NATIONAL MEDICAL CONVENTION.

LOUISVILLE, May 3.—The United States Medical Convention opened yesterday. Twenty medical colleges were represented from all parts of the Union.

The meeting is to last three days.

A large number of physicians are in attendance from all sections of the country.

STATE OF THE RIVERS.

LOUISIANA, May 3.—The river at this point is about one-half-four and a half feet over the falls.

VICKSBURG, May 3.—The river at this point is about one-half-four and a half feet over the falls.

THE EXPECTED DUEL.

Vicksburg, May 3.—The anticipated duel between Mr. Partridge and Gens. McClellan had been definitely adjusted by the friends of the parties.

THE SHIP MANITOON.

New York, May 3.—The Commercial Advertiser reports the capture of the ship Manitou.

That the admiral and naval force for the leaders desire that they will even cause some sacrifice of political prejudice to ensure such a co-operation of every anti-slavery element as is indicated by the tone of an article in the New York Tribune of May 2d, in that manifesto, which is all practical purpose, is now known.

The Tribune distinctly affirms that while preferring an original Republican, such as, for instance, as Edward Bates, or Mr. Lincoln, of course, of the opportunity, any Southern man of approved principles such as John Bell, or Edward Bates, or Mr. J. W. Stevenson, was not to be opposed to the extension of slavery into free territory.

It is certain a large and liberal concession, considering the position of the country, and the state of opinion, that it will not effect the desired object.

Meers, Bell, Bates, and Bowles are not ultra-Southerners, and have done their duty with a spirit of justice and truth.

ARTIST TO RESCUE HIM.

Zanesville, Ohio, May 3.—Wm. Jackson, a fugitive slave from Kentucky, was held up to collect certain debts from vendors of eggs, poultry, etc., who were concerned in his escape.

Board of ASSISTANCE.—There was a regular meeting of this Board last evening.

Mr. Jackson was received from the Mayor.

He was given a hearing, and a sum was made up to him, and he was released.

Jackson was again arrested, handcuffed, put in a back and driven to the court house, where he was held in custody until his trial.

Exception was taken to the manner in which he was treated, and the court parties agreed to let the Southern opposition—

for whose benefit and benefit it was no longer used.

There was in the court room a large number of citizens who loved for Southerners, who would cordially and enthusiastically sustain any one of the three distinguished gentlemen referred to above.

It was the opinion of the democratic instinct among which they were most.

Meers, Bell, Bates, and Bowles are not ultra-Southerners, and have done their duty with a spirit of justice and truth.
