The Journal of Commerce.

From a Journal of Commerce.

FRANCE.

St. Peter's Church, between Bordeaux and Royan.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1829.

FROM MEXICO.

By the last post, arrived here last Sunday, we have been favored with news from Colón-Montreal, by which they state that three vessels had been captured by the French merchantmen, the Cibao, the Monarca, and the Guadalupe, in the harbor of Colón-Montreal, and that they had fired upon, and taken possession of, several vessels at different points on the coast. The vessels taken were the Reina Cristina, the Reina de España, and the Potosí, which had been captured by the Cibao, and were the property of the government of the United States. The French have also captured the Reina de España, and the Potosí, which had been captured by the Monarca, and were the property of the government of the United States. The French have also captured the Reina de España, and the Potosí, which had been captured by the Guadalupe, and were the property of the government of the United States. The French have also captured the Reina de España, and the Potosí, which had been captured by the Reina Cristina, and were the property of the government of the United States.

There is a decree was issued by the government, relating to the capture of the French vessels, requiring the payment of a certain sum of money to the French government, and the release of the captives. The French have also captured the Reina de España, and the Potosí, which had been captured by the Reina Cristina, and were the property of the government of the United States.

The French have also captured the Reina de España, and the Potosí, which had been captured by the Reina Cristina, and were the property of the government of the United States.

The French have also captured the Reina de España, and the Potosí, which had been captured by the Reina Cristina, and were the property of the government of the United States.