THURSDAY MORNING. 1. 90, 1842,

A Monning Paper announces the from fatal disappearance of the favor. This, we apprehend, is an error. The fevor, though marked by middless and trestability, is rather on the increase than the decilians in trestability, is rather on the increase than the decilians in private practice especially, the number of new states are supported by a letter, in which he expresses himself is very considerable. Within the circle of our own acquaintance we know of several who have been attacked within the last forty-eight hours. We have heard, however, of very few fatal cases. It is worthy of remark, that while doubts are entertained of the existence of fever as an epidemic, this year, a reference to the same period of the year 1839, when its prevalence is an epidemic form was undeniable, shows that the mortality is greater now, than it was then. The report of the Board of Health for the past week expendence in an epidemic form becomes that the mortality is greater now, than it was then. The report of the Board of Health for the past week expendence in an epidemic form becomes the street of the same period of the year 1839, when its prevalence is an epidemic form becomes that the mortality is greater now, than it was then. The report of the Board of Health for the past week expendence is an epidemic form when the street is such as they have have havened every subject of the distincted about area and production.
