Can one stain be detected on the secuteneous of naturalists of citizens? What have they done to warrant this initialisal and illegal warfare on their rights? If many of them have coincided in political feelings and conduct with the republicant party—that is with the majority of the nation, are they to be condemned for exercising their privileges in accordance with the views of that majority? Or ere the frothy ebulitions resulting from the defeat of the appoints party to be tolerated or suffered to appear as the opinions of the grand majority of Americans? But are not many also of those naturalized citizens the warm political adherents of that same federal party, which now so shamefully and suir cidally unter denunciations against them? Shall they then ald emigrate simultaneously from their country, and seek regions where they could secure a home, and might guerantee of national faith? If ro, Texas the Canadas, Jamaica and Van Dieman's land offer many inducements. But naturalized eitizens have very properly preferred the United States, as they were invited here; and the faith of the nation pledged in their behalf by its counti mtion and laws.

But why sow the seeds of discord in New Orleans an Louisians, where those who claim the title of Americans are as foreign to the soil, and are here entitled to the privi es of citizens only on procisely the same foundation, as the patives of another country. [They come here in pursuance of a treaty: so do foreigners in purrenance of the treaty or impact in the constitution, ratified and enforced by the aws of Congress. Not being of the temper or disposition of those who like Pitate could prevent an injustice, yet merely wash their bands of it, we can not siently witness the attempt made in the American of yeterday to sound answ the tocan of dispured among native and discord among native and naturalized citizens—by the publication of a very reprehensible tirade in the abase of au address to the Americans of New York.
