DREAMS OF $1,000

STRANGE VISION COMES TO MRS. RANDOLPH THREE TIMES.

Washington Women Then Enthusiastic about Local Golfer's Success.

Three times during the past week Mrs. Florence J. Randolph, the mother of the famous U. S. Golfer, had strange visions of seeing her son win the Masters Tournament in Augusta, Georgia. Each time she awakens, she tells her husband, Mr. Randolph, the vision in detail and the latter has noted it down in a diary. He then sends a message to his son, urging him to work hard and win the tournament.

The visions, Mrs. Randolph says, started after she had attended the tournament in Augusta last year and had come away disappointed. She was so immersed in her son's success in the tournament that she had been dreaming about it night and day. At first, the visions were just dreams, but then they became more vivid and realistic, and finally she began to see her son in the final round of the tournament, just as he was about to win.
