The Appropriate Technology Library on CD-ROM Overview

The Appropriate Technology Sourcebook by Ken Darrow and Mike Saxenian reviews 1,150 publications from international and U.S. sources, covering small water supply systems, renewable energy devices such as water mills and improved cook stoves, agricultural tools and implements, intensive gardening, nonformal education, small business management, transportation, small industries and other topics.

The Sourcebook is used as the index to the Appropriate Technology Library. The disk and file numbers after the title of each of the books in the Sourcebook refer to the corresponding file or microfiche in the AT Library.

Installing the AT Sourcebook onto your harddrive

If you have purchased the AT Sourcebook to serve as the index for the AT Library CD set it is recommended that you install the files of the sourcebook onto your harddrive. Installing the Sourcebook onto your harddrive will:

- 1. Eliminate the need to swap disks in your CD-ROM drive every time you want find another book.
- 2. Make the sourcebook run quicker.
- 3. Will give you instant access to the information available in the Sourcebook.

To install the AT Sourcebook you will need at least 5MB of free space on your harddrive.

- 1. Insert the Sourcebook disk into your CD-ROM drive.
- 2. Double-click on the "My Computer" icon on your desktop
- 3. Double-click the icon for your CD-ROM drive
- 4. Select the folder "atsb" in CD-ROM drive

5. Click the "Copy" button at the top of screen

- 6. Click the "Back" to move the directory back to the (C:) drive
- 7. Copy the "atsb" folder to the C: drive by clicking the "Paste" button

To create a shortcut to the Sourcebook:

- 1. Using "My Computer" again, open up the newly created "atsb" folder Using your mouse's right button, single-click on the file "start"
- 2. Choose the option "Send To" / "Desktop (shortcut)"

To launch the sourcebook using the newly created shortcut, simply double click on the "start.htm" icon on your desktop.

To run the AT Sourcebook you will need at least a 3.0 web browser. If you do not already have a web browser installed on your computer you can install one using the AT Sourcebook CD. Use the following procedure to install a 3.0 web browser off of the AT Sourcebook.

- 1. Go to Start/Settings/Control Panel/Add/Remove Programs
- 2. Click on the "Install" button in Add/Remove Programs
- 3. Choose to "Browse" for the file or directory
- 4. Find the CD-ROM and open the Software/Netscape directory
- 5. Select the file that is appropriate for your system and choose "Open"

Using the AT Library

If you purchased the AT Sourcebook as part of an AT Library you will also need to install an Adobe Acrobat Reader. If you do not already have a reader installed on your computer use the following procedure to install the Adobe Reader off of the AT Sourcebook.

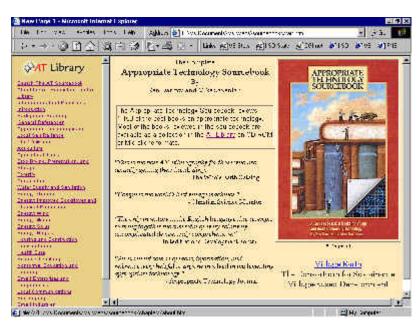

- 1. Go to Start/Settings/Control Panel/Add/Remove Programs
- 2. Click on the "Install" button in Add/Remove Programs
- 3. Choose to "Browse" for the file or directory
- 4. Find the CD-ROM and open the Software/Acroread directory
- 5. Select the file that is appropriate for your system and choose "Open"

Using the AT Sourcebook

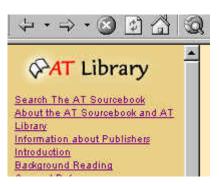

The Appropriate Technology Sourcebook reviews 1150 books on appropriate technology divided into 26 subject areas.

To find a particular book listed in the AT Sourcebook you can:

- Link to the desired subject area by clicking on the hyperlinked subject areas at the left side of the screen.
- Perform a keyword search in a particular page of the sourcebook using Window's "Find" utility by going to Edit / Find.

You can perform a keyword search throughout the entire sourcebook using the "Search The AT Sourcebook Link" located at the top of the frame at the left hand side of the screen.

You can search the alphabetical listings of books by clicking on the link "List of Books By Subject" located at the bottom of the frame at the left side of the screen.
