	Mandalay Bay H	Abstract: Several key technologies are converging to create an exciting new era of opportunity to solve new problems with new approaches that bring far better performance, cost-effectiveness and time to market. New offerings such as Netezza data warehouse appliances, IBM Smart Analytics Systems and Informix@TimeSeries technology are providing insights faster with less complexity for data warehousing, and advanced analytics. IBM's big data offerings are enabling exciting new possibilities for analyzing huge volumes of diverse information and enabling smarter, fact-based decision making in real time. From theory to practice, this keynote will also give you a primer on the proven use cases and business value of taking the first steps to exploiting workload-optimized systems and big data in your enterprise. Furthermore, understand how organizations are latching onto to new economics and agility of appliances and cloud computing for game-changing results. Speaker: Arvind Krishna, IBM General Manager, Information Management Software
