STATE AND CITY PRINTER. THE UNION-IT MUST BE PRESERVED FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 24, 1835.

The body of brigadier general LEAVERWORTH having arrayed at interminance, those citizens who find so disposed, are removed to join in a finneral procession to proceed from the Areatic Exchange today at 10 o'clock, A. M. to the U.S. gerrison, Conde street. Officers of the army not omduty at this place are invited to attend.

No 2 First Co.- Desirous to promote the interests as well as objects of the fire companies of the city, we had resolved to publish in full the official account of the last meeting of No 2: but as it has already been given entire in two journale, an abstract may now suffice.

No 2 had 5 years since received an engine from the Louisi ans state insurance company. From constant use, it became almost necless; and was wholly useless without the hore, which was the property of the firemen. Aware that of the engine, a committee of No 2-waited on the directors of said company: and were informed that the directors would generously sell their almost use ess engine for a sum exceeding-what?-$100! The firemen not being oddfish would not awallow the bait. They have resolved to resolved to return the engine to the aforeraid company; who Fave thus made 'assurance doubly sure'-and to purchase a new engine exclusively from their own resources.

The return of the engine will occur this day at mo the members with the engine being in procession, 'wrong-

The races on the New Iberia course commence today.

Gastigure - Before the course of the fall our gitizens may reasonably expect that the greater part of the incorporated districts of the city will have been lighted with gas -as the gaslight and banking company is enjoined to accept a conthe city council. These gentlemen, Messrs Caldwell, Baldwin and Berry will no doubt see that justice is done in such contract to the company; yet with they equally require that justice be done to their constituents in their respective words—that is to the corneration as well as to the company

That the city should be lighted with gas in preference to the present system, cannot be denied or doubted; and all will admit that the sooner the contract is made, and the work commenced, so much the better for the beauty of the caty, and the comfort and convenience of its inhabitants.

When the mayor vetoed the last ordinance on this sub icct, he did it on the grounds presumed that the charges for lamps, posts, etc. were too extravagant. Let then those moderated; and all objections are obviated. No doubt the three members simultaneously of the company and council can act as mediators between both; and will ex ercise their personal and official influence.

The suit of the Rev. Spencer Wall against Mrs Tak mero for violation of contract and defamation, was tried last week, in Attakapas. The trial continued from Monday till Thursday noon; the jury deliberated till Friday; but not agreeing on a verdict, were then discharged. That a nist grius case should occupy a week would certainly be surprizing in any country but ours; where lawvers and legislators talk against time and sense. The Franklin Republican assures us that altho (!) Mesers Brownson and Wharton for the risintiff, and Caillet, Lewis and Gibbons for the defendant, ble; address the jury, yet 'almost all the bar were engaged on one side or the other.' This was enough to bar despatch and be a barrier to justice. In the multitude of counsellors (suith Solomon), there is safety; but there is very hule in the multitude of attorneys at law with law and justice.

LEVI WOODBURY,

CITY COUNCIL.

Messa Cultertson, Gmille and Alla d absont.

Mr Imbatut was called in the chair; the election of Mr Caldwell was verified; and the following letter from the mayor was road-20 April 1835.

Gentlemen, I regret being obliged to refuse my sanction to the resolution adopted at your sitting of the 13th inst, by which you remit the fines imposed on Mr Starky Sparks man, for violating the ordinances of the police concern ing the demolition of flat boats. If I understand co-rectly the motive of your resolution, it was because the violation was an unintentional error on the part of Sparksman. I have in consequence acquired the most positive information in this respect; which leads me to onclude that the said Sparksman had been duly advised which was the property of the firemen. Aware that of the figuratery at his conduct; yet despite the notice charter of the insurance co. was on the eve of expiring, of the whasfinger, he the more obstinately continued his and analous to secertain how said company wauld dispose work. He cannot therefore plend ignorance of the o dinances; and his petition to be exempted from the con demonation to which he has voluntarily and viciously ex posed himself, has no foundation on truth.

as no foundation on successfully, etc.

D. PRIEUR. Mr Caldwell said the case of Sparksman was one of reat hardship, to say the least of it. Previous to the ordinance being passed to prevent the breaking up of the first state of the incorporated districts, many had leased particular parts of it for definite periods from the front proprietors, for the special purpose of breaking up flat boats. The ordinances completely integrated by the second of the terfered with these leases; and with the pursuits of those who had contracted and paid for their privilege. Yet taleade to the standing committee on proposition itself, as of the time allowed them for removing elsowhere. He thinks the ordinance should have allowed a said commany to sympay, requesting the council and the standard of ertain period to clapse for the removal of the materials etc. it those les-ees; but as the ordinance was peremp tory and its offects immediate, be thought it the duty o mayor. He is willing to allow full and reasonable scope to the executive in suggestions or advice on questions of erence in a resolution of this kind, that had been minutcly investigated when before the council; and bee but by a hare majority of 1 or 2 he would not feel so in signant or persevering; but when the whole to members that the public have sensibly left the evils of that negli when they had the petition, and all the sond complaint has been reterated after complaint, we documents as testimony before them; and when they had the c-rificate of Judge Preval himself before hom the soit was tried (an unusual circumstance in a tract if proposed by the corporation; and as not less than case of this kind), that Sparksman erred uniatention shees commissioners of that company are members also of significant the unanimous opinion of the members of the city council. These gentlemen, Mess-rs Caldwell, Bald-council, formed and given under such circumstances, to he contravened by the opinion of one person on exparte

this subject, was in direct contravention with an act of the legisfature 9 March 1827, which expressly states that the council shall not prohibit the becaking up of flat the council shall not prohibit the becaking up of flat council shall not prohibit the becaking up of flat council shall not prohibit the becaking up of flat council shall not prohibit the becaking up of flat council shall not prohibit the becaking up of flat council shall not prohibit the becaking up of flat council shall not prohibit to pass the law, by which the council shall not prohibit to pass the law, by which the council shall not prohibit to pass the law, by which the council sample at the best and a special council shall not prohibit the best and shal

Mr Berry was in favor of the resolution when passe by the council, as he had believed that Sparksman did not know the law, nor mean to violate R. But since then, he had been informed that the prisoner was of a then, he had been informed that the prisoner was of a mulish disposition; that he had been frequently advised and warned; and persisted in defiance of the coused and the office son duty. Strong, whose duty it is to at-tend to these matters, had found Sparksman trouble-some, mischievous and obstinate. He would therefore vote in favor of the veto.

After an argument on a mere point of formality by M Schmidt, the council persisted—Mr Berry in the nega on propositions and grievances.

Mr McFarlane preferred acting immediately on the petition. The situation of those inspectors is disagreea-ple; their duties onerous, and rendered now more difficult and irksome, in consequence of the personal abuse and dangers they escounter. He would move that some certain salary be allowed them, say 2000 dollars a year, rather than have them depend on conditional fines 6 lelinquencies; the collection of which renders them ficially odio is and personally obnoxious. He bore testimony to the character and competence of Labland.

Mr Gaiemaie agreed to a resolution to that effect; and while writing one, Mr McFarlane again addrest the council. He said that the support of the commissaries of drays, etc depending on their percentage on times, readers deathly in some and difficult their duties. Finas should be imposed not for the nursue of exacting revesearch to found complaints and impose fines in order to gain a livelihood. Besides the laws could better be en-forced, even if the fines were diminished: for the drivers would know that as the commissaries performed their duties without being immediately interested, they would soon learn that those duties would be performed impage tially and rigidly: Violations of the law would therefor be less numerous; and this is all that the imposition of fines is intended to achieve. If that can be obtained

The sullatine announcing the 'whereabouta' and roundabouts of this old lady are truly ridiculous.

Awamo.—Our citizens are promised the privilege of creeting awaing props—whether as wooden or iron posts, brick or marble or stone columns or pitasters—by the city council. A special committee of that body has now he subject and the subject of the subject the day for the next sitting; which would allow him time for examination. If however he was called upon to act upon it immediately, he would be compelled to vote against it, for the following reasons:—Several gentlemen present cannot have forgotten that the improper driving of drays and carts through the city has been the frequent subject of complaint on the part of the community, and that it has repeatedly called forth the action of the city council, in order to suppress it. The lift heating of an ordinance amounted in Describer. draise of bank noises of a low denomination is believed to be the surest method to effect that object, and as the acts of congress do not expressly require the receipt of any such noise, if less in amount than five dollars, you are hereby drected, after the 30th day of September next, not to receive in payment of any public duer, notes of any denomination less than five dollars.

You are also apprized, that it is in contemplation by this Department, after the 3d of March, 1836, [should congress in the mean time make no new provision on the subject, to exercise the discretionary powers, which it is supposed will then belong to it, over the receipt of paper money of any denomination for the public revenue, and to extend the restrictions on the receipt of bank notes, for it, to all of a less denomination than ten dollars. For the greater security of the banking institutions employed by the treasury, and for the improvement of the currency by the fuller restoration of that specie circulation for community purposes, which is restriction of that specie circulation for community purposes, which is restriction to the special purpose of the surency circulation for community purposes, which is restriction to the special purpose of the currency by the fuller restoration of that specie circulation for community purposes, which is repeated to the purpose of the special MARINE PORT OF NEW-ORLEANS should be fully saterfied that the present is inefficient. Moreover, he was unwiting to increase the number of salaried officers of the curporation, as experience has saterfied him that an officer whose compensation is not, dependant on his exertions, is too set to retay the effects, especially where his situation is such that it would be difficult, if not impossible to convict him of remissions or neg igence. Our commissaries belong to this clear, and they are loudly complained of every-day, by this constituents. f every day, by his constituents.

If to these considerations be added the important fact that the corporation-atready owes a million and a half, and that a sum of $242,000 word be required to supply the deficiency of the pre-sent gene; that the council at its leat easiers had appropriated, certainly for a most useful object, the same of $2,300, which would still further indrease this defiely, he knowed that it would be conceded, that this was a period at which we ought to internet the many serious accidents which still occur in consequence of furious driving are as prevalent now as when the ordinances were made —that the ordinances are ineffective, and the officers ineffective.

as when the orderences were made—that the orderandes are ignificated, and the officera swelfactive.

Fartanepand supported by Mr. Caidwell, who deprecated the ordinance steelf imposing times, as hemp-impossible to be enforced, on account of the dilapidated state of the streets, which compels dispers to give an impetuation than thorous. Me (Mr. C) did not therefore time (t) proper that under present circumstances, fines should either be imposed or collected; and even should be admit the utility He would rather the council abolished wholly the off spectors of vehicles, and as igned their duties to the ward minissioners, and if permitted, would introduce a resolution ordinances of the city had not been better enforced since the appointment of the inspectors of drays; but that a spirit of stigation has been excited—many have paid fines; 'and the tizens have been harrassed and perplexed. Every person citizens have been narrassed and perpiezen. Every person has a right to complain before the major in the manner done by these inspectors; and to take cognizance of the breach of the city ordinances. The petition of Cassine was referred to the committee on propositions and grevances.

The petition of Joseph Russell for the remission of fines and cests imposed on him for keeping a bearding house without hiense, was unsaimously accorded; ast appeared that he had taken out a license in the name of his wife.

It was also resolved to grant gratis a license as pediat to Charles Tigny.

A polition was precented from several citizens requesting permission to creet awaing ports in the city.

This caused a desultory debate on a resolution of Mr Caldwell, in pursuance of the object of the petition—which resulted in the apparatment of Messes Caldwell, Baldwin and Gaiennie, as a special committeeto consider the subject. The relation of the Cincinnati iron manifecturers, to furnish iron palisadoes for the squares of the city, ordered to be railed round, was referred to a special committee, consisting of Messra Berry, Pichot and Schmidt.
