CITY COUNCIL.

The mayor, who presides as the presiding officer of the council, made it his duty to call the meeting to order, and the first business transacted was the reading of the names of those elected to fill the offices created by the act of the legislature, which was done by the secretary. The council then adjourned.

The vote of the city of Philadelphia, on the question of the election of Mr. H. H. L. C., was taken, and the result was as follows: For Mr. H. H. L. C., 1,750; against, 1,550. The vote was taken by ballot, and the returning officers reported it to be a fair and lawful vote.

The council then adjourned, to meet on the 8th day of June, A.D. 1862.

From the New York Times.

THE TRIAL OF THE PRESIDENT.

The trial of the President of the United States, Andrew Jackson, for high crimes and misdemeanors, was opened yesterday, in the Supreme Court of the United States, in the House of Representatives, in the Old Capitol, Washington, D.C.

The court was called to order by the Speaker, who stated that the trial would be conducted according to the rules of the House of Representatives, and that the President would be entitled to all the rights and privileges of a citizen.

The President then took the oath of office, administered by the Clerk of the House, and the trial proceeded.

The accused was arraigned before the court, and a charge was read against him, and the President responded by addressing the court.

The trial continued throughout the day, and the President took the stand to give his testimony in his own behalf.