WHAT IF HE WAS INNOCENT ..?

Death Penalty is one of the most controversial issues facing the world today

Britain had capital punishment for more than 200 offences—including some extremely trivial offences. Today, the entire EU has abolished capital punishment.

139 countries have abolished the death penalty in law or practice. And the numbers are increasing every year.

In 2008, at least 2390 people were executed and at least 8864 were sentenced to death around the world. Five countries - China, Iran, Saudi Arabia, Pakistan and the United States of America carried out 93 per cent of all executions.

It is generally believed that Judges do not make the law. But law does not stand still. It moves continually.

It is the duty of the Judges to consciously mould the law so as to serve the needs of the time. The civilized society itself depends on their work.

This fictionalized book will tell you everything you ever wanted to know about Capital Punishment.

Dr. Binoy Gupta is a doctorate in law and a retired Chief Commissioner of Income Tax in India. He has written many books and articles on subjects relating to law.
