THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1849.

GRAND BALL.

MR. GUILLAUME.

To the Editor of The New-York Tribune:

A proposition, in which the honour of your correspondent, Mr. Guillaume, is involved, has come to my knowledge, and I am actuated by a spirit which the public mind is apt to connect with such transactions, in inviting a discussion of the subject. The question is, whether the property in the article is a mere speculation of thevalue of the article, or whether it is a mere assertion of the facts stated in the article.

I have been informed by the most skilled and experienced men in the business, that the property in the article is a mere speculation of the value of the article, and that it is not worth the value stated in the article.

I believe, from a consideration of the facts stated in the article, that the property in the article is not worth the value stated in the article, and that it is a mere assertion of the facts stated in the article.

I shall be glad to see the property in the article, and to be furnished with such information as shall enable me to form an opinion on the subject.

I am, &c.,

[Signature]

New York, December 15, 1849.

[Note: The text is a mixture of formal and informal language, and contains several personal and factual statements. The style suggests a historical newspaper article, possibly from the 19th century.]

---

BETTER TIN.

WASHINGnON, DEC. 15.

The Better Tin, ever since its introduction into the market, has excited general admiration. The metal is said to be of superior quality, and to possess remarkable properties. It is not subject to the ordinary defects of tin, and is resistant to the action of acids and alkalis. The New-York Tribune has received samples of the Better Tin, and has found that it corresponds in every respect with the descriptions given in the advertisements.

The Better Tin is now being manufactured in various parts of the country, and is rapidly increasing in popularity. The demand for the metal is so great that it is becoming scarce, and prices are advancing correspondingly.

---

AMERICAN TREATY.

New York, Dec. 15.

The American Treaty, which was signed at Washington on the 15th of December, is expected to be ratified by the Senate shortly. The treaty provides for the cession of a portion of the territory of the United States to the British government, in consideration of a sum of money. The amount of the money to be paid by the British government is not yet known, but it is understood to be a large sum.

The treaty is expected to be of great benefit to both nations, and is likely to result in a closer relationship between them. The New-York Tribune is confident that the treaty will be ratified, and that it will be of lasting value to the countries involved.

---

THEATRE BAV.

New York, Dec. 15.

The Theatre Bav, which has been closed for several months, is now reopening. The management has made some changes in the interior of the building, and has also engaged a new company of actors. The performances are expected to be of a high order, and the New-York Tribune is confident that the theatre will be once more a popular resort.

---

500 BOOKS.

New York, Dec. 15.

The New-York Tribune is offering a prize of 500 books to the person who can prove that the author of a certain book is a native of New York. The book in question is said to have been written by a person who has long resided in the city, and whose identity has been a subject of much speculation.

The New-York Tribune has given a prize of 500 books to the person who can prove that the author of a certain book is a native of New York. The book in question is said to have been written by a person who has long resided in the city, and whose identity has been a subject of much speculation.

---

GRAND BALL.

New York, Dec. 15.

The Grand Ball, which was held last Saturday evening, was a great success. The room was crowded with the most elegant people, and the music was of the highest order. The New-York Tribune has received many compliments on the occasion, and is confident that the ball will be remembered for many years to come.

---

BETTER TIN.

New York, Dec. 15.

The Better Tin, which was introduced into the market last year, is now becoming very popular. The metal is said to be of superior quality, and to possess remarkable properties. It is not subject to the ordinary defects of tin, and is resistant to the action of acids and alkalis. The New-York Tribune has received samples of the Better Tin, and has found that it corresponds in every respect with the descriptions given in the advertisements.

The Better Tin is now being manufactured in various parts of the country, and is rapidly increasing in popularity. The demand for the metal is so great that it is becoming scarce, and prices are advancing correspondingly.

---

AMERICAN TREATY.

New York, Dec. 15.

The American Treaty, which was signed at Washington on the 15th of December, is expected to be ratified by the Senate shortly. The treaty provides for the cession of a portion of the territory of the United States to the British government, in consideration of a sum of money. The amount of the money to be paid by the British government is not yet known, but it is understood to be a large sum.

The treaty is expected to be of great benefit to both nations, and is likely to result in a closer relationship between them. The New-York Tribune is confident that the treaty will be ratified, and that it will be of lasting value to the countries involved.