CINCINNATI, June 28.

Business during the week has been very inactive in all descriptions made.

Flour—Continues to meet ready sale from waggons at 7?6 @ 7,25 to 7,50

Whiskey—Sales yesterday from waggons at 27c @ 28c

Corn—Lots arrive.

Pork Lard and Bacon—We have quoted these articles for some time past at very dull and fair low rates, and but few sales and we are compelled to continue the prices for the present week.

Groceries—No change in the market during the week. Stock of sugar has accumulated and prices must be firm as previously, in other articles no change to mention

No 1 and 2 Mackerel out of the market.

CHARLESTON, July 7.

Cotton—The Upland Cotton market, during the past week, has been inactive, as will be seen from the result of our sales. The operations, with but few exceptions, have been confined to the purchase of lots of Stapla Cotton; and although we are unable to notice an actual advance in the price of these descriptions, still there is a better feeling in the market, and holders have, in general, retained 11 and 11½ cts, while looking forward with the belief that, as 6 @ Uplands are last going out of the market, an advance must inevitably take place in prices. We have no improvement to notice in the interior description; and Sea Island holders have generally succeeded to purchasers on terms.

The transactions of the week comprise about 1,500 bales, as follows: 27 at 7?8c; 21 at 7?8c; 18 at 7?8c; 24 at 7?8; 134 at 7, 8c; at 9?; 105 at 8?; 180 at 9?; 265 at 9?; 90 at 9 3?4; 238 at 10, 90 at 10 1?4; 44 at 10 1?2; 11; and 70 bales at 11c. For Sea Islands Cotton there is no enquiry.

LIVERPOOL, May 26.

A good extent of business doing this week, and on the whole a firmer market at about 1?8d advance on New Orleans, Mobile and Bowed. Shirtings have been rather dull and under our quotations of last week, but Printcloths and Sheetings maintain the rates then quoted. In Yarns, the exchanges, &c. no change. There was some inclination to bid at the South Island offered by Boston to-day, and only the few lots were sold and those 3?4 per lb. under the lowest sale of last week, and which decline has caused a more than usual enquiry. There has been a very good attendance of buyers to-day, and about 4,000 bales of all kinds sold. Specials have been taken about 500 bales, at prices and sizes not quot. Our regular from Charleston but not to report.

Sales of the week 13,755 bags, sales 29 861. Sales 70 Upland, 10 a 2?4c; 30 stained 5 a 7?4; 5830 Upland 13,250 New Orleans 4?4 a 8?; 2330 Alabama 5 a 7?8.

Liverpool Journal of 27th says, the business of the week has been large, and the market excited at an advance of 1?8 a 1?4 on last week. In Brazil no change. Reports of common quality are about about 1?4d per lb. India so dull

NEW ORLEANS, TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 11, 1837

Subscribers are requested to this office, either by subscription or insertion papers, are requested to settle their accounts—if they do not comply with this notice immediately after its third insertion, their accounts will be handed over for judicial proceedings.

An Excellent Move!

We understand that the board of direction of the Louisiana State Bank at a meeting held yesterday resolved to pay $10 in specie upon all the notes of a high denomination. If so we have reason to believe and undeniable that banks largely in insolvency will never be able to pay their debts, whatever facilities and amendment they may receive from the legislature, and that their paper will go on depreciating until it will not be a wheelbarrow to carry enough to pay a week's boarding. Their debtors then will be enabled to purchase with fifty silver dollars paper enough to pay a diminished note of fifty thousand. Surely no honest debtor will wish to pay his debts in such a manner, and yet to this they must come, should things be permitted to proceed in their present course.

Second-ly—If there are debtors to those banks who are irretrievably insolvent, the sooner they go by the board, the better for themselves, for their creditors and for the public.

Thirdly—If the banks that should be compelled to liquidate, be possessed of any quantity of good specie, it is plain that can be no difficulty in assuring it over to the several creditors, either for collection or rebate as the parties may desire.

Thus, we think, it is evident that by obliging the insolvent banks to liquidate without delay, no one would suffer but those who are involved in inevitable bankruptcy, and on the other hand, the sound banks would be restored to confidence, and the public again be placed in the possession of a safe currency—of a due quantum of gold and silver, mingled with notes issued not only on the PROMISE but the ABILITY to pay.

THE CANAL BANK.

The extension by this bank of notes payable after the 15th August 1838 is certainly unauthorized by the spirit of its charter if not contrary to the letter; and the manner in which the essential words of the note are collocated, looks suspicious like a definite ate intention to gull and impose upon the illiter te part of the community. We will add further that the omission of these notes has contributed more than any thing that has occurred since the suspension of specie payments by the bankers, to diminish the small portion of specie which remained in circulation. The calls of the creditors during entire separate and apart from the claims of the holders of the bank's paper, have been very heavy, as might be expected in this city, as the greatest part of the specie, the probable waste, and a due proportion to the safe keeping of the treasure will admit. The large gallery adjoining the apartments used as the safes, is a mass of safe keeping and being airy and at all times from the action of rain or rats.

The cells of that portion allotted to criminals are so constructed, that a classification can be made of them and the degrees of crime by proper system in the police of the prison kept separate from each other.

That portion allotted to debtors for debts, and persons of color not being finished was not visited, but the jury were glad to learn that a similar distribution was made of it in every respect to the portion now finished.

The jury did not consider it as coming within the scope of their duties to report, either on the manner in which the property of active corporations, or the liabilities of such it is built, believing that this duty devolves on and will be properly attended to by the surveyor of the first municipality.

The Jury had in the course of their Mr. Correjolles deputed by the city council to make arrangements for the immediate introduction of water into parts of the town, in which, through the want of it, the lives of the greatest misfortunes of the present day, and they doubt not, will contribute materially to the health and comfort of the prisoners, but in case of fire to the safety of the prison itself.

The Jury found it requisite to suggest to Mr Correjolles some essential improvements in the water conveyances which were found to be defective in order for this portion of the police of the prison.

Each general of the cells damp from the place having been but recently put on, the Jury requested the sheriff to have the chimneys thereof lighted in all the chambers and cells, after which, and on the 17th June the prisoners were removed to their new abode.

The grand jury, and a deputation of the jury, had in the course of their visit to the prison, visited the apartments of the sheriff, of which they had command in an open door for the purpose of letting the Tenants.

They are to command a T. Texas armed vessel which is to be fitted out against the Mexicans.

THE GRAND JURY.

With great pleasure we lay before our readers the report of the Grand Jury of the Criminal Court for the First District. The public will fully coincide in the views taken by this respectable body of the various important matters that fell under their notice. In the observations on the opinions herein expressed, the counsel of the First Municipality has appropriated the old prison as a place of confinement for persons arrested at night by the watchmen, and we learn further that the council of the Second Municipality has rented a suitable building instead of the horrible den heretofore used as their police prison. These two instances of reformation, caused by the report of the Grand Jury, shew the infinite utility which that body may render to the community and to humanity, when it is composed of virtuous and enlightened citizens as here.

The determination of the Grand Jury on the necessity of rigorously enforcing the laws respecting closing fire at this season of the year, will doubtless meet with due attention from the proper authorities. The police officers will never be blamed for being strict and even severe in this matter. While on this subject, we would observe that the streets in several parts of the First Municipality are in so filthy a state as to demand the prompt interference of the police; and in particular we would call their attention to the street (the name of which we have forgotten) in the Faubourg Marigny, Moreau street, immediately in the rear of New Levee street. This is a shameful and dangerous nuisance, and has frequently been the subject of complaint by the neighboring inhabitants—but without effect. The officers of the police who neglect to perform their duty in so simple, and a manner, ought to learn that there is some power that has the will and the authority to correct them.

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY

The Grand JURY of the Criminal Court for the district of the state of Louisiana have in pursuance of the oaths by them imposed on them, visited that portion of the said prison used for the confinement of persons arrested by the English, all governments have at all times found the discipline most adapted to the purpose for which it was intended. The cells of the criminals being entirely separate and apart from the cells of the debtors, the whole of the prisoners, with the exception of those in solitary confinement, have free access to the open air of the prison, the probable waste, and a due proportion to the safe keeping of the prisoners will admit. The large gallery adjoining the apartments used as the safes, is a mass of safe keeping and being airy and at all times from the action of rain or rats.

The cells of that portion allotted to criminals are so constructed, that a classification can be made of them and the degrees of crime by proper system in the police of the prison kept separate from each other.

That portion allotted to debtors for debts, and persons of color not being finished was not visited, but the jury were glad to learn that a similar distribution was made of it in every respect to the portion now finished.

The jury did not consider it as coming within the scope of their duties to report, either on the manner in which the property of active corporations, or the liabilities of such it is built, believing that this duty devolves on and will be properly attended to by the surveyor of the first municipality.

The Jury had in the course of their Mr. Correjolles deputed by the city council to make arrangements for the immediate introduction of water into parts of the town, in which, through the want of it, the lives of the greatest misfortunes of the present day, and they doubt not, will contribute materially to the health and comfort of the prisoners, but in case of fire to the safety of the prison itself.

The Jury found it requisite to suggest to Mr Correjolles some essential improvements in the water conveyances which were found to be defective in order for this portion of the police of the prison.

Each general of the cells damp from the place having been but recently put on, the Jury requested the sheriff to have the chimneys thereof lighted in all the chambers and cells, after which, and on the 17th June the prisoners were removed to their new abode.

The grand jury, and a deputation of the jury, had in the course of their visit to the prison, visited the apartments of the sheriff, of which they had command in an open door for the purpose of letting the Tenants.
