The souvenir leaf project is cooperation between Wikimedia Israel and the Israel postal services. The project included the creation of two postal items, the first of which was a print of 1,000 souvenir leaves which were the first postal item ever printed about Wikipedia throughout the world. The souvenir leaves were sold during Wikimania and were a huge success. The second phase of the project included a postal label (a stamp) to honor Wikipedia 10th anniversary. The postal label was sold on the first day of Wikimania and all postal items that were sent from Haifa's main post office were labeled with this stamp.

The Israel national museum GLAM project is a cooperation between Wikimedia Israel and the museum for hiring a Wikipedian-in-residence. During the project, over a 100 articles were created in various languages.
