THE BEE.

PRINTED DAILY, BY C. DUDLEY.

NEW-ORLEANS,
MONDAY, APRIL 14, 1828.

St. MARTINSVILLE, April 5.

The waters in our vicinity are several inches higher than they have been for the last forty years. This may be partly attributed to the late rains, and a heavy gale from the south, which lasted about fifty hours. Our planters feel much anxiety on the subject; but as the weather has become settled, we hope next week to be able to announce a fall of the water, which just now, threatens to destroy many crops.

—Capt. Skolfield, of the schooner Maria, lately arrived at Franklin, reports a heavy cannonading off point De Fer, on the 26th ult. No sail was in sight. The firing lasted about three hours, and was very brisk for that period. It was doubtless an affair between the Mexicans and Spaniards. If Commodore had a hand in it, the honor of his flag was, without doubt, gallantly and honorably sustained.

CONGRESS—Monday, March 17.—In the Senate, the bill to prevent desertion in the Army and for other purposes, was amended and passed to a third reading. This bill among other things, increases the pay of the non-commissioned officers and soldiers—a measure which has been thought necessary in consequence of the great number of desertions for several years past.

The bill to grant certain unappropriated lands to the State of Alabama to improve the navigation of certain rivers in that State, was after a long debate and many amendments passed to be engrossed.

In the House of Representatives, Mr. Smyth from the committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill exempting soldiers from arrest in certain cases. After some debate it was committed to a committee of the whole House, and made the order of the day for Tuesday.

The house in committee of the whole took up the Tariff bill, and Mr. Ingham addressed the house at large in defence of the bill as reported by the committee on manufactures, and in opposition to Mr. Mallary's amendment.

[N. Y. Evening Post.

SAVANNAH, March, 10.

From Havana.—By the schr. Dispatch, arrived on Saturday, we have received Havana papers to the 29th ult. the day she sailed. On Sunday the 23d a heavy cannonading was heard outside, the smoke of which, apparently about 18 miles distant, could be distinctly seen over the land, from the ships masts. The Spanish Frigate Lealted, and her hard won prize, the Guerrero, were both repairing and completely stripped. While the Despatch was at Matanzas, three weeks since, a Spanish brig outward bound, said to have $320,000 on board, was captured in sight of the port, by a Mexican brig of war. The Captain, after firing a few guns, made his escape with some of his crew, to the shore.

Congressional Proceedings.—When we read the proceedings of the House of Representatives, we blush for the character of that once dignified and respectable body. The members seem to have in a great degree forgotten the object, for which they were delegated by the people, and to have devoted their time and the money of the people, to the purpose of reviling and abusing each other. More than three months of the session have expired, and we have only seen an account of two bills that have been passed. One of which was to pay the members themselves, and the other a private bill. Thus as about two hundred thousand dollars of the people's money been spent, without any equivalent. The Jackson party claim the majority in both Houses, and promised when the session commenced, to despatch the public business as soon and adjourn. How they keep their words as well about this as other things they have in most others, their promises are characterized by a spirit of littleness and vulgarity, unknown in any former period of American legislation. The people have had an opportunity of judging what would be the character of an Administration, of which, General Jackson is to be the nominal head, and McDuffie, Ingham, Randolph, Hamilton, Eaton, Kremer & Co. the leaders, and the United States Telegraph, the organ. The loss of public credit, and national degradation, is the very least we can expect. We entreat the people to "look before they leap" into such a pit of infamy and shame!

New-York.—It must be a source of pleasure to every lover of his country, to learn that the friends of the Administration in the state of New-York are about to hold a convention to form an electoral ticket favorable to the re-election of JOHN Q. ADAMS. For ourselves, we are pleased to observe such early evidences of activity and zeal among the patriotic inhabitants of that important quarter of our country; as it will not fail to crush the hopes of Mr. Van Buren, and his interested allies.

The people of New-York and Pennsylvania are certainly coming out most manfully—they are determined to manage their own concerns in their own way, and no longer to be ruled by party machinery moved by artful and intriguing demagogues for their own personal aggrandizement.—Mr. Jefferson's re-election was opposed as violently as Mr. Adams's is now, yet he triumphed by receiving 162 votes to 14. If the friends of our present much abused and persecuted Chief Magistrate, hold out to the last of March one and all to the polls, his triumph will be about the same ratio. The question is whether we are to have a government for the future administered upon Civil or Military principle, a question literally of Peace or War! The people are just beginning to be alarmed and are awakened to their danger—this must lead to a right decision, in favour of Adams, Peace, Law, Order and Constitution.

From the Chestertown Telegraph.

Justifiable Homicide.—In the early part of the night of the 1st, a negro man, (whose name we have not learnt,) made an attempt to break into the house of Mrs. McLaughlin, a widow lady living near Mary's Cross Roads in this county. Mrs. McL. put a child out at a window and sent it to a neighbour's house for assistance—a friend came and remained until a late hour, during which time the attempt was not renewed. Apprehending no further danger he returned home. Soon after, the negro again renewed his efforts to break into the house, when the child as before was despatched for assistance. In the mean time the negro was making rapid ingress at Mrs. McL's. chamber window, and she found it necessary to stand on the defensive, and accordingly commenced operations, with an axe-helve, upon his head, and by the time her neighbour arrived she had despatched him—he was extinct, and she saved from robbery, violation, and perhaps death.

[From a London paper.]

Love Potions.—On Friday a young man, holding a good situation as a clerk in an office of considerable business in this town, was charged before the Mayor with having administered, to a very respectable and rather handsome young female, a quantity of Cantharides, commonly called "Spanish" or French flies, during the time he had taken a took the opportunity of being at a tea-party with her, to give her a considerable quantity of the flies, above mentioned reduced to powder, and either sprinkled on the toast or infused in the tea which she took. This was done, no doubt, in the notion, that the effect would be the excitement in her feelings correspondent with his own, a vulgar error which should be universally exploded, for, instead of the end proposed, the only certain result from such application is much torment, and, not improbably, death to the individual. In the present case, the sufferings of the young lady have been extremely great, her condition for several hours was alarming, and the greatest care was necessary to prevent more serious consequences. The man was held to bail to answer to an indictment at the sessions for the misdemeanour,—for such it cannot be too generally known, the offence is deemed at law, and punishable with great severity.

The London Gazette of Jan. 29, contains a proclamation authorising the export of fish and fruit from the island of Anguilla, in the West Indies, in vessels of the United States that arrive there in ballast, to take effect as soon as the same shall be made known by the Governor of St. Christophers.

Captain Agremont, who saved the crew of a British vessel, and Capt. Aubert, who saved the officers and crew of the brig Lydia, on her passage from Cork to New-York, have been named by the King of France Chevaliers of the Legion of Honor.—Ib.

[From a Liverpool Paper.]

RESURRECTIONISTS.—James Donaldson and James Pendlebury, and Robert Wright were placed at the bar, charged with attempting to steal a body from the Parish Cemetery, on the night of the 24th instant. The prisoners were respectably attired, but the appearance of two of them was forbidding in the extreme. The case excited more than usual interest from the manner in which they were detected. Between five and six o'clock on Monday morning, the watchman at the Cemetery station was accosted by one of the prisoners, who asked him did he ever "rise a body," as it was a proceeding which gave him much delight. The watchman, surprised at the question, immediately entered the grave yard, but found all right, and on his return was told that if he would consent to join "in the work," money and drink should be given him in abundance. Determined to detect the persons who attempted to bribe him from his duty, he manifested an inclination to come into terms and subsequently made an appointment to meet his unknown friends at a public-house in Park-row at ten o'clock. He met the three prisoners there, who treated him with ale, entered fully on the subject, expatiated on the pleasures of body snatching, and promised to give him two sovereigns each, for allowing them to enter the church-yard in the night. This he agreed to, and received a sovereign on account. He informed Mr. Kilshaw of the entire matter in the course of the day, and five constables were placed to watch. He admitted the prisoners at eleven o'clock, and shortly afterward the cry "stop thief" was heard and saw them in custody.

The Sexton proved the violation of the grave. The prisoners placed a shaft, threw up the earth, and were preparing to exhumate the body, when the alarm was given, and they were immediately seized.—The prisoner Wright said a few words in his defence, which were contradicted by one of the constables. The others were silent.

The Magistrate in strong terms animadverted on the prisoner's crime. This was not the first charge which had been preferred against Stewart. The course he and his companions pursued, was inhuman and revolting, and calculated to lacerate the feelings of relatives suffering under that affective sorrow produced by the hand of death.—The sanctuary of the grave had been violated, the offence, however, was a bailable one, but he would require ample security before he would suffer any one of the prisoners to be liberated.—Themselves in 100*l*; and two Sureties in 50*l*. for each prisoner.

Cardinal Mazarin, when prime minister, once said—"I will create so many dukes that it shall be a disgrace either to be or not to be of the number." Je ferai tant de ducs, qu'il sera honteux de l'être, et honteux de ne l'être pas. So many honourables are created in our American newspapers, that something like Mazarin's remark might be applied to this case, as well as to that of Esquires.—Philad. Nat. Gaz.

Dr. Townson, a very old [illegible], died about six months ago in New South Wales. He left, as report says, 5,000*l.* to a Mr. Sperk, because, as it is expressed in the will, "he was a decent sort of a gentleman"—The bulk of his property, upwards of 70,000*l.*, [illegible] to a daughter of a Mr. [illegible]

Steam-boat Anecdote.—Always engaged in supporting Gen. Jackson, his friends never suffer an opportunity to escape them, by which they think they can make proselytes to his cause. By land or water going or coming they are always active. Not long since a very respectable citizen being desirous to know the number of persons on board the steam boat in which he was travelling between this and New-Orleans, was going among the passengers and crew enquiring of each how they would vote on the presidential question. Nearly all were in favor of Mr. Adams: Disappointed and chagrined at the replies he received, he stepped hastily up, to a stout looking greasy citizen, who was sitting very composedly on a bale of cotton, and slapping him heartily on the shoulders said with great emphasis, I am certain you are in favor of the General."—"No," said the man, rather thoughtfully speaking—I am in favor of Mr. Adams, but I have a brother," continued he, "I rather expect, (looking significantly as he spoke) is in favor of the General." "Indeed," said the Jacksonian, brightning up at the words —"and why do you think so?" "Because" said the other "he is in possession of another man's wife, keeps race horses, and fights chicken cocks."—The gentleman was not heard again to say Jackson during the whole voyage.
