Evil to him who evil thinks.

The French have the highest opinion of us and they give us sometimes the most unequivocal proofs of it. We read in a New-York paper...

In the free country where you dwell religious intolerance is unknown and it is not even to be understood there: persons of faith of every description live in peace in one country...

It is to be lamented and no persons regrets it more than we do, to say that that opinion is exaggerated beyond measure; and that we are still far from that perfection...

When I say "we" we mean our respectable fellow-citizens to believe that we mean not them. The Louisianians have had the inestimable good fortune to escape from the dreadful inquisition...

We must here speak of some accusations of which Louisianians have been the subject, and which prove that to us, as well as to rest of the world, the light does not come from the North...

Persons escaped from the mad-house had created similar customs, and that sound-minded had conformed to them but from civility we should be content on that occasion...

had been concluded between Buenos Ayres and Brazil, but there had been no confirmation of the report. The young Queen of Portugal, Maria Gloria, left Rio on the 5th July...
