. Ray Alderson of Dubuque was elected national commander of the CBIVA in 1977-78 and was the first Iowan to hold this office. Victor Tamashunas of Ames served as national commander in 1980-81. Alderson also received the organization's Award of Merit in 1975 at the San Francisco reunion. Neil Maurer, of Laurens, edits and publishes the national magazine, Ex-CBI Roundup, which is mailed monthly to CBI veterans in all states. He was the recipient of the CBIVA Award of Merit at the Atlanta, Ga., reunion in 1976. Iowans who have served as national CBIVA officers include Donald V. Doyle of Sioux City, judge advocate; Alderson, Maurer, William Leichsenring of Amana, Elizabeth Emmons Gussak of Clinton, Marvin Boyenga of Mason City and Tamashunas, junior vice commanders; and Carlile, service officer and provost marshal. Tamashunas also senior vice-commander; Gussak also historian and surgeon general. Gussak was elected the state's first woman commander in 1981.

Spanish American War Veterans

The United Spanish War Veterans has existed in order to carry on the comradeship that developed while in service in the 100 percent volunteer army. In Iowa, one member remains. George Lewis, 104, from Shenandoah, is the only member of the Iowa department which is one of several nationally. The Iowa organization will continue until his death. At the headquarters in Webster City, reports of the organization and personnel are kept, plans are made for the annual encampment, service is given in claims for pensions for widows, and assistance with the aid and attendant allowance is available. The allowance provides for an additional $50 per month available to the widows of veterans of all wars when they are no longer able to live at home alone and need aid and attendant to meet needs, or when entering a nursing home.

The acting commander is William C. Fischer and the department adjutant is Evelyn M. Fischer, 856 First St., Webster City, IA 50595.

The Disabled American Veterans in Iowa

The Disabled American Veterans, commonly known as the D.A.V., was organized nationally in 1920 by groups of disabled veterans then undergoing vocational training courses and chartered by Congress in 1932, to render service to, for and by disabled war veterans. The D.A.V. has, ever since its inception, been the spokesman for the disabled war veterans of America, in Congress and before its various committees as well as before the Veterans Administration and its local regional offices and facilities.

During 1920 and 1921, the first three chapters of the Iowa Department were organized in the vocational training centers at Des Moines, Iowa City and Ames. The Department of Iowa D.A.V. held its first state convention in 1922 at Iowa City.

The D.A.V. in Iowa has grown to 60 chapters and about 7,400 members. The national service officer in Iowa is Larry Jatho, located at 921B Federal Building, 210 Walnut, Des Moines. The state headquarters is in Des Moines. The address is 3812 Clinton, Des Moines 50310, and the adjutant and business manager is Buford L. Phillips.

Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A.

The origin of this organization dates back to the middle 1950s when World War I veterans of several states met in an organizational effort and founded Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A. It gained national status and recognition when Congress granted it a national charter which was signed by President Eisenhower on July 18, 1958.

The Department of Iowa had its inception when a state convention was held in Cedar Rapids, and a constitution and by-laws were adopted on May 19, 1957. W. R. Kime of Richland was elected first state commander at that convention. Iowa was honored by the election of Kime as national commander in 1963. An annual state convention is held for administrative review and discussion and for the sociabilities of such a reunion.

Members of 93 barracks, as the local units are referred to, constitute the membership of the state of Iowa. A ladies' auxiliary of 93 units serves as an active motivation force in civic and relief efforts and general activities.

The state is divided into eight districts with boundaries conforming with the eight congressional districts of 1958. Two district meetings are held in each district annually. District commanders serve as members of the State Board of Administration.

Death annually takes a heavy toll in membership.

The organization provides liaison between veterans and government and a vital social medium for members.

The University of Iowa was the first public institution of higher learning founded by the state of Iowa. The date was Feb. 25, 1847, just 59 days after Iowa gained statehood. The act establishing the university was passed in the legislative chambers of Old Capitol. In its early days, the university was devoted primarily to the education of teachers for Iowa's secondary schools. Classes began in 1855 with a student body of 19 and a faculty of three. From this, the university evolved into an integrated liberal arts, graduate and professional institution offering programs of teaching, research and educational public service. Today the university is organized in ten colleges — Business Administration, Dentistry, Education, Engineering, Graduate, Law, Liberal Arts, Medicine, Nursing and Pharmacy — which together comprise more than 80 departments and seven schools. The schools, all within the College of Liberal Arts, are: Art and Art History, Journalism and Mass Communication, Letters, Library Science, Music, Religion and Social Work.

The core of the university is arts and sciences surrounded by well integrated professional colleges. The university seeks to offer programs of quality and to be receptive to change. It was the first state university to admit women students on an equal basis with men. It also was an early leader in the general education movement, with its broad accent on the liberal arts.

This venturesome spirit is also evidenced by the university's willingness to experiment in developing interdisciplinary programs which utilize faculty members from different departments. One result, the field of speech pathology and audiology, originated through such a cross-fertilization among several academic disciplines. By fusing its capabilities in engineering and the health sciences, the university similarly has become a center for the development of sophisticated prosthetic devices, such as artificial hip joints, the Iowa knee brace and larynxes, and now offers an inter-departmental undergraduate program in biomedical engineering.

Research

Teaching, research and service functions of higher education are tightly interwoven in the philosophies and policies of the university. Even as the faculty transmits knowledge to students, it strives to increase knowledge through research and to make both the knowledge and resources of the university available and useful to all. The university does not define research narrowly. A pioneer in the acceptance of work in the creative arts in satisfaction of thesis requirement for advanced degrees, it adheres to the position that the term "research" applies to creativity in all fields. Imaginative originality, be it in the fine arts or in the sciences, is of a common character and significance in the overall intellectual life of the institution. This creative activity is a requisite function of a faculty if its teaching is to have the qualities of relevance, freshness and effectiveness expected of a quality institution of higher learning.

During the past few years, increasing amounts of federal and private funds have been made available for the support of these creative activities. These funds support key programs which are at the heart of the university's functions and purposes, although state-appropriated funds and tuition obviously form the base of the financial support of the Regent institutions. Recent examples of those federally supported programs which combine the teaching, research and services functions and have a direct effect upon the state of Iowa are the outreach program to find ways to improve the treatment of autistic children in the state, the Hemophilia Center project that serves Iowans afflicted with this disease, the Iowa State Cancer Registry, the Epidemiology Research Center and the Iowa Epidemiologic Study on Pesticides.

Public Service

The university also provides many direct services to the state. Its Division of Continuing Education reaches thousands of Iowans each year through off-campus courses, correspondence study, on-campus conferences and workshops and the distribution of films and other educational materials. Increasing attention is given to the needs of nontraditional students through expansion of the university's Saturday and evening class program and introduction of a program of short non-credit courses for adults. University service agencies such as the Management Center, Small Business Development Center, Industrial Relations Institute, Labor Center, the Institutes for Insurance Education and Research, Economic Research, Accounting Research, Entrepreneurial Management, the Institute of Public Affairs and Institute of Agricultural Medicine provide still other types of special services to the state.

In cooperation with the other Iowa Regent universities, The University of Iowa offers the bachelor of liberal studies (B.L.S.) degree, a broad-based liberal arts program designed for persons who are not able to enroll in on-campus programs. The universities have started offering the program in selected communities throughout the state.

The University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics serve as the comprehensive tertiary health care center for the entire state of Iowa. Each year the hospital admits more than 40,000 patients for hospitalization and treats an additional 327,000 in out-patient clinics. As a tertiary level health care center, it provides the state with a number of specialized capabilities, such as burn treatment, organ transplantation and pediatric heart surgery. University Hospitals also operate as a teaching and research base for the university's colleges of Medicine, Dentistry, Nursing and Pharmacy, as well as for other health-related professions.

The hospitals' Air Care helicopter services provide Iowa with a rapid extension of specialized health services.

The University Hospitals and Clinics also includes the Psychiatric Hospital, the University Hospital School and the Oakdale Hospital, where the alcoholism treatment unit is located. Also headquartered at the university's Health Center are the Iowa Specialized Child Health Services and The University of Iowa Hygienic Laboratory, which provide services to agencies of state and local governments and private citizens, as well as the Colleges of Medicine, Pharmacy, Nursing and Dentistry.

Enrollment

During the past two decades, the university's enrollment has increased dramatically as greater numbers have sought to prepare themselves for life and work in an increasingly complex society. One of the university's highest priorities as a public institution is to assure accessibility to all qualified students. At the same time, the university strives to provide an attractive, individualized learning environment, in keeping with its traditional concern that education should remain an individual experience. An open-stack library system and the utilization of computer-aided instruction augment an outstanding faculty and staff. A modern residence hall system offers students an opportunity to meet and live with students of diverse backgrounds and aspirations. Recreational activities are abundant on the campus, and the Iowa Center for the Arts offers students with a side range of opportunities for cultural enrichment in the visual and performing arts.

The university thus serves Iowa in a variety of ways. As an educational institution, it prepares people—over 171,000 graduates since the opening of the first classes—for nourishing the well-being of Iowa's communities. Currently, nearly 5,000 degrees are awarded each year, ranging from the baccalaureate to the most advanced degrees in many specialized areas of knowledge. As a research institution, it has helped to advance knowledge and has contributed to the betterment of the quality of life in Iowa. As a service institution, it provides many essential services which would not otherwise be available to Iowans. Finally, as a center of the arts—in music, theater, dance, creative writing and the visual arts—the university enriches the cultural life of Iowa.

Following is the annual record of enrollment at the university since 1954:

The University

Iowa State University was one of the earliest institutions established in the movement to create an educational system uniquely suited to American democratic philosophy.

It was founded by the Iowa General Assembly in 1858. Four years later the national "people's college" movement was underwritten by the Morrill Land-Grant Act which made federal lands available to endow colleges whose aim was to promote "liberal and practical education . . . in the several pursuits and professions of life." Iowa was the first state to accept the terms of the Morrill Act. In March 1863, the General Assembly awarded Iowa's grant to the recently-chartered institution at Ames.

Originally the land-grant colleges were primarily concerned with subjects relating to agricultural and industrial pursuits. Thus, Iowa State began as Iowa Agricultural College, and in 1896 was given the more inclusive name, Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. In those beginning years, it established a national—and in many cases international—reputation in the areas of agriculture, veterinary medicine, home economics and engineering.

Adapting land-grant philosophy to the changing needs of the 20th century, Iowa State has maintained its preeminence in these areas, but has broadened and strengthened its work in other fields to the point that its largest enrollment now is in the sciences and humanities.

Increasing numbers of students find in the broad-based curricula of Iowa State opportunities to specialize in excellent programs of science and technology, and to acquire a general background of education in the liberal arts tradition.

President W. Robert Parks

The Development of the University

Iowa State opened its doors to a preparatory class in the fall of 1868, with instruction at the college level beginning the following March. A class of 26 was graduated at the first commencement in 1872.

The college pioneered in the establishment of agricultural curricula, was the first state institution to found a veterinary school, and helped move engineering from a small and narrow profession to its present key position in our industrialized society. The basic sciences were emphasized. Coeducational from its beginning, Iowa State took leadership in domestic economy (later to become home economics).

Graduate study was offered almost as soon as classes began, and the first graduate degree was conferred in 1877. Experimentation and research also started early, first in agriculture and shortly thereafter in home economics, engineering, science and veterinary medicine.

Iowa State shared the conviction with other land-grant institutions that all people should have access to the ideas and knowledge of the campus. By 1870, it had educational institutes in various Iowa towns. In 1903, it set the pattern of county cooperative extension as it is conducted now throughout the United States.

Iowa State's program became that of a university with special teaching responsibility in science and technology, an extension education program throughout the state and extensive research interests to advance frontiers of learning.

Since 1959, it has been known as Iowa State University of Science and Technology.

Instruction is offered throughout the year, divided into two 16-week semesters and one eight-week summer session.

Programs leading to the doctorate are available in approximately 70 disciplines. Several interdisciplinary programs such as biomedical engineering, general graduate studies, immunobiology, industrial administrative sciences, industrial relations, molecular, cellular and developmental biology and water resources are also available.

Operating Budget

In the 1982-83 year Iowa State University expenditures for operation were budgeted at $259.2 million. Of this total, about 26 percent was for instruction, about 16 percent for research, about 6 percent for extension services and 24 percent for self-supporting enterprises such as the operation of the residence hall system and stores. The remainder was for the physical plant, academic support and student financial aid.

State appropriations accounted for about 45 percent of the income for the year, gifts, grants and contracts for about 12 percent and self-supporting enterprises 24 percent. Federal appropriations contributed less than four percent and student fees 12 percent of total operation, including research and extension as well as instruction. The remainder came from sales and endowment income, organized activities and miscellaneous other income.

Physical Plant

As of June 30, 1982, the value of the land, buildings and equipment, and other improvements of the university, based on acquisition cost was more than $300,000,000. This figure included buildings and equipment used by auxiliary enterprises. Somewhat more than half of the funds for construction of all facilities came from gifts and grants or student fees and other charges. The remainder came from state appropriations.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTHERN IOWA

Cedar Falls

President, John J. Kamerick, Ph.D.

Vice President and Provost, James G. Martin, Ph.D.

Vice President for Educational and Student Services, Thomas W. Hansmeier, Ed.D.

Assistant to the President for State Relations & Special Events,

Edward V. Voldseth, Ph.D.

The University of Northern Iowa is a member of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States. The university is fully accredited through the master's degrees, the specialist's degrees and the Doctorate in Industrial Technology by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The university is also accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. The university's programs are accredited by the following professional accrediting agencies: the National Association of Schools of Music, the National Association of Schools of Art, the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association, the National Council of Social Work Education, the American Association of Museums and the American Home Economics Association. Programs are also approved by the Iowa State Department of Public Instruction, the National University Extension Association and the American Chemical Society.

Created by act of the Iowa General Assembly, the university opened on Sept. 6, 1876, as Iowa State Normal School and was authorized to grant the bachelor's degree in 1904. In 1909 the name of the institution was changed to Iowa State Teachers College and in the following 50 years achieved national status in teacher education. In 1961 the state Legislature broadened the function of the institution to offer programs of instruction in the liberal and vocational arts and changed the name to the State College of Iowa. The university now offers five baccalaureate degrees: the bachelor of arts, the bachelor of technology (established in 1968), the bachelor of music established in 1969 and the bachelor of fine arts established in 1976. Programs leading to certification to teach are available on both of the first two degrees. The bachelor of liberal studies, the fifth baccalaureate degree, is an external degree made available through the cooperative efforts of the three Iowa Regents universities. This degree was approved by the Regents in 1977.

Graduate work leading to the master of arts in education degree was begun in 1952, and in 1960 the graduate program was extended with the addition of a sixth-year program leading to the specialist in education degree. The master of arts degree was effected in 1965 and the specialist degree was inaugurated in 1970. The master of business administration degree began in 1975 and the master of music degree was established in 1976. The graduate program was further extended in 1978 with the addition of UNI's first doctoral degree, the doctor of industrial technology.

The change to university status on July 1, 1967, brought increased attention to research and services, major changes in the administrative organization of the institution and the offering of a far broader curriculum not only in education but in fields other than teaching with an increased emphasis on graduate work.

The function of the university is described by the following statement of mission approved by the State Board of Regents in 1978:

President John J. Kamerick

"The University of Northern Iowa at Cedar Falls is recognized as having a mission of sufficient scope to enable it to be a distinguished arts and sciences university with an outstanding teacher education program. It provides leadership in the development of programs for the pre-service and in-service preparation of teachers and other educational personnel for schools, colleges and universities. The institution offers undergraduate and graduate programs and degrees in the liberal and practical arts and sciences, including selected areas of technology. It offers pre-professional programs and conducts research and extension programs to strengthen the educational, social, cultural and economic development of Iowa and the larger community. Evolution from a state college to a university entailed a broadening of offerings, development of more specialized undergraduate and graduate programs and greater emphasis on research and public professional services.

"It is imperative that the quality of the university's instruction be maintained and enhanced through increasingly strong emphasis on: 1) general or liberal education as the most essential ingredient for the undergraduate student, 2) the central importance and complementary relationship of teaching and research, 3) enrichment of instruction through extensive clinical, laboratory and field experiences, and independent study, and 4) development of the life of the university community itself as an effective educational force. In order to serve students of all ages and to be responsive to their needs and preferences and to the needs of society, it is imperative that the university offer a variety of programs in such areas as liberal arts, arts, business, social work and technology. It will offer no major programs in agriculture, architecture, dentistry, engineering, forestry, hospital administration, law, pharmacy, medicine or veterinary medicine.

"In the area of teacher preparation the university must remain at the forefront of developments in the field of education and be prepared to offer instruction in new areas required by society. Furthermore, UNI should be more than merely responsive to changing needs and interests of its students and society. It must provide leadership in educational innovations, programs and research.

"Future programs will be determined by the continuing study of existing programs and of developing needs. Programs will be curtailed or eliminated when the assessment of need and resources indicates that resources could better be devoted to other programs. The university approaches the addition of new programs with considerable caution. Generally, new programs are fashioned out of existing programs in response to developing needs. However, if the university is to remain vital, it must consider at the appropriate time the development of some new programs that fall within its general mission and meet the new needs of students and of society."

Organization

The principal academic units of the university are the four instructional colleges, the school of business and the graduate college, each governed by a dean. The instructional groups, which include both schools and departments, are:

School of business: Accounting, business management, marketing education and administrative management.

Education: curriculum and instruction, educational psychology and foundations; school of health, physical education and recreation; library science; school administration and personnel services; special education; teaching; office of student field experiences.

Humanities and fine arts: Art, communication and theatre arts, communicative disorders, English language and literature, modern languages, school of music, philosophy and religion.

Natural sciences: Biology, chemistry, earth science, industrial technology, mathematics and computer science, physics.

Social and behavioral sciences: Economics; geography; history; home economics; political science; psychology; sociology, anthropology and social work.

The Division of Extension and Continuing Education is an integral part of the academic structure.

Enrollment and Staff

There were 12,177 students enrolled in university credit courses through the University of Northern Iowa in the fall of 1982, including 10,988 on-campus students and 1,189 enrolled for credit through extension and correspondence courses. The majority of the students are residents of Iowa.

The full-time equivalent positions in 1982 number 600 instructional and institutional officials, 230 professional and scientific staffers and 699 general service staff members.

The teaching faculty is composed of three percent instructors, 38 percent assistant professors, 32 percent associate professors, and 27 percent professors. More than 69 percent of those faculty tenure track positions have the doctor's degree.

The Malcom Price Laboratory School at UNI offers work from preschool through 12th grade, with 628 students enrolled during 1982-83. It provides an excellent facility where students in the teacher education program may observe and participate in classroom activities. The school is also a laboratory for research and experimentation in teaching techniques and materials.

Undergraduate Education

Although teacher education remains an important program, the university offers degrees to students majoring in a wide variety of subjects. Basic differences between curricula in teacher education and those in liberal arts and the vocational-technical areas is that the latter curricula do not require the work in professional education courses and student teaching needed for teacher certification. Teacher education programs require 130 semester hours for graduation, with 124 semester hours required for the liberal and vocational arts bachelor of arts degrees.

The bachelor of technology degree allows the student a choice of major in one of five areas: technical institute education, trade and industrial education, industrial technology, construction technology, or power and energy technology. The degree programs vary from 127 to 133 hours and several require at least one year of recent and significant technical or trade experience in industry in addition to the course work.

The bachelor of music degree allows students the choice of an educational major or two professional majors. The music education major carries certification to teach in grades K-12. The performance major, with emphases in voice, piano, organ and band-orchestral instruments, and the theory-composition major are professional programs designed to prepare students for careers as artists-performers or composers or for entrance to graduate schools where further excellence in a performance area might be pursued. Each major requires a total of 130 semester hours.

The bachelor of fine arts degree is available with a major in art or in music theater. The music theater major is an interdisciplinary program requiring core courses from the music and theatre departments. A total of 130 semester hours is required for the degree. The art program under this degree is designed to provide professional career training in all studio areas and requires a minimum of 75 semester hours of work in art. Graduates of the music theater program could qualify for professional careers in music theater and, upon completion of the requirements for the music education major under the bachelor of music degree, could qualify for directorial positions in the public schools.

The bachelor of liberal studies degree is an external degree that provides baccalaureate educational opportunities to those who cannot attend college as full-time, on-campus students. Each of the three Iowa Regents universities offers the degree with the same curriculum requirements. Formal admission to the program requires an associate of arts or an associate of science degree from an accredited two-year college, or at least 62 semester hours of college work acceptable for credit toward graduation at one of the three Iowa Regents universities with a grade average of at least 2.00.

The university seeks to guarantee a reasonable breadth of learning in each of its graduates with a requirement in general education. The general education program of 40 semester hours is flexible in structure and consists of a wide and diverse selection of work in areas such as humanities, social sciences, mathematics, science, psychology, physical education and communication skills. Most of the courses in this program are required of each student unless he or she can demonstrate adequate competency in the area.

In addition to the degree programs, UNI offers several pre-professional and joint programs in cooperation with other institutions. Pre-professional work is available in medicine, dentistry, physical therapy, engineering, and a two-year nursing program with the University of Iowa. Joint programs include the Freshman Academic Program with Allen Memorial School of Nursing, Waterloo, and a Medical Technology program, with Allen and Schoitz School of Medical Technology, Waterloo, in which the first three years are offered at UNI.

Graduate Education

The university offers eight graduate degrees: the master of arts, the master of arts in education, master of business administration, master of music, the specialist, the specialist in education, the doctor of industrial technology, and the doctor of education. A cooperative doctoral program in educational administration is also available and may be started at the University of Northern Iowa and completed at the University of Iowa.

A number of curricula leading to the master of arts degree are available to provide graduate training for classroom teachers in the elementary and secondary schools and the junior colleges, or for those interested in additional education who do not plan to teach. The following curricula are available: art, audiology, biology, business education, chemistry, communications media, counseling, earth science, English, English linguistics, French, geography, German history, home economics, industrial arts, library science, mathematics, mathematics for elementary and middle schools, music, music education, physical education, physics, political science, school business management, science, science education, social science, sociology, Spanish, speech, speech pathology, technology, teaching English to speakers of other languages (TESOL), TESOL/modern languages, and two languages (French/German, Spanish/French, and German/Spanish). The program is highly flexible, with the specific curriculum for each student prescribed by the student's undergraduate background, experience and future plans.

The master of arts in education degree is awarded for the satisfactory completion of the graduate curricula in early childhood education, educational media, general educational psychology, school psychology, teaching, education of the gifted, elementary education, middle school/junior high school education, developmental reading and language arts-elementary, developmental reading-secondary, remedial reading, secondary principalship, elementary principalship, elementary supervision, school business management, special education, elementary guidance and counseling, secondary guidance and counseling, and college student personnel services.

The master of music degree may be earned in four areas: composition, music history, conducting and performance. The degree is designed to prepare students for a college or secondary school teaching career, a performance career as a professional musician, conductor or composer, or further graduate work at the doctoral level. A master of music degree requires 30 semester hours. Completion of a thesis is required for the music history major.

The master of business administration degree provides a broad, integrated program with emphasis in the functional areas of business and on selected, specialized techniques in order to provide a balance between theoretical knowledge and practical business operations. The M.B.A. curriculum is designed to meet the needs of students with undergraduate backgrounds in liberal arts, technical sciences or engineering, as well as those with business degrees.

The specialist and specialist in education degrees require a minimum of two years of graduate study and are designed for such specialists in the fields of science education, education as school principals and superintendents, curriculum coordinators and consultants, education and school psychologists, reading clinicians, school business managers, guidance counselors, supervisors of industrial arts and business education, and professionals in the field of college student personnel services. The programs are open to students who have the master's degree and, for the Specialist in Education degree, at least one year of teaching experience.

The doctor of industrial technology degree is designed to develop scholars in the field of education and industry. The degree program requires a minimum of 64 semester hours of post-master's degree work, including a dissertation and a scholarly paper suitable for publication. The DIT program prepares students for careers as teachers, supervisors and/or consultants in industrial arts, trade and industrial education, technical institute education, and industrial technology at all levels of education, as well as administrators, researchers and research coordinators in both education and industry, and as coordinators and directors of industrial training programs.

The doctor of education degree program requires a minimum of 60 semester hours beyond the master's degree. In addition to study in foundational areas in education (including research tools), students may specialize in one of six areas: curriculum and instruction, educational and administration, educational counseling, reading, school psychology and special education. This program is designed to prepare scholar practitioners in education for roles such as teacher, administrator, counselor, supervisor and curriculum coordinator.

Service Responsibilities

The university has a legislative charge to provide public services to assist in the cultural, economic and social development of Iowa residents. The University continuing Education and Special Programs office works cooperatively with the university staff in providing services to the public schools, business and industry, and other community and professional groups through a variety of programs.

Members of the university faculty can be made available to share their expertise with various publics and provide consultant services throughout the state. Workshops and conferences are organized for business and industrial groups, and special non-credit courses and those granting continuing education units are offered.

Included in the division are consultative services, extension-credit work, non-credit classes, correspondence and independent study, conferences and workshops and publications. The division is a focal agency in assisting with the development and coordination of continuing education programs held on campus for various age level groups, including many high school level activities. A number of educational service publications are available through this office.

The university owns and operates two non-commercial, listener-supported FM radio stations, KUNI and KHKE. Operated by the broadcasting services department, KUNI (FM-91) operates with a power of 100,000 watts, transmitting from a 2,000 ft. tower centrally located in eastern Iowa, with translators in the Quad Cities and Dubuque, while KHKE (89.5 FM) transmits from a 400 ft. tower located in Waterloo at a power of 10,000 watts. Programs are also prepared and distributed by tape and network connections to stations across the state and nation.

The University of Northern Iowa Center for Urban Education is part of the Educational Opportunity Program and works closely with the various departments of the university. It is designed to increase the educational opportunities of the disadvantaged of all ages. Programs offering opportunities to prepare teachers and others to work in urban areas are offered at the center, which is located in the heart of Waterloo, Iowa.

Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School

Vinton

Richard M. DeMott, Superintendent

The Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School opened in Iowa City on April 5, 1853, under state support. Nine years later (August 1862), the school was moved to its present location in Vinton.

The Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School is an educational facility which offers a fully accredited and approved educational program for partially-sighted and totally blind boys and girls from preschool through high school. Counseling parents of preschool and school-age children is part of the program offered. The school works closely with the Department of Public Instruction and the area education agencies to offer assistance in locating or obtaining special materials, locate other placement within the state for visually impaired children and provide educational evaluations and consultation.

A modern curriculum includes ungraded multi-level instruction. In addition to academic subjects, special emphasis is placed upon pre-vocational preparation, physical education and instruction in orientation and mobility, including the use of the long cane for travel. Students are prepared for college entrance, vocational school entrance, further training at the Commission for the Blind, direct post-school employment or other appropriate adult services.

A special instructional program meets the needs of pupils with partial vision, in addition to the program for blind children. Students in this program use large-type materials as their basic reading medium. Specialized technology and devices such as closed circuit television, as a reading device, optical-to-tactile converters or low vision aids are available.

Individualized instruction is made possible both by continuous progress curriculum and a very favorable teacher-pupil ratio.

A full social program under the direction of trained and experienced personnel, extracurricular activities, therapeutic recreation and music round out the program.

In addition to the Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter vacations, a home weekend program is in operation at the school. Each student returns to his/her home on alternate weekends throughout the year. Parents are encouraged to visit school as often as possible and to have their children return home on weekends.

Supported by appropriations made by the state legislature, the school is governed by the State Board of Regents. No charges are made for room, board, laundry, tuition or books. In addition to the regular school term, a summer school program is offered. This program is designed for instruction in orientation and mobility and enrichment activities. Blind or partially-sighted children who are not enrolled at the school for the regular term may attend the summer program.

Tours of the facility are conducted on selected weekdays. For further information write the superintendent.

Iowa School for the Deaf

Council Bluffs

C. Joseph Giangreco, Ed.D., Superintendent

The Iowa School for the Deaf is located on a beautiful, 120-acre campus, three and one-half miles south of Council Bluffs on Highway 275. It is a state, tax-supported school, open to all students in Iowa under 21 years of age whose hearing loss is too great for them to get along satisfactorily in a regular public school. It is governed by the State Board of Regents. The school's educational program is designed to develop the whole child with a well-balanced program in academic, vocational, physical and social education.

No charge is made to residents of Iowa for room, board, laundry, tuition, school supplies, transportation and limited medical and dental care.

The Iowa School for the Deaf works closely with the state vocational rehabilitation division to help place students in industry, college and advanced trade schools upon completion of the school's curriculum. In short, the Iowa School for the Deaf aims to prepare, to the best of its ability, all the children entrusted to its care to live successfully, happily and effectively in today's world.

Area Education Agencies

Iowa State Department of Public Instruction

Regional education in Iowa took a step forward in 1974 when legislation transformed the 79 county or joint county school systems into 15 Area Education Agencies, sharing common boundaries with Iowa's 15 area vocational technical schools and community colleges. In 1982 the legislature allowed for the area education agency boundaries to be different than those of the community colleges and vocational technical schools.

The move to establish the agencies was the culmination of some six years of legislative consideration. Originally, the intent was simply to eliminate county boards of education as tax bodies. However, as the educational services provided by county and joint county school systems were reviewed, it became increasingly evident that they had to be continued. Instead, the need was established for an intermediate educational service agency and for equalized financial support for each child. Following are the significant features of the area education agencies.

GOVERNANCE: The area boards were elected from the same director districts governing area vocational technical schools and community colleges. In 1982 the same act that allowed for differing boundaries provided for director districts to be different. Elections are determined by a convention of local boards of education which appoint representatives from each of the director's subdistricts.

Each board employs an area administrator, a director of special education and any other necessary staff. It prepares plans for providing intermediate services which are approved by the Department of Public Instruction.

The new area education agencies began serving the 15 regions—including 450 local school districts in 99 counties—on July 1, 1975. By July 1, 1982, school district reorganization reduced the number of kindergarten through twelfth grade districts to 441.

SERVICES: Area education agencies are required to provide instructional and supportive special education and educational media services. They may provide in-service training, educational data processing, research and educational planning, auxiliary services and other educational programs and services upon written request of 60 percent of the school districts served or districts representing 60 percent of the school population.

FINANCING: Local school districts must be involved in a plan to provide special education instruction and supportive programs for all pupils needing such services. Once this program and budget are approved by the State Board of Public Instruction, costs are spread to all local school districts on a per-pupil basis, with local districts providing special education instructional programs and the area agencies providing support programs.

Students in a regular curriculum are assigned a weighting of one, with special education students assigned the following weighted factors: enrollment in resources rooms (1.7); self-contained rooms (2.2); severely handicapped (3.8).

The educational service provided by the media center is determined by state guidelines and according to state approval. The cost is assessed on a per-pupil basis to all students in each area, varying from $16 to $17. An additional $18 to $21 per pupil has been approved by the State Board of Public Instruction to offer other educational services.

Federal and state programs are funded separately and provided by the area agencies. Additionally, local school districts may contract independently with the area agencies and provide financing for service. While there is approximately $36 to $39 in 1982-83 and $38-$40 in 1983-84 per pupil for media and all other educational services, the funding for special education is considered open-ended. Support is much greater at $87 to $107 per pupil.

HISTORY: In 1858, Iowa joined the states with three-level systems of school governance with the creation of the position of county administrator. The administrator, elected by popular vote for two years, was the educational leader and supervisor of all county schools.

The law was amended in 1913 to provide for a county superintendent and a six-member county board of education elected for three-year terms. The county superintendent, responsible for services to local schools and students, was appointed for three years. Those services were financed with an independent budget provided by a separate mill levy.

The law was amended in 1957 to permit two or more adjacent counties to jointly employ an administrative head and provide joint services. A second amendment in 1965 permitted the merging of two or more adjacent county systems into one joint system with one administrative unit.

During the same legislative session, the provision for not more than 20 area vocational schools or community colleges was passed. A network of 15 area schools (13 community colleges and two vocational-technical schools) now serves all Iowa.

There were 99 county superintendents in Iowa prior to 1957. That number was gradually reduced to 52, employed by three types of school systems: 24 served single counties; 18 served 45 counties with joint employment agreements; and 10 served 30 counties with joint (merged) systems. Those 10 served half the children in Iowa.

Education Branch

CHARLES R. MOENCH, director, Area Schools Division

JAMES D. ATHEN, director, Career Education Division

ROBERT YEAGER, chief, Fiscal Control

The Iowa 61st General Assembly, in 1965, approved legislation permitting the development of a state-wide system of post-secondary educational institutions operated under the direction of the State Board of Public Instruction. These institutions were officially designated as area schools and were to be organized by merged areas which included two or more counties. The boards of education of county school systems were authorized to plan for the merger of county school systems, or parts thereof, to develop a merged area. Each merged area was required to have a minimum of 4,000 public and private pupils in grades nine through 12.

The merged areas were authorized to develop area schools as either area community colleges or area vocational schools. The statement of policy contained in the original enabling legislation and amended in 1967 by the 62nd General Assembly identified the following categories as appropriate educational opportunities and services to be provided by the area schools:

1. The first two years of college work including pre-professional education. (This does not apply to those merged areas that organized as area vocational schools.)
2. Vocational and technical training.
3. Programs for in-service training and retraining of workers.
4. Programs for high school completion for students of post-high school age.
5. Programs for all students of high school age who may best serve themselves by enrolling for vocational and technical training while also enrolled in a local high school, public or private.
6. Student personnel services.
7. Community services.
8. Vocational education for persons who have academic, socio-economic or other handicaps which prevent succeeding in regular vocational education programs.
9. Training, retraining and all necessary preparation for productive employment of all citizens.
10. Vocational and technical training for persons who are not enrolled in a high school and who have not completed high school.

The provision for funding of area schools was provided through a combination of federal, state and local funds and student tuitions. These funds now include a local tax of 20¢ cents per $1,000 of assessed value on property within the merged area for operational funds and an additional tax not exceeding 20¢ cents per $1,000 of assessed value for the purchase of sites and construction of buildings. The levy for sites and construction must be approved by the voters in the merged area for a period not to exceed 10 years. General state aid in recent years has been distributed to area schools on the basis of line item appropriations by the General Assembly. The individual area school has the authority to establish tuition. Tuition for residents of Iowa, however, is not to exceed the lowest tuition rate per semester, or the equivalent, charged by the three state universities.

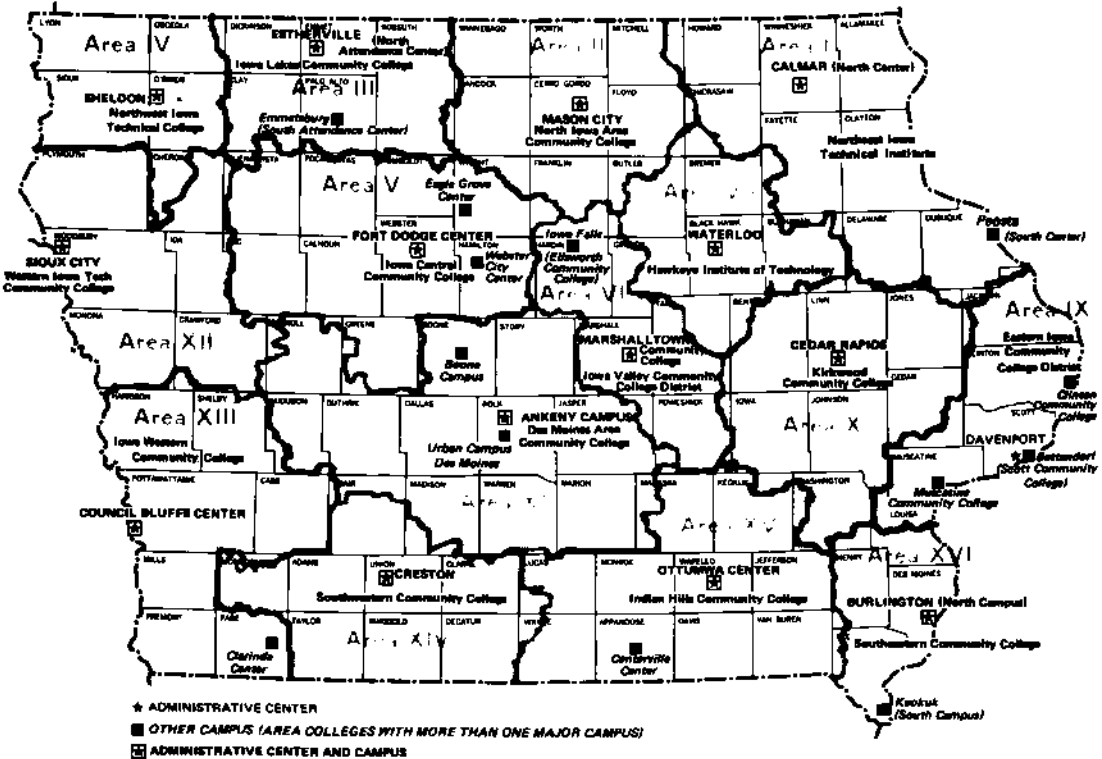

There are currently 15 area schools in operation. The merged areas of these 15 area schools include all of the 99 counties in Iowa. Cherokee County, the last county to remain outside of the merged area system, joined the system during the spring of 1971. Thirteen of the area schools have been organized as area community colleges and two have been organized as area vocational schools. All 15 area schools are approved by the State Board of Public Instruction and by the State Board of Regents.

The legislation permitting the development of the area schools provided a procedure whereby the public junior colleges operated by local public school districts could be integrated into area schools. There were 16 public junior colleges operating in Iowa at the time the area schools were organized. One or more of these public junior colleges had operated since 1918 when the first public junior college in Iowa, Mason City Junior College, was organized. As the area schools were organized, all of the 16 public junior colleges merged with these new institutions. Emmetsburg Community College, the last of the public junior colleges to merge with an area school, joined with merged Area III—Iowa Lakes Community College—on July 1, 1970.

Nine of the area schools have developed as multi-campus institutions. Eight of these area schools merged with existing public junior colleges and five of the nine have also developed additional attendance centers more convenient to large population centers. A total of 27 major campuses are now operated by area schools with additional programs located on numerous smaller, satellite attendance centers throughout the merged areas.

Area schools offer a wide variety of instructional services depending on local needs in the individual merged area. The services are offered through the three major instructional divisions of adult education, career education and college-parallel education, and include high school completion courses for adults, continuing and general education courses of general interest to adults, supplementary career courses for employed individuals who are in need of occupational upgrading, preparatory career programs to prepare individuals for immediate employment opportunities, college parallel programs that are the equivalent of the first two years of a four-year college program, and specialized programs for the handicapped and disadvantaged.

Enrollment for all area schools during the 1982 fall term was 41,313. This enrollment includes most of the full-time enrollment of area schools and is comparable to enrollments reported by other post-secondary educational institutions. Total enrollment for the 1981-82 school year, including adult education registrations (subject to some duplication), was 468,353. The total full-time equivalent of all students in area schools during the 1981-82 school year was 54,616.42.

History of Iowa

Revised, in part, by William Silag, Division of the State Historical Society (1983).

The Earliest Settlers

Long before the coming of the white man, Indians roamed the land that is now Iowa. Frequently referred to as Mound Builders, these early inhabitants are best commemorated in the Effigy Mounds National Monument above McGregor. Iowa archeologist Dr. Charles R. Keyes identified at least six different prehistoric cultures—the Algonquin, Hopewell, Oneota, Mill Creek, Effigy Mound and Glenwood. The Algonquin culture was found over nine-tenths of Iowa, while the other five were more localized—the Hopewell, Oneota and Mound Builders largely in eastern Iowa, the Glenwood in southwestern Iowa and the Mill Creek in northwest Iowa. Evidence of their presence in Iowa is recorded in village sites, caves and rock shelters, shell heaps, mounds, burial sites, trails, spirit places, rock carvings and paintings, stone dams or fish traps, flint and hematite quarries, caches, workshops and enclosures.

The Indians who roamed Iowa in historic times knew little or nothing about these ancient people. Almost a score of tribes belonging to three different linguistic stocks have been associated with the Iowa country since the advent of the white man. The Ioway, Winnebago, Osage, Oto, Missouri, Omaha, Ponca, Sisseton and Wahpeton were tribes belonging to the Dakota or Siouan linguistic stock or family. They are commonly referred to as Plains Indians. Their bitter enemies were the Woodland or canoe people—members of the Sauk, Mesquakie (Fox), Mascoutin, Illinois, Chippewa (Ojibway), Miami, Ottawa and Potawatomi tribes. These were members of the Algonquin Linguistic Stock or Family. The Iriquoian stock is only remotely associated with Iowa, being mainly responsible for driving other tribes from the Michigan, Ohio and Indiana areas across the Mississippi and into Iowa.

The French in Iowa

The written history of Iowa begins on June 17, 1673, when Louis Joliet and Father Jacques Marquette and their five rugged voyageurs paddled out of the Wisconsin River and into the Mississippi opposite present-day McGregor. Eight days later, on June 25, Joliet and Marquette met the Illinois Indians near the mouth of the Iowa River. It was the first meeting between the white man and the Indian on Iowa soil.

The French lost no time in exploring the vast wilderness drained by the Mississippi and its tributaries. In 1680, LaSalle sent an expedition under Michel Aco to discover the headwaters of the Mississippi. Aco and his two companions, Father Louis Hennepin and Pere Antoine, were captured by the Sioux Indians above the mouth of the Wisconsin River; however, after their release, they fled down the Mississippi. Another Frenchman, Nicholas Perrot, taught the Miami Indians how to mine lead in the Galena-Dubuque area. He also hunted buffalo with them in Iowa. Perrot was the first white man to meet and describe the Ioway Indians. Louis-Armand Lahotan and Charles LeSueur left records of their exploits, and Guillaume Delisle located Ioway Indian villages on Lake Okoboji and on the Big Sioux River. The expedition of Nicholas Joseph des Noyelles with 80 French soldiers and his Indian allies against the Sauk and Mesquakie Indians ended in a pitched battle at the Raccoon Fork of the Des Moines River on April 19, 1735.

The Spanish in Iowa

The Spanish period covers a scant four decades from 1762 to 1800. Jonathan Carver and Peter Pond, two Connecticut Yankees who visited northeast Iowa in 1766 and 1773 respectively, were the first explorers to appear during the Spanish regime. Jean Marie Cardinal mined lead in the Dubuque area during the Revolutionary War and may have lost his life in the defense of St. Louis. Thereafter, Spain assumed control of the territory and made three land grants in Iowa—to Julien Dubuque in 1796, to Louis Honore Tesson in 1799, and to Basil Giard in 1800. Dubuque was the only permanent settler in the Spanish period, living at the mouth of Catfish Creek from 1788 until his death in 1810.

Pre-territorial Iowa

Exploration of the Iowa country followed the acquisition of the Louisiana Purchase in 1803. Meriwether Lewis and William Clark traveled up the Missouri River in 1804, requiring 33 days to pass along the western border of what is now Iowa. Sgt. Charles Floyd, the only man to die on this expedition, was buried at the present site of Sioux City. In 1805, Zebulon M. Pike ascended the Upper Mississippi and recommended the present site of Burlington and the bluffs below McGregor as suitable locations for army posts. Subsequent explorers established a number of forts along the Mississippi. Fort Madison, the first American fort in Iowa, was erected in 1808 but was evacuated and burned in 1813. Fort Edwards, located opposite the mouth of the Des Moines River, was erected in 1815. Fort Armstrong was erected on Rock Island in 1816, and Fort Crawford at Prairie du Chien the same year. Fort Des Moines No. 1 was built on the present site of Montrose by Col. Stephen Watts Kearny in 1834. Fort Atkinson, Fort Dodge, Fort Des Moines No. 2, Fort Sanford and Fort Croghan are other military establishments associated with early Iowa history.

Such forts served as defense posts and as destination points for travelers into the Iowa country, including expeditions led by Missouri River fur trader Manuel Lisa and by noted artist George Catlin, who spent eight years painting pictures of Indians on the upper Mississippi and Missouri frontiers. Some of these travelers came by land, others by water; the Western Engineer made the first steamboat voyage up the Missouri as far as present-day Council Bluffs in 1819, while the Virginia ascended the Mississippi to Fort Snelling in 1823. Several adventurers, such as Giacomo Beltrami and Father Pierre-Jean De Smet, left eyewitness accounts of the area in pre-territorial days. Perhaps the most important of these is the account written by Lt. Albert Miller Lea, whose Notes on the Wisconsin Territory: Particularly with Reference to the Iowa District, or Black Hawk Purchase, appeared in 1836. Lt. Lea had been Col. Kearny's assistant and second in command on a dragoon expedition through the Indian country west of the Mississippi River in 1835. His little book described the prairie landscape in enthusiastic terms and also supplied the territory with its name, taken from the Iowa River which transected it. Lea's was just the first of a succession of publications describing Iowa's natural resources and its future potential. Similar books and pamphlets were written by John Plumbe Jr., Isaac Galland, John B. Newhall, and dozens of others; each helped focus the attention of prospective settlers on the beautiful country west of the Mississippi.

This publicity heightened public interest in Iowa, most of which had been originally designated as Indian territory. Already, however, significant steps had been taken to open the land for general settlement. A series of treaties with various Indian tribes had by the early 1830s weakened the tribes' hold on the territory. The turning point came in September 1832 with the signing of the Black Hawk Purchase Treaty, by the terms of which the Sauk and Mesquakie tribes ceded to the United States an area of 8,360 square miles in eastern Iowa. The treaty required the removal of the tribes by June 1, 1833, thus clearing away the principal obstacle to permanent white settlement in the Iowa country. Attached briefly to Michigan Territory for purposes of government in 1834, the land became part of the newly created Wisconsin Territory in 1836. That same year, the first federal census taken in the area showed that 10,531 white inhabitants already resided in the area of the Black Hawk Purchase, just three years after the Indian removal.

Today the Mesquakies survive as the principal Indian tribe in Iowa. Part of the Algonquin family, the Mesquakies once lived on the Atlantic coast, then moved westward through New York and Canada and on to Wisconsin. In the early fur trading days, the tribe formed an alliance with their kinsmen, the Sauks. The fur traders referred to the Mesquakies as the Reynards or Foxes; their name means "people of the red earth." In the mid-19th century, they lived along the Mississippi River but later migrated into the valley of the Des Moines. Their settlement is now in Tama County.

The Territory Becomes a State

On July 4, 1838, the U.S. Congress established the Territory of Iowa. President Martin Van Buren appointed Robert Lucas governor of the new territory, which had 22 counties and 23,242 persons. Since the Indian removal from eastern Iowa in 1833, a number of schools, churches and seminaries had been organized by white settlers in the recently vacated Indian lands. The first church in Iowa was erected by the Methodists at Dubuque in 1834. By 1838, the Baptists, Congregationalists, Quakers, Presbyterians and Roman Catholics had established churches. In addition, several newspapers and a bank served the territory's pioneer residents, and in 1836 public land surveys began.

With the advent of territorial status, all aspects of social and economic development accelerated. Land offices opened in Dubuque and Burlington, Iowa's principal population centers in those early years. Burlington also served as the territory's political capital for a brief period, until Lucas undertook the transfer of the territorial offices to Iowa City. In December 1842, the governor and the territorial legislature moved into new quarters in the Stone Capitol on the east bank of the Iowa River. Iowa City would remain the hub of Iowa politics until the state constitution of 1857 moved the Capitol to Des Moines.

The Territory of Iowa had scarcely been established when a clamor arose for statehood. In 1844, a constitution was adopted featuring low salaries for state officials, limited state indebtedness and restrictions on banks and corporations. The U.S. Congress refused to accept the boundaries requested by the people of Iowa in 1844, and they in turn rejected those proposed by Congress. A new constitution with the present-day boundaries (embracing 56,147 square miles) was adopted in 1846. Admitted to the Union on Dec. 28, 1846, Iowa was the first free state formed within the territory of the original Louisiana Purchase.

Parties and Politics in Iowa History

Democrats dominated state politics between 1846 and 1854. Ansel Briggs was elected the first governor, and Augustus Caesar Dodge and George Wallace Jones were named U.S. senators. A steady flow of northern immigrants during the 1850s, coupled with the successful campaign of the dynamic James W. Grimes in 1854, swept the Whigs into office. Two years later, Grimes founded the Republican Party in Iowa. Subsequently, Dodge and Jones were defeated, the constitution of 1857 was adopted, and the Capitol was moved from Iowa City to Des Moines. Ralph R. Lowe became the first Republican governor in 1858. In the next 122 years, only five Democrats—Horace Boies (1890-94), Clyde Herring (1933-37), Nelson Kraschel (1937-39), Herschel Loveless (1957-61) and Harold E. Hughes (1963-69)—have served as governor of Iowa. Republicans also dominate the ranks of the U.S. senators and representatives that Iowa voters have sent to the nation's Capitol.

A variety of factors explain Iowa's long-term adherence to Republicanism, most of them dating back to the party's founding in the era of the Civil War. The principles espoused by the Republicans in the 1850s—free soil, free labor, free men—proved compelling to Iowa pioneers intent on developing the bountiful resources of the newly settled territory. While antebellum Democrats foundered amidst charges of favoring slaveholders' privileges over homesteaders' rights, the Republicans forged a powerful ideology that combined the humanism of anti-slavery sentiment with an individualistic doctrine of economic progress.

The Underground Railroad

Prior to the Civil War, Iowa voters demonstrated a greater interest in the Republican Party's economic ideals than in its human rights principles. Iowans rejected the concept of black suffrage in the constitutional referendum of 1857, but the state's commitment to the abolition of slavery is well documented throughout the antebellum period. The most dramatic demonstration of this commitment was the extensive participation of Iowans in the underground railroad. Iowa had many stations in this secret network organized by citizens—many of them Quakers—who actively assisted runaway slaves in reaching Canada and freedom.

Many of these stations still stand. In barns, houses and cellars, devoted men and women found a few hours of rest and security for the black fugitives. One of the best known stations is Salem in Henry County. Its settlers were predominantly Quakers who, at the risk of life and property, befriended the black man. Armed Missourians with baying bloodhounds often rode into the community, close on the trail of the escaping slaves.irate slave owners threatened to shoot or hang those helping the fugitives, and to burn their buildings.

Ruel Daggs, a fire-breathing Missouri planter, lost many slaves by the Salem route and was particularly violent in his threats on participants in the underground railroad. Once he had a cannon planted in front of the Lewelling Stone House, where he claimed his slaves were hidden. Another time he roared into town with a small army and proposed to destroy the village. The unperturbed Quakers refused to be daunted by such threats. Later Daggs brought suit against Elihu Frazer and 18 others for $10,000 for the part they had played in the loss of his "chattels." He valued his adult male slaves at $2,000 each, adult female slaves at $1,000 each, and slave children at $500 each. The value of the number he had lost totaled $9,000, and he added $1,000 to pay for help hired to replace the missing slaves. He had, he said, "casually lost possession" of his slaves and traced them to Salem, where the defendants had helped them to escape. The records do not show the outcome of Daggs' suit, which was brought before a jury on Sept. 19, 1850.

John Brown, the noted abolitionist, had many friends in the underground railroad and was often in Iowa. He visited Tabor, West Liberty and Springdale frequently, and he also came to Grinnell, Des Moines and other Iowa towns on occasion. After his battles in Kansas, he fled into hiding among the Quakers in Iowa. While these men of peace did not condone Brown's violence, they did agree with his anti-slavery stand.

Tabor was Brown's favorite retreat. This was the underground station closest to Iowa's southern border and was used by Brown to drill his followers and to store arms for the fighting ahead. The community also provided refuge for the sick and wounded veterans of the battles in Kansas. Here and elsewhere, Brown came for brief periods of peace in his tumultuous anti-slavery campaign.

The stately old stone Lewelling House still stands in Salem and is open to the public. In its kitchen, furnished as in Civil War days, the stone steps that slaves followed to their hiding place in the cellar may be seen.

Iowa in the Civil War

By Edith Wasson McElroy, Iowa Civil War Centennial Commission

Electoral trends in Iowa prior to the Civil War heralded the rapid rise of Republicanism as the dominant force in public affairs, but it was the victory of the Republican-commanded Union Army in the sectional conflict that assured Iowa's future as virtually a one-party state.

Iowa had not yet celebrated its 15th year of statehood when the Civil War began. The state's population was concentrated along the Mississippi River and across the southern and central areas of the state. Of a total population of 675,000 people, about 116,000 men were subjected to military duty. Iowa contributed proportionately more men to Civil War military service than did any other state, north or south. It sent more than 75,000 volunteers to the armed forces, over one-sixth of whom were in their graves before Appomattox. Forty-eight infantry regiments, nine cavalry regiments and four batteries of artillery were organized during the four years of fighting. Almost half of the eligible male population in Iowa bore arms, a record that has never been exceeded in any war since.

Iowa had several brigadier generals and four major generals—Grenville Mellen Dodge, Samuel B. Curtis, Francis J. Herron and Frederick Steele. Many Iowa generals went on to state and national prominence following the war.

Iowa troops fought at Wilson's Creek in Missouri, Pea Ridge in Arkansas, Forts Henry and Donelson, Shiloh, Chattanooga, Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge and Rossville Gap. They were at Vicksburg, Iuka and Corinth. They were with the Army of the Potomac in Virginia and fought under Sheridan in the Shenandoah Valley. They were buried at Andersonville. They marched on Gen. Nathaniel Banks' ill-starred expedition to the Red River. They marched and countermarched, skirmished and fought across most Southern states. Twenty-seven Iowans won the Congressional Medal of Honor, first awarded in the Civil War.

By special authority of the War Department, the 37th Iowa Volunteer Infantry was made up of men beyond military age. Their average age was 57; more than 100 were in their 60s, a number were 70, and at least one man was past 80. The Graybeards, as they were called, served as prison and provost guards, relieving younger men for active duty. For a time they guarded supply trains. Passing through guerilla territory, one train was attacked. Four men were wounded, two of whom died. When riding atop swaying trains proved too strenuous for their aging bodies, the men returned to prison guard duty.

After Lee's surrender, the weary Graybeards asked to go home. In recommending their discharge, General Willich pointed out that they had given some 1,300 sons and grandsons to the Union blues. On May 24, 1865, the regiment was mustered out at Davenport. It was the only regiment of men beyond the Army's age limit to serve in the Civil War. The regiment had a high reputation as prison guards, being more humane than was common in that day.

Few Iowa soldiers were native-born Iowans. They came from Pennsylvania, New England, New York, Ohio and Indiana. Southern small farmers, unable to compete with the great slaveholders, followed the Mississippi River to Iowa, and their sons wore the Union blue. Many soldiers were immigrants from foreign lands. There was scarcely a state or a nation not represented on Iowa's Civil War roster.

Iowa's First War Governor

From the outset of the Civil War, Gov. Samuel Kirkwood displayed extraordinary leadership in organizing Iowa's contribution to the Union cause. Kirkwood had come to Iowa in 1854, and in 1856 was chosen as a delegate to the convention that organized the new Republican Party in Iowa. From that time on, Kirkwood, the son of a Maryland farmer, remained a pre-eminent figure in Iowa politics, and in 1860 he was elected governor on the Republican ticket.

Difficulties beyond those confronting any other Iowa governor awaited Kirkwood when he journeyed in an old Concord stage, wallowing through snow drifts, to Iowa's new Capitol. Des Moines in 1860 was a shabby frontier town of less than 3,000 inhabitants. The new statehouse was more than a mile away from any hotel, with streets little more than wagon tracks through the swampy river bottom terrain leading up to it. The new governor had no aides, no staff, not even a private secretary. Typewriters were unknown. With the help of friends who volunteered their services, Kirkwood answered the voluminous correspondence that came to his desk by hand.

When the tidal wave of war rolled over the state, Kirkwood was faced with the need to provide equipment and supplies for the thousands of volunteers who poured into the crude camps. In May 1861, the General Assembly approved the issuance of $800,000 worth of bonds, a tremendous sum for those days. Selling the bonds was not so easy. The state was in debt. Taxes were delinquent. The people were impoverished by the financial difficulties of the late '50s. To buy guns, the governor pledged his personal resources. With no guarantee of repayment, the state's banks came to his aid. Private citizens loaned thousands of dollars. Railroads carried soldiers without cost. Farmers gave food. Communities provided uniforms for their companies. Most Democrats, forgetting party animosities, joined with Republicans in advancing the Union cause. Newspapers wrote of little else than the war. Ministers preached that to serve the state was to serve the Lord, and Iowa's young men volunteered by the thousands.

When Kirkwood visited President-elect Lincoln in Springfield, he told him, "Iowa will not be frightened into abandoning its principles." Iowa was excited by the unhappy state of the Union, but would never consent to its dissolution. Dissenters existed, but they were a minority.

On President Lincoln's first call for volunteers, the state's quota of 10 companies was mustered six days before the official date. The second call was filled so promptly that the 2nd Regiment preceded the 1st into the field by a day.

The Mississippi River was a great thoroughway to the South down which Iowa's troops moved by river packet. Naturally, the first camps sprang up along its banks. Communications throughout the state were slow and centralization of training centers was imperative. From three to five days were required for a letter to reach Des Moines from Keokuk. Copies of the Burlington Hawk-Eye were carried from Eddyville to Des Moines, a distance of 75 miles, by pony express.

Volunteers were abundant, but guns were not. On April 29, 1861, Kirkwood wrote to the secretary of war in Washington: "For God's sake send us arms. I ask nothing more but arms and ammunition—we have the men to use them. Three regiments are waiting and 5,000 guns are required at once." Meanwhile, the men drilled with brooms. At Shiloh, Iowa, regiments marched from riverboat to battlefield under enemy fire to load their guns for the first time.

The first camps were bleak and crude, with little thought of sanitation or physical comfort. As the war dragged on, some camps took on a kind of permanence with rude buildings of rough boards. Other camps consisted of rows of tents, which vanished when the troops marched out, only to bloom again when a new contingent arrived.

Military Organization

The regiment was the unit of command, with its colonel named by the governor. Despite the political overtone, the average ability of officers was high. Mistakes in selection were made, but in the field, the unfit officers soon disappeared. A certificate of sobriety was required by the governor from all elected officers; even so, drunkenness as well as incompetency occurred. Permitting the men to elect their officers was not always successful from a military viewpoint. It did have one noteworthy advantage: the elected officer had the respect and liking of his men, an important factor in the volunteer regiments. Few field or staff officers had previous military experience. The Civil War officer learned his trade on the march and on the battlefield. The majority of the officers, high and low, had been community and state leaders before the war. They were sincere and honest men fighting for a cause in which they believed.

The adjutant general's office was, like the governor's, overwhelmed. Soon after Bull Run, Kirkwood appointed Nathaniel B. Baker to the post. Baker was familiar with executive matters. A graduate of Harvard, he studied law in the office of Franklin Pierce. In New Hampshire, his native state, he served as a journalist, clerk of court, member of the legislature, twice speaker of the house and finally governor.

Kirkwood and Baker made a strong team. Both men were highly competent executives with a deep concern for Iowa's troops. Arbitrary rules, mistreatment or arrogance brought quick and vigorous reprimands from the governor and the adjutant general. Baker's conduct in office was so efficient that he was cited by the War Department as the model for the adjutant general.

Internal Dissension

The Peace Democrats (often called "Copperheads" by their political opponents) at first opposed the war on strictly constitutional grounds. Dubuque editor Dennis A. Mahony was one such critic who defended the South's right to secede from the Union. Such outspoken opposition to the Republicans' war effort led to fears within Gov. Samuel Kirkwood's administration that Southern sympathizers in Iowa were conspiring to defeat the Union cause. A secret society, the Knights of the Golden Circle, allegedly engaged in such conspiratorial activities, although the evidence that such an organization even existed remains sketchy at best.

While history records no Civil War battles on Iowa soil, invasion from slave-owning Missouri was a constant threat, as was the danger from the warlike Sioux in the northwestern part of the state. Log stockades were built from Chain-of-Lakes in Emmet County to Sioux City. The Legislature authorized the formation of the Northern Border Brigade, which brought further security to the scattered settlers.

News of the Union defeat at Bull Run brought rejoicing to Missouri secessionists and renewed fears of an invasion of Iowa's southern border counties. Citizens slept with guns at hand and Kirkwood authorized the organization of militia in southeastern Iowa.

When news came on Sunday, Aug. 4, 1861, that a Confederate band numbering anywhere from 500 to 1,500 men was approaching Athens, Mo., across the Des Moines River from Croton, Iowa, Capt. David Moore with Belknap's Rifles and Capt. Sample's cavalry (on foot) set out from Keokuk to meet the enemy. Detachments from the 5th and 6th infantries encamped at Burlington arrived too late. Because the rebels were mounted, a forced march into Missouri was unable to overtake them. Two landmarks of that day still stand—the Benning House on the Missouri side of the river, its wall punctured by a cannon ball, and the Sprouse House on the Iowa side, where the wounded were cared for.

In southwestern Iowa, the first companies to reach the rendezvous of the 4th Iowa Regiment in July 1861 were hurried from Council Bluffs under Col. Grenville Dodge to repel a threatened Confederate invasion in that area.

The final raid into Iowa was made by Missouri guerillas in 1864. A dozen young men rode boldly into Davis County, robbing, murdering and looting. Bloomfield's county fair was in progress and a posse quickly formed. Commanded by Col. James B. Weaver, they rode out, only to find that the raiders had fled across the border.

Iowa's Second War Governor

When Samuel Kirkwood declined to seek a third term as governor in 1864, the Republicans asked William Milo Stone, a lawyer and newspaper publisher from Knoxville, to become the party's standard-bearer in Iowa. Stone was already well known to Iowa voters, having served with distinction in the Union Army for nearly three years.

When Fort Sumter was fired on, Stone raised a company in Knoxville and was elected its captain, even though he was not yet 21. He was wounded at Blue Mills and taken prisoner at Shiloh. After three months' captivity he was chosen as one of the three federal officers paroled by the Confederates to arrange an exchange of prisoners. The mission was unsuccessful; however, and Stone returned to Richmond and surrendered to Confederate authorities. Jefferson Davis was so pleased with his conduct that he sent Stone back to make another try. This time Stone accomplished his mission.

Freed by the Confederates, Stone returned to Knoxville, where he was made colonel of the 22nd Iowa Infantry. Returning to battle, he was wounded at Vicksburg. While recuperating, he was nominated by the Republicans to succeed Kirkwood. Resigning his commission, Stone waged a successful campaign, was elected governor in November 1863, and served as Iowa's governor through the remainder of the war.

Population and Economy in the Post-war Period

Iowa's agricultural economy blossomed in the decades following Appomattox. Trans-state railway lines, promised since territorial days, were finally completed in the late 1860s and 1870s, and commodity markets flourished. The cash value of Iowa farms jumped from $92,435 in 1860 to $3,376,779 in 1880. With the railroads came new settlers; the state's population grew from 674,913 in 1860 to 1,624,615 in 1880, an increase of 140 percent. Many of the newcomers were European immigrants; Iowa's 261,650 foreign-born residents in 1880 constituted 16 percent of its total population.

Not all Iowans farmed, of course. From the earliest years of settlement, the state's cities accounted for a steadily increasing share of its population. By 1900, a full one-quarter of all Iowans lived in cities. Ten years later, the federal census revealed that the number of people in the state's rural areas had begun to decline, while its urban population continued to increase. Nourished by farm-related commerce, such market centers as Des Moines, Davenport and Sioux City attracted newcomers to work in the sizeable manufacturing sector that developed during the later years of the 19th century. Iowa's economy remained agricultural, but by 1900, 53 percent of the state's working people found employment in non-farm occupations.

Politics from the Civil War to World War I

The political dominance of Iowa Republicanism faced few challenges in the years from 1865 to 1917. A succession of Republican governors held fast to the party's identity as the steward of economic progress, and few Iowans were disposed to dispute their leadership in the midst of the commercial prosperity that prevailed throughout most of the period. Critics of the political status quo drew followers primarily in times of economic distress. During the mid-1870s, for example, a sizeable number of Iowa farmers concluded that the Republican defense of free enterprise served mainly to uphold the privileges of business corporations over the public interest. The Granger and Antimonopoly movements of the 1870s began a series of third party efforts to advance the right of the farmer to enjoy a fair return on his labor. Though they never gained a real foothold in state politics, the third party movements caused the periodic—if temporary—desertion of thousands of farmers from the Republican ranks, and thus served as a warning that the state's political leaders had lost touch with an important part of their constituency. Iowa Civil War hero James B. Weaver was twice chosen to head third party tickets as a candidate for the presidency, in 1880 by the Greenback-Labor Party and in 1892 by the People's Party.

More important than third party movements with respect to the actual conduct of public affairs in Iowa was the factionalism that divided the dominant Republican Party in the early 1900s. The spirit of reform that swept the nation at the turn of the century manifested itself in Iowa as a split between conservative ("standpat") and progressive ("insurgent") elements within the structure of the Grand Old Party. Standpat Republicans led by Sen. William Boyd Allison of Dubuque constituted a conservative party establishment dating back to the Civil War era and strongly identified with the railroads and other corporate interests. Progressive insurgents—led by Gov. Albert B. Cummins of Des Moines and, later, by Sen. Jonathan P. Dolliver of Fort Dodge—sought to wrest control of the party machinery from this entrenched elite. The Progressives' political motives are continually debated by Iowa historians, though it would appear that most insurgents had at least some sympathy with such typical progressive reforms as government regulation of interstate commerce, enactment of antitrust legislation and the establishment of a direct primary. Perhaps the clearest statement of the ideals of the state's progressives is the "Iowa Idea," included as a plank in the Republican Party platform of 1901, which states that government powers should be used to maintain the general welfare rather than to advance special interests.

Iowa in World War I

During the years of American involvement in World War I, 114,224 men and women from Iowa served in the armed forces of the United States. These included: 96,726 enlisted men, 4,975 officers, 611 nurses in the Army; 1,044 enlisted men, 30 officers in the Marines; 10,211 enlisted men, 525 officers, 40 nurses, 42 yeomen in the Navy; and 20 cadets at West Point.

Of the men drafted for service, 51.7 percent were farmers or farm laborers. Despite their absence from the state's farms, Iowa's agricultural economy boomed. War disrupted European farm production and expanded the market for American foodstuffs. In Iowa, production of food for export rose to unprecedented levels and brought extraordinary prosperity to the state's economy. Unfortunately, this wartime demand encouraged over-production. With the conclusion of hostilities and the reduction of European demand after 1919, Iowa farmers faced glutted commodity markets and falling prices. By 1920, they were caught in the grip of an economic depression.

Politics in an Era of Depression

The loss of purchasing power among the state's farmers in the post-war years encouraged Iowa's political leaders to seek federal assistance in improving the farmer's economic security. Throughout the 1920s, Iowa's U. S. senators and representatives—including Smith W. Brookhart, Daniel F. Steck and Gilbert N. Haugen—called on the Republican administrations of Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover to help agriculture achieve political equality with urban business and organized labor. More specifically, they hoped to win congressional and presidential approval of a system of farm price supports that would maintain parity between the prices farmers received for their crops and the prices they paid for non-agricultural goods. Frustrated by the failure of the Republicans' national leadership to respond positively to their demands, many state leaders—and the majority of Iowa voters—gave their support to Democratic presidential candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932, rather than to incumbent Herbert Hoover. Hoover, a native of Iowa, was born in West Branch in 1874. As a political leader he was identified more strongly with the nation's urban business interests. A highly successful international career as a mining engineer preceded Hoover's entrance into public service in the years of World War I, when he headed the Committee for Relief in Belgium. After the war, President Warren Harding named Hoover secretary of Commerce. Here he directed a variety of innovative programs aimed at standardization in American manufacturing, coordination of trade association activities and streamlining of relations between business and government agencies. However, these programs had little effect in solving the economic crisis that beset Iowa farmers in the early 1920's. Hoover's ascension to the presidency in 1929 produced no apparent change in this situation. Low prices continued to plague the state's agricultural economy throughout his term in office.

Roosevelt's New Deal agricultural relief agencies provided Iowa farmers with much of the price support they had sought in the 1920s. General satisfaction with this and other aspects of the New Deal farm program led Iowa voters to relinquish their traditional commitment to the Republican Party in the period between 1932-38, Roosevelt's secretary of agriculture—Henry Agard Wallace of Des Moines—provided an important link between the state's farmers and the Democratic administration.

Iowa in World War II

During the years of World War II (1941-45), 262,838 Iowa men and women served in the armed forces of the United States. Nearly three-quarters served in the Army, but Iowans were in the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard. Nearly 8,400 Iowans died in the war.

The war years witnessed great changes in Iowa's agricultural economy, most of them stimulated by the widespread adoption of motor-driven machinery in the early 1940s. The impact of this technological transformation became apparent almost immediately. While in 1940 Iowa had 212,318 farms producing goods valued at $561,836,688, in 1945, the number of farms had declined to 208,934, but output had risen to $1,232,010,705. Gasoline-powered tractors and other motorized farm vehicles enabled Iowa producers to make rapid advances in output despite the manpower reductions caused by war. Continuing demand for such machinery also stimulated the state's industrial sector, as Iowa manufacturers expanded plants and increased employment to take advantage of the new farm implement market.

Iowa in the Korean War

Not long after the close of World War II, Iowans were again called to battle. The Korean War, beginning in June 1950 and continuing through July 1953, saw 70,500 Iowans inducted into the armed forces of the United States.

Iowa Politics Since World War II

The Republican Party resumed its dominance of Iowa politics in the election of 1938 and has continued to command electoral majorities in most subsequent elections. Since the end of World War II, however, there has been an important consolidation of Democratic political forces in the state of Iowa. Beginning with an energetic voter registration campaign in the 1950s, the Democrats' resurgence culminated in impressive electoral victories in gubernatorial and congressional elections in the 1960s and 1970s. As a result, the one-party politics established in the Civil War era has given way to a more competitive two-party structure in recent years. Herschel C. Loveless, Harold E. Hughes and John C. Culver have provided leadership to the revitalized Democratic Party in Iowa.

Iowa in the Vietnam War

Iowans were again called to combat in the Vietnam War, beginning in 1964 and continuing through 1975.

A report compiled by the Iowa Bonus Board in August 1976 revealed that Iowa suffered 860 casualties resulting from hostile action and 524 casualties due to other causes. More than 103,000 Iowa men were engaged in the war. All persons serving in this war did so under the Universal Military Training and Service Act as amended, requiring registration of all males born on or after Aug. 22, 1922. Registration of such persons was required when they reached the age of 18.

Iowa Enters the 1980s

Iowa enters the 1980s with a strong economy and stable population. In 1978, the value of the state's economic output exceeded $31 billion, with nearly $4 billion in farm products and more than $9 billion in manufactured goods. Mining, trade, construction, finance, private and government services and transportation comprised other elements in Iowa's gross state product. Per capita income continued to rise in the 1970s, reaching $9,178 in 1980, up from $3,751, 10 years earlier. Of the 2.9 million people living in Iowa at the time of the 1980 federal census, 57.5 percent lived in urban areas and 42.5 percent lived in rural areas.

Center of State Government

The government of Iowa centers in the venerable golden-domed Capitol, which presides over a constellation of other buildings on its park-like, 93 acres and several buildings or quarters which the state owns or leases in downtown Des Moines. Planned in 1870, the Capitol was designed to house all the state's activities, but they have overflowed into one building after another as the state has grown and its functions have multiplied. Although the Capitol no longer houses all the government, it still is the center of administration, legislation and judicial interpretation.

Rivaling the Capitol for historic interest is the State Historical Building, where library resources and museum exhibits abound and guided tours are conducted. First in volume of employment is the State Office Building, where some 1,347 persons are employed. State employees in other buildings in Des Moines, aside from the Capitol, numbered 820 when the planning commission survey was made.

How Site was Selected

Location of the Capitol on its commanding site resulted from a series of decisions that began almost with statehood. The new state quickly recognized that the Capitol should be farther west than Iowa City, and the 1st General Assembly, in 1846, authorized a commission to select a location. Amidst rivalries, a Jasper County selection was made, and then rejected. In 1854, the 5th General Assembly decreed a location "within two miles of the Raccoon fork of the Des Moines River." The exact spot was chosen when Wilson Alexander Scott gave the state 9½ acres, where the Capitol now stands.

A group of Des Moines citizens built a temporary Capitol (which was later bought by the state), near where the soldiers and sailor's monument now stands. In 1857, Gov. James W. Grimes proclaimed Des Moines to be the capital city, and state papers and functions were transported thither. The temporary Capitol was in use for 30 years, until destroyed by fire, but in the meantime, the permanent Capitol was being planned and built.

The General Assembly, in 1870, established a capitol commission to employ an architect, choose a plan for a building (not to cost more than $1,500,000) and to proceed with the work, but only by using funds available without increasing the tax rate.

The board employed Edward Clark, architect of the capitol extension at Washington, to aid in selecting plans and modifying them to keep the cost within the limits of appropriations. The board also instituted tests to ascertain whether Iowa stone could be found suitable for building. John C. Cochrane and A. H. Piquenard were designated as architects, and a cornerstone was laid on Nov. 23, 1871. A smaller, full-time commission was appointed in 1872. Much of the original stone deteriorated through waterlogging and severe weather, and had to be replaced, and the cornerstone was relaid on Sept. 29, 1873.

Although the building, as planned, could not be constructed for $1,500,000, the Cochrane and Piquenard design was retained and modifications were undertaken. Cochrane resigned in 1872, but Piquenard continued until his death in 1876. He was succeeded by two of his assistants, M.E. Bell and W.F. Hackney. Bell resigned in 1883 to become supervising architect for the Department of the Treasury in Washington, and Hackney continued until completion of the building.

Successive legislatures made appropriations, and the commission built within the limits of the funds appropriated. The building was dedicated in January 1884, when the General Assembly was in session. The governor's and other offices were occupied in 1885. The Supreme Court room was dedicated in 1886.

The building commission made its final report on June 29, 1886. The cost had totaled $2,873,294.59. The audit showed that only $3.77 was unaccounted for in the 15 years. The commission bemoaned that it could not have had another $30,000 to finish the frescoes and build the south and west steps.

In 1902, in order to modernize and repair the building, a third capitol commission was created. While work proceeded, a disastrous fire in the north wing on Jan. 4, 1904, ruined the House chamber and damaged other offices. The commission restored the building, purchased paintings and mosaics and redecorated all of the interior. The original decorations are still in the Senate. These expenditures raised the total cost of the Capitol to $3,296,256.

Design of Capitol

The architectural design of the Capitol, rectangular in form, with great windows and high ceilings, follows the traditional pattern of the 19th century planning for public buildings, a modified and refined Renaissance style which gives the impression of strength and dignity combined with utility.

The commanding feature is the central towering dome. This is constructed of steel and stone and covered with 23 carat gold. The gold leafing was replaced in 1964-65 at a cost of $79,938. The dome is surmounted by a lookout lantern that may be reached by long and winding stairs, and it terminates in a finial that is 275 feet above the ground floor. The rotunda beneath the dome is 67 feet in diameter. Four smaller domes of simple design rise from the four corners of the Capitol. The pediment over the front entrance discloses a fine piece of allegorical sculpture.

Stone for the basement was quarried in Johnson County, Iowa; granite came from Iowa boulders; stone of the main structure from St. Genevieve and Carroll counties, Missouri; steps, columns and other parts from Anamosa, Iowa; Cleveland, Ohio; Sauk Rapids, Minn.; Lamont and Joliet, Ill. Twenty-nine types of imported and domestic marble were used in the interior; and the wood used was nearly all from Iowa forests of walnut, cherry, catalpa, butternut and oak.

As is so often the case with public buildings, visitors are likely to enter on the ground floor, although the majestic approach is up the long hill and stone steps from the parking lots on the west. The ground floor corridors are busy with cafeteria service. Here, visiting groups may stop at the custodian's office to obtain information and to inquire about guide service. There are also information desks on the upper floors.

The beauty, dignity and arrangement of the interior become apparent as the visitor stands under the dome on the first floor. Broad, lofty corridors extend west, north and south. Walls are highly decorated. The grand staircase is to the east. Suites opening from the south corridor are those of the governor, auditor of state and treasurer of state. The Supreme Court and secretary of agriculture's office are to the north, the secretary of state's suite to the west and the attorney general's to the east.

The grand staircase ascends to a landing and divides north and south to bring visitors to the floor above, where the House of Representatives is on the north, the Senate on the south and the law library on the west.

The Senate hall is 58 feet long, 91 feet wide and 41.9 feet in height. It is finished in marble, white oak and scagliola, and is furnished in mahogany. The figures in the ceiling represent Industry, Law, Agriculture, Peace, History and Commerce.

The hall of the House of Representatives is 74 by 91.4 feet, and 47.9 feet in height. It is finished in marble, scagliola and black walnut.

The law library is 108.4 feet long, 52.6 feet wide and 44.9 feet high. It is finished in ash and chestnut and beautifully wainscoted in marble.

The Mural "Westward"

Extending full width of the east wall over the staircase is the great mural painting, "Westward," an idealized representation of the coming of the people who made Iowa. This was completed as part of the 1904 decoration. Edwin H. Blashfield, the artist, wrote of it:

"The main idea of the picture is a symbolical presentation of the Pioneers led by the spirits of Civilization and Enlightenment to the conquest by cultivation of the Great West. Considered pictorially, the canvas shows a prairie schooner drawn by oxen across the prairie. The family ride upon the wagon or walk at its side. Behind them and seen through the growth of stalks at the right, come crowding the other pioneers and later men. In the air and before the wagon are floating four female figures; one holds the shield with the arms of the State of Iowa upon it; one holds a book symbolizing enlightenment; two others carry a basket and scatter the seeds which are symbolical of the change from wilderness to plowed fields and gardens that shall come over the prairie. Behind the wagon and also floating in the air, two female figures hold respectively a model of a stationary steam engine and of an electro dynamo to suggest the forces which come with the later men. In the right hand corner of the picture, melons, pumpkins, etc., among which stand a farmer and a girl, suggest that here is the fringe of cultivation and the beginning of the prairie. At the left a buffalo skull rather emphasizes this suggestion."

On the upper floor level above the "Westward" painting are six mosaics in arched panels depicting Defense, Charities, the Executive, the Legislative, the Judiciary and Education. These were made in Venice from small pieces of colored stone, according to designs by Frederick Dielman of New York, who also designed the mosaic panels, Law and History, in the Congressional Library.

Twelve statues, high within the rotunda, beginning north of the library door, represent History, Science, Law, Fame, Art, Industry, Peace, Commerce, Agriculture, Victory, Truth and Justice.

Eight lunettes, or half-moon-shaped paintings, surrounding the rotunda are the work of Kenyon Cox, famous American artist. They are entitled: Hunting, Herding, Agriculture, the Forge, Commerce, Education, Science, Art. They are allegorical and indicate the progress of civilization.

At the top of the staircase on the south wall is a painting of a basket of corn by Floyd V. Brackney, a native of Marshall County. This picture was the center of the Iowa exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco.

The battle flags carried by the Iowa regiments in various wars are preserved in niches on the main floor—Civil War, 36; Spanish American War, 13; First World War, 26. In the west hall is a plaque done by Nellie V. Walker in commemoration of the work of Iowa women in the fight for civic and political equality. In the south hall is a 26-foot photographic enlargement showing the grand review of the 168th Infantry on the Capitol grounds following its return from France in 1919.

A lofty banner, stretched high under the vault of the dome, is a G.A.R. emblem, painted by Joseph Czizek on the occasion of a Des Moines convention of the Grand Army of the Republic, and retained as a permanent decoration by order of Gov. Nathan Kendall in 1922.

Above the grand stairway, facing the large "Westward," are quotations. On the south side is one by Patrick Henry: "No free government or the blessings of Liberty can be preserved to any people but a firm adherence to Justice, Moderation, Temperance, Frugality and Virtue and by a frequent recurrence to fundamental principles."

On the north side is one by G.W. Curtis: "Courageous confidence in the intelligence of the community is the sure sign of leadership and success."

Underneath it is one by Solon: "The ideal state—that in which an injury done to the least of its citizens is an injury done to all."

Around the rotunda on the frieze above the columns is the famous Abraham Lincoln quotation: "That government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

The Governor's Office

On Jan. 1, 1885, Gov. Buren R. Sherman became the first occupant of the present offices of the governor of Iowa, following dedication of the state Capitol building the year before. Much of the decoration and original furnishings of that day are still preserved in the four-room suite. The large, ornate mahogany table in the center of the reception room is an example. The frescoed ceilings were painted in watercolors on the wet plaster more than 80 years ago.

The governor's private office was moved from the center room to the west office by Gov. Albert B. Cummins in 1902. The governor's desk also was installed at that time and has been used by all subsequent chief executives of Iowa. Gov. Nathan Kendall (1921-25) provided the solid, straightback chairs for visitors. Frescoes of the Great Seal of the state of Iowa and of the Iowa Territorial Seal adorn the ceiling of the governor's private office.

The grandfather clock in the governor's office dates from about 1750 and once was owned by the prominent Iowa author Emerson Hough of Newton (1857-1923). The tall clock in the office of the executive assistant is the original master clock controlling other clocks in the law library, Supreme Court and legislative chambers. Operated by air, the clock must be wound once a week.

The offices are 23 feet 9 inches from floor to ceiling. The draperies are velvet and lined with satin with an underdrapery of semi-sheer fabrics. Lamps in the inner office are of pewter. Prisms of cut Czechoslovakian crystal decorate the chandelier in the reception room. The woodwork was carved in cherry and mahogany by skilled German craftsmen. The hearths and wainscoting are of fine domestic and imported marble. Paintings in the offices are the works of Iowa artists.

Home of Iowa's Governor

Terrace Hill, 2300 Grand Ave., in Des Moines, has been designated by the Iowa General Assembly as the home of Iowa's governors. This mid-Victorian home of red-brick, Italian marble, stained glass, brass, crystal and a variety of woods (including walnut, butternut, oak, French oak, mahogany and rosewood) was built by Benjamin Franklin Allen between 1867 and 1869 in a 30-acre grove of trees on what was then the west edge of Des Moines.

Iowa was then 20 years old, with a population of 7,000. Allen spared no expense in building his dream mansion. It reportedly cost some $250,000 to build and furnish.

Designed by Chicago architect W. W. Boyington, Terrace Hill remains one of the most outstanding examples of Victorian residential architecture in the Midwest. With the exception of the Michigan Avenue Waterworks Tower, most of Boyington's other works were destroyed by the great Chicago fire.

Upon completion of Terrace Hill, the Allens held a combined 15th wedding anniversary and housewarming celebration. The party cost more than $10,000 and was considered one of the most elaborate social events of the time. More than 600 guests from New York, Washington and the Middle West attended. Frederick Marion Hubbell, subsequent owner of Terrace Hill, was among the guests in attendance that evening.

In 1873, Allen left Des Moines for Chicago where he had purchased the controlling interest in the Cook County National Bank. The bank failed in January 1875 and Allen met financial disaster. To settle with his creditors, Allen sold most of his assets, including 22 of the 30 acres of the Terrace Hill tract.

The future of the mansion itself was uncertain until May 1884 when Hubbell managed to purchase the property for $60,000 (a fifth of its original cost).

Terrace Hill

Hubbell loved Terrace Hill and wanted to preserve it. In 1903, at the age of 63, he set up a trust to safeguard his enormous holdings for his heirs. He stipulated that Terrace Hill be maintained as a home for the oldest living male heir in the Hubbell family if that person so desired.

The last family member to live in the spacious 21-room mansion, Mrs. Grover Hubbell, left Terrace Hill in 1957 after the death of her husband. Since then, eligible male descendants have chosen not to live there.

Subsequently, with court approval, the Hubbell heirs were permitted to purchase the home from the family trust and on Aug. 24, 1971, formally presented Terrace Hill to the state of Iowa. That fall, Gov. Robert D. Ray appointed a 35-member commission to make recommendations for the home's use.

Headed by George Mills and later by Dick Graeme, the Terrace Hill Planning Commission recommended that Terrace Hill be used as a governor's residence. The General Assembly approved that recommendation and Ray signed into law on April 18, 1972, an "Act Relating to the Planning for and Conversion of Terrace Hill for Use as Governor's Mansion." The commission appointed William J. Wagner, noted artist of Iowa landmarks, as the official architect with instructions that the land and building comprising Terrace Hill be preserved basically unchanged.

A master plan coordinating eight acres of land—including the carriage house—with Terrace Hill, has been given extensive study and preparation. The Terrace Hill Society, however, was founded for the purpose of raising funds and providing assistance in the restoration and furnishing of this historic home belonging to all Iowans.

Growth of the Capitol Complex

Originally, the whole state government was housed in the Capitol, but departments through the years have outgrown it. There are now 17 state-owned buildings on or adjacent to the capitol grounds, one state owned building housing I.P.B.N. and 10 other buildings in Des Moines in which space is leased.

The first major building to be added to the Capitol group was the state historical building, planned originally in 1896 to house the Aldrich historical collection, but now the home of the State Historical Department and a variety of library and museum functions. Known as the Historical Memorial and Art Building, it is 260 by 110 feet in size, built at the turn of the century and enlarged by an addition in 1908.

The limited area of the Capitol grounds became a major political issue, and the 35th General Assembly in 1913 set up a tax to raise $3,000,000 to purchase lots, buildings and residences to clear the way for expansion to 93½ acres. The land was landscaped, drives were put in and a system of lighting was installed to enhance the beauty of the Capitol.

The six-story-and-basement Lucas office building, 120 by 246 feet in size, was started with an appropriation of $1,650,000 by the 49th General Assembly. The first occupancy was completed when the Department of Public Instruction moved April 24, 1952. Total cost of the building was $4,935,892. A tunnel from the new office building to the statehouse was completed early in 1953 at a cost of $92,841.

The International Harvester Building, on the southwest corner of the Statehouse grounds, was bought in 1945. Total cost including remodeling of its five floors was $541,972. This building now serves as a records and property center.

The Amos Hyatt School building, southeast on the grounds was remodeled for use for the Commerce Commission. After being condemned, the former school building was authorized for demolition.

Purchase of the old Y.M.C.A. building at Fourth Street and Keosauqua Way for $300,000 was authorized by the 58th General Assembly in 1959. This building was remodeled for the Commission for the Blind.

The Iowa Employment Security Commission moved into a new office building in October 1963. The 59th General Assembly in 1961 financed construction in part by the use of non-refundable reserve funds accumulated from taxes paid by Iowa employers to the federal government for administration of the unemployment insurance program. The money, representing 85 percent of the $1.7 million construction cost, will be returned to the Iowa Unemployment Trust Fund over a period of years by amortization grants by the federal government. The remainder of the building cost came from a $75,000 appropriation from the state general funds and from an authorization allowing the use of $225,000 from the Iowa Public Employees' Retirement System for its offices. The new building is at 1000 East Grand Ave. across from the statehouse. Its light gray exterior brick closely resembles the color of the stone walls of the Capitol, and emphasis on the vertical dimension keeps the three-story new building in harmony with the much taller Statehouse.

The contour of the building was modified in 1971 by construction of a three-story addition to house the ever-expanding programs administered by the Iowa Employment Security Commission under the direction of the Manpower Administration.

The state of Iowa purchased the Valley Bank Building for $400,000 on Dec. 14, 1967. In 1980 the building was sold to the city of Des Moines as a part of the project to develop the entire block. The city took possession in January of 1981 and demolished it.

The Iowa Vocational Rehabilitation Center at 1029 Des Moines St. is a division of the State Department of Public Instruction. It was first housed in the old wood-frame governors' mansion. In 1954-55 a brick addition was built. The present structure was begun in 1968 and an addition was added in 1970. A second addition was completed in 1980, now all divisions of Vocational Rehabilitation are under one roof.

The purchase of the Vehicle Dispatchers Building at Fourth and Walnut was authorized by the 64th General Assembly in the amount of $350,880.

The Henry A. Wallace Building, occupying the entire block north of Grand Avenue between Pennsylvania and East Ninth streets, was completed in 1978. This building is sometimes referred to as the Agricultural Building reflecting the important role agriculture plays in contributing to the great vitality of Iowa. The Agriculture Department as well as a number of other agencies also involved in the use of the land are housed in the building. The laboratory facilities provided for the Department of Agriculture, State Hygenics Laboratory and the investigation of crimes are second to none in the entire country. The Herbert Hoover State Office Building was also completed in 1978. This building located south of Walnut between East Thirteenth and East Fourteenth streets, is more of a general office building and also houses the Centralized Data Processing Division. Concurrent with the construction of these two large buildings, a new Central Energy Plant was constructed at the south end of East Thirteenth Street. This facility provides for steam and chilled water for most all buildings on the Capitol Complex through the tunnel system that also serves as pedestrian connections. The first phase of the remodeling of the Lucas Building was completed in 1981. This phase provided for the complete remodeling of the sixth and fifth floors as well as modernizing the mechanical and electrical systems in the building. It also provided availability to the handicapped by remodeling the east entrance into the building as well as installing an elevator that permits handicapped access to the pedestrian tunnel system. When the other floors are remodeled, the Lucas Building will have been brought up to the building standards of the 1980s.

The Capitol Building

Members of the 5th General Assembly, meeting in Iowa City in 1855, determined that the permanent site of a new state Capitol should be within "two miles of the junction of the Des Moines and Raccoon Rivers."

Legislation for the construction of a permanent statehouse was first enacted on April 3, 1868, with final legislative approval given on April 8, 1870. The cornerstone of the Capitol was laid on Sept. 29, 1873. The stone was brought from Buchanan County. Forty items were placed in it including $40.55 in gold and silver coins and a membership list of the Monroe Cornet Band. The building was dedicated in 1884 with construction brought to a close in 1886. The cost was $2,873, 294.50. Expenditures were increased to a total of $3,296,256 by repairs, restoration and redecoration following a fire in the north wing on Jan. 4, 1904.

The statehouse of Iowa is a massive building. It measures 363 feet 8 inches from north to south and 246 feet 11 inches from east to west. Its golden dome rises 275 feet above the ground floor. With a diameter of 80 feet, the golden dome is said to be the largest of its kind in the country and is overlaid with 23 carat gold.

The exterior of the building is entirely of stone, with elaborate columns and handsomely designed cornices and capitals. The substructure is of dark Iowa stone topped by a heavy course of vari-colored granite cut from glacial boulders gathered from Iowa prairies. The superstructure, or main part of the building, is of buff colored sandstone from quarries along the Mississippi River in Missouri. Twenty-nine kinds of marble were used in the finishing of the Statehouse, 22 foreign marbles and domestic marbles from Tennessee, New York and Vermont.

The marble Grand Stairway between the second and third floors is the focal point of the building. Up these steps the chief magistrate of the state is escorted to address the legislative branch of government. Down these steps newly inaugurated governors have led their official parties to begin gala balls in the majestic rotunda.

Around the rotunda, which measures nearly 67 feet in diameter, are four cases of regimental flags of Iowa Civil War companies. Others contain flags carried in the Spanish-American War and World War I.

The Supreme Court occupies the west side of the north corridor. Here, nine justices presently preside over the high court of the state of Iowa.

The Capitol also houses the offices of the governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, attorney general and secretary of agriculture, the state Senate and House of Representatives and the law library. Other offices of state government are found in the Capitol and in the state office building, state historical building and other buildings on and adjacent to the Capitol grounds and in downtown Des Moines.

The original 17 acres of the Capitol site have been expended to approximately 165 acres. Thirty thousand plants, with 150 varieties of flowers, flourish on what will be the world's largest capitol setting when the work of the Capitol Planning Commission is completed.

Striking Monuments

The most striking monument on the Capitol grounds is the granite shaft rising 145 feet, erected to the memory of the soldiers and sailors of the Civil War. The heroic bronze figure "Victory" is predominant, while at the base there are four groups representing different branches of the military or naval service, and numerous historical plaques and medallion portraits of typical soldiers. The original design was by Harriet A. Ketcham, and work was commenced in 1894. A small and appropriate memorial to Christopher Columbus, erected by Iowa citizens of Italian ancestry, stands nearby.

Gen. Grenville Dodge erected a monument honoring Iowa's longtime Sen. William B. Allison. This is an allegorical design of heroic dimensions, depicting civic duties in the public service, and it is encompassed by a flower bed.

West of the Capitol is an impressive bronze statuary group depicting the pioneer. The cannon and mortar on the grounds are of Civil War days. The grave of Wilson A. Scott, one of those who gave the state the Capitol grounds, is near where he lived and is appropriately marked. A bronze cannon taken in the Spanish-American War and the headpiece of the Battleship Iowa are near the historical building. A granite block dedicated to the soldiers of the Spanish-American War also stands on the plaza east of the Capitol.

In 1950, the fine record of Iowa citizens in war bond drives was rewarded with the presentation of a replica of the Liberty Bell, and it is stationed just across the street. Boy Scouts presented a replica in miniature of the Statue of Liberty, and it is erected between Grand Avenue and the parking area east of the Capitol. A stone erected by the W.R.C. in honor of Crocker Post No. 12, Department of Iowa, was set in 1944.

20-Year Building Plan

The 61st General Assembly in 1965 adopted a master plan and guide for the future expansion and development of the Capitol grounds. This was the plan presented by the Capitol Planning Commission, as directed by the 60th General Assembly. It was entitled "Planning for 20 years."

Three steps toward carrying out the plan were taken by the 61st General Assembly, as follows:

1. Adoption of the plan.
2. Authorization for purchase of land by the State Executive Council. The proposed addition to extend east to East Fourteenth Street, north to Des Moines Street and south to the railroad tracks.
3. Appropriation of $3,000,000 for a new state office building. A legislative advisory committee was named to act with the executive council to employ architects, approve plans and let contracts.

The additional land was acquired and construction of the new state office building was begun in 1966 and completed in 1968. The new building was named after James W. Grimes, Iowa's third governor, who went on to the U.S. Senate. The Department of Public Instruction, Merit Employment and several divisions of the Department of General Services presently occupy most of the space in the Grimes Building.

Other proposals of the 20-Year Plan have been accomplished:

Consolidation of the Vocational Rehabilitation Division with new construction completed in 1970.

Razing of the Amos Hyatt Building, the Kasson Building and most of the buildings that were acquired with the acquisition of the additional land.

Continuing landscaping of the Capitol Complex.

The first session of the 65th General Assembly in 1973 appropriated $5,000,000 for an additional office building and $100,000 to develop plans for an additional building to house the Department of Agriculture and consolidate all the state laboratory facilities.

These plans were developed and the second session of the 65th General Assembly appropriated $7,800,000 for the construction of this building. The second session also increased the appropriation for the additional office building to $12,500,000 and appropriated $100,000 to the Capitol Planning Commission for planning a mall, an underground parking garage and a centralized cafeteria.

Building costs inflated at a rapid rate in 1974 and it was necessary for the first session of the 66th General Assembly to appropriate an additional $3,000,000 for the construction of the two new office buildings. There was considerable discussion in regard to naming these buildings and it was decided that the building for the Agricultural Department would be named the Henry A. Wallace Building. The Capitol Planning Commission sponsored a state-wide contest to choose the other name—the Herbert Hoover State Office Building.

Ground was broken for the Henry A. Wallace Building July 24, 1975, and it was completed in 1978. Bids were opened for the Herbert Hoover State Office Building, September 19, 1975. This building was completed early in 1978.

The Capitol Planning Commission developed plans for a new central power plant which was completed and placed in operation in 1978. The power plant plans included a solar energy demonstration project which was completed in 1979.

The present Capitol Planning Commission was appropriated $100,000 by the 68th General Assembly to plan a new State Historical Museum. Site selection and preliminary plans with cost estimates are now completed. Total cost for the project is estimated at $20 million. It is hoped that the building can be funded in 1984 from a combination of legislative appropriation and gifts from the private sector.

The Government of Iowa

The government of the state of Iowa is based upon a constitution adopted by the people and upon statute laws enacted from time to time by the General Assembly.

Iowa has always used the separation of powers doctrine, dividing the governmental authority into its legislative, executive and judicial components. Iowa has had two state constitutions, the first approved in 1846, the second in 1857. Only eight states are now using constitutions adopted prior to the Iowa Constitution of 1857.

The Iowa Constitution's "Bill of Rights," Article I, is one of the best sections of the state constitution. It has been used as a reference guide for the model state constitution written by the National Municipal League and by the framers of the 1948 New Jersey Constitution.

The Electorate — Voter Qualifications — 1. Every citizen of the United States of the age of 18 years or older who is a resident of this state shall be an eligible elector. 2. Every qualified elector of this state shall have only one voting residence. 3. Every citizen of the United States of the age of 18 or older is presumed to have a residence some place in the United States for the purpose of voting for president and vice president of the United States. 4. A person's residence, for voting purposes only, is the place which he declares is his home with the intent to remain there permanently or for a definite or indefinite or undeterminable length of time. 5. Every eligible elector shall be registered pursuant to the provisions of chapter 48 of the Code to qualify to vote in any election. If a person who meets the above requirements moves to a new residence, within or without the state, and does not meet the voter requirements at the new residence, the person may vote at the former precinct in Iowa until voter requirements of the new residence are met. However, a person who has moved to a new residence and fails to register to vote at the new residence after becoming eligible to do so shall not thereafter be entitled to vote at the former precinct in Iowa. NOTE: There is no longer any voter durational residency requirement in Iowa, but a voter must meet the above qualifications. The last day to register to vote for any specific election is 10 days prior to that election. Registration remains open at all times for future elections. Persons convicted of infamous crimes and those declared idiotic or insane are disfranchised.

Election Days — The regular elections for national, state, district and county officers are held on the Tuesday following the first Monday of November of the even numbered years. Candidates, with a few exceptions, are nominated at the primary election held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in June preceding the general election. Provision is also made for nominations by petition or convention. Political parties must use the primary for nominating candidates, but in case no candidate receives the necessary 35 percent of the primary, a convention may nominate. (Sec. 43.52 & 43.65 as amended.)

The regular election date for municipal officers is the first Tuesday following the first Monday of November of the odd-numbered years. If a municipal primary election is necessary it is held on the second Tuesday prior to the regular municipal election.

The property tax is assessed by county and city assessors with the exception of public utilities (such as railroads, gas lines, telephone and telegraph lines) which are assessed by the Department of Revenue. The Department of Revenue assists county and city assessors in the administration and equalization of personal and real property. Numerous other duties are performed by the department, including those defined under Chapters 421 and 441, Code of Iowa.

Budgets Prepared and Submitted

Preparation—All taxing authorities except townships must at least twenty days prior to March 15 of each year prepare a budget of anticipated expenditures and estimated amount to be raised by taxation by funds.

Certification—After a hearing and the local board's decision, budgets are certified to the county auditor not later than March 15. (24.17)

Submitted to State Appeal Board—As soon as taxes are certified by each local board and have been computed by the county auditor, he shall forward a copy of each budget, together with a summary of all budgets to the State Appeal Board.

County Budget—On or before July 31 of each year, each county is required to appropriate in detail anticipated expenditures for every office or department for each and every purpose for which expenditures are authorized or demanded. The budget in detail must be completed and adopted by June 30 of the preceding fiscal year. This procedure is appropriating in detail the budget certified in March by funds.

State—On or before September 1 next prior to each biennial legislative session, all departments and establishments of the government shall transmit to the state comptroller estimates of their expenditure requirements for each fiscal year of the ensuing biennium.

The comptroller shall prepare and file in his office, on or before the first day of December of each even-numbered year, a state budget report.

Not later than February 1 of the year of each biennial legislative session, the governor shall transmit to the legislature a document to be known as a budget, setting forth his financial program for each of the fiscal years of the ensuing biennium.

Origin and Naming of Iowa Counties

Of the two dates given for each county, the first is the date of establishment, when the county was put on the map; the second is when county government was organized and became effective. While population was sparse, an unorganized county might be attached to a neighboring organized county for purposes of administration. As settlement moved west, the Legislature established 50 so-called "paper counties" in 1851, completing the theoretical roster of 99 counties, but in many of them it was a matter of years before county governments were organized. In some instances, the dates are significant of changes in county names or boundaries. This information was collected by LeRoy G. Pratt for his book, The Counties and Courthouses of Iowa.

Iowa Centennial Memorial Foundation

Iowa Statehood Centennial Commemorative Half Dollar

The Iowa Centennial Memorial Foundation was created in 1948 by Gov. Robert D. Blue, to manage the $198,000 collected from the sale of Iowa commemorative half dollars minted during Iowa's centennial year, 1947.

In accordance with Blue's executive order in 1948, the money was invested with half of the earnings added to the capital. The balance of the earnings is used to support scholarships for needy students and to confer the Iowa Award. The fund now stands at more than $350,000. Five hundred, Iowa Centennial, half dollar coins will be sold in 1996 to help celebrate the 150th anniversary of the state. The remaining 500 coins will be sold in 2046 to help finance the state's bicentennial observance.

The Iowa Centennial Memorial Foundation is comprised of the governor, treasurer of state, attorney general, president of the Board of Regents, former governors who have remained residents of Iowa and citizen trustees. The citizen trustees named by Blue in 1948 were: Ralph Evans, Davenport; Mary Humeston, Albia; Helen Mitchell, Council Bluffs; and John M. Henry, Des Moines. Current citizen trustees include: Carl Cacacciatori, Des Moines; Murray Goodman, Des Moines; Mary Louise Smith, Des Moines; S.J. Brownlee, Iowa City.

Iowa Award

The Iowa Award, the state's most prestigious honor, was created in 1951 and is funded and conferred by the Iowa Centennial Memorial Foundation. The award, which is granted approximately every five years, is given to notable persons of Iowa selected by the foundation.

Past Iowa Award recipients include: Herbert Hoover, Jay N. Darling, Drs. James Van Allen and Frank Spedding, Henry A. Wallace, Mamie Eisenhower, Dr. Karl King, Dr. Norman Borlaug and Monsignor Luigi Ligutti.

Pictures of the recipients hang in the reception room in the governor's office.

Use of State Banner by Legislature

The 61st General Assembly, by Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 1, resolved: "That on each day when either the House or Senate convenes that the state banner shall be raised on the flag poles directly over the chambers of either and that the state banner shall be lowered at each time the House or the Senate adjourns for the day."

This usage replaces the prior employment of the U.S. flag for this purpose, which the legislative resolution declared to be improper.

IOWA STATE BANNER

On March 29, 1921, the 39th General Assembly adopted a resolution designating a design for a flag to be known as the "State Banner."

The banner was designed by Mrs. Dixie Cornell Gebhardt of Knoxville and sponsored by the Iowa Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It consists of three vertical stripes of blue, white and red, with the blue stripe nearest the staff and the white stripe in the center depicting a spreading eagle bearing in its beak blue streamers on which is inscribed in white letters the state motto, "Our liberties we prize, and our rights we will maintain." The word "Iowa" in red letters is just below the streamers.

*"Der Tannenbaum," the old air to which this song is sung, was a popular German students' song as early as 1849. It had been a Volks song long before that. During our Civil War, the Southerners adapted it to the song, "My Maryland."

Major S. H. M. Byers, in his day the "poet laureate" of Iowa, wrote the words set to music for this official song for the Hawkeye State.

IOWA'S FLAG SONG

By act of the joint session of the General Assembly of Iowa on March 24, 1949, the Iowa Flag poem, written by E. O. Osborn of Knoxville, and the music written by Esther May Clark of Oskaloosa, were officially adopted as the Iowa Flag Song, in honor of the Iowa flag, designed by Mrs. Dixie Cornell Gebhart of Knoxville.

The Declaration of Independence

In Congress, July 4, 1776

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen United States of America

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation. — We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security. — Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britian is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world. — He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good. — He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them. — He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only. — He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their Public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures. — He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people. — He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative Powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within. — He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands. — He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for the establishing Judiciary Powers. — He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries. — He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our People, and eat out their substance. — He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislature. — He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil Power. — He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their acts of pretended Legislation: — For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us: — For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from Punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States: — For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world: — For imposing taxes on us without our Consent: — For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury; — For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offenses: — For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighbouring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies; — For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Government: — For suspending our own Legislature, and declaring themselves invested with Power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever. — He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us. — He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people. — He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation. — He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands. — He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions. — In every state of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant is unfit to be the rule of a free People. Nor have We been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the united States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the Protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

JOHN HANCOCK.

ARTICLE I.

Section 1. All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section 2. [1] The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

[2] No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty five Years, and been seven Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

[3] Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a Term of Years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other Persons. The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent Term of ten Years, in such Manner as they shall by Law direct. The Number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty Thousand, but each State shall have at Least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to chuse three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

[4] When vacancies happen in the Representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies.

[5] The House of Representation shall chuse their Speaker and other Officers; and shall have the sole Power of Impeachment.

Section 3. [1] The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six Years; and each Senator shall have one Vote.

[2] Immediately after they shall be assembled in Consequence of the first Election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three Classes. The Seats of the Senators of the first Class shall be vacated at the Expiration of the Second Year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one third may be chosen every second Year; and if Vacancies happen by Resignation, or otherwise, during the Recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary Appointments until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies.

[3] No Person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

[4] The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no Vote, unless they be equally divided.

[5] The Senate shall chuse their other Officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the Absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

Section 4. [1] The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Places of chusing Senators.

[2] The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different Day.

Section 5. [1] Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns, and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

[4] Neither House, during the Session of Congress, shall, without the Consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other Place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

Section 6. [1] The Senators and Representatives shall receive a Compensation for their Services, to be ascertained by Law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. Section 7. [1] All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as on other Bills.

[2] Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it becomes a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that House, it shall become a Law. But in all Cases the Votes of both Houses shall be determined by Yeas and Nays, and the Names of the Persons voting for and against the Bill shall be entered on the Journal of each House respectively. If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten Days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its Return, in which Case it shall not be a Law.

[3] Every Order, Resolution, or Vote, to which the Concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of Adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the Same shall take Effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the Rules and Limitations prescribed in the Case of a Bill.

Section 8. [1] The Congress shall have Power To lay and collect Taxes, Duties Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

Bill of Rights.

Rights of persons. Section 1. All men are, by nature, free and equal, and have certain inalienable rights — among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty, acquiring, possessing and protecting property, and pursuing and obtaining safety and happiness.

Political power. Section 2. All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security, and benefit of the people, and they have the right, at all times, to alter or reform the same, whenever the public good may require it.

Religion. Section 3. The General Assembly shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; nor shall any person be compelled to attend any place of worship, pay tithes, taxes, or other rates for building or repairing places of worship, or the maintenance of any minister, or ministry.

Religious test—witnesses. Section 4. No religious test shall be required as a qualification for any office, or public trust, and no person shall be deprived of any of his rights, privileges, or capacities, or disqualified from the performance of any of his public or private duties, or rendered incompetent to give evidence in any court of law or equity, in consequence of his opinions on the subject of religion; and any party to any judicial proceeding shall have the right to use as a witness, or take the testimony of, any other person not qualified on account of interest, who may be cognizant of any fact material to the case; and parties to suits may be witnesses, as provided by law.¹

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable seizures and searches shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but on probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons and things to be seized.

Rights of persons accused. Section 10. In all criminal prosecutions, and in cases involving the life, or liberty of an individual the accused shall have a right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury; to be informed of the accusation against him, to have a copy of the same when demanded; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for his witnesses; and, to have the assistance of counsel.³

Within this department was created a liquor control council composed of five members, not more than three of whom shall belong to the same political party. The initial council was appointed by the governor for respective terms of one, two, three, four and five years, to commence Jan. 1, 1972. Blind, Commission for the

Main office, orientation center and library located at

Fourth and Keosauqua, Des Moines 50309

District offices: 332 Higley Building, Cedar Rapids 52401

Sycamore 501, Suite 620, Waterloo 50703

427 Frances Building, Sioux City 51101

Commission appointed by the governor:

ARLENE DAYHOFF, Cedar Rapids; term expires 1984

NOLDEN GENTRY, Des Moines; term expires 1985

JOHN WELLMAN, Des Moines; term expires 1986

NANCY A. NORMAN, Des Moines; director

The Commission for the Blind, created in 1925, promotes opportunity for the blind in Iowa by offering the necessary training and advocacy to become independent, competitive citizens. There are several departments of the commission through which such help is given.

At the orientation center in Des Moines, blind adults receive instruction in the skills of blindness. Courses for students include Braille, travel, home management (cooking, cleaning, shopping and sewing), shop work with regular industrial machinery, typing and personal grooming. There are also other courses in attitudes and techniques that bring to the student a true understanding of blindness — that it need not mean helplessness and can be, in fact, reduced to no more than a physical nuisance if training and opportunity are available. It is important to the blind person (especially the newly blind) to learn that blind persons are actually working as full-time, regular electricians, machinists, farmers, lawyers, scientists, teachers, salespersons, etc. For those who are unable to attend the center, the rehabilitation teachers provide such instruction in the home community.

When a blind person has acquired proficiency in the skills of blindness, the Commission for the Blind helps obtain specific training in a vocational skill. Field operations staff help in finding and obtaining employment through a vocational rehabilitation program.

The commission library distributes, as does a public library to the sighted, reading material to the blind and physically handicapped of the state. This material is in the form of Braille books and magazines, recorded books and magazines on talking book records, taped material and large type. The library also distributes machines on which the records may be played. Library service is available to any blind person over age five.

Some blind persons are assisted in working in their homes through a home industries program, the products of which are marketed by Federated Women's Clubs in Iowa.

In response to an increasing need, the commission administers independent living rehabilitation services, enabling the elderly and disabled blind to remain functioning members of family and community. By providing for elderly, deaf and disabled blind (1) exposure to positive attitudes about blindness, (2) training in skills and (3) sharing of community resources, the program works to reduce a client's dependency on others.

The commission licenses blind persons to operate a full line of cafeterias, snack bars and other vending facilities as part of the business enterprises program, which provides (1) employment opportunities for blind persons who want to work hard as managers and (2) clear models of competent blind workers for private industry.

The commission serves as a central source of supply for a great variety of specialized products, tools and aids useful to blind children as well as adults. Braille watches and clocks, Braille writing devices, Braille paper, specialized rulers and other measuring devices which can be read by touch, canes of all types, cooking utensils with specially marked dials, standard playing cards with Braille markings added, other games such as chess, checkers, bingo and scrabble (with special markings as needed), Braille thermometers and barometers, specially marked volt meters and similar electrical measuring devices, special marked insulin syringes for blind diabetics and Braille cookbooks are samples of the items stocked. These items are made available to the blind of the state at the commission's cost, or they are provided without cost when the blind person is unable to pay, if there is a clearly demonstrated need for the product and the resources of the commission will permit. The commission also assists blind persons in procuring at cost, certain needed nonspecialized items such as tape recorders, tape and headphones for talking book machines. Again, there are instances in which these items are provided without charge when there is need and when resources permit.

A number of blind children do not attend the Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School at Vinton, but are enrolled in regular public schools throughout the state. Upon request, the commission works with the division of special education of the Department of Public Instruction to procure books and specialized material for those children and to provide counseling and guidance.

A register of the blind in Iowa showing cause of blindness, age and other statistical information valuable in program evaluation and planning, is maintained by the commission. It is estimated that there are more than 6,000 blind people in Iowa and that approximately nine or 10 Iowans become blind each week.

Objectives and Authority

The 64th General Assembly, 1972 session, created the Iowa State Building Code, Chapter 103A, Code of Iowa. The State Building Code commissioner, with the approval of the advisory council, is empowered and directed by section 103A.7 to formulate and adopt, and from time to time amend or revise reasonable rules to establish minimum safeguards in the erection and construction of buildings and structure, to protect the health, safety and welfare of the public.

The departmental rules are published in the Administrative Code as chapter 16 of Public Safety number 680. The Iowa State Building Code administrative section begins at 680—16.100(103A) and consists of eight divisions which make up the Iowa State Building Code. As authorized by section 103A.8, the standards are practically with some exceptions applicable to national codes.

The Building Code commissioner is also required to administer and enforce the provisions of chapter 104A, Code of Iowa, "Building Entrance for Handicapped Persons."

Effect and Application

The State Building Code is applicable to all buildings and structures owned by the state or an agency of the state and in each governmental subdivision where the governing body has adopted a resolution accepting the application of the Code and regulations for factory-built structures.

Three divisions of the State Building Code are applicable throughout the state and pre-empt any local building regulations. These are as follows:

1. Provisions of the State Building Code relating to the manufacture and installation of factory-built structures apply throughout the state. This includes all types of buildings which are factory-built as well as manufactured homes and tie downs for manufactured homes. Any manufactured home sold, new or used, is required to be tied down.
2. Provisions for making buildings accessible to and functional for the physically handicapped and elderly persons by authority of section 104A.6 of chapter 104A, Code of Iowa.
3. Provisions for thermal and lighting efficiency standards apply to all new state-owned and publically owned buildings and to all new construction in governmental subdivisions which has a building code, either the State Building Code or a local building code, and to all other new construction in the state which contains more than 100,000 cubic feet of enclosed heated or cooled space.

Administration Section

The administration section of the State Building Code as published in the Iowa Administrative Code is the adoption of and amendments to the national codes which make up the Building Code. The eight divisions are as follows:

Division 1 - Application and adoption procedures and the requirements for general construction, as published in the Uniform Building Code.

Division 2 - Electrical, as published in the National Electric Code.

Division 3 - Mechanical, as published in the Uniform Mechanical Code.

Division 4 - Plumbing, as published in the Uniform Plumbing Code.

Division 5 - An optional code for use for one and two family dwellings, as published in the "One and Two Family Dwelling Code."

Division 6 - Requirements for the manufacture and installation of factory-built structures.

Division 7 - Provisions for making buildings intended for use by the general public accessible to and functional for the physically handicapped.

Division 8 - Thermal and Lighting Efficiency Standards, as published in the "Model Energy Code."

The divisions are from time to time amended and revised as the national codes are changed. Copies of the administration section (divisions one thru eight) and divisions six, seven and eight are distributed for a fee to anyone who requests copies.

KAY WILLIAMS, executive director

The 65th General Assembly, 1973 session, created the Campaign Finance Disclosure Commission to review, monitor and make available for public inspection financial disclosure reports filed by political committees and candidates' committees in the state of Iowa. The commission consists of five members, not more than three of whom shall be from the same political party. The members are appointed by the governor for a six-year term. Appointments are subject to Senate confirmation.

The duties of the commission are: to develop forms for the filing of reports and statements required to be filed under the provisions of the campaign disclosure law; to furnish forms to committee treasurers and county commissioners of election; to prepare and publish a manual; to assure that reports and statements are available for public inspection and copying; and to review reports and statements filed under the provisions of the disclosure law.

The commission also serves as a quasi-judicial body. The commission may gather evidence, hold a hearing and propose a finding of fact and decision based on the conclusions of law as to whether a committee has violated the provisions of Chapter 56 of the Code. Any eligible elector may file a complaint. In this case, the commission would hear the complaint and propose a decision based on conclusions of law as applied to the facts brought forth by the complainant. If the commission finds reasonable grounds to believe that a violation of the law has occurred, it may refer the complaints to the appropriate prosecuting authority.

In April 1982, the governor designated the commission to be the Iowa depository for copies of disclosure material required to be filed by federal committees with the Federal Elections Commission in Washington, D.C. These records are also available to the public for viewing and copying at a nominal charge.

The Campaign Finance Disclosure Commission is also responsible for working with the state director of revenue and the state comptroller to administer the provisions of the Iowa election campaign fund. This fund allows any person whose state income tax liability for any taxable year is $1 or more to designate $1 of such liability to be paid over to the Iowa election campaign fund for the account of any specified political party.

The commission was provided funds by the 60th General Assembly for planning future expansion and development of the statehouse grounds. The Citizens' Aide office was established Oct. 1, 1970, by Gov. Robert D. Ray as part of his office. In 1972, the Citizens' Aide Act, now Chapter 601G of the Iowa Code, was passed, removing the citizens' aide from the governor's office and placing it directly under the Legislative Council. The citizens' aide is appointed to a four-year term by the Legislative Council subject to confirmation by a majority vote of both houses of the General Assembly. The citizens' aide receives and investigates complaints from the public concerning the administrative actions of public officials of state and local government in Iowa. When a citizen's complaint is deemed justified, the citizens' aide recommends to the agency that it take corrective action. The citizens' aide may publish recommendations and conclusions. Excluded from the citizens' aide's jurisdiction are the governor and the governor's personal staff, the General Assembly and its staff, the courts and appurtenant judicial staff. The citizens' aide does not have the authority to investigate complaints of employees of agencies which relate to their employment. By implication, the citizens' aide does not have the authority to investigate agencies of the federal government and non-governmental entities.

The Citizens' Aide Act was amended by the laws of the 65th General Assembly (1974) to create the position of deputy for corrections. The deputy for corrections specializes in the receipt and the investigation of complaints from or relating to inmates in correctional institutions.

The Iowa College Aid Commission is the only state agency responsible for planning and administering programs of assistance to both public and private colleges and universities throughout Iowa. Represented on the 11-member commission are the Board of Regents, the Department of Public Instruction, Iowa private colleges and universities, the Vocational Education Advisory Council, each house of the Iowa Legislature, Iowa lending institutions, Iowa students and the general public. The lender, student, general public and private college representatives are appointed by the governor. The state superintendent of public instruction serves by virtue of office. The remaining four members are appointed by the bodies they represent.

Established in April 1964, to implement the federal assistance program for construction of academic facilities provided by the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963, the commission now administers the programs described below.

Grants for Academic Facilities and Instructional Equipment

The commission receives applications from colleges and universities for federal funds under Titles VII A and VI B of the Higher Education Act of 1965, verifies their eligibility and assigns relative priorities for grants. On the basis of these priority ratings, the commission recommends to the U.S. Office of Education the distribution of Iowa's allotted funds. The funds are used in the construction or remodeling of classroom, laboratory, library and administration facilities, and for classroom equipment. This program has not been funded since 1974.

State Of Iowa Scholarships

In May 1965, the Iowa Legislature authorized establishment of a state-supported scholarship fund. Appropriations for awards in 1982-83 were $350,000 in state funds equally matched by federal funds. Monetary recipients are selected on the basis of academic ability and financial need. Certificates of achievement are awarded to applicants who demonstrate high academic achievement.

Iowa Guaranteed Student Loan Program

This program, implemented in 1979, permits students to borrow from commercial lending institutions at a low rate of interest subsidized by the federal government on easy repayment terms. The loans are insured by the Iowa College Aid Commission and reinsured by the federal government under the terms of an agreement with the ICAC.

Iowa Tuition Grant Program

In 1969, the General Assembly established the Iowa Tuition Grant Program to provide financial assistance for Iowa students enrolled in Iowa's private colleges and universities. Funding for this program in 1982-83 was $15,650,000, with a maximum grant of $1,700. The amount of the grant, based on the student's estimated financial need, is limited to tuition and fees minus the average that the student would pay at a state university.

Iowa Vocational-Technical Tuition Grant Program

The 65th General Assembly established the Iowa Vocational-Technical Tuition Grant Program to provide financial assistance to needy Iowa resident students enrolled in vocational-technical courses at public area schools in the state. Qualified students may receive a maximum of $400 per year. In 1982-83, the program was funded at $550,000 in state funds matched by $441,648 in federal funds.

State Student Incentive Grants

This federal program of matching funds for state scholarships and grants was authorized in the Education Amendments of 1972, but was not funded until fiscal year 1974. These funds have been used primarily to supplement the state appropriations for State of Iowa Scholarships and Iowa Vocational-Technical Tuition Grants. In 1982-83, the Iowa allocation was $791,648.

Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS)

In cooperation with the National Center for Education Statistics, the commission coordinates annual collection of data from Iowa postsecondary schools. An annual Digest based on the HEGIS data is published by the commission.

Osteopathic Subvention Program

The commission supervises payment of state funds to the College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery, Des Moines. These funds totaled $450,000 in fiscal year 1982 and $450,000 in fiscal year 1983.

Optometric Training Program

The commission is authorized to contract with colleges of optometry in other states for admission of Iowa residents. Fiscal year 1983 funding was $60,000.

National Guard Education Benefits

The program, established in 1978, provides grants of up to $250 per year toward the educational expenses of enlisted members of the Iowa National Guard. Recipients must be enrolled in at least a half-time program as undergraduates at an eligible Iowa postsecondary institution. Fiscal year 1983 funding was $25,000.

Podiatric Training Program

The commission is authorized to contract with colleges of podiatry in other states for admission of Iowa residents. Fiscal year 1983 funding was $20,000.

State Student Financial Aid Training Program

The commission administers federal grants under Title IV, Higher Education Act of 1965, to design and develop training programs for college financial aid administrators.

Appointed by the Commission

ROBERT G. HOLETZ, executive secretary, Polk County

JAMES R. MARET, commerce counsel, Dallas County

RAYMOND K. VAWTER, JR., director of Public Utilities Division, Polk County

ROBERT J. LATHAM, director of Rates Research Division, Polk County

EARL W. DICK, director of Grain Warehouse Division, Polk County

JOHN E. HENSEL, director of administration, Polk County

The Iowa State Commerce Commission operates under an array of statutes delegating legislative authority and responsibility as to the economic regulation of public utilities, grain warehouses and grain dealers located in the state. Prior responsibilities of the agency relating to the regulation of railroads and motor transportation activities were transferred by act of the 65th General Assembly to the newly created Iowa Department of Transportation, effective July 1, 1975.

The primary function of the commission in recent years has been in the area of public utility rate regulation under Chapter 476 of the Iowa Code. Heretofore, this code chapter has accorded the commission extensive authority over the rates and charges of almost all of the investor-owned gas, electric, telephone and water companies serving the people of this state. During 1976, the 66th General Assembly, by Senate File 1258, added to the commission's rate making authority the responsibility for establishing just and reasonable rates for electric utility service as provided by the Rural Electric Cooperatives operating in Iowa. Additional responsibility for the demarcation of electric service territories for all utility operations in the state was delegated by the same legislation. And during the same session, the General Assembly, by House File 1450, made the commission responsible for certification of virtually all electric generating plant construction in the state.

In 1980, the jurisdiction of the commission was expanded under House File 2550 to include programs designed to promote the use of cost effective energy conservation strategies by rate or service-regulated gas and electric utilities. The commission may initiate these programs to accumulate sufficient data to evaluate alternatives. Under the law, the commission may also require or authorize a public utility to establish peak load management procedures.

During 1982, at the direction of the 69th General Assembly, the commission established the Operations Review Division. The General Assembly directed the commission "to implement a program for the continuous review of operations of rate regulated public utilities with respect to all matters that affect rates or charges for utility service." The Operations Review Division is responsible for reviewing utility operations and recommending policies for meeting customer utility needs at the lowest cost.

Both new and basic functions mentioned must be performed in the context of continuing responsibilities for acting upon applications seeking approval to construct and operate gas pipelines and electric transmission lines, and for investigating and resolving complaints regarding activities directed by utility company management.

The commission anticipates that it will continue to be faced with the need to process upwards of 500 formal tariff filings per year, made on behalf of approximately 106 rate regulated utilities, of which approximately 45 filings will require prosecution through trial-type hearing procedures and formal agency decisions on evidence of record. These filings will include approximately 20 major rate increase proposals, amounting to $100 million per year. By its decisions to date, the commission has ordered refunds to the public of approximately $45 million on an annual basis.

Within the Grain Warehouse Division, licenses for approximately 1,900 grain dealers and 800 grain warehouses are issued under the authority of chapters 542 and 543 of the Code of Iowa. Division staff periodically inspect the operations and facilities of licensees and assure compliance with the financial and insurance requirements of the Code and agency rules.

The commissioners' support staff reports directly to the commissioners and is responsible for the preparation of material for commission decisions and agenda meetings, the coordination of scheduling and progress of formal filings and rate cases, rulemakings and other commission projects. The division also assists in the coordination of research analysis and preparation of material for testimony before Congress, various federal agencies and other interested groups.

Commerce Counsel

The office of Commerce Counsel represents one of the first public defender offices devoted to public protection as to rates charged by utility companies and common carriers. As is true of the Commerce Commission itself, the Commerce Counsel's transportation responsibilities, as initially defined by the 34th General Assembly in 1911, now reside with the Department of Transportation, Transportation Regulation Board.

In addition to acting as attorney for and legal adviser of the Commerce Commission, the Commerce Counsel must investigate as to the lawfulness of all rates and practices of the persons under the jurisdiction of the commission; and must institute such proceedings as may be necessary to correct any illegality on the part of such persons. In this connection, the office must prosecute in the name of the state, all action necessary to enforce or to restrain the violation of any rule or order of the Commerce Commission.

Agricultural products are a major part of the state's economy. Yet Iowa's industrial assets-productive labor force, invigorating business climate, central location and transportation facilities, are recognized as conducive to the profitable operation of manufacturing facilities. Legislative actions have complemented the state's growing industrial base as well.

The Iowa Development Commission has seven operational divisions. They are: Administrative Services, Agricultural Development and Promotion, Community Betterment, Industrial Development, Research, Public Information and Tourism and Travel.

The goal of Agricultural Development and Promotion is to enhance the image of Iowa agriculture and to promote the sale of Iowa agricultural products throughout the nation and the world. By strengthening existing markets and developing new markets it strives to stabilize farm prices at a profitable level. Through research and education, new production methods and alternatives are presented to keep production costs low.

One example of this is the "Taste of Iowa" promotion which has been successful in developing new and expanded markets. In addition, the division works with farm organizations, commodity associations, other state agencies and industrial groups in their efforts to improve the economic position of Iowa's farm industry.

Iowa Community Betterment is a program designed to provide an incentive to communities which are undertaking local improvement projects. Staff members hold local workshops, encourage local volunteer effort in community improvement and coordinate an annual awards day competition. They also compile project fact files to aid participating communities in carrying out their local programs.

Industrial Development addresses itself to attracting new industries to Iowa, assisting manufacturing firms already located here and representing Iowa communities which seek to diversify their economy through the addition of manufacturing operations. This division works closely with local industrial development groups and chambers of commerce to create a good industrial climate. They maintain close liaison with management consulting firms and with all organizations interested in industrial development.

International efforts are designed to encourage Iowa manufacturers to sell their goods overseas and to assist Iowa exporters in expanding their foreign sales. Trade missions are led by the staff to various international market areas to aid Iowa manufacturers in creating overseas sales. Other projects include the Governor's Export Expansion Conference and the Foreign Student Contact Program, both designed to promote involvement between Iowa business personnel and foreign students in the state.

The Tourism and Travel division works to increase the number of dollars spent in the Hawkeye state by travelers and those engaged in other leisure-time activities. To accomplish this, the division staff provides information about Iowa's vacation and recreation attractions to travelers. It assists communities in promoting their events and supervises the activities of the state's seven tourism regions. The staff represents Iowa at recreation and travel expositions, and develops publications and special projects. The division also operates seven information centers along Iowa's interstate highways.

Out of Research comes data and resource material for all IDC divisions and the general public. This division becomes involved in research projects, in publishing information collections such as the Statistical Profile of Iowa and the Directory of Iowa Manufacturers, and in answering requests from other divisions, the public and other governmental agencies.

It's through the Public Information division that Iowans keep abreast of IDC activities and programs, through news releases, speakers, audio-visual presentations, brochures and articles in the media. This division also assists motion picture producers in finding filming locations in Iowa.

The 65th General Assembly created the Iowa Energy Policy Council in 1974 to formulate energy policy in Iowa and to assist the state in response to problems of energy supply, consumption and development. It was, and is today, composed of public members, legislators and agency heads from other departments of state government that have a clear involvement in or statutory responsibility for energy related programs.

The council serves as an advisory agency to the governor and the Legislature on all energy matters. Originally scheduled to terminate on June 30, 1977, the council's life has been extended until 1985. The EPC is recognized as one of the state's most visible agencies. Although it is relatively small, its existence is considered temporary and it has no regulatory authority.

EPC implements numerous energy conservation programs covering virtually every sector of the state's population. The council also sponsors research, maintains a data base on energy use, has planning responsibility for emergency energy use and furnishes the public with many educational materials. With federal funds, the EPC promotes the commercialization of solar energy in Iowa and serves as a focal point of state solar activities. The EPC also administers programs providing fuel bill assistance and weatherization to low income Iowans.

Information on the Iowa State Fair

Every August hundreds of thousands of people from all over the Midwest flock to the Iowa State Fair, the state's great celebration, a salute to Iowa's best in agriculture, industry, entertainment and achievement.

The fair is the home of a 20-acre farm machinery show, and the largest art show in the state. More than 600 exhibitors and concessionaires offer modern merchandise and quality foods. Large 4-H and VoAg/FFA shows provide excellent educational opportunity for youngsters. Five stages of free entertainment are featured every day. The grandstand offers superstar stage shows and track events. History comes alive in Heritage Village, a tribute to Iowa's hardy pioneers.

The Iowa State Fair is one of the oldest agricultural and industrial expositions in the nation. The first was held in Fairfield, Iowa, in 1854, on a six-acre tract. An outgrowth of one of Iowa's early county fairs, the State Fair was managed by the Iowa Agricultural Society. Next year's fair was also held in Fairfield. From 1856 to 1879, the fair moved from city to city: Muscatine, 1856-57; Oskaloosa, 1858-59; Iowa City, 1860-61; Dubuque, 1862-63; Burlington, 1864-66; Clinton 1867-68; Keokuk, 1869-70 and 1874-75; Cedar Rapids, 1871-73 and 1876-78.

In 1879, the fair moved to Des Moines to stay. In 1884, the Iowa Legislature appropriated $50,000 for the purchase of grounds in Des Moines on condition that the city raise an equal sum for site improvements. The present 400-acre site was dedicated two years later. The Iowa Fair was the inspiration for the novel and original motion picture, "State Fair".

A separate fair board was created in 1923, consisting of the governor, the secretary of agriculture, the president of Iowa State University, one director from each congressional district and three directors-at-large. Official delegates, representing Iowa's 103 county fairs and other agricultural associations, elect these directors at the annual State Agricultural Convention in December. The president and vice president of the fair board are elected by the board from elected directors. The board also selects the secretary and the treasurer.

Operating expenses are paid for from revenue generated by the fair and special legislative appropriations are used for capital improvements and repair. The fairgrounds are used year round as a meeting and exposition center, featuring such events as large trade and machinery shows; sports events; national livestock, horse and dog shows; arts and crafts exhibitions; private gatherings; auto races; concerts and a wide variety of other activities.

Under the general direction, supervision and control of the governor, the Department of General Services is headed by a director who is appointed by the governor with the approval of two-thirds of the Senate.

The following divisions have been established within the Department of General Services: Director's Office, General Administration, Centralized Printing, Building and Grounds, Records Management, Communications, Risk Management, Centralized Purchasing, Vehicle Dispatcher, Educational Radio and Television, Federal Surplus Property, Personnel and Accounting. Personnel and Accounting are attached to the Director's Office to provide support for other divisions of General Services.

The Personnel Division, headed by Cynthia E. Morton, provides centralized personnel and payroll administration for all divisions of the Department of General Services. Responsibilities include the areas of labor relations, recruitment and selection, affirmative action planning, employee training and development and internal personnel policy activities. Additionally, responsibilities include processing all payroll transactions for compensation, benefits and deductions. The division has two authorized positions.

The Accounting Division, headed by Jerry D. Gamble, is responsible for the financial operation of the department. Functions include financial analysis, departmental budgets and accounting systems. The division has seven authorized positions.

The director's office is staffed by the director, a facilities engineer, a program planner and a secretary. The director is responsible for construction of new buildings, assignment and leasing of space at the seat of government, providing a central mail unit for use of state offices and first-aid facilities. Additionally, the director's duties include the proper coordination of all projects related to the functions of the division of buildings and grounds. The director is also secretary to the Capitol Planning Commission.

The creation of the Department of General Services established a more efficient coordination of services provided to the various state departments. The majority of services provided — printing, purchasing, automobiles, etc. — are charged back to the various using agencies. There are approximately 335 employees in the Department of General Services.

Buildings and Grounds Division

JOHN W. DRUMMOND, Polk City, superintendent

The superintendent of Buildings and Grounds of the state of Iowa provides for the continuing proper preventive and emergency maintenance, repair and replacement of State Capitol Complex Buildings, grounds, sidewalks, drives, parking lots, accent and security lighting, utilities and building equipment at the operational seat of Iowa government.

The present divisional staff consists of 186 permanent full time employees. The administration office includes the superintendent and assistant superintendent with a secretary II providing complete general office and clerical duties as well as many varied administrative functions. These administrators provide total operational supervision and work assignments to the staff working with and through five major maintenance section supervisors as follows:

(1) Building Maintenance provides clean and orderly building spaces for state legislators, elected officials, agency employees and thousands of general public visiting the Capitol. (2) The Grounds section is responsible for the total care of over 150 acres of grounds which includes dressing and beautification during the summer and snow removal during winter. (3) The Construction section provides painters, carpenters, masons and locksmiths for maintaining all architectural finishes of buildings and office remodeling. (4) The Electrical Maintenance Section provides day-to-day electrical and telephone outlets to all offices, maintains all lighting systems as well as the high voltage power feeders to all buildings. (5) The Mechanical Section maintains heating, ventilating and air conditioning (HVAC), water, steam, chilled water and drainage piping systems and the complete building automation system controlling the HVAC equipment, building security and parking lot access.

The extremely interesting and revered artistic painting and decorations in the Capitol and Terrace Hill are completely maintained by two restoration painters. These men are rediscovering and restoring art work in areas painted over in past years.

The division's maintenance personnel and shops are now housed in a new building containing 26,000 square feet of floor space and located at East 13th and Vine Streets.

The division of Buildings and Grounds through its continuing support and care, preserves the historical beauty of the Capitol, other buildings and the grounds of the seat of government complex in the best interests of and to the pride of all the citizens of Iowa.

Communications Division

GLEN D. ANDERSON, Jr., West Des Moines; chief

It is the responsibility of the Communications Division to develop, administer, unify and standardize communication services to meet normal and emergency requirements of all state departments. It is further intended that the division provide coordination to all departments to effect maximum practical consideration and joint use of communications services.

The design and implementation of two-way radio systems, broadcast distribution systems, basic telephone and voice systems and data communication networks that are responsive to user requirements, are major activities of the division.

General Administration Division

SHIRLEY T. PHILLIPS, Des Moines; chief

This division is responsible for the statehouse mail service, first aid room, Central Supply, General Services Wood Processing, state surplus property, parking and space assignments in state owned or leased buildings in Des Moines. There are 29 employees on the staff.

The mail unit has a staff of 19. Mail rooms are located in each of the five major buildings on the complex for the processing and distribution of mail. The three mail trucks deliver supplies and mail to all state offices in Des Moines.

A registered nurse is on duty in the first aid room in the Capitol and a doctor is available when needed.

The Central Supply unit, with three employees, fills requests for various items of office supplies for all state agencies.

Four operators provide word processing and dictation services for the employees of General Services.

An item of state surplus equipment or furniture that an agency has on its inventory list is transferred to General Administration. Most items are then used by other agencies. Outdated or unneeded items are sold annually at a public auction and the proceeds are deposited in the state general fund.

Printing Division

VERN LUNDQUIST, Des Moines; superintendent

The administration of the division by the superintendent is divided into five functions: printing purchases, printing consultation, centralized printing, custody of state legal documents and office copies.

The primary purpose of the Printing Division is to purchase state printing in the most economical manner by making use of competitive bidding procedures as outlined in the Code of Iowa in the Iowa Administrative Code. The general office staff purchases approximately $5 million of printing annually. In addition to this staff, there is an assistant at the University of Iowa, Iowa State University, University of Northern Iowa and the Department of Transportation in Ames. The universities and DOT do their own purchasing of printing items that are less than $2,000 each. Purchases more than $2,000 are purchased by the Printing Division.

The Printing Division performs as a printing consultant to state agencies to advise them of the most economical procedures to follow in producing a printed item. The Code of Iowa gives the Printing Division the authority to revise and edit printed items to serve the best interest of the State of Iowa.

The superintendent of printing is responsible for the administration of Centralized Printing, a facility which produces state printing. The printing produced by Centralized Printing is short run and delivered quickly to meet the timely demands of state agencies. Centralized Printing produces more than $1.5 million of printing annually. The printing produced by the staff is sold to state agencies, resulting in Centralized Printing being self-sustaining in much the same manner as a private business firm. Paper stock for Centralized printing and other state agencies in Des Moines is purchased by the Printing Division and distributed from the Printing Division warehouse.

The superintendent of printing has custody of state legal documents which are stored in and distributed from the Printing Division warehouse. These documents are distributed to the various state agencies and to the public as directed by the Code of Iowa.

The superintendent of printing has authority over all office copiers that are in state offices in the city of Des Moines. This is to prevent an overproliferation of office copiers and to fit the proper copiers to the required needs.

Purchasing Division

JACK T. PITZER, Ph.D., Urbandale; chief purchasing officer

The Purchasing Division of the Department of General Services is charged with the responsibility of purchasing commodities, equipment and services required by all state agencies with the exception of the Board of Regents institutions, The Commission for the Blind and the Department of Transportation.

The main emphasis of the Purchasing Division is to provide a modern centralized purchasing program, establish standards of products that are required for the efficient operation of the individual agency and to encourage maximum competition on a basis of fair and equal opportunity to those qualified and interested in selling to the state of Iowa.

There are currently 14 persons employed in the Purchasing Division providing these services to the state.

Records Management Division

KATHLEEN S. WILLIAMS, West Des Moines; division director

The Records Management Division was established in January 1975, to provide administrative support to the State Records Commission, as required under Chapter 304 of the Code of Iowa. A primary responsibility of the division is to review records-related systems within state agencies, and to provide the State Records Commission recommendations for changes necessary to assure maximum efficiency and economic use of equipment and procedures. The State Records Management Manual, developed by the division, sets out the division's operating policies and procedures as well as records retention and disposition schedules for all state agencies records except those of the Department of Transportation and the Board of Regents.

As a division of the Department of General Services, Records Management, with a staff of 17, is responsible for the establishment and maintenance of records filing systems, including centralized records storage facilities. The records centers provide a low-cost alternative to state agencies which have records requiring retention beyond their active use.

The micrographics section of the Records Management Division provides micrographics services to state agencies. The micrographic section is capable of indexing, filming, processing and duplicating a wide variety of state agency records and files, from checks and warrants to engineering drawings and blueprints.

Risk Management Division

OPEN

The Risk Management Division was created by the 67th General Assembly in 1978, under Section 18.160 of the Code of Iowa.

The overall objective of the division is to provide risk management services to all state boards, commissions and agencies as well as governmental subdivisions. These services apply to all property and liability loss exposures and include risk identification and analysis, risk control programs and risk financing programs.

The division is responsible for maintaining loss and exposure data on all state's property and liability risks and must purchase the needed insurance coverage for all of state government.

After the program for the state has been implemented, the division will begin to provide risk management services to cities, counties, townships, school districts, area education agencies, area vocational schools and area community colleges within the state.

Surplus Property Division

THOMAS L. ROLLER, Des Moines; director

The surplus Property Division acquires equipment and supplies no longer needed by the federal government and distributes them to eligible agencies within Iowa. The property, ranging from paperclips and typewriters, to bulldozers and aircraft, is used to fill the needs of public agencies, schools, hospitals, museums, libraries and non-profit health and education activities.

The division, which has an authorized staff of 14, is responsible for determining the property needs of the eligible agencies, locating and inspecting the property, transporting Iowa's allocation back to the state, maintaining accountability records, and making distribution in a fair and equitable manner.

After establishing eligibility, agency representatives may visit the Surplus Property Distribution Center on the Iowa State Fairgrounds in Des Moines where they may select from an inventory valued at more than $5 million in original federal acquisition cost. An average of $5 million worth of surplus equipment is distributed each year to eligible agencies at a cost equal to about 5% of the original acquisition cost. The division receives no appropriation, operating instead out of a revolving fund derived from small service charges paid by the recipients of federal surplus property.

Among the division's more notable acquisitions were the William M. Black, a 277 foot riverboat; a herd of dairy cows for Iowa State University; 21 helicopters for cities, counties and schools; the Nixon White House guard uniforms for the Meriden-Cleghorn High School Band; and snow plows for Boone and Louisa Counties.

Vehicle Dispatcher Division

EILEEN COUCHMAN, Des Moines, State Vehicle Dispatcher

The 48th General Assembly vested authority in the governor, effective July 1, 1939, to assign all state-owned motor vehicles to state officers and employees, and state offices, departments, bureaus and commissions. A state car dispatcher was then appointed to control state state-owned cars.

In 1941, the 49th General Assembly provided for the maintenance of all cars and trucks by the state car dispatcher. The 64th General Assembly created the Department of General Services and transferred from the governor to the director of the department, the authority to assign all state-owned vehicles, effective July 1, 1972. At this time, the title was changed from state car dispatcher to state vehicle dispatcher.

In 1973, the 65th General Assembly amended the authority of the vehicle dispatcher to purchase, and the department to assign, all motor vehicles for all branches of state government, by granting the authority to purchase and assign vehicles, to the State Highway commission, institutions under the State Board of Regents, the Commission for the Blind, and any other agencies exempted by law.

The cost of maintenance, plus administrative costs and depreciation for each motor vehicle are charged back to each department. The division maintains a record of miles driven, cost per mile of each unit, and the overall operating cost on approximately 2,121 units. The state vehicle dispatcher receives requests from the various departments desiring new units, and with the approval of the director of the department and with the cooperation of the Purchasing Division, holds bid lettings to purchase new vehicles and sells the old vehicles at public auctions. The division also approves, pays and supervises all repairs to state vehicles under its jurisdiction and assists in settling insurance claims.

The division garage maintains 199 pool vehicles in addition to doing as much work as possible on the remaining 2,026 assigned vehicles.

Parts, accessories and supplies are carried in the state service station and garage such as gasoline, oil, tires, batteries, anti-freeze, spark plugs, filters etc. for use on state vehicles.

The office operates under the jurisdiction of the director of the department. The staff includes 22 regular personnel.

DONALD L. KOCH, director and state geologist, Iowa city

The fundamental function of the Geological Survey is to collect, interpret and report information on basic geologic features, including surface and groundwater, and products of the state including coal, gypsum, sand and gravel, ceramic clay and shale, limestone and dolomite, raw materials for the manufacture of cement, ore deposits and other mineral resources. As the repository for all basic geologic and water data obtained in the state, the survey makes every effort to secure all such data and, in turn, to reduce the data so that it is meaningful and available to all agricultural, industrial and governmental organizations and to individual citizens.

In addition to the basic data program, the survey conducts various research programs aimed at furthering the geologic and hydrologic knowledge of the state. The programs range from re-evaluation and manipulation of extant data to complex data gathering and interpretative surveys. The knowledge gained through research leads not only to better management of our known resources, but also to discovery, utilization and protection of the resources of Iowa. To implement research in hydrology in the state, the survey uses the authority granted in section 305.8, Code of Iowa, to cooperate with the Water Resources Division of the U.S. Geological Survey in cost-sharing programs. Cooperative programs with the Water Resources Division accomplish the collection and dissemination of data on water wells, water levels, streamflow and sediment loads, lake levels and other hydraulic data.

The basic method of information dissemination is in formal reports and maps published by the Iowa Geological Survey. These publications include special county reports and maps covering geology and mineral production. In the absence of a report on a particular area of interest or where a detailed report is necessary for a specific purpose, unpublished special reports are provided to governmental units. To further the value of the reports, the survey acts in a consultative capacity to those nonprofit groups who seek assistance. Except where the state can expect to acquire important information, consultations with private consulting firms are not performed, but the survey data bank and files are freely available for the use of all.

In its role as consultant, the survey has the responsibility of providing information about naturally occurring resources. In this context the survey assumes a strong responsibility in advising local and regional planners as to effects various land uses will have on the environment under the existing geologic and hydrologic conditions of an area. The study of geologic conditions as they affect land-use planning and environmental preservation is an important interpretative function of the state geologist and his staff.

Consultation with and technical service to various state and federal agencies with regulatory powers over activities affecting the environment is a part of the ongoing program of the survey. In accordance with chapter 84, Code of Iowa 1962, the state geologist acts as the oil and gas administrator.

The 65th General Assembly created the Iowa State Historical Department in 1974 by consolidating three existing state agencies — the State Department of History and Archives, the State Historical Society and the State Historic Preservation Program. This act assigned each agency divisional status within the department and each retained a separate director. Centralized departmental administration was established in 1982, with the position of executive director appointed by the governor.

The State Historical Society of Iowa was founded in Iowa City in 1857. In 1892, Charles Aldrich organized the State Historical, Memorial and Art Department in Des Moines; this agency was renamed the Iowa State Department of History and Archives in 1939. From their inception, these two historical organizations operated independently, each financed by a separate state appropriation. A third state historical agency, the Historic Preservation Program, came into existence following the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966. Iowa became a full participant in the national historic preservation effort in 1972, and two years later the state's Historic Preservation Program was given divisional status with the Historical Department's organization.

The 1974 unification of these agencies brought together within the State Historical Department all branches of state government that deal primarily with Iowa and local history. The 1982 act made it possible for the department to be reorganized on a functional basis, eliminating the previous divisional organization. This permitted offices offering similar services to be combined administratively. The State Historical Department is housed in the Historical Building and the State Archives in Des Moines and in the Centennial Building in Iowa City.

As stated in Chapter 303, Code of Iowa, the department's mission is to collect, preserve, research, interpret, exhibit, inventory and promote to the public an awareness of local, state and regional history. The State Historical Board adopts policy for the department and advises the executive director on departmental programs and procedures. The board consists of seven members appointed by the governor, subject to Senate confirmation. These members must include two historians, one employed by a State Board of Regents' institution and one by an institution of higher learning not under the control of the State Board of Regents; a professionally employed archaeologist; two persons selected from the recommendations of the officers of the State Historical Society; and two selected at large to represent the general public.

State Archives

The State Archives collects, arranges, describes, conserves and makes available to the general public and state agencies all official state records open by law that possess sufficient historical value to warrant permanent preservation. The archives is located on the fourth floor of the Records and Property Center (Harvester Building), East 7th and Court Avenue, Des Moines. It consists of 14,000 cubic feet of records which are available for public use in the archives reading room. The archives staff provides advice to the public and state agencies on document preservation. It also advises county and municipal governments on all aspects of records management.

State Museum

The state museum collects, preserves, displays, and interprets objects related to the history of Iowa. Collections on display in the Historical Building cover the entire history of the state, from the geologic past to modern computers. Open daily to the public, the museum includes exhibits that demonstrate the development of Iowa's civil, political, military and natural history. Scheduled tours explain exhibits to school groups and other visitors. The museum staff identifies artifacts and natural history specimens for the public and offers technical assistance in the conservation of aging materials.

The museum staff also administers the various historic sites located throughout the state which are under the authority of the Historical Department. These include Montauk, the home of former governor William Larrabee in Clermont; the Union Sunday School in Clermont; the Clermont Bank and Museum; Gardner Cabin, site of the 1857 Spirit Lake Indian uprising; and the Toolesboro Mounds, a Hopewell burial site near Wapello. Technical assistance is provided to the Terrace Hill Authority and other state departments.

Publications

Several periodical publications issued by the Historical Department provide researchers, school children and other interested readers with information on state and local history. The award-winning popular history magazine, "The Palimpsest," is published six times a year. "News for Members," a newsletter of State Historical Society activities, appears four times each year. A quarterly journal, "The Annals of Iowa," contains scholarly articles, book reviews and bibliographic source information on topics related to Iowa's past. "The Goldfinch," a history magazine for school children, is published four times during the school year.

Occasional publications issued by the department include technical sheets with advice on managing historical collections, research resource guides, records management manuals, biographies, monographs, architectural histories and other books on Iowa history. All department publications are available to the public at a reasonable cost.

Library Services

The combined department libraries (one in Iowa City and one in Des Moines) contain more than 200,000 cataloged items. County histories, genealogical reference books and journals, government documents, cemetery records and maps are all available to the public through these repositories. The library in Iowa City also contains 10,000 bound newspaper volumes and over 14,000 reels of microfilmed newspapers and census data. The department's historic photograph collections, with 250,000 images, document the visual history of the state. In addition, the manuscript collections provide original material — personal papers, letters, diaries and records of organizations and businesses — which chronicles the development of the state.

Media and Technical Services

This office houses collections of both historic and contemporary newspapers. More than 1,200 separate titles of historic papers are preserved and 500 current papers are received each week. State census records dating from 1836 to 1925 are also available in the media reading room in the Historical Building.

The micrographics production unit films newspapers and other fragile, aging documents so that the information they contain will be preserved. Master negatives of microfilm can be retired and preserved while duplicate prints are issued for public use.

Educational and Community Services

This program area provides a variety of resources and technical services to county and local historical organizations and museums throughout Iowa. The department also administers the state's official marker system for historical, archaeological, geological and legendary sites. Research done by this section assists with the location and acquisition of new materials for the research collections. The staff conducts historical studies on a variety of subjects related to Iowa history and presents tours, lectures, slide programs and workshops to local historical organizations and the general public.

Office of Historic Preservation

The Office of Historic Preservation is charged with numerous responsibilities related to the identification, registration and protection of Iowa's historically, architecturally or archaeologically significant buildings, structures and sites. This office processes all of Iowa's applicants for the National Register of Historic Places, reviews and assists state and local agencies that comply with federal requirements regarding cultural resource management, coordinates historic property surveys, and maintains an inventory of the historic properties within the state. In addition, the Office of Historic Preservation provides technical assistance for preservation, restoration and rehabilitation of historic buildings and handles all rehabilitation Investment Tax Credit applications.

State Historical Society

The State Historical Society exists as a membership organization to aid and to help fund specific activities of the department. Membership is open to the general public. Members of the society elect a board of twelve trustees; from among these trustees the governor appoints the two representatives to serve on the State Historical Board.

The Workers' Compensation Law was enacted by the 35th General Assembly in 1913. The industrial commissioner administers this law. Iowa was one of the first states to provide benefits for injuries, occupational diseases and occupational hearing loss sustained by industrial workers. Injuries resulting in death, permanent disability or temporary disability must be reported to the commissioner. If an agreement as to compensation cannot be reached, either the employee or employer may request a hearing before a deputy commissioner in a county of the judicial district where the injury occurred. Decisions are reviewed by the commissioner and may be appealed to a district court and the Supreme Court. Settlement agreements or awards may be reopened for three years after the last payment if the injured employee has a change of condition.

The industrial commissioner is a member of the Employment Agency License Commission, the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped and the State Employees Deferred Compensation Committee.

LANICE LUNDBERG, administrative officer

The office of commissioner of insurance, as the executive head of the Insurance Department of Iowa, was created by Chapter 146, of the laws of the 35th General Assembly (1913). The first commissioner took office on July 1, 1914. Previous to that time, the supervision of insurance had been under the direction of the auditor of state.

The commissioner of insurance has general control, supervision and direction over all insurance business transacted in the state, and is charged with the responsibility of administering the laws of the state relating to insurance.

Under the law, all securities in which the reserves of Iowa life insurance companies are invested, are required to be deposited with the commissioner and complete records are kept showing each item on deposit at all times.

The commissioner supervises all transactions relating to the organization, re-organization, liquidation and dissolution of domestic insurance corporations. He supervises the sale in the state of all stock or other evidences of interest either by domestic or foreign insurance companies. He is the statutory receiver in the event of liquidation of any Iowa insurance company.

All domestic and foreign insurance companies must, before engaging in the insurance business in this state, obtain a certificate of authority from the commissioner of insurance. These certificates expire annually on May 1, and action is taken on their renewals after analysis of complete financial statements filed covering the condition of the company as of the previous year end. All insurance agents must likewise obtain individual licenses to solicit business. In 1982, there were 1,400 insurance companies authorized to do business in the state, and approximately 24,000 individual agents were licensed.

A state statute requires casualty insurance companies to file policy forms and rates with the insurance commissioner for approval, and a rating division has been set up with the insurance department to handle form and rate filings together with supporting statistical information. There are approximately 29,000 filings per year.

In addition, the commissioner supervises the business of life and health insurers, health maintenance organizations, and mutual hospital and health service corporations, including rates and forms used by them. There are approximately 20,000 of these filings each year.

The commissioner conducts examinations of all domestic insurance organizations at least once every three years. He may also make an examination of any foreign insurance company authorized or seeking to be authorized to do business within the state.

RICHARD FREEMAN, deputy director, Job Service Operations

James Hunsaker III, Administrative officer

WALTER MALEY, General Counsel

KENNETH L. HAYS, administrator, Bureau of Job Service Programs

PAUL H. MORAN, administrator, Bureau of Job Insurance

MAURICE E. BARINGER, administrator, Iowa Public Employees Retirement System

ERWIN E. FRERICHS, administrator, Administrative Services Division

The Iowa Department of Job Service is composed of two divisions committed to the advancement of economic security for Iowa's workers — Job Service Operations and the Iowa Public Employees Retirement System. Job Service Operations contains two bureau's — Bureau of Job Service Programs and the Bureau of Job Insurance. The following sections provide support for the divisions and bureaus — Audit and Analysis, Public Relations and Employee Services. A third division — Administrative Services — manages the agency's budgeting, accounting and fiscal responsibilities as well as providing support with data processing staff. Job Service Operations is administered under Chapter 96 of the Code of Iowa. The Iowa Public Employees Retirement System is administered under Chapter 97B of the Code of Iowa.

Job Service Operations Division

The Job Service Operations division is responsible for the operation of the Job Service facilities throughout Iowa. Services provided by local offices include assisting employers in obtaining workers and assisting people to obtain work or training for which they are qualified. Toward this goal, Job Service provides related services of job counseling, aptitude and proficiency testing, job training assistance and special services to veterans, handicapped, youth, older workers and equal opportunity for minorities. Modern techniques such as Job Search Assistance, computerized Job Bank and self-service Job Information Centers are utilized. The Bureau of Job Service Programs evaluates the effectiveness of local office operations. A total of 71 offices placed 82,470 Iowans in jobs in the 1982 federal fiscal year.

The Bureau of Job Insurance is responsible for administering the job insurance laws and regulations. The purpose of job insurance is to partially compensate for wages lost by workers who are involuntarily unemployed. Job insurance benefits are made possible by a tax paid by Iowa employers of one or more employees. To collect benefits, the unemployed must meet eligibility requirements and must be unable to find suitable work. In calendar year 1982, job insurance payments for regular and extended benefits totaled over $312,000,000.

To assure a fair tax for each employer, rates are established on the basis of an actuarially sound system. When there is a stable employment record, the tax rate may be lower than the standard rate, providing a strong incentive to the employer to maintain steady work and avoid layoffs.

Iowa Public Employees Retirement System

In 1953, the Legislature established the IPERS program as a supplement to federal Social Security for public employees. Since its beginning, the system has steadily improved and retirees' benefits have shown continued gains. Actuarially sound and fully funded, IPERS is a joint contributory program with employers contributing 5.75 percent of their employees' covered wages and employees paying 3.7 percent of wages up to $20,000. About 126,700 employees of the state, its counties, cities and school districts, take part in the IPERS Program.

In addition to administering the state retirement system, the IPERS division is also responsible for public agency Social Security wage reporting and for collecting Social Security taxes from the state and its political subdivisions.

Federal Employment and Training Programs

Besides the activities of Job Service Operations and IPERS divisions, the Iowa Department of Job Service administers federal programs for the Employment and Training Administration for the U.S. Department of Labor. Included among these are Trade Expansion Act, Work Incentive Program, Job Corps and others.

The 65th General Assembly established a library department which includes the State Library, formerly the Iowa State Traveling Library; the Law Library; and the Medical Library under the State Library Commission of Iowa. In 1975, the Military Library Division which is located at Camp Dodge was included.

The commission consists of the Supreme Court administrator and four members appointed by the governor who serve four-year terms. One member is from the medical profession and three members are selected at large. The state librarian, appointed by the State Library Commission, supervises all activities of the department.

State Library

East Wing, Historical Building

CLAUDYA MULLER, state librarian
JACK W. HURKETT, assistant director

Gov. Robert Lucas established the State Library in 1839. The library has grown from 1,600 volumes to a library containing 107,565 volumes; 10,275 microfilm reels; 180,000 microfiche; 15,000 phonorecords; 300 audio tapes; 4,000 16 mm films; and 50 video tapes. The library also has a specialized collection of books about Iowa and books written by Iowa authors.

Chapter 303A of the Iowa Code sets forth the duties and functions of the State Library. Its function is to work toward the development of statewide library services, to provide library service to governmental agencies, to the Legislature, and to residents of Iowa. A statewide network, the Iowa Library Information Teletype Exchange (I-LITE), provides interlibrary loan service to state government and libraries throughout Iowa.

The State Library is a selective federal depository of U.S. publications. Emphasis is placed on collecting documents of interest to state government and the public, such as Bureau of Census materials. In addition to the depository collection, the State Library subscribes to a service providing indexing and a comprehensive microfiche collection of federal statistical and congressional publications.

The State Library participates as the principal repository for publications and microform products of Iowa Census Data Center, a prototype program of the U.S. Bureau of the Census. The State Library also serves as the primary printed document distribution point for the Iowa Census Data Center.

In 1978, the General Assembly passed an act creating a Depository Library Center to serve as the central agency for the collection and distribution of state documents. The Depository Library Center began to collect and distribute state documents in July 1979.

The state documents are distributed to the Library of Congress, the Center for Research Libraries, and 41 Iowa depository libraries, which are geographically distributed throughout the state in order to give all Iowa residents access to Iowa documents published by state agencies and institutions.

The State Library administers state funds and federal funds made available under the Library Services and Construction Act.

Consultant service is provided to libraries, state institutions, college and university libraries. The State Library gives support to the regional systems and distributes appropriated funds to regional libraries on an equal basis.

The regional library system was established in 1973 for the purpose of providing supportive library services to existing public libraries and individuals with no other access to public library service and to encourage local financial support of public library service in those localities where it is presently inadequate or nonexistent. The state is divided into seven regions, each with its own regional board of library trustees. Each board appoints the regional administrator for its region.

State Law Library

West Wing, Second floor, State Capitol Building

JAMES H. GRITTON, state law librarian

In the reorganization of the state libraries by the 65th General Assembly in 1973, the Law Library became a division of the State Library Commission. The law librarian is appointed by the state librarian with the approval of the Iowa State Library Commission and the Iowa Supreme Court.

The Law Library's collection contains over 180,000 volumes, including the laws and reports of all of the states and some foreign countries, government documents, the abstracts and arguments of the Iowa Supreme Court and Court of Appeals, legal periodicals, legal treaties, and material produced by the Iowa Legislature.

The primary functions of the State Law Library are to provide reference and research facilities for the state courts, the Legislature, the Legislative Service Bureau, the office of the attorney general, other agencies of government, the legal profession and the general public. The Law Library serves as an access point to material pertaining to Iowa legislative activities.

The library is housed in one of the most beautiful rooms in state government, with four of its five floors enclosed by ornamental balconies, its original gaslights wired for electricity, and circular wrought-iron staircases rising four stories at each end of the room.

State Medical Library

Second floor, Historical Building

PAMELA CLARK REES, medical librarian.

The State Medical Library of Iowa was established as a department of the State Library in July 1919, and became a separate library in the reorganization of state libraries by the 48th General Assembly in 1931. In 1973, the Medical Library became a division of the State Library Commission of Iowa.

This library contains over 30,000 volumes and subscribes to more than 500 medical and scientific journals annually. In addition to its collection of current materials, there is an extensive section on medical history.

The primary function of the State Medical Library of Iowa is to provide reference, research and interlibrary loan services to government agencies, physicians and other medical personnel, attorneys, students, libraries and the general public.

Computerized searching services are available to all, as well as consultation services for library managers. A state-wide WATS System makes medical information available quickly and easily.

The library serves as one of 13 resource libraries in a six-state area comprising the Midwest Health Science Library Network. The goal of MHSLN is to help bring to health personnel the information they need for patient care, health research and education.

The Legislative Council was established in 1969 as the successor to the Legislative Research Committee. It consists of 20 voting members and one non-voting member, the lieutenant governor. Its membership represents majority and minority members of both Houses, the leadership of both Houses, the Ways and Means and Appropriations Committees, and the at-large membership of the two Houses. The duties of the council are to oversee interim legislative business, prepare legislative facilities for the legislative sessions, undertake studies, and set the policies for the Legislative Fiscal Bureau, Legislative Service Bureau, code editor's office, and Citizens' Aid office. A new council is established each odd-numbered year prior to the fourth Monday in January and serves until the following January 1 of the next odd-numbered year.

Iowa Legislative Service Bureau

SERGE H. GARRISON, director

The Legislative Service Bureau's purpose is to provide research, bill drafting, and staff services to committees and individual members of the Iowa General Assembly. These services are provided on an objective, nonpartisan basis by a professionally trained staff. Bureau policies are established by the twenty-one member Legislative Council to whom the Bureau Director is responsible.

The Bureau also participates in the preparation and publication of the Session Laws of the General Assembly and the Code of Iowa. In addition, the Bureau provides a public information service on behalf of all legislative agencies and both houses of the General Assembly through the Bureau's public information officer. This service is available to the public in the form of pamphlets, information in writing or orally and telephone. The Capitol tour guides are part of the public information function of the Bureau.

Major studies requested by the General Assembly, either house of the General Assembly, a legislative committee, or twenty or more members of the General Assembly are undertaken by the bureau staff upon approval by, and in accordance with priorities established by the council. Final reports of the studies conducted during a legislative interim are distributed to all members of the General Assembly. Service Bureau staff personnel do not make recommendations to legislators, but the council or a legislative committee delegated by the council to participate in a study may make recommendations to the General Assembly on the basis of facts gathered by the Service Bureau.

Minor research and reference projects, which can be completed by a Service Bureau staff member with a limited amount of work, are performed at any time upon the request of any legislator without the necessity of specific approval of the council.

Bills are prepared by the Service Bureau for introduction in the General Assembly, at the request of any committee or individual member. The services performed range from review and possible revision of legislative proposals developed elsewhere to complete drafting of bills on the basis of objectives stated by the requestors. Nearly 6,000 requests for preparation of bills and amendments to bills were handled by the bureau during each of the past two legislative sessions.

The bureau was first established in 1955 as the Legislative Research Bureau. The agency's title was changed to the Legislative Service Bureau and was given added responsibilities by the 1969 regular session of the 63rd General Assembly.

The 62nd General Assembly passed a bipartisan act establishing in Iowa a system of personnel administration based on merit employment principles and scientific methods for governing the appointment, promotion, welfare, transfer, layoff, removal and discipline of its classified employees, and other incidents of state employment. It provides that all appointments to positions in the classified service shall be made solely on the basis of merit and fitness. The act established a Merit Employment Department and a Merit Employment Commission which originally consisted of three members. The number of commission members was expanded to five by the 63rd General Assembly. The members of the commission are appointed by the governor, subject to approval of two-thirds of the membership of the Senate.

It is the duty of the Merit Employment Commission to appoint a director of the Merit Employment Department, to adopt rules for the administration of the Merit Employment System, to approve the classification plan and the pay plans and to submit them to the Iowa Executive Council for approval and to hear appeals of grievances and disciplinary actions.

It is also the duty of the commission to represent the public interest in the improvement of personnel administration in the State Merit Employment System; to advise the governor and the state agency heads on problems concerning personnel administration; to foster the interests of institutions of learning and of industrial, civic, professional and employee organizations through the improvement of personal standards in the State Merit Employment System; to make any investigation which it may consider desirable concerning the administration of personnel in the State Merit Employment System and to make recommendations to the director; and to make an annual report and special reports and recommendations to the governor.

The director of the Merit Employment Department, as executive head of the department, directs and oversees all administrative professional and technical programs of the department. She/he is charged with the responsibility of developing and putting into operation rules, policies and procedures which are based on merit employment principles and the law. These involve the classifying of positions; administration of the pay plans; recruitment of qualified candidates for public employment; preparation, validation, administration and scoring of pre-employment examinations; preparation, custody and updating of lists of eligible applicants; certification of lists of eligible applicants to agencies as vacancies occur; management of a complete personnel records system including appointments, salary advancements, promotions and terminations; auditing the payrolls and review of personnel and payroll transactions to insure compliance with statutes, bargaining agreements, rules and policies in all personnel actions; EEO/Affirmative Action technical assistance and reporting; intergovernmental personnel programs; performance planning and evaluation program; management training and staff developments; and personnel resource and information services.

The State Merit Employment System of Personnel Administration covers approximately 20,000 employees. Each original appointee must meet the minimum qualifications as defined in job class specifications, be scored on a pre-employment examination, be selected from among the top six scores on the eligible list and serve a six month probationary period before the appointment becomes permanent. Permanent employees may be discharged for just cause, and have the right of appeal to the commission.

At this time, through the Pharmacy Act under Chapter 75, the newly formed board developed a set of standards for individuals to be qualified as pharmacists by examination. Thus, the Board of Pharmacy came into being for the protection of public health, welfare and safety.

The present board consists of seven members—five professional members and two representatives of the general public. They are all appointed by the governor for three-year terms and function under the statutory authority of Chapters 147, 155, 203, 203A, 204 and 205, Code of Iowa, 1981. The board has the responsibility for administering competency examinations and issues licenses to qualified applicants.

Through the executive secretary, the board maintains all records relating to continuing education and licensure by examination or reciprocity, processes all applications for licensure, collects fees, and issues all new and renewal licenses to those persons engaged in the practice of pharmacy.

The term of each agency member is three years, with discretionary eligibility for one further such term. Statutory composition requires four classroom teachers, three school administrators, one from an Iowa facility engaged in teacher preparation and one from the Department of Public Instruction. The overall purpose of the commission is to promote high-quality professionalism among the teaching profession in Iowa. This purpose is facilitated by performing the two major functions assigned by statute: first, the adoption of criteria of professional practices in areas such as ethics and competency to govern members of the teaching profession. Secondly, to adjudicate, via due process hearings, issues of alleged criteria violations. Where, following a hearing, the agency determines criteria violations it possesses jurisdiction to reprimand or warn the teaching profession member and, in an appropriate case, may take action toward the suspension or revocation of the teaching certificate. JOHN E. BEAMER, chairman; term expires 1986

JOHN R. LOIHL, board member; term expires 1984

PETER L. J. PASHLER, board member; term expires 1984

The Public Employment Relations Act, enacted in 1974, has as its avowed public purpose the promotion of "harmonious and cooperative relationships between government and its employees." Specifically, the statute grants employees of the state and its political subdivisions, including cities, counties and school districts, the right to join and participate in employee organizations, and the right to bargain collectively through such employee organizations.

The act contains detailed procedures by which employees can exercise those rights, including provisions for the determination of appropriate bargaining units, representation elections in which employees may select an employee organization to bargain on their behalf, prohibited practice provisions which proscribe certain conduct and activities, and provisions requiring the periodic reporting of finances by employee organizations.

The Public Employment Relations Board is vested with the administration of this act. As a quasi-judicial administrative agency, operating under the Iowa Administrative Procedures Act, the board conducts hearings and issues legal decisions in unit determination and representation matters, prohibited practice complaints and petitions for declaratory ruling. A staff of hearing officers also performs, by delegation, this function. In addition, the board administers the remaining provisions of the act. In that regard, the board administers the remaining provisions of the act. In that regard, it provides mediators, fact-finders and arbitrators in collective bargaining impasses; it collects data and conducts studies relating to wages, hours, benefits and other terms and conditions of public employment; and it collects registration reports and annual reports, including financial statements, from employee organizations.

There are approximately 160,000 public employees in Iowa, employed by the state and some 1,500 political subdivisions. Nearly half of those employees have exercised rights granted by the statute, and belong to units which have selected an employee organization to represent them in collective negotiations with their employers. It is the responsibility of the Public Employment Relations Board to oversee those negotiations and assure that the rights of these employees are preserved and protected.

ROBERT D. BENTON, Ed.D., state superintendent and executive officer

The 55th General Assembly established the State Board of Public Instructing consisting of nine members — one member selected from each of eight congressional districts as they existed on Jan. 1, 1953, and one member appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate — each serving a term of six years. The 61st General Assembly made the following change in the selection of the eight members to the state board: each congressional district shall nominate two persons to fill vacancies as they occur on the state board; the governor shall then appoint one of the two nominated to serve on the state board.

The 62nd General Assembly amended the law again. It now reads as follows: "The State Board of Public Instruction, hereinafter called the state board, shall consist of nine members who shall be appointed by the governor with the approval of two-thirds of the members of the Senate. Not more than five members shall be of the same political party."

The state board is a policy-making body of lay people, with the same relationship to all the public schools in Iowa as that existing between the local board of education and the local district.

The state board is given the authority by statute to appoint the state superintendent. The term for this office is four years with the first appointment effective Jan. 1, 1955. This has since been changed effective in 1979 with the term now beginning on July 1, 1979, and each four years thereafter. The law provides for the appointment of a deputy superintendent and employment of the professional staff and clerical personnel deemed necessary by the board to carry out its obligations.

The functions of the Iowa State Department of Public Instruction are classified into three categories: leadership, regulatory and operational.

Educational leadership is the major purpose served by the department. Although the department provides other services, its primary purpose is the growth and development of education in the state for the benefit of all Iowans. Through such leadership, the department helps to mobilize, unify and coordinate all the positive forces concerned with improving education. It strives to give common direction to the efforts of all.

Such leadership involves analyzing the nature and future direction of education and communicating with the public about such trends. This leadership role is also exercised by (1) planning for each major area of service and coordinating the planning for the state program of education, (2) conducting research to assist in formulation of policy and evaluation of programs, (3) offering advisory services by persons specialized in certain phases of school operations, (4) providing coordination to promote unity and encourage proper balance, (5) supplying information to keep the public aware of educational needs and progress and (6) supporting in-service education to foster the continuing growth of all persons engaged in education in the state.

The regulatory function of the Department of Public Instruction is aimed primarily at assuring that the basic provisions for education in the constitution are available to all children in the state and that state laws enacted to supplement and enrich those basic provisions are enforced. The state delegated broad authority to local school districts for the management and operation of the education programs, but, at the same time, the department has been charged with guaranteeing at least minimum performance through regulations known as "standards" for Iowa schools. These standards are established by statute or by the department through the authority granted it by the statutes.

The operational function is carried out through services offered to local school districts when the scope, expense or technical nature of these services makes them more easily offered on a broad scale, and centralized service to individuals, such as vocational rehabilitation.

The state superintendent is given the responsibility for coordinating the department's work. The superintendent meets the obligation by working through five major branches; School Administration, Instruction and Professional Education, Pupil Personnel Services, Area Schools and Career Education, and Rehabilitation Education and Services. Each of these branches is headed by an associate superintendent working under the general supervision of the deputy superintendent.

Bennett Correctional Center, a medium-security facility adjacent to the penitentiary, and the Montrose and Augusta farms, minimum-security facilities located nearby, are under the administrative control of the warden of the penitentiary); the Iowa State reformatory at Anamosa, a medium-security unit for younger felons with less serious criminal records (the Luster Heights Work Camp, a minimum-security facility located in the Yellow River State Forest in northeast Iowa, is under the administrative control of the warden of the reformatory; inmates there work for the Iowa Conservation Commission); the Mount Pleasant Medium Security Unit, reserved for property offenders; the Clarinda Correctional Treatment Unit, a medium-security facility for low-risk inmates who are mentally retarded or have histories of substance abuse; the North Central Correctional Facility at Rockwell City, a medium-security facility for inmates within one year of release, the Riverview Release Center near Newton, a minimum-security facility providing work experience under the Prisoner Employment Program, for inmates near release; the Iowa Correctional Institution for Women at Mitchellville, a minimum-security facility for adult female offenders; and the Iowa Security and Medical Facility at Oakdale, a medium-security accredited psychiatric hospital and medical unit for male and female patients (the staff also helps courts determine the competency of individuals to stand trial).

A 13-member commission, appointed by the governor, is responsible for determining the department's policies and developing and conducting programs to implement these policies. The commission also adopts rules and standards and initiates enforcement actions taken by the department.

The programs developed by the commission are carried out through the department's staff of scientists, engineers, attorneys and other professionals. The staff is headed by an executive director who is appointed by the governor.

Iowa's water program is based on the conviction that all waters within the state, both surface and groundwater, belong to the people of Iowa and are subject to regulated use for beneficial purposes.

Water programs include regulation of structures, dams, obstructions, deposits or excavations in floodplains; administration and establishment of flood control programs; and coordination of the National Flood Insurance Program.

The department regulates water use, storage and withdrawal and administers the public drinking water supply program.

The department is concerned with protecting the waters of the state from pollution and regulates discharges, wastewater treatment and conducts a certification program for operators of wastewater and water supply treatment facilities.

The department's water program also helps local communities in obtaining state and federal funding for the construction of sewage treatment plants.

Iowa's air programs are concerned with cleaning up areas that are not meeting air quality standards and planning ways to keep unpolluted areas clean.

Iowa's waste management programs include closing open dumps, approving sanitary landfills, encouraging recycling efforts and controlling hazardous wastes. The department also maintains an environmental emergency response program for responding to hazardous substance spills.
