Welcome to the IBM SPSS License Key Center

Dear Chris Smith,

Welcome to the IBM SPSS License Key Center hosted by Flexera Software, our online service for managing your IBM SPSS client software authorization codes. You are receiving this email because you have been designated as an IBM primary or technical contact for your site, or because your site administrator has granted you the ability to manage authorization codes for SPSS software at your site. After you login to the site, you will be able manage further communications by visiting the Email Preferences page within the site.

You will use the IBM SPSS License Key Center to build the authorization codes that you or your company's users will need to install your IBM SPSS software on your client machines. To help you through this process, you will find educational materials, such as frequently asked questions (FAQs) and videos on the site once you login.

Your initial user ID and password have been set for you as follows:

   Login ID: csmith@anyco.com

   Password: Pa$$w0rd

Please use these to login to the site at http://www.ibm.com/software/getspss

If you have not yet downloaded your software, you will also find a link there to access your download site. The download site is accessed via your IBM web site login and password.

Thank you for using the IBM SPSS License Key Center.
