NEW CUSTOM HOUSE.

This subject has been brought before congress by Colonel Nicholas, of this state, who has moved for an appropriation of money to erect a Custom house and stores. We have no apprehension that the motion will be defeated—we rather anticipate a very liberal sum to be voted. The inhabitants of the lower part of the city and faubourg Marigny were formerly anxious that the custom house should be located in the vicinity of Esplanade street, which is certainly a more central situation, in reference to the harbor, than the present site. The vacant ground between the levee and the street, below the Pontchartrain rail road, is admirably adapted in every respect to the object: and if offered to the government, it would undoubtedly be accepted, either as a gift or in exchange for the lot on which the present custom house stands, always with the consent of the first municipality. It would be a waste of time and words to dwell on the advantages which the faubourg Marigny would derive from the location within its limits of such a vast establishment as the new custom house and the stores to be attached to it, will undoubtedly be. Should congress adopt the warehousing system, as they probably will do long before the custom house can be erected, recommended as that system is by the most intelligent merchants as well as by the enlightened committee of commerce of the house of representatives, the stores will necessarily be of the most ample dimensions, and a very large proportion of the imported merchandise will be deposited in them: This alone will create a busy scene in the neighborhood, which will be the centre of attraction to crowds of merchants, and their clerks, captains of vessels and seamen, all strangers arriving from foreign ports, draymen and laborers, in short every body directly or indirectly connected with commerce. All these circumstances would not be without their effect upon the growth and prosperity of the lower part of the city; and yet, after all this, we have heard a report, which undoubtedly cannot be well founded, that the 3d municipality have refused to dispose of their vacant lot to the government on any terms! We repeat, that this report must be unfounded, for it involves such an absurdity, such an absence of public spirit, and such a blindness to the improvement of their own advantages, as to be almost incredible. We suspect there is some intrigue at the bottom of this determination of the third municipality, set on foot by persons who wish to appear friendly to the lower section, while in reality they have taken the most effectual means to keep the custom house where it is: we have the means of ascertaining whether our suspicion be well founded, and if it be, we shall most assuredly expose the treachery and the traitor.

In our remarks upon this subject it is far from our intention to injure one part of the city for the benefit of another: it is not our wish, if we had the power, to detract one jot from the faubourg St. Mary and all that portion of the city which is situated near Canal street. The removal of the custom house never could have such an effect: on the contrary, we are persuaded that its removal would tend to augment the population, to promote the wealth and add much to the beauty and grandeur of the whole vicinity. Remove the custom house, and the extensive lot on which it stands would speedily be brought to auction—and in twelve months afterwards would be covered with blocks of solid and magnificent edifices, which would become the abode of that intelligent, enterprising and industrious class of merchants and storekeepers who have made the upper faubourg what it is.

DREDGING BOAT.

We find in a late French Journal the following article: if the machine there mentioned be found to correspond to what is here said of it, our authorities could perform no more useful act than to procure an accurate and scientific description of it, and employ it at several points in this state, where such improved machines would be highly beneficial:

From "Le Journal Général."

A dredging boat, invented by Mr Bonniot, of Rochelle, constructed on a new system, and for which that engineer has obtained a patent, has been operating in this harbor for three years past, for enlarging and deepening the outer and inner harbors.

This machine has the following advantages over all others hitherto known:

1. The working of the dredge requires no expense, as the crew who work it are the same who are employed to carry off the mud, and who, unless employed at the dredge, would remain unemployed while the boat is filling up.

2. The machinery is so simple that it costs only a third of those hitherto employed as dredges, whether moved by steam or otherwise.

3. This machine may be constructed in all places and by common workmen; is not liable to get out of order, and may be easily repaired. To keep it in repair requires no great expense.

4. Its moving power may be varied at pleasure, according to the varying resistances to be met with in this kind of operation. It may be augmented so as to produce the greatest effects, an experience has proved: dredges worked by steam cannot admit of this modification of power, their movements being uniform, and are frequently worked at a total loss.

These advantages cannot fail to be appreciated by those who have the superintendance of harbors and and rivers, and particularly at this time, when the government has bestowed so much attention on the improvement of our navigable streams. This dredge will, one day or other, give to those concerned in it a vast profit, which sooner or later will be participated by the nation, in consequence of the diminution of the cost of dredging by competition. This highly useful and important invention ought to be known as extensively as possible in order that it may get into general use.

ST. CHARLES THEATRE.

The comedy of the "COUNTRY GIRL," and the "YOUNG HUSSAR," were performed on Tuesday evening, in which Miss Melton, from the Haymarket and the St. James Theatres, London, made her first appearance in "Peggy" and "Ninette", and was most enthusiastically received and highly successful. She is pretty, and possessed of an artless, bewitching manner, and withal so strictly natural, that she cannot fail of being highly successful wherever she appears. Her performance of Peggy was spirited and natural, and when we contrast it with her performance of the old woman Ninette, in the Young Hussar, we pronounce her one of the most versatile actresses of the day. This young lady enjoyed a high reputation in Europe, in the popular characters sustained by the late Mrs Jordan; and from the style of Miss Melton's acting we should say, having taken nature for her model, she is highly deserving the encomiums of the European press, and cannot fail in whatever she attempts. She was rapturously encored in a song which she introduced in the Farce, and gave all her music in a finished manner. Indeed, the whole performance reflects the highest praise on the management.

Latham, in Moody, was excellent, as was Barton, in Sparkish. Mrs Hunt—Mr Bishop (who gave his music with great taste) were also most successful.—The house was brilliantly and fashionably attended, and we anticipate the return of the golden days of the drama from the delighted audiences that have patronised the St. Charles this season.

The following letter, though not of very recent date contains so much interesting information that it amply rewards the trouble of perusal.

EDINBURGH, Oct. 20, 1836.

"I am inclined to think the Bank of England has overshot the mark, in its refusing to discount American paper. Great ignorance prevails in this country in regard to the United States, and their resources, but light has begun to shine upon the minds of the people here, and it only wants a little time ere they will be well informed on the subject. Soon after the Barings negotiated the loan of Louis 18th, on his restoration, a friend of mine advised me to invest some money there, which I did, and drew about eight per cent. and I went on occasionally adding to my investment; after some time, the attention of the public was attracted, and many sold out of the British funds to invest in the French. To arrest this, Vansittart, then Chancellor, very foolishly in Parliament disuaded the public from vesting money in the French funds, because in case of their death the money so vested would not descend to their heirs by will, but would be divided according to the law of succession in France. In a very short time the French Minister answered Mr Vansittart's statement, and averred that the money vested by foreigners in French funds would be paid in the terms of the will of the individual, and lacking a will, it would be divided agreeably to the law of the country where he had his domicile. This floored Mr V. and increased the evil he wished to avert, and in consequence the French funds rose rapidly to above par, and ceased being a profitable mode of investment; in like manner, I think the Bank of England will fail in their object.—By the last return made to Parliament by the Bank, their liabilities exceeded thirty-three millions, their stock of bullion only between five and six millions; the drain of gold upon the Bank is going on rapidly, and if the least panic takes place, the Bank will soon be without a sovereign in its coffers, and then a temporary confusion at least, and much individual distress will be the consequence. In Scotland, we set little store in gold as a circulating medium, and prefer in daily payments a pound note to a sovereign. We have already been accustomed, like the United States to a paper currency, and remember bank notes as low as five shillings. The bank of Scotland was established by Patterson, a Scotchman, and a few years before he, the Bank of England—its notes were not payable on demand: but only six months after a formal demand was made, and they then bore interest from the date of the demand; but for nearly a century past, the notes of the Bank of Scotland were all payable on demand, and though it is well known that neither it or any other Scotch Bank have specie at any consequence in their coffers, yet their credit is undoubted, and though a temporary stagnation might take place in the event of a panic occurring in London, ultimate payment would be obtained. The Bank of Scotland is the only bank in this country chartered by act of Parliament, having the sanction of the three branches of the Legislature: all the other charter banks have only a charter from the King. Every holder of a share of the Bank of Scotland, although a foreigner, becomes thereby a naturalized subject of the realm, has also privileges not taken away for seventy years ago, by Lord Cassilis, in consequence of a foreigner who wanted to be naturalised, and whose bill was opposed by the Lordship in Parliament, having lodged his Lordship's and obtained what he wanted by purchasing a share of the Bank of Scotland stock. In a fit of spleen Lord Cassilis rough brought in a bill taking away the privilege. Lord Melbourne would not now be able to carry such a bill through Parliament."—N. Y. Mer. Adv.

Council of the Third Municipality.

Sitting of Wednesday 28th Dec. 1836.

The council met according to adjournment

The list of names having been called over, the members present were Messrs Gaiennie, Recorder, Feraud, Percy, Marigny, Lara, Kilshaw, Lessepe, and Duvigneaud.

The journal of the last sitting having been read and approved.

The council proceeded to the reading of a message from the Mayor, recommending the council to defer the consideration of the resolution passed at the last sitting, relative to the opening of Esplanade street.

Mr Duvigneaud brought forward the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the Mayor is and shall be authorised to notify in two papers published in this city in English and French, agreeably to law, that it is the intention of the council of the third municipality to take the steps prescribed by law for the opening of Esplanade street as far as Bayou St Jean.

It is moreover resolved, that the surveyor of the 3rd municipality, is and shall be authorised, to furnish the Mayor and Attorney of the 3rd municipality, with a descriptive list of the grounds through which the line marked out for the opening of Esplanade street will have to pass, with the names of the proprietors as far as he may be able to ascertain them.

On motion, the council having dispensed with the rules, these resolutions were adopted.

A letter was then read from Mr Severin Latorre, reclaiming from the municipality the sum of 36 dollars for materials carried away by the carts belonging to the municipality.

On motion of Mr Duvigneaud.

This letter was referred to a special committee.

The Recorder appointed Messrs Duvigneaud, Lessepe, and Lara members of this committee.

A letter having been read from the collector of taxes on carts, public vehicles, and proposing Mr Seraphin Maspereau as his security in lieu of Mr Bartholemy.

On motion of Mr Lara.

Mr Seraphin Maspereau was accepted of in this capacity.

A letter was then read from Mr Joseph Barthet, submitting a plan for dividing into squares a certain portion of lands bought from Mr Manuel Andry, in Washington suburb.

On motion of Mr Feraud.

Whereas this plan has been submitted to the surveyor of the 3rd municipality and approved by him, as in accordance with the general plan of Washington suburb: the said plan is adopted and the copy of it which is submitted, ordered to be deposited in the archives of this municipality.

A letter was read from the inspector of the public works, requesting an increase of his salaries.

On motion of Mr Kilshaw.

This letter was referred to the special committee of finances.

The council having proceeded to the reading of the account received by the collector of taxes on taverns, inns, and public houses, and of the taxes on pedlars in the third municipality for the 4th quarter of the year 1836, it appeared from the readings of said accounts, that the total amount of the receipts under the first article is the sum of $3,544 25, and under the second the sum of $155 924.

On motion of Mr. Percy these two account to were referred to the Committee of Finance.

From the weekly account of the Treasurer, it appears that the sum in the Treasury to the credit of the municipality is $106 90

The Recorder having called over the committees Mr. Duvigneaud, chairman of the Committee of Finance made the following report.

To the President and Members of the Council of the Third Municipality.

New Orleans, 21st Dec 1836.

Gentlemen—The Committee of Improvements specially charged to watch over whatever may tend to the embellishment and prosperity of this Municipality and anxious to merit the mark of your confidence, acknowledge that their duty has been at once highly prized and agreeable, and they take the liberty to make the following report.

Your Committee, convinced of the bad arrangement of Esplanade street, divided into three narrow ways, presenting to the eye no issue where it can repose with pleasure, and being also convinced that the present method of planting trees, is incompatible with good taste, and injurious to the houses, which they cover with their shade, and to which they never give the inconvenience in the winter of intercepting the sun and air, so necessary in a country, so humid as ours, have thought proper to submit the following resolutions:

Resolved, That Esplanade street from Rampart street to the bayou St. John, shall be sixty feet wide, and that the foot pavements shall be twenty feet wide.

Resolved, That a line of large leaved magnolias shall be planted on each side of the road from Rampart street to the Bayou St. John.

Resolved, That it shall be the duty of the surveyor to procure the necessary quantity of trees, in order that the planting above mentioned may be completed by the end of the next year.

Resolved That the Secretary of this Council be required to transmit to the Council of the first Municipality an official copy of this report, and of the accompanying resolutions, for their concurrence.

Signed DUVIGNAUD, Chairman.
JOHN KILSHAW, jr.
B MARIGNY.

The report being adopted, on motion, the Council proceeded to the consideration of the accompanying resolutions, the rules being dispensed with.

On motion the aforesaid resolutions were adopted.

Mr Lessepe, chairman of the Paving Committee, offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Mayor be required to present to this municipality an estimate of the cost of paving Main street from Hughes's plantation, causing in said estimate the sum to be paid for paving by this municipality according to the ordinances now in force.

On motion the said resolution was adopted, the council having dispensed with the rules.

Mr Feraud, from the Committee of Improvements gave notice that the council had been officially informed the two other municipalities by letters of the intention of this council to provide a common road, and the first municipality had taken measures to cooperate with them.

Mr. Duvigneaud, chairman of the special committee appointed to enquire into the affair of the captain of the guard, informed the council that the committee will prepare a report at the next meeting.

Mr. Feraud offered the following resolution:

Whereas the Treasurer cannot leave his office to collect the sums due to the municipality without the greatest risk, to the loss to the interest.

Resolved, That the Treasurer be authorised to employ a person known by himself to collect the moneys due to the municipality: Provided that the commission allowed to said collector shall not exceed the rate of five per cent: Provided also that the Treasurer be responsible for the person so employed.

Which resolution was adopted, the rules being dispensed with.

Mr. Kilshaw offered the following resolution:

Whereas it is necessary that the ordinances of this council to have the effect of law, should be published in two papers in this city in French and English.

And whereas the council pays one thousand dollars a year to attain this object, and nevertheless a very small number of ordinances has been published by order of the Mayor up to this day; and to the consternation of the complaints made of this want of publication exposing the municipality to great expense and difficulty.

Be it therefore resolved, That the mayor be required to publish without delay in French and English, in the official newspaper of this municipality and in another gazette of this city all the ordinances and resolutions adopted by the council and approved by him, as well as those vetoed by him and persisted in by the council.

Be it further resolved, That it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the council to transmit to the mayor an official copy of the deliberations usually transmitted to him

On motion, the rules being dispensed with, the above resolutions were adopted.

Mr. Lessepe offered the following resolution, which was adopted, the rules being dispensed with:

Resolved, That a comptroller general shall be appointed to examine, compare and approve the accounts of all persons employed by, or collecting revenues for the third municipality, and who will fulfill all the duties formerly required of the comptroller by former ordinances. That as a compensation for his services he shall receive the sum of $1500 per annum, and that the person appointed must find security to the amount of six thousand dollars, which shall be approved by the council of this municipality.

On motion of Mr. Duvigneaud, the Secretary is directed to notify in the official gazette, as soon as possible, and up to the day of election, that at its next sitting the council will proceed to nominate a comptroller.

On motion of Mr Marigny.

The council proceeded to the election by ballot of a deputy surveyor.

Messrs Lara and Duvigneaud being called upon to examine the result of the ballot, it appeared that Mr Journot had received 4 votes, Mr Communi 3 votes, one blank.

At the first and second ballot, neither of the candidates having obtained the requisite majority, the council proceeded to a third ballot, the result of which was 5 votes for Mr Journot, and 3 for Mr Communi.

Mr Journot having obtained the requisite majority, was declared duly elected as deputy surveyor of the 3rd municipality.

Mr Lessepe then brought forward the following resolutions:

Resolved, That it shall be the duty of the deputy surveyor to mark out all the lines and levels which individuals may require, within 18 days after request made, unless there be some reason to the contrary, upon the validity of which the council will decide, and will deliver to those entitled, all the certificates which may be necessary to prove said operations, and he shall be entitled to reclaim from all those who may employ him, the compensation allowed him by the ordinances.

It shall be his duty to inform the Mayor and council of any obstructions taking place in the streets, squares and other thoroughfares of this municipality, and of any works carried on which may not be in accordance with the given lines and levels.

It is likewise the duty of the deputy surveyor, to make and furnish, all the plans, demarcations, levelings, and to mark out whatever lines, and draw up whatever reports the council or Mayor may require of him, likewise to attend to the laying, keeping in order and repairing the side walks, plantations on the squares and public grounds, and of drains and cess pools and a negro shall be granted to him for the execution of any works required by the corporation.

And as full and entire compensation for the services which he may perform for the municipality, he shall be allowed a salary of $800 per annum, payable quarterly by orders of the Mayor on the treasurer of the municipality.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.—Long habit has taught the bakers to consider it their duty, to present their customers with a cake on the Twelfth day. It is with regret, they find themselves obliged to inform their customers, that in consequence of the extraordinary scarcity of eggs and the utter impossibility of procuring a sufficient quantity to make the cakes, they shall not be able to comply with the established custom next Twelfth Day. In order to prevent however their motives from being misconstrued the bakers of the city have formed the determination of appropriating the sum arising from the privation they have been obliged to impose upon their customers to the benefit of the orphans of the city; accordingly they have agreed to make up a purse, the amount of which will be published, which they intend placing in the hands of some respectable person to be by him applied to its proper destination. They hope this expedient will meet with the approbation of their customers, who will doubtless experience pleasure in making so trifling a practice for so meritorious an object. d30 4t
