SALES OF STOCK PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.

HAVRE, August 24th, 1836.

"Our coston market has continued animated during the whole of last week; this week the demand, although not so coston, is regular. Sales on the 23d and 24th 2000 bales. Priges sendy for all descriptions, and fine, owing to, the frest scarcity, have experienced some advance, 1776 has been paid for choice Louisiana; 170 for Mobils, which ou an average stands fully equal to the best Louisianas. Were it not for the scarcity prevailing in our timony market, as well as the large quantities sold for consumption already, business would be more active. The news from Liverpool, as from your side, are quite in favor of the article. Our stock is $3,800 against 69,000 bales hast year."

NEW YORK MARKET—October 1st.

NEW YORK MARKET—October let.

REMARIS—Only one day's later intelligence has a received from Europe since ourfast; consequently we have nothing important from abroad. The consents been manually quiet, nothing to excite, except the arrival of Gene party, while the other have been silent speciators. There is great activity in our city. The colds are later layer one one of the occles are crowded from one end to the other with spipping.

Assuss—Both Pots and Pearls have gone up full 25 cans since our last. The stock is universally light it market, and most of that which has been offered as been asken very freely at $7.25 for Pots and 8.25 or Pearls. The advance has probably been influenced by an imprevement in Havre.

**Coll—These keep up so astonishingly high, that here is every inducement for large quantities to be morried. Blost descriptions of hard coal are selling at $10, Liverpool at 12 to 13, and Sydney Bridgeport at 9 to 16.

FFEE-The large sale of 4,000 bags was attemptby auction, but the quality was inferior, and but a spirit manifested, and nearly the whole was with-COTTON BACKING—A parcel of hemp has been sold at 19c. and 300 ps superior tow, by auction, at 12th a 16th. Corror—The market for this article has become Corron—The market for this article has become more active since our report of the 23d instant, and a good business has been done, chiefly in the lower descriptions of cotton for the Liverpool and Mediterranean markets. Holders of the cotton remain firm, the fly on account of our small stock, and the general opinion existing that the new orop will be backward, and the quality bas to good as was expected. Manufacturers are supplying themselves very sparingly. News from Liverpool ene day later; markets remain quite firm, with a steady business. The stock here does not exceed 8,000 bales. Day Goods—The session is rapidly advancing, and the immense stock at the commencement of the season is rapidly disappearing. French goods have jaid the importers better than English, although all hove paid well.

FLOUR—The maket has dragged slowly all the week Orders have fallen off, and from the North we learn that mills have a supply offWestern, and have legun to grind. Western is dull at $910.9.25, and Southers 9.50 a 9.75. The belief that we should have a sesercity is diminishing. Our exports are next to nothing, only 199 barrels and 50 hall barrels.

MOLARIS—There is a very fair demand for the article, and no failing off in price; safes of 500 hogsheads at 45c, Cuba at 38 a 41c; New Orleans at 45 a 46c.

SUGARS—There is not the slightest change in any description since our last. Sales of the week are as follows:

On France at Excanable—rounesuc—we cannot better our remarks than by inserting our last week's report Avinnenas amount of notes and drafts is now made for goods bought, but generally on time, attogether out of the reach of bank or broker. The Southern crop is now beginning to come in, and all Southern funds are wanted, and taken preity freely by the brokers engaged in that business, and by the bank agency. The rates, however, are much greater than formerly. There is a considerable change in this branch. A few months ago, it was next to an impossibility to sell distant draits.

The lowers—The Liverpool packets now get fe'l with distant draits.

Freights—The Liverpool packets now get fell with our any difficulty, but at very low rates. The French tackets get almost empty. Our Southers packets are all well falled, and are doing an excellent business. We believe the coasting craft in our bays and rivers, and along the coast, have never had better employment, or at higher rates. We am persuaded there would be double the number profitably employed, it they were built

GENERAL CONGRESS OF MEXICO.

Sitting of the 27th August 1736.

Debate upon the question to suspend hostilities with Spain, and to open the ports of the Republic to the commerce of the Kingsom upon a reciprocal basis.

The committee spon internal relations made the fellowing report:

The utility, the justice, and the policy of the proposition suggested by the hon D. Guadalope Vistorie, to a drait vessels sailing under the Spanish flag, in the committee believe they would be insulting the general and profound intelligence of Congress, as well as the partitions of the Republic, are so incontestible that the committee believe they would be insulting the general and profound intelligence of Congress, as well as the partitions of the theory of the profound intelligence of Congress, as well as the partition of the detry which has been imposed upon them, they deem it necessary to enter upon certain details which has dest imposed upon them, they deem it necessary to enter upon certain details which has led in celestry, besides, with which they have prepared this report did not allow them to be more particular.

The point of utility is evident. A nation which has for three centuries been the mistress of our soil, which formed our habits, which speaks the same idiom with ourselves, and professes the same religion; and which has left necessarily in our country the most vivid impressions, that have only in a moment of passion and political zeal been suffed by our real enemies with the view of embroiling us, cannot be casily forgotten. And, the cause which operated in placing us in a hostile attitude with the mosther country, and which for a while oblittered our natural affection, have ceased to exist: experience should teach us what system we should adopt towards her. Besides, the justice of our cause having been acknowledged by one of the most solemn acts of the Queen of Spain, an act which proclams to the cortes in the most explicit and the most honorable terms, "that the time had arrived when it was necessary to put an e

In the morning of the Jah. a general autonishment was created by the the appearance, of the post from San Ildefones at the little and hour. This gave birth to an infinity of report lind conjecturer; but soon the truth was known, notwithstanding the efforts made by certain parties to concest it. The whole capital legart that the intmortal Christian between the was a constitution of 1812. All letters which were delivered in false colors, had distend to the loyal and caudid voice of the brave were, who were charged to protect her at La Granja, and had solomnity proclaimed the constitution of 1812. All letters which were delivered in the afternoon, confirmed this intelligence: and now withstanding the display of military force made by its ministry the patriots enjoyed, in amisquation, the certain triumph of liberty.

Nevertheless, the numerous patrels cent out by the authorities, and rarious perfidious reports sent into circulation, inspired suspicion as to their metations.—On the following morning the general discontent became unaestrainable, when Gen Queen Regent and the troops of La Grangh Ai every point, and particularly at the Puerta del Sol, graps of the people fraternised with the soldiery, declaring their austral indignation at the silence preserved by the military and civil authorities at this important crisis. What priscious blood has it does to repeat the propose of the Constitution of 1812, in spise of the soldiery, declaring the indignation of the National Horse Guards, who defended themselves, and beat heak the troops of the group of the people. Resentment.

It is far more glorious and more difficult to subdue our own resentments, and to act with generosity to an adversary than to make him feel the severast effects of only vengeance. This lighest act of self-denial, and self-government, this couquest over our strongest passion, is dictated by our better feeling.

Children.

It is pleasing to hehold the gradual expansion of the youtfail mind. We may look upon children as little men and women. And trace in the former most of the propensities of the latter; but, with all due respect to matturity, children are often much more entertaining; first; because there is in them a freshness of muid that gives elasticity to their thoughts, and freedom to their actions; and, secondly, because, though they have not this them, the sense or cunning to conceal them.

Mace depends on first impression than people are awars of; and parents should, if possible, be more careful in the selection of their nurse-maids than of their governess. The former often lay the foundation of evils that the latter never can eruse. It is from the first they imbibe that most detestable of all mean vices cunning, which engenders lying and deception; and how often do we see a child emerge from the nursery devoid of that freshness and simple purity which constitute the greatest charms of infancy.

A child without innocence is like a flower without perfume, in an observation of Chatsenberend.

Situated near the turn Whow the city, fronting the river, with right to the batture and extending indepth to a lot of ground which is cleared and well drained, and on which the sugar cane was raised.

So as to accommodate specializors as much as pessible, the said squares will be in great part divided in lots of 80 feet front by 180, 150 to 200 feet in depth.

The construction of the Rail Rose between the city and Terre aux Bonds, its branches which run into the river, will render the communication from all those points to New Orleans rapid and easy.

Strangers may select this place for summer residences in preference to any other—The salubrity of the situation, the handsome mainer in which the wood has been cut, and the acquisition of a short communication with the city, together with the large number of imbrovements ordained by the Council of the Third Municipality as well as a great number of capitalists; those advantages combined cannot but induce speciators to purchase, from which they will derive great profits.
