30 million transactions a day. Running the world's most critical businesses, for the past 40 years. Most of Fortune 100 and top 50 Global banks run their mission critical business workloads on this — that's CICS - The world's most successful transaction processing engine.

Businesses worldwide are faced with increasing challenges today. Adopting newer technologies while leveraging the large investments that have gone into existing systems is a big challenge. Enabling customers to reuse their existing application assets has been a top priority for IBM and the CICS portfolio.

It is with great pleasure that IBM invites you to the second IBM India CICS Developer Conference - 2009.

If you are a CICS developer or a user interested in the modern capabilities of CICS such as enterprise modernization or SOA enablement, this event will provide you with insights into the latest developments in the CICS product portfolio and unravel how they are enabling organizations across industry verticals to increase operational efficiency, reduce operational costs and increase organizational flexibility and resilience. The two day event will also offer the opportunity for you to network with your industry peers and interact with international experts from IBM.
