Dear Sue:

I am writing to you in support of the candidacy of Naples to host the Wikimania 2013 event.

Naples is a great place, and its location, infrastructure, and central role in world culture will give fundamental support to the goals of Wikimania!

As a passionate user, and sometimes contributor to Wikipedia and other Wikimedia projects, it will be my pleasure and honor to help the organization, and the event any way I can.

dotSUB is a browser based, one-stop, self contained system for creating and viewing subtitles for videos in multiple languages across all platforms, including web based, mobile devices, and transcription and video editing systems. It's easy to use, nothing to buy or download, and it's fun.

I am delighted to confirm that we will put our platform, and expertise at the disposal of Wikimania 2013, completely free of charge, in support of the event, contributing to its success!

Sincerely,
